CANCER A CHALLENGE TO ALL

Editor's Note: The war on cancer—and what you yourself can do about it—are the subjects of the articles in this series condensed from the widely acclaimed but controversial new book, "The Savage Cell." The author has studied the matter first-hand for 17 years as science editor of the American Cancer Society and here presents the facts and his personal views.

By PAT McGRADY

First of a 12-Part Series

In the seven minutes it takes to read this article, cancer will profoundly affect 12 Americans:

Four will have died:

Six will be told they have cancer;

Two will have survived the disease for five years—possibly cured.

Of the four who will have died of cancer, perhaps two could have been cured by good medical practices. They delayed too long in taking their symptoms to the doctor—or they went to the wrong doctor.

Cancer—any kind of cancer—requires the best that medicine has to offer. It calls for help from a team of specialists, composed basically of a pathologist, a surgeon, a radiologist and an internist or family-type doctor, each skilled in the management of cancer and all working closely together.

Ideally, one's own doctor should arrange for experts to diagnose and treat the case without delay.

The average doctor — even the average good doctor—usually is not the man to diagnose and treat cancer. He can cure some cancers. But he also may sacrifice more lives to the disease than he saves; he does this inadvertently by deadly delays in diagnosis ("come back in three months and we'll see what happens"), by treating the wrong disease or by inadequate treatment for the right disease.

In contrast, there exist in the United States research and treatment centers which are the best—or among the best—in the world.

For 17 years, this writer has had the enormous privilege of knowing many of the brilliant scientists and great physicians of our time and reporting their triumphs.

This has been a period of sharp contrasts—of fantastic progress in understanding life and of abysmal failure to protect life, of heroic medical achievements amid the decay of medicine generally, of the rise of geniuses and, too often, their suffocation in stagnant systems.

Cancer research is not entirely a matter of manpower, money and machines. Only in part is it an adventure in discovery. Ultimately, it becomes a problem of transferring to sick humans the benefits derived from test-tube and animal experiments.

Cancer research is in large measure a conflict of ideas, a desperate defense of the free and inquiring mind against the tyranny of professional conformity, mediocrity, materialism, mechanization and venality.

Only by appreciating the human weaknesses governing research and medicine can we hope to understand why cancer control is slow in coming. The means for the conquest of cancer may well have been here for some time; it could be lost in the ocean of words which comprises scientific and medical literature, or bogged down in the very institutions which were created to bring it forth.

A disease of civilization, cancer's toll has mounted relentlessly through recorded history. With the conquest of other diseases, cancer has become epidemic—during the 20th century its claim on human life has risen from relative obscurity to awesome eminence, second only to heart and

DETROIT (AP)—"The best thing that America invented is the hamburger," says Henry Ford II's bride. "That is, besides the Ford car."

The newest member of the auto family laughed. "I just love hamburgers. And so does Henry."

Brush in hand, she took occasional swipes at her tawny hair as she talked about her role as wife of the board chairman of the Ford Motor Co.

Venetian-born Maria Cristina Ford has green-gray eyes and a likeness to Ingrid Bergman. Her suntanned skin is smooth and needs no makeup.

She talks with her hands and a voice that takes on throaty overtones when enthusiastic.

"Why is it American women seem only to smile with their teeth? Is it because they are afraid of getting wrinkles around their eyes?

"Me, I would rather get them. They are happy wrinkles—character. Who wants a face like a mummy?"

Reconsider VA Hospital Shutdowns

By WILBUR MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson decided Saturday night to take another look at whether the closing of 11 veterans hospitals and four old-soldiers homes is justified.

He announced he was naming a committee to make a determination.

The President, who had approved the original closing decision, commented in his announcement of the fact-finding group that he didn't pretend to divine wisdom.

• • • •

"WE MAY have erred in the past and we may err in the future," the President said in a statement released by the White House.

"We must be certain no veteran who needs medical attention is deprived of it by unwise action."

A retired former chief judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia will head the panel that will report to the President by June 1.

The President noted the controversy that had developed since the decision to shut down the facilities —along with 17 regional VA offices — was officially announced Jan. 13.

• • • •

HOWLS OF protest came from congressmen and veterans' organizations and the closings were the subject of often emotional congressional hearings.

The Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital is not affected.

Hospitals listed to be closed are Bath, Castle Point and Sunmount in New York; Rutland Heights, Mass.; Lincoln, Neb.; Grand Junction, Colo.; Fort Bayard, N.M.; Dwight, Ill.; the Broadview Heights Division at Brecksville, Ohio; Miles City, Mont.; and McKinney, Tex.

The homes to be shut down are at Bath, N.Y.; Thomasville, Ga.; White City, Ore., and Clinton, Iowa.

Enlarged DC8 Seen as Top Competitor

By ANDY PARK

The largest airplane purchase in the history of commercial aviation will be announced Monday by United Air Lines in New York and officials indicated Saturday a large part of the expected $200-million buy will be from Douglas Aircraft Co. in Long Beach.

W. A. Patterson, board chairman of United, would make no official confirmation of the reports Douglas will get the order but said the board of directors will meet Monday and "an announcement will be made to the public at 11 a.m." (8 a.m. PST.)

Patterson, a longtime friend and business associate of Donald W. Douglas Sr., is expected to make the announcement personally at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

• • • • •

UNITED Air Lines, the nation's biggest, owns a fleet of 44 DC8 aircraft, valued at more than $220 million. Patterson's airline made the original purchase of DC8s in 1959 and, with Delta Air Lines, first introduced the jet transport on Sept. 18 of that year.

Speculation on Monday's announcement centers around United's need for a long-range jet which can carry more than 200 passengers. The airline also has indicated the need for more "compact" or short-range jets for use in domestic service.

• • • •

DOUGLAS, already in flight with the twin-jet DC9, expects to be able to make a delivery of the "compact" by the end of this year. Douglas officials also indicated Saturday an announcement will be made Monday confirming that Douglas will go into production with an "elongated"

U.S. Strikes Near Hanoi; Pilot Seized

SAIGON, Sunday (AP) — U.S. air raiders struck closer to Hanoi Saturday, wrecking a bridge 65 miles south of the North Vietnamese capital. For the first time, three Red MIG jets rose to combat the Americans, but did no damage.

Communist groundfire, however, caught a U.S. Navy Skyhawk jet. Its pilot bailed out and, a U.S. military spokesman said today, was captured when he landed.

• • • • •

THE SPOKESMAN also disclosed that a propellor-driven A1 Navy Skyraider was shot down while attacking a North Vietnamese radar station Wednesday. The fate of that pilot was not disclosed nor was either of their names.

While 60 planes from the carriers Coral Sea and Hancock worked over the bridge, 50 U.S. Air Force F100s and F105s were damaging another span 15 miles to the south.

The twin strikes brought the conflict ever closer to Hanoi's doorstep. The closest approach previously was an air raid March 15 on Phy Qui, 100 miles south of Hanoi.

• • • •

NEVER before had Communist fighter planes challenged U.S. air might, and this was not much of a challenge. The Navy said the MIGs made a pass at one U.S. Navy plane, probably fired a few shots, but made off into the haze before American fighters could get into firing position with their deadly Sidewinder missiles.

Review Board to Guide Chief

By BOB GEIVET

The Santa Ana City Council decided Saturday to deprive Police Chief Edward J. Allen of disciplinary powers if he remains as head of the strife-torn department.

Showdown on Chief Allen was scheduled Monday night. The council majority requested City Manager Carl J. Thornton to fire him—or be fired, but now has made peace with both.

It decided to create a five-man Police Review Board, "to assist the chief in applying equitable standards in disciplinary matters." The council decreed that a captain, three lieutenants and a sergeant will constitute the board, a city councilman will act as "observer," and the chief can take no disciplinary action against any officer unless approved by the board.

Stern punishment of some of his men for infractions some have claimed were minor was one of the differences which triggered difficulties wracking the force.

At Personnel Board hearings over fired officers, the chief was pictured as being

TINY ION-PROPULSION ENGINE CIRCLES EARTH

U.S. Orbits What May Be Key to Interplanetary Travel

By LEE CRAIG
I, P-T Aerospace Editor

A tiny rocket engine you could hold in your hand is now in orbit to test its future role as the key to man's dream of traveling to the planets. If all goes as planned, it won't return to earth for 3,000 years.

As a secondary payload aboard the orbiting spacecraft carrying the first nuclear reactor into space, the 2.2-pound ion-propulsion engine will be fired, then turned off in repeated reliability tests as it silently circles the earth.

The payload went aloft at 1:20 p.m. Saturday from Vandenberg Air Force Base aboard SNAP-10A. It was fired by an Atlas-Agena rocket into an almost circular orbit 705 to 715 nautical miles in space. It circles the earth every 112 minutes. In that orbit, scientists say, the satellite won't drop back into the earth's atmosphere until sometime around the 50th century.

Distances to our planetary neighbors, Mars and Venus, are measured in millions of miles; to the farthest-known planet in our solar system, Pluto, in billions of miles.

Even in our solar system, a fundamental requirement for manned interplanetary travel is a form of propulsion that can operate for long periods with little fuel and can accelerate craft to velocities of hundreds of thousands of miles per hour.

Ion-rocket engines theoretically meet that requirement.

These propulsion systems operate by electrical acceleration of charged particles to produce thrust.

The engine now in orbit, built by Electro-Optical Systems of Pasadena, generates only two-thousandths of a pound of thrust.

Yet, in the weightless vacuum of space, an ion engine could propel a payload to the planet Jupiter in less than half the time required by a chemical powerplant.

Fuel used by the ion engine is nonradioactive cesium metal.

L.A.C. Says:
Hold On to Past

We have many problems ahead. It is doubtful they are any greater than those of the past. But, unless we take advantage of the experiences of the past, we have little hope of solving those of the future. In his civil rights talk the President said that in trying to hold on to the past, America would risk losing the future. That can be a dangerous philosophy if applied too broadly. It is true we must change the past attitude of discrimination practiced in many places. But, in my opinion, disregarding the past may destroy all these principles upon which freedom and prosperity in this nation have been built.

The statistics of daily police records show a wave of violence and crime sweeping the country. It is said that much of this, aside from racial problems, is caused by a disregard of old-fashioned ideas of integrity and family discipline. We are developing a society where young people expect their problems to be solved by government rather than by their own initiative and efforts. We have millions of people on unemployment insurance who refuse to take jobs they consider unsuitable. It seems to me we have lost a lot by not holding on to many of the past principles which called for greater responsibility of the individual and less dependence on government agencies.

If we disregard the past, we will forget what happened in most of Europe when their economic systems were destroyed by inflation—when the savings of the people were wiped out because they became valueless. We must judge future actions by similar actions of the past if we are to have any basis for comparison of what may happen in the future. Mistakes made in the past can be corrected and applied to new programs and these mistakes can be avoided.

With few exceptions, we pick men for office—not because of their future—but because of their past records. If they have a good record in business or civic services, they are expected to continue this in public service. The executives in banks or other business enterprises are chosen because of their past experience and record of achievement. The individual who starts a business with no business experience has little hope for success.

It is important that we instill this knowledge into the minds of our young people. The Great Society, or other aid programs can bring about better conditions, or they can end as complete failures. If they breed the attitude of easy living and an attitude of dependence on others, we will end up with no leadership such as has been responsible for the freedom and prosperity of this country.

We must make it clear that government can give nothing to the people it does not first take from them. We cannot provide medical care without paying for it—either directly or in taxes. We cannot provide enlarged pensions with any assurance of receiving them, unless we pay for them through our own savings—or if by government—by the taxes we pay.

The growth of bureaucracy can only be measured by the past. In California during the past six years state employes have increased by 43%, while population has increased only 20%. Unless we learn and take action against the past trend, we may be sure it will continue. All the future promises can be futile unless we consider the past. Tomorrow may be a better world. If it is, it will be because we take action to keep a stronger hold on the past and maintain the individual freedoms and incentives that have given us reason to hope for a better future.—L.A.C.

Lido Ballroom Fire Does Heavy Damage

A stubborn fire Saturday caused extensive damage to the interior of the Lido Ballroom, 247-249 Seaside Blvd.

Battalion Chief Bill Salveson said the blaze apparently started in a trash barrel in a small storage room under the mezzanine section of the sprawling dance hall.

Flames burned through the floor and into a large electrical fusebox.

Patrolman Gaylon Dickinson saw smoke pouring from a ventilator-shaft opening atop the one-story concrete building about 7 p.m., an hour before the ballroom was scheduled to open for an adult-teen dance. Officers said the dances usually draw 900 to 1,000 young adults to the ballroom.

Chief Salveson said the fire may have been started by youngsters who broke into the building earlier Saturday.

Girl Hit Darting Into Street, Dies

A 3-year-old girl who ran into the street from between two parked cars died of injuries she received when struck by an auto Saturday in La Habra.

Cynthia Ramirez, of 200 Mountain View Ave., died in Fullerton hospital at 4:45 p.m., two hours after being struck by an auto driven by Howard Larsen, 43, also of La Habra.

Neal Murder Count to Be Filed Today

PALM SPRINGS (UPI)—Former actor Tom Neal, who made headlines because of a brawl over a blonde with actor Franchot Tone in 1951, will be charged with murder for the slaying of his estranged third wife, police said Saturday.

Neal, 51, held without bail, will be accused formally of murder today, according to Police Capt. Robert White.

Now a landscape engineer, Neal surrendered to police early Friday in the company of his attorney, James Cantillon of Beverly Hills.

* * * *

THE BODY of his wife, Gail, 29, was found in the family home. She had been shot in the head with a .45-caliber bullet, police said.

A coroner's autopsy fixed the time of death as between midnight Thursday and 2 a.m. Friday.

Neal, on advice of his attorney, declined to make any statement, police said.

Mrs. Neal, employed as a hostess at the Palm Springs Tennis Club, had been living in the home alone after the couple separated a few weeks ago.

No weapon was found, but police found a .45-caliber shell on the sofa where the body was lying, partly covered by a blanket.

Neal recently visited Chicago where he once made his home, police said, and returned here two or three days ago.

* * * *

HE MARRIED the former Gail Evatt in Las Vegas, Nev., four years ago. They had no children.

His first wife, actress Vicky Lane, divorced him in 1949. His second wife, Patricia, died of cancer at the age of 29. They had a son, Thomas, 8, who lives with Neal's sister in Evanston, Ill.

Neal achieved some prominence in movies in the late 1950s but found himself dropped by studios after his much publicized fistfight with Tone in an argument over blonde Barbara Payton.

Cardinal Calls on Patriarch in Historic Gesture

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI)—Augustin Cardinal Bea had a historic meeting Saturday with Patriarch Athenagoras of the Orthodox Church.

Not since the great schism between Rome and Byzantium in 1054 had a Roman Catholic cardinal paid an official visit to a patriarch of the Orthodox Church.

The two men embraced and posed for photographers in the patriarch's private study.

Bea, head of the Vatican secretariat, presented Athenagoras a personal letter from Pope Paul VI and gave him a bejeweled gold crucifix from the Vatican Treasury which had been worn by Pope John XXIII.

Don't Say It, Trooper, If You Don't Mean It

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP)—The state recently erected billboards showing a picture of a state trooper and this quotation: "It's my job to help you."

Two weeks later a woman telephoned the post here to report she had a library book due at 1 p.m. Would a trooper please rush to her home, pick up the book and deliver it to the library before the deadline?

The dispatcher who took the call was courtesy itself. He told her no one was available just then for that particular kind of help.

Bus, Car Hit in N.Y. —35 Hurt

NEW YORK (AP)—A city bus and a car collided at a busy intersection in Brooklyn Saturday, injuring at least 35 persons, 10 seriously.

A 5-year-old girl was tossed out of an open bus window onto the sidewalk seconds before the bus smashed into the car and then careened into the side of a brick building.

All the injured were taken to a hospital.

The car, a late-model convertible, was demolished. Its driver and a passenger were among the injured.

* * * * *

DOZENS of shoppers were in the area at the time but managed to scramble out of the wildly swerving bus.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Franklin and Lexington Avenues, shopping hub of a residential area.

Felicia Smith, 5, was admitted to the hospital, as were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Smith.

L.A.C. Says: Hold On to Past

We have many problems ahead. It is doubtful they are any greater than those of the past. But, unless we take advantage of the experiences of the past, we have little hope of solving those of the future. In his civil rights talk the President said that in trying to hold on to the past, America would risk losing the future. That can be a dangerous philosophy if applied too broadly. It is true we must change the past attitude of discrimination practiced in many places. But, in my opinion, disregarding the past may destroy all these principles upon which freedom and prosperity in this nation have been built.

The statistics of daily police records show a wave of violence and crime sweeping the country. It is said that much of this, aside from racial problems, is caused by a disregard of old-fashioned ideas of integrity and family discipline. We are developing a society where young people expect their problems to be solved by government rather than by their own initiative and efforts. We have millions of people on unemployment insurance who refuse to take jobs they consider unsuitable. It seems to me we have lost a lot by not holding on to many of the past principles which called for greater responsibility of the individual and less dependence on government agencies.

If we disregard the past, we will forget what happened in most of Europe when their economic systems were destroyed by inflation—when the savings of the people were wiped out because they became valueless. We must judge future actions by similar actions of the past if we are to have any basis for comparison of what may happen in the future. Mistakes made in the past can be corrected and applied to new programs and these mistakes can be avoided.

With few exceptions, we pick men for office—not because of their future—but because of their past records. If they have a good record in business or civic services, they are expected to continue this in public service. The executives in banks or other business enterprises are chosen because of their past experience and record of achievement. The individual who starts a business with no business experience has little hope for success.

It is important that we instill this knowledge into the minds of our young people. The Great Society, or other aid programs can bring about better conditions, or they can end as complete failures. If they breed the attitude of easy living and an attitude of dependence on others, we will end up with no leadership such as has been responsible for the freedom and prosperity of this country.

We must make it clear that government can give nothing to the people it does not first take from them. We cannot provide medical care without paying for it—either directly or in taxes. We cannot provide enlarged pensions with any assurance of receiving them, unless we pay for them through our own savings—or if by government—by the taxes we pay.

The growth of bureaucracy can only be measured by the past. In California during the past six years state employes have increased by 43%, while population has increased only 20%. Unless we learn and take action against the past trend, we may be sure it will continue. All the future promises can be futile unless we consider the past. Tomorrow may be a better world. If it is, it will be because we take action to keep a stronger hold on the past and maintain the individual freedoms and incentives that have given us reason to hope for a better future.—L.A.C.

Bus Drivers Vie in Perception-Reaction Test

By VINT MADER

It's mildly shocking to be tested and told officially that your world is flat and you're a butterfingers, but it's useful knowledge That was roughly the result of an interesting trip through an insurance company's "Safe-T-Coach" that I took last week at garages of the Long Beach Public Transportation Company, 1330 Cherry Ave.

The company's drivers have been taking the tests on a voluntary no-records-kept basis during the annual visit of the test coach, which is sent on regular nationwide tours by Transit Casualty Co., of St. Louis, Mo.

Administering the tests during the Long Beach visit was F. J. Donnelly, safety engineer from the Los Angeles office of TCC, which writes the insurance on LBPTC drivers.

• • • • •

THE COACH is a regular diesel bus with the seats removed and equipment installed to give four basic tests of hearing, vision, recovery of eyes from glare and reaction time in hitting a brake pedal.

Though some bus firms have a compulsory test system, in Long Beach scores are not even written down as the drivers go through the 12-minute checkup, but anyone who tests very low on any point is informed of it verbally.

That's how I found out my world is flat — badly remiss in visual depth perception, to be technical about it.

• • • • •

ON ALL the other major tests, which include seven separate checks on various aspects of sight, I rang up satisfying ratings that made me think I could offer myself to the world of motor racing or jet piloting.

But self-satisfaction flopped when Donnelly switched into view in the vision-test machine a strip with a line of small circles grouped like this:

0000 0000 0000

When he said a person whose depth-perception is up to scratch will find a circle in each group that looks closer to the viewer than the others, I'd have told him he was putting me on except he had such an honest Irish face and trustworthy mien.

• • • •

TO ME, those little figures were as straight as a hypnotist's gaze.

He summarized that I do just fine on telling red lights from green ones, read the letter charts adequately, recover smartly from those glaring headlights and so forth, but warned me to leave lots of space whenever I'm driving among moving objects. With thanks, I promised to continue to avoid as fully as possible the popular Southland pastime of tailgating on the freeways.

• • • • •

THE PRIDE of Donnelly's firm is a "transitometer" machine it invented. Simulating conditions in a bus-driver's seat, the complex device tests your reaction time in getting that all-important foot onto the brakes. You see your speed rev up on a speedometer and act when a red light flashes. When the test is completed, another gauge shows how long you took.

The test is conducted with an undistracted concentration on the point where the red light appears and then with a confusion of numerous flashing lights, recording of traffic noises playing loudly and Donnelly's voice chattering along at you like a garrulous bus passenger wanting to know all the details about how to reach Plumbob Heights. A third part is a check of how much faster you act when your foot is poised on the brake pedal.

FAST-FOOTED REPORTER Vint Mader (upper right) smirks smugly over score he made in test that F. J. Donnelly, safety engineer is here administering to bus driver Skip Tillery. The grin soon faded when Tillery showed brake-pedal speed of a professional.

William F. Farrell, executive vice president and general manager of the transportation company, said the company drivers turn out eagerly to try all the tests and the transitometer is the most popular of all. After going through the full series, many return to challenge each other on it or to improve their reaction-time with practice, he says.

• • • • •

THE AVERAGE person takes .75 of a second, equal to 33 feet of travel at 30 mph before the brakes even begin to act.

• • • •

DONNELLY said my brake-hitting reactions were "among some of the fastest" tested in his Long Beach visit: .4 of a second without the distractions, slowing to .55 when he turned on the confusions and cutting to .25 when the foot was ready on the pedal.

That last one was pretty ego-inspiring, except that I got into a competition with veteran LBPTC driver Skip Tillery. He can slam the foot down in just .15 of a second and be modest about it.

Teaching the need to be ready for braking at all times is one of the most important parts of this safety program, says Donnelly. His message is that the distance saved by this readiness is what saves lives.

• • • • •

THE CANNY Irishman had one more test before we parted company and I still have lingering suspicions he used trickery to rate me a butterfingers. Quickly, he pulls out a long card, gets you to hold thumb and forefinger near the bottom of it like open pincers and drops it fast. Twice that thing fell all the way to the bus floor before I caught on the third drop in this simple test of reaction.

"You were out late last night," he accused. But I snapped him a quick defensive reply:

"I work nights."

WATERY WEDDING
San Pedro man Darrel Cotton, left, bestows first kiss on his bride, Diane Seidl, Saturday after their wedding in Los Angeles Harbor aboard sailboat where they first met.

Sailing Enthusiasts Wed Afloat in Harbor

By ED KENYON

A young bride who persevered against heavy odds had her wish Saturday—she was married aboard a 40-foot sailboat in the middle of Los Angeles Harbor.

Diane Seidl, a 24-year-old blonde, never was in doubt that she would win, even though the rain was pouring before the ceremony.

After all, Diane reasoned, she and groom Darrel Cotton, a 34-year-old San Pedro insurance man, had spent most of their dates since they met on a blind date a year ago aboard a sailing boat.

• • • •

THE BOAT was the Simba II, owned by Ralph Mehan of Palos Verdes Estates, and Diane and Darrel crewed almost every weekend when Mehan sailed from the California Yacht Anchorage in San Pedro.

The Simba II under engine power, cruised up to the Ports o'Call Restaurant on the harbor main channel—true to wedding tradition, nearly an hour late—with Diane in the cabin.

A record player piped the wedding march through a loudspeaker from the restaurant as the groom marched down the pier to the sloop and clambered aboard.

The groom and the minister, maid of honor, best man and flower girl assembled at the bow as the boat moved out into the channel, but Diane remained in the cabin.

• • • • •

"I CAN'T hear the wedding march from here," she whispered nervously to attendants waiting at the head of the companionway. Just then, the boat changed direction and the sound reached her. Diane ascended to the deck.

At the bow, the Rev. Laurence C. Keene, young assistant minister of the Crenshaw Christian Church in Inglewood, performed a brief wedding ceremony.

The vows taken, the young couple hugged, then kissed.

"Oh, my nose keeps running," said Diane as the wind whipped through her lacy wedding gown.

The starry-eyed groom kissed her again and replied gallantly, "I hadn't noticed."

lenient with his favored officers, and was accused of being unduly harsh with those who disagreed with him.

In a lengthy statement to the press Saturday, the Santa Ana council conceded that "erors in judgment have occurred . . . in the police conflict."

It called on the chief to devote full time and effort toward strengthening the environment of cooperation with his men," and promised that "retribution will not be taken against any personnel . . . as a result of prior activity."

• • • • •

IN THIS RESPECT, the council referred to dissidence which often flared into open rebellion within the ranks of the officers and men.

Reference also was indicated to the presence of a John Birch Society chapter within the department. This group had been alternately blamed for the strife, and championed for its defense of individuals.

Unless all officers forget past differences, and work for the good of the force, they will be "asked to resign or face disciplinary action," the council's statement promised.

• • • •

IT ALSO pledged that "men who have been returned to duty by the Personnel Board will be allowed the privileges of their rank, and will be given the opportunity to demonstrate their sincerity, loyalty and ability."

To guide the men and officers alike, a new police manual will be prepared and distributed to them.

"All men will be informed that a spirit of reconciliation is in effect . . . and all officers will be requested to lay aside their grievances . . . " according to the statement by Councilmen James Gilmore and Harry H. Harvey, spokesmen for the council as a whole.

Gilmore and Harvey had led the revolt against Chief Allen. They openly called for his resignation, and let Thornton know he had to fire Chief Allen or be fired himself.

THORNTON joined in the policy statement with Gilmore and Harvey in an unusual display of amicability. It means that his own position is secure; Thornton's fate was to have been sealed at Monday night's regular meeting of the council.

Kluxer's Mother Protests to LBJ

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The mother of one of four men charged in the death of Viola Liuzzo has protested to President Johnson that he has made it impossible for her son to have a fair trial.

Mrs. C. L. Wilkins, mother of Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, a Fairfield, Ala., mechanic, told the President in a letter Saturday that he has branded Wilkins guilty of the crime before he could have a hearing.

Wilkins and three other men are under federal conspiracy charges in connection with the fatal shooting of Mrs. Liuzzo.

The Detroit civil rights worker was shot on U.S. Highway 80 as she shuttled civil rights marchers between Montgomery and Selma the night of March 25.

• • • •

WILKINS, Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, Ala., and Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., 34, of Birmingham, were arrested by the FBI within 24 hours after the murder.

Immediately after the arrests, President Johnson appeared on television, announced the arrests, and denounced the Ku Klux Klan, saying the four men are members.

In her letter, Mrs. Wilkins told the President: "I love my son as much as you love your daughters. How would you feel if the President of the United States branded them guilty of a crime before they had been interrogated or given any kind of hearing?"

Here is Mrs. Wilkins' letter:

"Dear Mr. President: I am the mother of Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., one of the four men you branded guilty over the nation on television March 26, 1965, in the death of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo.

"I would like for you to explain to me why this was done before my son was even interrogated or given any kind of hearing or trial by jury. I feel like now my son and these three other men will not have a fair trial or a just trial because they were branded guilty before the nation by the President of the United States.

there still is much to do; for example, equalization of opportunity between school districts in which one student may be provided $250 as against $1,300 for a student in another district. He said two steps should be undertaken to try to cut down this disparity of wealth:

1. Massive tax reform which would feed back $350 million in state money for a $400-per-student basic aid program, double the present.

2. A program of preschooling and an early pick-up of poor readers.

Unruh said Democrats need to be careful not to get in the situation of allowing right-wing opposition to preach that "government is a slave-master relationship."

He said that Republicans of this state have "no disposition and less ability" to deal with California's huge problems.

"The Democrats and Republicans have differences but our fight is over leadership and theirs is over who should occupy a vacuum."

• • • •

IN INTRODUCING Speaker Unruh, Long Beach Assemblyman Joseph M. Kennick predicted that if Gov. Brown should change his mind and not be a candidate, "You'll have the pleasure of listening tonight to the next governor of the state of California."

Unruh, in his turn, said he could think of no one who does a better job for his people than Kennick.

Wrong-Way Collision Kills Five

LIMA, Ohio (UPI) — Five persons were killed and a 10-year-old boy was critically injured Saturday night in a wrong-way collision on Interstate 75 south of here when a motorist apparently took the wrong access ramp.

The victims were listed as Fred Howell, 49, of St. Marys, who was alone in one car and apparently was responsible for the crash, and four members of a family in the other car: Donald Forror, 40, his wife, Eleanor, 39, and their two daughters, Donna, about 15, and Vicki, about 12.

The Forror son, Kenny, was critically hurt and was taken here for treatment of head and chest injuries and broken arms. He was in the intensive-care unit at Lima Memorial Hospital.

The highway patrol post at St. Marys said the crash occurred about 7:30 p.m. just after dark. Howell apparently entered the wrong lanes by error at least two miles north of the scene of the collision.

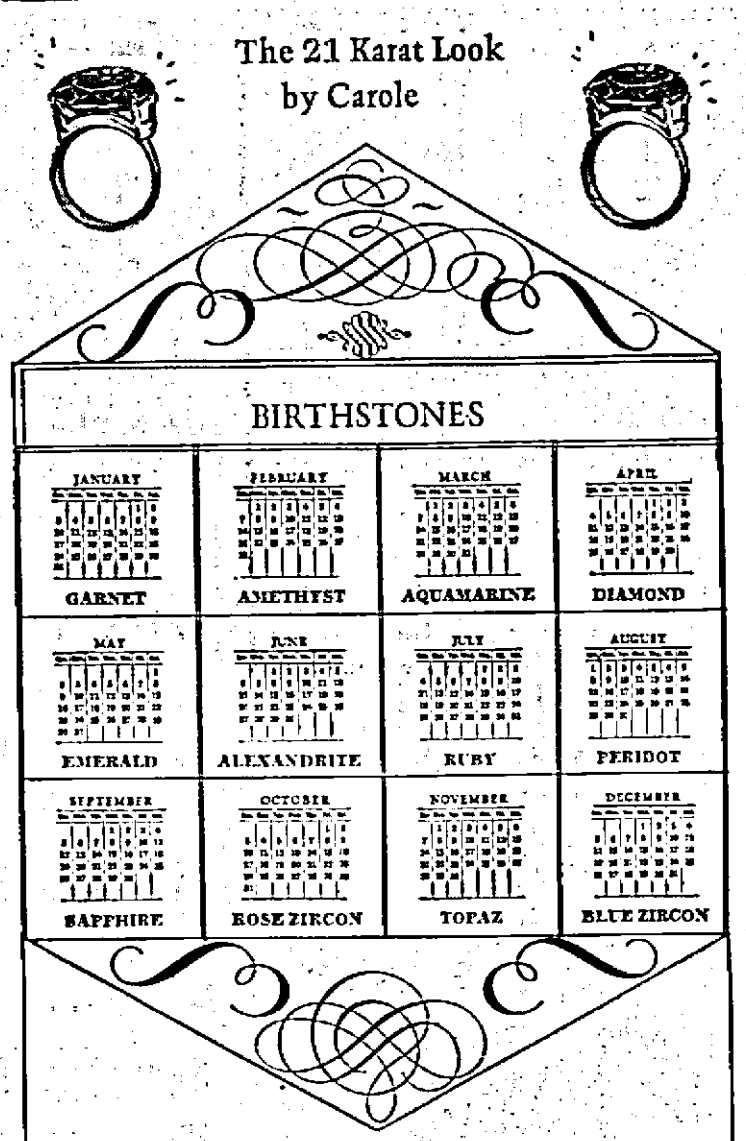

The head-on crash demolished the two station wagons and pinned the victims in the wreckage. It took nearly an hour before the bodies could be removed and taken to a nearby funeral home.

The accident and the police work at the scene blocked the busy highway, about midway between Dayton and Toledo, backing up traffic for a mile.

The 1965 Ford: She Likes Potatoes and Happy Wrinkles

"American women seem preoccupied with getting fat. They don't drink sugar in their tea. I have seven, eight spoonsful a day. I eat what I like, when I like, but it never seems to show.

• • • •

"WHY IS IT that American women make such a business of clothes shopping? If I could I would hire someone to do it for me.

"I have no patience for such things. I often go into a store, pick something out, have it sent home without trying it on.

"Besides, happiness is not in clothes, or objects. It's inside. I'm happiest when I am alone with my husband."

She is not fond of jewelry. "Henry asks, 'Why should I give you jewels when you don't wear them?' But I most always wear the gold watch he gave me."

• • • •

WHAT DOES Mr. Ford like to wear?

"Anything, so long as it is black."

"I love American designers, especially Norell and Arnold Scaasi. But my favorite clothes are sweaters, skirts. And pants."

Curling up on a floral davenport in the Ford Georgian mansion on the lake shore (in suburban Grosse Pointe Shores), she contemplated her life in Detroit.

"You know, we've only been home a couple of days (the Fords were married Feb. 19 in Washington, then honeymooned in Europe) and I still haven't gotten organized. Why, I don't even know how many servants are in this house . . .

• • • •

"SINCE WE'VE been back I've been catching up on my rest, sleeping late. No, I don't get up when my husband leaves for work . . . I have dinner with my husband. He comes home in the early evening. Then we talk, maybe watch a little television. Or go to a movie."

Long daily walks, sometimes with Mike, an English terrier, are a favorite pastime. Or she rides Mr. Ford's red-and-white American-made bicycle.

"That's my best sport, really. And as long as I'm outside in fresh air I'm happy . . .

• • • •

"I LOVE flowers. And I'm going to make a little vegetable garden out there," she said, pointing in the direction of formal French terraced gardens. "I want to plant everything, especially sweet corn. We both love it."

Mrs. Ford enjoys her privacy and describes herself as "a contemplative person. I can sit for a couple of hours and be happy just looking out the window."

"I love nature, the country, that's why I don't play cards. And don't plan to learn, I'm happier walking."

An amateur sculptress, Mrs. Ford wants to resume her hobby soon, her husband as a subject.

• • • •

"BUT HE'S so busy. He has no time to sit still, to pose right now. But I hope soon."

About the Ford mansion, Mrs. Ford said, "I don't expect to change the interior, only decorate part of the second floor."

About the Ford yacht, she said:

"I'm not a good sailor, I get seasick. Henry . . . well, he's so busy he's only been on it a few times, maybe 20 days in all.

"I say to him, 'Why don't you sell it, you never have time to enjoy it?'

"HE SAYS, 'Maybe when I retire.'

"I kid him a little and say, 'Well, you're 47 now and it's a long time to 65.'"

Business will take Ford to Australia late this month and Mrs. Ford and his daughter, Charlotte, will accompany him. It will be Mrs. Ford's first visit to that country.

Douglas in Line for UAL Order

DC8, capable of carrying 251 passengers.

United, which owns Boeing and French-made Caravelle jets in addition to its Douglas fleet, has expressed in recent months the need for a high-load, long-range jet for use on its Hawaii-U.S. and transcontinental routes.

The announcement Monday that Douglas can build such an aircraft with only modification to the existing DC8 will mean that the Long Beach-built plane will be the only high-load, long-range jet available. The Boeing 707 would have to be redesigned completely to allow it to carry as many passengers, aviation spokesmen said Saturday.

The 251-passenger DC8 is expected to be a major portion of the United purchase to be announced in New York.

However, United officials refused to reveal if the DC9 will be the choice of the airline for its compact-jet needs.

The British Aircraft Co. is in production with the BAC111 and last month Seattle's Boeing announced plans to build and market a 737 short-range jet, both of which will compete with the new Douglas DC9.

• • • •

IN AN interview with I. P-T aerospace editor Lee Craig, Jackson McGowen, vice president and general manager of the Long Beach aircraft division of Douglas, said he expects the DC9 eventually to capture "more than 40%" of a projected 1,000 to 1,200 world-wide airplane market for the compact jets.

While the BAC111 already is in production—the first of 50 was delivered to Braniff International Airways March 13—McGowen said Douglas will be able to match delivery with the English company.

"I don't think they can beat, substantially, our deliveries to new customers of any size," McGowen told Craig. "Perhaps two airplanes, or five, but if somebody wanted 40 we could probably deliver them as soon."

• • • •

IF MONDAY'S United announcement also awards the compact business to Douglas it will mean a severe blow for Seattle's Boeing.

In announcing the decision to compete with the DC9 last month, Boeing officials confirmed that the introduction of their 737 short-range craft into the market "might dilute" the demand for the BAC111 and the DC9.

Aviation industry observers speculated at that time that the market would not support three versions of the short-range aircraft but Douglas officials made no comment and continued with plans for production of the DC9.

In addition, two French companies, Sud Aviation and Avions Dassault, announced recently plans to produce a 56-passenger "compact" jet by 1969 in competition with Boeing, Douglas and BAC.

ATLANTA - based Delta Air Lines has ordered 15 DC9's with an option to purchase 15 more. The first delivery of the twin-jet from Douglas will be to Delta, probably in December.

Flight tests of the DC9 have been under way since March 3 from Long Beach Airport and Edwards AFB.

If Monday's announcement by United includes an order for the DC9, in addition to the new high-load DC8, it will put the Long Beach company far ahead of its competitors in both types of jets in production.

Johnson, Canada's Pearson Confer on U.S. Viet Strategy

THURMONT, Md. (UPI)—President Johnson and Canadian Premier Lester B. Pearson conferred Saturday on an apparent difference of view on U.S. bombing strategy in the Viet Nam anti-Communist war.

Pearson spelled out at a luncheon meeting with Johnson his proposal — made Friday night — for a "measured pause" in the American raids on Communist North Viet Nam to give the Hanoi regime a face-saving chance to start peace talks.

Johnson listened in friendly but noncommital fashion.

At a brief chat with newsmen afterward at his Camp David retreat, Johnson said the talk was friendly and covered topics of mutual U.S.-Canadian interest as well as Viet Nam. In fact, the President commented that the main objective of Pearson's visit had "nothing to do with Viet Nam and that was not the purpose or anything else you could blow up or make look big or dramatic."

Pearson told a pool of newsmen after the informal conference: "It is not a matter for me to pass judgment on what other countries do."

• • • •

PEARSON made his bombing "pause" suggestion in a Philadelphia speech. He said then that he was not advocating any "compromise on points of principle" but was expressing belief that a momentary halt in the raids might open the door to a diplomatic settlement.

AFTER INFORMAL CONFERENCE, President Johnson and Canada's Prime Minister Lester Pearson field newsmen's queries at Camp David, Md.

Johnson has declared publicly many times that he is determined to keep up military pressure against Hanoi until the Reds halt their aggression.

He said he and Pearson had discussed the European situation and such topics as pollution of the Great Lakes and a proposed Canadian-American aviation agreement.

When reporters were ushered onto the patio where they met, Johnson told them:

"The prime minister was in Pennsylvania and I was going to be here today so I asked him to come over and have lunch with me. He is returning shortly and we have no news for you.

"The prime minister and I have talked about various problems that affect our respective countries . . . It was a general discussion, a friendly one."

Wrong-Way Collision Kills Five

LIMA, Ohio (UPI) — Five persons were killed and a 10-year-old boy was critically injured Saturday night in a wrong-way collision on Interstate 75 south of here when a motorist apparently took the wrong access ramp.

The victims were listed as Fred Howell, 49, of St. Marys, who was alone in one car and apparently was responsible for the crash, and four members of a family in the other car: Donald Forror, 40, his wife, Eleanor, 39, and their two daughters, Donna, about 15, and Vicki, about 12.

The Forror son, Kenny, was critically hurt and was taken here for treatment of head and chest injuries and broken arms. He was in the intensive-care unit at Lima Memorial Hospital.

The highway patrol post at St. Marys said the crash occurred about 7:30 p.m. just after dark. Howell apparently entered the wrong lanes by error at least two miles north of the scene of the collision.

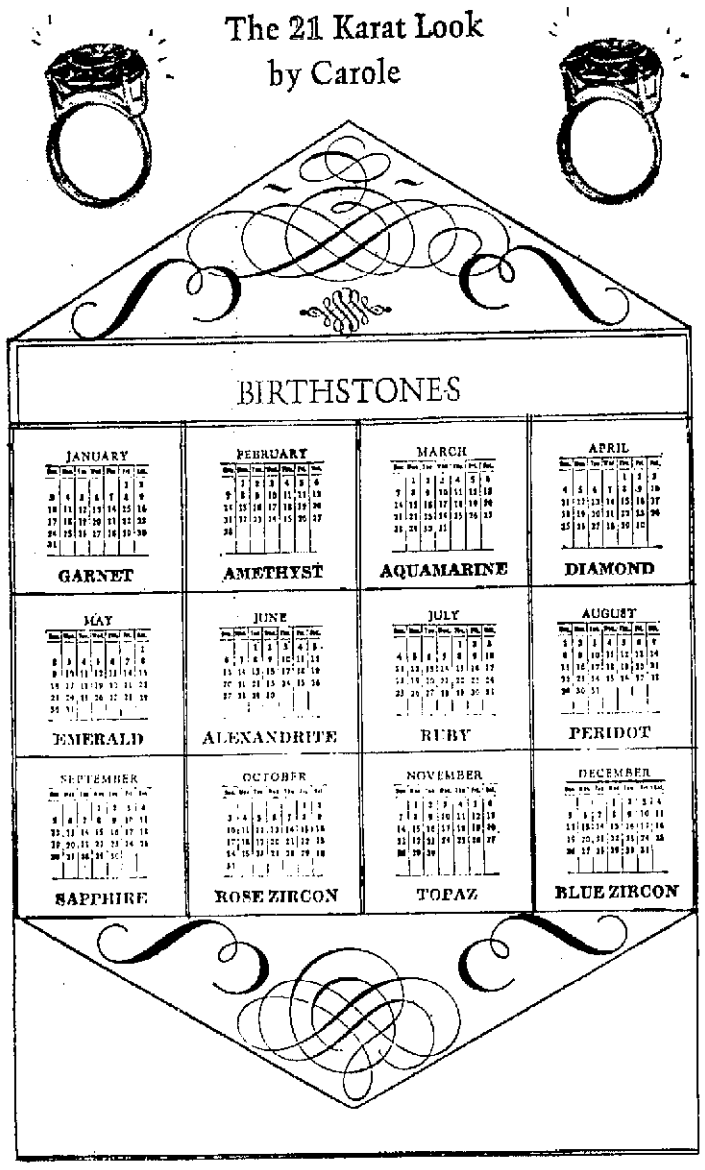

The head-on crash demolished the two station wagons and pinned the victims in the wreckage. It took nearly an hour before the bodies could be removed and taken to a nearby funeral home.

The accident and the police work at the scene blocked the busy highway, about midway between Dayton and Toledo, backing up traffic for a mile.

FACULTY GROUP DRAWS UP BLUEPRINT

LBSC Enrollment Limits Mapped

The first blueprint for turning away prospective students in the 18-campus state college system next September has been drawn by the official Long Beach State College faculty organization.

The Academic Senate proposes that the college keep its present ratio of one professor to 17 students.

Any students beyond this figure wishing to enroll would be shunted off to another state college or advised to attend a junior college.

* * * *

THE SENATE'S action came only two days after the state college Board of Trustees decided to limit enrollment this September unless the state legislature appropriates sufficient funds to provide "quality education" for all qualified students who apply.

An Academic Senate committee had prepared the Long Beach recommendations before the trustees acted. However, Dr. Carl W. McIntosh, college president, said the two actions are "in remarkable agreement."

The seven-point senate resolution also proposes the order in which students would be accepted and urges the various college departments to continue to try to recruit professors.

Students already enrolled would be admitted first. Following would be new freshmen, new sophomores and new upper classmen, in that order.

The senate also recommended that any college department with unfilled faculty positions next September "cancel course offerings proportionately."

Officials said the Long Beach college to date has hired only one-tenth of the new faculty members required for next fall because the system's salaries no longer are competitive.

* * * *

EXPECTED next fall is the equivalent of 12,820 full-time students—up 1,000 from this year's record enrollment. Needed are 120 full-time professors, plus more than 250 part-time faculty members.

The trustees' action stems principally from a projected cut in its "workload" budget request for next year of $138.6 million. Gov. Brown recommended the figure be slashed to $130.1 million.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke also emphasized that it may be impossible to hire enough professors to meet the student onslaught.

The state colleges have asked a 15.8% increase in faculty salaries for next year. However, the governor, in his "bare-bones" budget, allowed no increase. His "second-phase" budget, contingent on new sources of revenue, provides for a 5% hike.

President McIntosh lamented the proposed enrollment cutoff in an appearance before the trustees. "What we are discussing," he said, "is the partial closing of our institutions this year. We have a strong commitment to keep our doors open and our quality high."

Dr. William B. Langsdorf, Fullerton State College president, suggested that the colleges offer students only "conditional acceptance" in their admission applications next August.

The trustees, in their precedent-setting action, cited the "uncertain situation" and directed the chancellor "to take immediate steps, after appropriate consultation with the colleges, to establish enrollment figures for each college."

IN ADDITION, the trustees said, applicants for admission are to be advised "in a timely manner regarding the realistic possibilities of their being admitted in the fall session."

Details of the proposed curtailment will be discussed by the trustees at a two-day meeting later this month in Fresno.

Two of the 15 operating state colleges, those at San Jose and San Francisco, already are limiting enrollment due to insufficient facilities.

Art Theft Reported in Moscow Museum

MOSCOW (UPI)—A painting by 17th-century Dutch master Franz Hals, valued at about $150,000, was reported Saturday to have been stolen from Moscow's Pushkin Museum.

Informed sources said the portrait of St. Luke disappeared about 11 days ago from a special exhibit of paintings of Western art from provincial and private collections.

There was no official confirmation of the reported theft. The deputy director of the museum, Andrei Guber, said: "I cannot confirm or deny reports the painting has been stolen."

The disappearance of St. Luke—a companion piece to a painting of St. Matthew which still is on display—followed a report that late last year a masterpiece was stolen from Leningrad's Hermitage Museum.

EXPECTED next fall is the equivalent of 12,820 full-time students—up 1,000 from this year's record enrollment. Needed are 120 full-time professors, plus more than 250 part-time faculty members.

The trustees' action stems principally from a projected cut in its "workload" budget request for next year of $138.6 million. Gov. Brown recommended the figure be slashed to $130.1 million.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke also emphasized that it may be impossible to hire enough professors to meet the student onslaught.

The state colleges have asked a 15.8% increase in faculty salaries for next year. However, the governor, in his "bare-bones" budget, allowed no increase. His "second-phase" budget, contingent on new sources of revenue, provides for a 5% hike.

President McIntosh lamented the proposed enrollment cutoff in an appearance before the trustees. "What we are discussing," he said, "is the partial closing of our institutions this year. We have a strong commitment to keep our doors open and our quality high."

Dr. William B. Langsdorf, Fullerton State College president, suggested that the colleges offer students only "conditional acceptance" in their admission applications next August.

The trustees, in their precedent-setting action, cited the "uncertain situation" and directed the chancellor "to take immediate steps, after appropriate consultation with the colleges, to establish enrollment figures for each college."

IN ADDITION, the trustees said, applicants for admission are to be advised "in a timely manner regarding the realistic possibilities of their being admitted in the fall session."

Details of the proposed curtailment will be discussed by the trustees at a two-day meeting later this month in Fresno.

Two of the 15 operating state colleges, those at San Jose and San Francisco, already are limiting enrollment due to insufficient facilities.

Art Theft Reported in Moscow Museum

MOSCOW (UPI)—A painting by 17th-century Dutch master Franz Hals, valued at about $150,000, was reported Saturday to have been stolen from Moscow's Pushkin Museum.

Informed sources said the portrait of St. Luke disappeared about 11 days ago from a special exhibit of paintings of Western art from provincial and private collections.

There was no official confirmation of the reported theft. The deputy director of the museum, Andrei Guber, said: "I cannot confirm or deny reports the painting has been stolen."

The disappearance of St. Luke—a companion piece to a painting of St. Matthew which still is on display—followed a report that late last year a masterpiece was stolen from Leningrad's Hermitage Museum.

GRISSOM AND YOUNG TELL THEIR STORY

Around the World With the Molly Brown

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the following interview, America's Gemini astronauts Maj. Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and Lt. Cmdr. John Young recount their historic flight in the Molly Brown spacecraft March 23. This material was made available to The Independent, Press-Telegram by the World Book Encyclopedia Science Service, Inc.

GRISSOM: A couple of seconds after we splashed into the Atlantic, I thought: "Oh my God, here we go again!"

The Gemini spacecraft is designed so that the left window—my window—will be above water after the vehicle is safely down and floating. But instead of looking up at blue sky I was peering down at blue water. I realized that I still had not cut loose our parachute after landing, and the wind was blowing it across the water, tugging us along underneath like a submarine. Some people may think I'm sensitive about the "Liberty Bell," which is now on the bottom of the ocean. But I'm not, and that is precisely why I named this one the "Unsinkable Molly Brown." We had used more formal names for our previous spacecraft, and some officials were a bit hesitant to go along with "Molly Brown." They asked me if I had second choice, and I said sure, the "Titanic."

But anyway, there were switches to throw, and one of them was to release the chute. I did so, and we popped to the surface like a cork.

YOUNG: Yep, up until then, the view out the windows looked like Marineland.

GRISSOM: We got in the right position, and there were no gurgles or signs of water leaking into the spacecraft. Our recovery technique allowed me to open at least one hatch to give us some fresh air, but I delayed this for about 30 minutes. I was still thinking I just didn't want Molly Brown to sink. John wanted to open the hatch but I still held off. I finally did open it, but only after the frogmen had a flotation collar attached and Molly Brown was obviously going to be OK.

YOUNG: Molly Brown was OK from the first time we met her. In Project Mercury a lot of improvements were made after the spacecraft got to the Cape, but with GT-3, most of the wrinkles were ironed out at the McDonnell factory in St. Louis and things looked so good even then that Gus went so far as to predict a launch date to me over a year ago. He pegged March 15, 1965. I thought he was off his rocker at the time, but it turns out he was only a week off.

From St. Louis we went on to endless hours in the spacecraft simulator at the Cape. It can't make you weightless, but it can duplicate practically every condition and problem you might encounter on a flight.

GRISSOM: Shortly after takeoff, our onboard computer told us we were going higher on the flight path than we expected. The booster was a little bit "hot." Luckily, Gordon Cooper verified the same data from the ground, because after staging, the booster nosed down to get on the proper flight path. If we hadn't known what was coming we could have been a little shook up.

For the first 50 seconds of the flight I had both hands on the ring which would have blown both of our ejection seats out of the capsule if things really went wrong. John had a duplicate ring, but when I glanced over I noticed he wasn't holding it and his hands were resting casually in his lap.

YOUNG: Yes, but I was watching you, and if you'd pulled your ring a couple of times and nothing hapened, I was sure going to yank mine hard. During this time we didn't say a word to each other because there was so much to do so fast, but once we got into orbit we could relax just a little.

GRISSOM: Just about that time John started talking about the view, which really was incredible.

YOUNG: It's an overworked word, but the view was fantastic. I had seen movies from previous flights and had said, "Shoot, that's just technicolor." We really have a beautiful planet. I wish I'd had more time to enjoy it. I said to Gus, 'Holy Smoke! There's Bermuda!" Pitch over and I'll take a picture of it." Bermuda was glowing like a diamond. But we were going so damned fast that by the time Gus had lined up the spacecraft for my shot, Bermuda was almost gone. We were really hauling the mail.

GRISSOM: I felt the same awareness of speed that John did . . . Heck, I only went a third as fast on my previous flight.

As we were leaving the Canary Islands behind on the first orbit, all hell broke loose. First, John told me that the pressure in the oxygen system which kept us alive—both in our suits and in the spacecraft, had suddenly dropped. Then I saw some bad readings in other places. It turned out than an electrical converter system which powered the dials had malfunctioned. We had plenty of oxygen, we just didn't have the readings. We had to assume, however, that the problem was worse than that. I quickly pulled the visor down on my space suit, but at the same moment I thought to myself, "If the oxygen pressure is really gone, it won't make any difference. You're dead already." John was smarter than I was. He figured out the problem and reached up and turned on a backup converter. We went right on breathing.

YOUNG: After we got all that straightened out, Gus had to do the sea urchin experiment. He was to turn a knob to fertilize some male and female sea urchin eggs under space conditions, the object being to test the effect of weightlessness on living cells.

GRISSOM: That's the one part of the flight plan that I guess didn't work out as planned. Maybe I had too much adrenalin pumping, but I twisted the handle so hard I broke it.

John had an experiment that he didn't carry off exactly as planned either—checking our space food. The meals we took along with us came in plastic bags, and we had to insert a water gun into the bag and squirt liquid inside to reconstitute them. This is a good idea and it works fine, but it takes some doing. Here I was, sitting over there flying and John was fooling around with the food, and all of a sudden he asked me if I wanted a corned beef sandwich.

YOUNG: Wally Schirra had the sandwich made up at a restaurant at Cocoa Beach a couple of days before and I hid it in a pocket of my space suit. I just pulled it out and offered it to the skipper. I hadn't counted on the pungent odor of corned beef in a closed cabin.

GRISSOM: I must admit that as test pilots John and I were not quite as fascinated by sea urchins and sandwiches as we were by the chance to carry out some real "firsts" in space flight. The whole reason for the Gemini program is to train for flights to the moon which will involve changes in course in order to rendezvous with other spacecraft. We pulled off a couple of good maneuvers along these lines. In the first orbit we fired some thrusters that completely changed our orbit from an ellipse to a near-circle. We did the same maneuver, again refining the orbit, just prior to retro-fire. We also proved we could nudge the spacecraft out of one flight path into another. No astronaut from anywhere had ever performed these maneuvers before.

YOUNG: Gus felt so good about all this that he let me fly the Molly Brown for a few minutes. I thought I'd have to break his arm to take over even for that long.

GRISSOM: The most critical part of the flight, as it always is, was retro-fire and re-entry. Here's where you know the whole world is watching you. We fired our retro-rockets to slow us out of orbit and start our return to earth. Our onboard computer told us that we would land short of our target, the aircraft carrier "Interpid." Here's where another first came in. I could actually maneuver the spacecraft almost like an airplane and was able to reduce the error considerably.

The one real big surprise to me on the flight was the jolt we both got when the main chute was deployed. The harness is rigged so that we were snapped from about vertical position to a 45-degree landing attitude.

John and I were both thrown against the windshield. I banged into a knob that punctured a hole in my faceplate. John's faceplate was only scratched. Then we were in the water. John, being a Navy officer, was more at home there than I was.

YOUNG: That's when we had our little submarine ride. I'm glad Gus cut that chute loose when he did because I was about to.

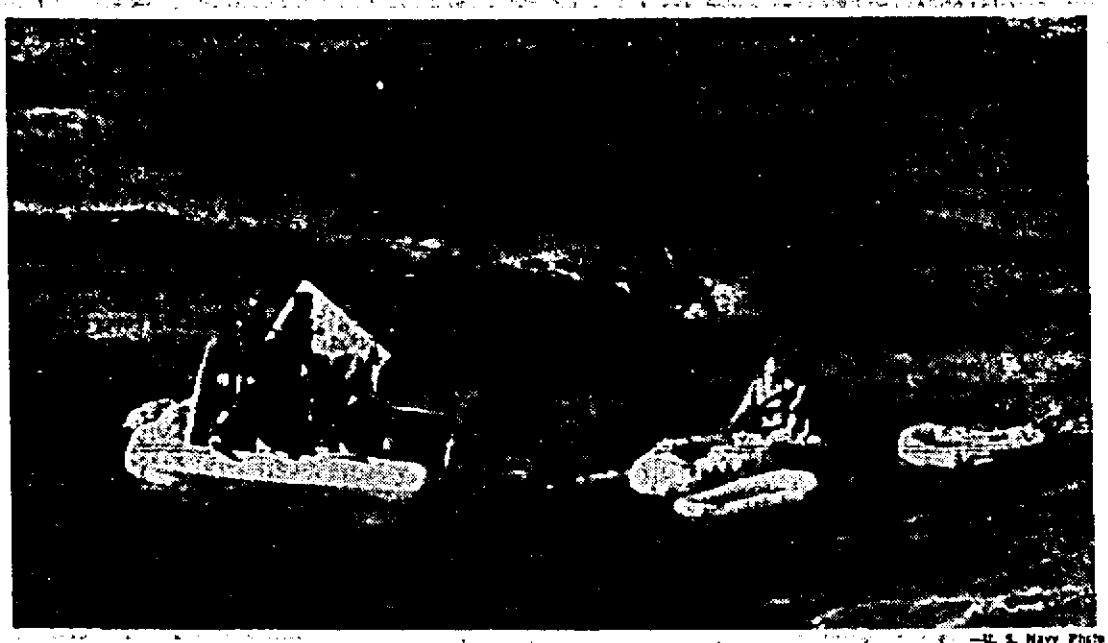

GRISSOM: It was hot as hell in the capsule and though it is stable in the air it sure isn't stable in the water. We were both feeling pretty sick in very short order. John retained his meal, but I lost mine. I was fine after that. When the recovery helicopter arrived, I left the spacecraft first because my hatch was the one that was out of the water and open.

YOUNG: That's the first time I ever heard of a skipper leaving the ship first.

GRISSOM: Well, I made you captain when I left.

YOUNG: So now I was the captain of a Navy vessel for a few minutes and renamed it the "U.S.S. Molly Brown."

Prompt Diagnosis and Treatment Are Vital

circulatory disease in modern countries. It kills 2.6 million people each year.

Cancer research is putting together a gigantic jigsaw puzzle — as big as space, as detailed as the tiniest particle of the atom, as complex as the sequence of the countless chemical and physical events called life. When the pieces finally are put together, we shall know how each man came into being, the chemistry of life, the distortions of disease and the irreversible reactions of death.

Laboratory advances are now being achieved so rapidly that no one can hope to keep current with the more significant discoveries. Someday this knowledge will be applied to medicine. Man may then have to find new things to die of, because in solving the cancer problem, science will have discovered, as by-products, the key to infections, hereditary, hormonal, and other ailments, and perhaps even a means of delaying for a while the disasters of old age.

It should be clear at the outset that some kinds of cancer are curable—much more so than the common cold which still is incurable by medical means.

ALL THE CANCER SCHOLARS COULD BE RIGHT

Educating people to behave intelligently in the presence of cancer and teaching doctors to use properly the techniques now available is as great a job as the quest for new means to diagnose and cure cancer.

• • • • •

TO DIFFERENT authorities, cancer is variously a half-smothered cell; a missing, extra or displaced gene; a distorted nucleic acid; a defective enzyme; an abnormal gland or unbalanced hormonal system; a dietary indiscretion; a virus in disguise; a weakened or corrupted immunity; overworked emotions; an abused habit; an accident of birth; overexposure to a chemical or ray in our environment; a contaminating microbe; a cell which has learned the secret of eternal youth, or an inevitable consequence of the aging process.

In this respect, cancer scholars are like the legendary blind men who sought to describe an elephant. All of them could be right.

But let us define cancer as a savage cell which somehow evades the laws of the body, corrupts the forces which normally protect, invades the well-ordered society of cells surrounding it, colonizes distant areas and, as a finale to its cannibalistic orgy of flesh consuming flesh, commits suicide by destroying its host.

Just as a city can be paralyzed by the breakdown of any of its essential functions, so can the body become sick or die when cancer impairs an important system or service.

Scientists have induced cancer in animals by many means—by mating, by infection, by radiation, by treatment or feeding with hundreds of chemicals, hormones and poisons. If normal cells are removed from the body and grown in tissue culture, one in every several thousand will develop into cancer when injected into an animal.

Has cancer's cold, hard grip on human destiny begun to relax? Perhaps—a little. More than one million cured cancer patients in the United States alone can attest to this.

• • • • •

WHAT'S more, the number and percentage of cures are rising slowly but steadily. Most of the fortunate former patients, to be sure, had cancers which were accessible, readily diagnosed, and responsive to surgery or X-rays.

While almost all incurable cancers remain incurable still, ease and comfort have been given to most of these patients, and their useful lives have been lengthened, often without great pain. To those who have learned to live each day for itself these small advances are a blessing.

New concepts of cancer and its treatment are emerging. It seems inevitable that some of these results someday will be applied clinically to prolong human life, relieve man of his pains and terrors, and enrich him with health and new degrees of productivity.

New Undersea Peak Charted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Coast and Geodetic Survey announced Saturday the discovery of a new undersea mountain rising within 4,500 feet of the surface of the Pacific Ocean about 15 miles northeast of Hawaii.

The submerged mountain of volcanic origin is 9,700 feet high and 11 to 13 miles across at its base.

It lies in an area where charted depths exceed 15,400 feet, and is the newest underwater peak that rises closest to the surface of the sea in the Hawaiian Islands arc, which stretches 1,400 miles from Midway Island to Hawaii.

No Warren Report for Ivan After All

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After months of semisecret preparation, the U.S. government has scrapped plans for mass distribution in the Soviet Union of a Russian translation of the Warren Commission's report on President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

The U.S. Information Agency has been working all through the winter on a somewhat hush-hush project to have the 888-page document translated into Russian.

The translation, done by a private contractor at U.S. expense, has now been completed in draft form and is being edited.

USIA officials told UPI a "limited number" of copies will be sent to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow to be made available for Soviet readers.

• • • • •

ORIGINALLY USIA had planned to send some 10,000 copies to Russia.

The idea grew out of an observation by U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler in Moscow after U.S. publication of the Warren Report Sept. 27, 1964. Kohler said the report's main conclusion—that the assassination was the work of one man and not a right-wing plot—appeared to be lost on many Russians.

The Soviet press contributed to this feeling among Russian citizens.

When USIA embarked on the project, it apparently failed to realize that translating such a mammoth volume, essentially a legal document, would prove to be an immense scholarly job requiring much time.

USIA's arrangement with the first contractor it hired was ended after work had begun. About four months ago the agency hired the Institute of Modern Languages here to complete the job.

Prompt Diagnosis and Treatment Are Vital

circulatory disease in modern countries. It kills 2.6 million people each year.

Cancer research is putting together a gigantic jigsaw puzzle — as big as space, as detailed as the tiniest particle of the atom, as complex as the sequence of the countless chemical and physical events called life. When the pieces finally are put together, we shall know how each man came into being, the chemistry of life, the distortions of disease and the irreversible reactions of death.

Laboratory advances are now being achieved so rapidly that no one can hope to keep current with the more significant discoveries. Someday this knowledge will be applied to medicine. Man may then have to find new things to die of, because in solving the cancer problem, science will have discovered, as by-products, the key to infections, hereditary, hormonal, and other ailments, and perhaps even a means of delaying for a while the disasters of old age.

It should be clear at the outset that some kinds of cancer are curable—much more so than the common cold which still is incurable by medical means.

ALL THE CANCER SCHOLARS COULD BE RIGHT

Educating people to behave intelligently in the presence of cancer and teaching doctors to use properly the techniques now available is as great a job as the quest for new means to diagnose and cure cancer.

U.S. GIRL QUEEN OF SIKKIM

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Booth, minister of the Unitarian Church of Long Beach, is one of fewer than ten Americans ever allowed inside forbidden Tibet. His book "Fabulous Destinations," describing his Asiatic wanderings, was a 1951 Travel-Book-of-the-Month Club selection.

By JOHN NICHOLLS BOOTH

This is the real-life fairy story of a lovely American college girl whom fate has lifted from obscurity to share the throne of an extraordinary Asiatic kingdom. While enjoying a short vacation in Darjeeling, India, in 1959, she met her fairy prince of another culture and, after many astrologically required delays, became successively his husband and then his queen.

Today 24-year-old Hope Cooke, a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y., was "crowned" maharanee (queen) of the picturesque Himalayan state of Sikkim.

SUNDAY WAS not chosen for its Christian or "day of rest" associations. Sikkim is a land of Hinduism and Buddhism. Miss Cooke surrendered her Episcopalian faith in embracing her husband's Buddhist religion.

In tiny Sikkim, astrologers give orders to kings. Until planetary orbits are propitious, coronations are off. Maharajah Palden Thondup Namgyal had been obliged to wait from March 20, 1963, the date of his dream-world wedding, over two years until today before the stars would agree to the favorable crowning of his new queen and before he could take the maharajah's crown himself. With the crown on his head, the former prince officially replaced his father, Sir Tashi Namgyal, who died Dec. 2, 1963.

FOR THE CROWNING ceremony, the thrones, two golden-brocaded chairs, were faced in a north-northeasterly direction to comply with Buddhist astrologists' decisions that this was the most favorable position as suggested by months of study of the stars.

And thus Sikkim is added to the pocket state of Monaco in attesting to the power of love literally to transform unsuspecting American girls into real life queens of distant lands.

WHAT SORT of nation will look up to the shy and beautiful American maharanee of Sikkim? It is so small that I have walked across it! Although much of it is mountainous, the kingdom could be dropped inside Yellowstone National Park. Its population of 163,000 indicates that Long Beach's Mayor Wade is the chief figure for over twice as many persons as the maharajah.

Statistics can conceal glittering stories. In Sikkim the Abominable Snowman has been reported. One freezing moonlit night as I camped at almost 15,000 feet near the barren Sikkim-Tibet border a wild and hairy creature tried to force its way into my presence. I am sure that it was a Tibetan bandit. But my porters, freightened, assured me that I had encountered the dread yeti.

—AP Wirephoto

THE STARS ARE PROPITIOUS, so the former Hope Cooke of New York today became the maharanee of Sikkim. Here she is shown with the maharajah, whom she married three years ago and by whom she has a son.

IF CHINESE armies flow toward India in a tidal wave, Sikkim will blast into world headlines. It is the Khyber Pass of the eastern Himalaya. No better corritor for invasion exists than down Tibet's Chumbi Valley, across the 15,200-foot Nathu La (la is Tibetan for "pass"), and then downhill through Sikkim onto India's broad and dusty Gangetic plains.

If a Unitarian clergyman could march that route, as I did 17 years ago, a physically hardened, determined Chinese army could repeat the feat today. A gentle, lovable king and queen could stop it today no more than other Oriental potentates were able to do, centuries ago, against Alexander the Great at the Khyber.

SIKKIM'S MOST dramatic possession is Kangchenjunga. This awesome word names the world's third highest mountain. Its meaning is sheer poetry: "Great Snow of the Five Treasures." Indeed, this is the largest single mountain massif on earth and it lies but 80 miles from Mount Everest, a vast iceberg of raging winds and eternal snows.

One night I shivered, spellbound, for 90 minutes of darkness, in Sikkim's capital, Gangtok, watching the moon changing the shadows on Kangchenjunga's pinnacles and battlements. It was the most moving sight of my life, exceeding even the fantastic vision of the Taj Mahal floating beneath stars and moon.

Gangtok must be one of the world's smallest capital cities. It is crowded with 7000 persons who clutch the steep hillsides upon which the curious town is perched. It still lacks newsapers, radio or TV, a railroad or airport.

MY RETURN from the heart of Tibet, in 1943, unexpectedly made me a minor celebrity in Gangtok. Even in the shadow of the nation that is called the "roof of the world" foreigners who have made the arduous trek on foot over the Himalayas arouse interest.

A special invitation was extended to me by the late king of Sikkim, Sir Tashi Namgyal, to be his personal guest at his 55th birthday celebration. Parades, feasting and pageants were promised. He wanted the young American "explorer" as a conversation piece. This was my nearest contact with the father and family of the present maharajah.

CRA Dissidents Cite Poll Results

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A group of Republicans from one of California's four GOP counties reaffirmed Saturday their decision to walk out of the California Republican Assembly, citing figures they say prove only a "moderate candidate" could beat Gov. Brown.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, circulated a poll taken by the Marin County Tiburon Peninsula chapter of the CRA, a volunteer group which met in San Diego last weekend.

After the convention, some delegates, charging the CRA had been taken over by ultra-conservatives, announced they would join a new volunteer group, the California Republican Leagues.

* * * *

THE TIBURON CRA members, who took their poll before the San Diego meeting, asked 1,870 Republicans and 930 Democrats to choose from a list of potential 1966 gubernatorial candidates. The only Democrat among them was the governor, who had decided to try for a third term.

These were the results from the 707 Republicans and 269 Democrats responding:

Former Assemblyman Joseph Shell, 19; Brown, 86; actor Ronald Reagan, 112; former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, 236; Sen. Thomas Kuchel, 484.

* * * *

THE GROUP said the poll "indicates a moderate candidate would carry the county easily against the incumbent." A candidate "currently favored by far-right Republican groups" would have the dual task of winning Republican support and getting Democrats behind him, the Tiburon group said.

The results, the group said, "coupled with our reaction" to the CRA meeting, strengthen a previous recommendation to quit the CRA and "affiliate with the more moderate California Republican Leagues."

Girl Rescues Boy Washed Into Culvert

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP)—Seven-year-old Ronnie Grimsley was carried through a flood-swollen culvert 150 feet long Saturday before being rescued by Cheryl Sickelbower, 17.

Ronnie fell into the ditch, 6 feet wide, just above the culvert's mouth with the water running near bankfull. After he emerged from the culvert, he bobbed up from the swirling water and called for help.

Miss Sickelbower heard his cry, jumped into the ditch and pulled him out.

His only complaint was that he'd lost his boots.

125-Year-Old House Takes Trip

JANESVILLE, Wis. (AP)—A porticoed stone house, nearly 125 years old, has survived a shaky experience and is being readied for a new life.

The house, a rare example of temple style Greek revival architecture built before 1842 by an early Wisconsin settler, was moved across town to its new location on the grounds of the Tallman mansion. The stone building will be restored and opened to the public as part of the Lincoln-Tallman Museum which is operated by the Rock County Historical Society.

The Tallman structure, once the home of a leading local family, was a stopping place for Abraham Lincoln when he went into Wisconsin.

Punishment Fits Fine

BELLEVUE, Ky. (AP)—Lewis Van Benschotin was panting heavily when he appeared in the county clerk's office to buy a 1965 auto tag—one day after the deadline.

"I had to ride my son's bike down here," Van Benschotin told the puzzled clerk.

After getting both his tag and his breath, he peddled home.

SIKKIM'S MOST dramatic possession is Kangchenjunga. This awesome word names the world's third highest mountain. Its meaning is sheer poetry: "Great Snow of the Five Treasures." Indeed, this is the largest single mountain massif on earth and it lies but 80 miles from Mount Everest, a vast iceberg of raging winds and eternal snows.

One night I shivered, spellbound, for 30 minutes of darkness, in Sikkim's capital, Gangtok, watching the moon changing the shadows on Kangchenjunga's pinnacles and battlements. It was the most moving sight of my life, exceeding even the fantastic vision of the Taj Mahal floating beneath stars and moon.

Gangtok must be one of the world's smallest capital cities. It is crowded with 7000 persons who clutch the steep hillsides upon which the curious town is perched. It still lacks newsapers, radio or TV, a railroad or airport.

MY RETURN from the heart of Tibet, in 1948, unexpectedly made me a minor celebrity in Gangtok. Even in the shadow of the nation that is called the "roof of the world" foreigners who have made the arduous trek on foot over the Himalayas arouse interest.

A special invitation was extended to me by the late king of Sikkim, Sir Tashi Namgyal, to be his personal guest at his 55th birthday celebration. Parades, feasting and pageants were promised. He wanted the young American "explorer" as a conversation piece. This was my nearest contact with the father and family of the present maharajah.

CRA Dissidents Cite Poll Results

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A group of Republicans from one of California's four GOP counties reaffirmed Saturday their decision to walk out of the California Republican Assembly, citing figures they say prove only a "moderate candidate" could beat Gov. Brown.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, circulated a poll taken by the Marin County Tiburon Peninsula chapter of the CRA, a volunteer group which met in San Diego last weekend.

After the convention, some delegates, charging the CRA had been taken over by ultra-conservatives, announced they would join a new volunteer group, the California Republican Leagues.

* * * *

THE TIBURON CRA members, who took their poll before the San Diego meeting, asked 1,870 Republicans and 930 Democrats to choose from a list of potential 1966 gubernatorial candidates. The only Democrat among them was the governor, who had decided to try for a third term.

These were the results from the 707 Republicans and 269 Democrats responding:

Former Assemblyman Joseph Shell, 19; Brown, 86; actor Ronald Reagan, 112; former San Francisco Mayor George Christopher, 236; Sen. Thomas Kuchel, 484.

* * * *

THE GROUP said the poll "indicates a moderate candidate would carry the county easily against the incumbent." A candidate "currently favored by far-right Republican groups" would have the dual task of winning Republican support and getting Democrats behind him, the Tiburon group said.

The results, the group said, "coupled with our reaction" to the CRA meeting, strengthen a previous recommendation to quit the CRA and "affiliate with the more moderate California Republican Leagues."

Girl Rescues Boy Washed Into Culvert

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP)—Seven-year-old Ronnie Grimsley was carried through a flood-swollen culvert 150 feet long Saturday before being rescued by Cheryl Sickelbower, 17.

Ronnie fell into the ditch, 6 feet wide, just above the culvert's mouth with the water running near bankfull. After he emerged from the culvert, he bobbed up from the swirling water and called for help.

Miss Sickelbower heard his cry, jumped into the ditch and pulled him out.

His only complaint was that he'd lost his boots.

125-Year-Old House Takes Trip

JANESVILLE, Wis. (AP)—A porticoed stone house, nearly 125 years old, has survived a shaky experience and is being readied for a new life.

The house, a rare example of temple style Greek revival architecture built before 1842 by an early Wisconsin settler, was moved across town to its new location on the grounds of the Tallman mansion. The stone building will be restored and opened to the public as part of the Lincoln-Tallman Museum which is operated by the Rock County Historical Society.

The Tallman structure, once the home of a leading local family, was a stopping place for Abraham Lincoln when he went into Wisconsin.

Punishment Fits Fine

BELLEVUE, Ky. (AP)—Lewis Van Benschotin was panting heavily when he appeared in the county clerk's office to buy a 1965 auto tag—one day after the deadline.

"I had to ride my son's bike down here," Van Benschotin told the puzzled clerk.

After getting both his tag and his breath, he peddled home.

PALSY EXPERT TEACHES HER TO DRAW

S Is for Sandy, Also Spunk

For Sandy, even though she was now eight years old, the assignment was tough:

Using a crayon, draw an S—the first letter in her name.

Tough, you say?

For her, yes. For Sandy is a victim of cerebral palsy, a condition resulting from brain damage incurred either before or during birth.

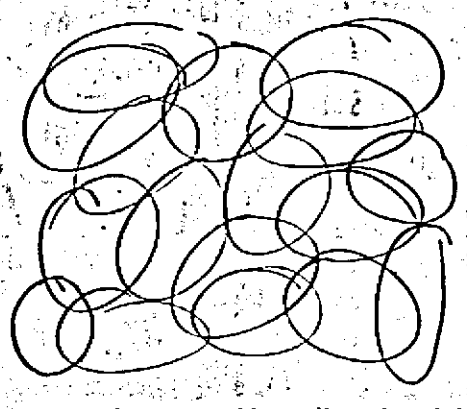

Consequently, for her, the task of drawing even a straight line seemed almost insurmountable.

The assignment was handed her by Dr. Paul Carlson, assistant professor of medical psychology at UCLA Center for the Health Sciences.

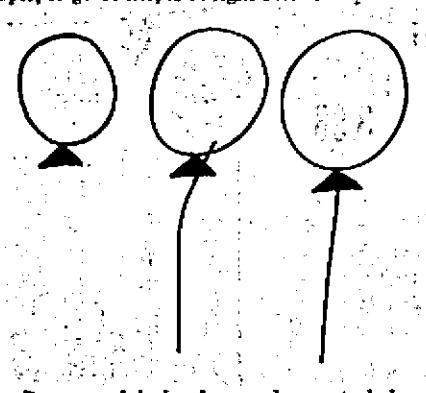

His challenge was to help Sandy attempt to correct impairment of sensory and perception faculties.

This, then, is the anatomy of a S.

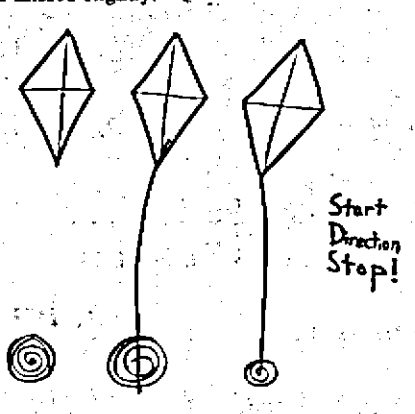

Sandy's first job: Draw something, anything. Her response:

Dr. Carlson, a consulting staff member of the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Los Angeles County, drew a couple of balloons and asked Sandy to draw a line to the base of the balloon. His example, to guide her, is at right below:

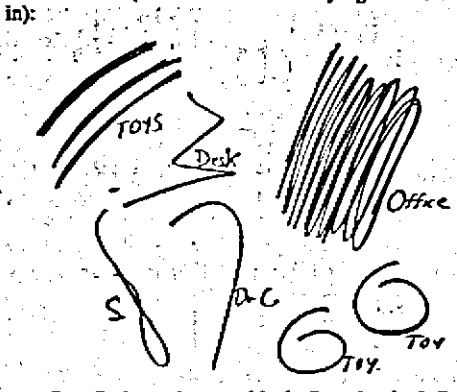

Because of lack of muscular control, her try (center, above) ended up a little off center. So try again, he urged, this time with a string from a ball of string to a kite. Her attempt (center, below) again missed slightly:

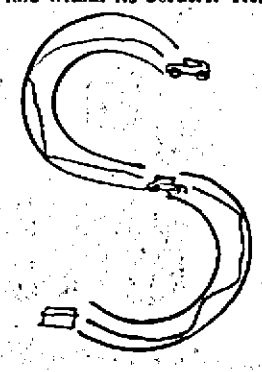

"Now Sandy," he said, "draw a straight line from one ball of string to another, keeping that line within a set of borders." After weeks of work, Sandy was able to keep a line within narrower borders:

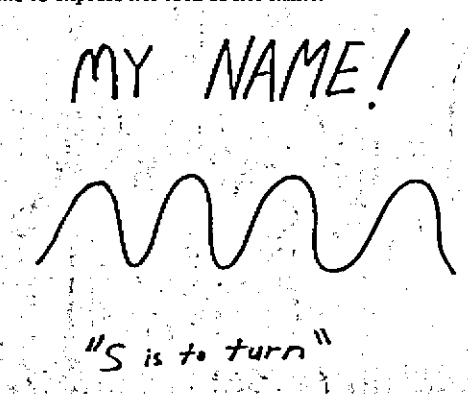

Months of laborious work passed, and Sandy now was asked to draw her impressions of objects in the office (Dr. Carlson's identifying words filled in):

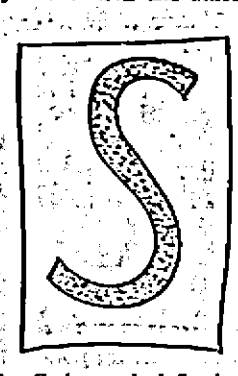

Dr. Carlson drew a block S and asked Sandy to draw a line within its borders. Her first try:

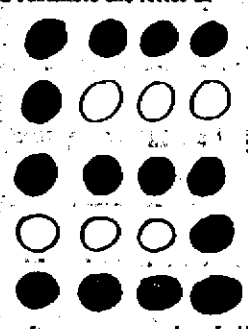

Dr. Carlson told Sandy her name started with an S and that S is "to turn." She drew this curving line to express her idea of her name:

Sandy, by now nine years old, was given a blocked S by Dr. Carlson and asked to fill it in with dots:

Next, Dr. Carlson asked Sandy to fill in the circles which he had drawn so that the filled-in circles would resemble the letter S:

Finally, after a year and a half, Sandy was able to draw the first letter in her name. Here it is:

Sandy had achieved the first goal set for her.

She had learned a lesson—but she also had taught one, namely:

S is also the first letter of Spunk—and that's Spunk with a capital S, Mr. Printer.

Applied-Science Stunt Strictly for the Birds

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Students of the Philadelphia College of Art apparently get a bang out of the unusual. First it was dropping eggs out of a third floor window. Now it's scaring pigeons.

The egg drop last December was described as pure science. Collegians wanted to see whether they could design a fancy egg crate that could be dropped from a third floor window without breaking the eggs.

Friday's pigeon caper was in the nature of applied science, they said.

They fastened 150 tin cans to the outside of a square box, then placed a firecracker and a roll of colored crepe paper inside each can. The firecrackers were connected to a long fuse inside the box. Pink and lavender paper covers were placed over the tin cans, and the whole contraption hung on a long pole.

* * * *

THE FUSE was lit.

A lone pigeon came in for a landing in the courtyard of the art school. As he glided low over the rooftop, the gimmick went up in a roar and a cloud of black smoke.

Firecrakers banged like machine guns. Long red and white streamers shot into the air and curved toward the ground. Confetti, pink and lavender lids and bits of debris showered on the people in the courtyard.

The pigeon veered abruptly and winged off in a southerly direction.

* * * *

"THEY OUGHT to hang one of these things on city hall," said one student, aware of the perennial pigeon problems there.

There were other pigeon scaring devices created in the name of art by students in industrial design.

For example:

A large silver ball descended on a string while a tape recorder nearby played pile-driver rounds. When the ball hit the ground, a snaky column of black silk wiggled up to the third floor window. A plastic caterpillar crawled out from under the eaves on one side of the courtyard and oozed through space to the other side. The body split open mysteriously and spilled out seven 30-foot long banners (a student pulled a string in a lower window).

It'll Run 'Til It Stops Ticking

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—The woman had looked over just about all of the clocks in Earl Cramer's furniture store.

Finally, he held up a small model and explained: "This clock is the latest thing. It will run a week without winding."

"How long will it run," the lady asked, "if you wind it?"

Nearly Half of Voters Expected at L.A. Polls

By ED KENYON

One of the most heated mayoralty primaries in many years is expected to attract nearly one-half the registered voters in the city to the polls in Tuesday's Los Angeles municial election.

Although there are eight candidates on the ballot, the race for mayor has resolved into a sometimes bitter match between Mayor Sam Yorty, hoping for a second term, and Congressman James Roosevelt.

City Clerk Walter Peters has forecast a turnout of 47% of the 1,169,541 registered voters in the city. This compares with turnouts of about 40% in recent city primaries.

• • • •

MAJOR interest for voters in the Los Angeles harbor area will be in the effort of San Pedro architect John Aguirre to unseat veteran Councilman John S. Gibson.

Aguirre, who lives at 1920 Grenadier Drive, is providing Gibson with his most spirited opposition since the incumbent joined the council in 1951.

Aguirre, who is director of architectural services for the Associated Brick Manufacturers of Southern California, received his architectural degree from Harvard and a master's degree in city planning from the University of Paris.

Claiming descent from the first settlers who landed in California from Spain in the 17th Century, Aguirre lists experience with city problems as a planning consultant and on the staff of the Los Angeles County Regional Planning Commission.

Aguirre and his wife, Marilyn, have four children.

• • • •

GIBSON, 62, a contractor before he entered politics, was unopposed in the 1957 and 1961 primaries. He has served as council president from 1953 to 1957 and 1959 to 1961.

Seven other council seats are on the ballot. Most of the interest in other races is centered in the Fifth District, where Yorty-opponent Rosalind Wyman faces six opponents, and in the 13th District, the only one in which the incumbent is not running.

MAYOR YORTY

JAMES ROOSEVELT

JOHN S. GIBSON

JOHN AGUIRRE

Leading contenders there are Mrs. Mary Tinglof, a City Board of Education member since 1957; Paul H. Lamport, a Hollywood contractor and developer who is chairman of the mayor's Economic Development Board, and Ray S. Marvin, retired contractor and former City Planning Commission president.

• • • •

ANOTHER 419,696 voters, including those in the Palos Verdes Peninsula, Lomita, Gardena and the unincorporated Carson and Dominguez areas, will be eligible to vote for the City Board of Education.

Three offices are up for election, and two incumbents are seeking office again.

Mrs. Tinglof is abandoning Office No. 2, making that a wide-open race. Dr. Hugh C. Willett, Office No. 4, and Dr. Ralph Richardson, Office No. 6, are running for another term.

• • • •

FILING for the offices, in addition to the incumbents, are a field of 19 candidates, ranging in viewpoint from a segregationist-minded member of the American Eugenics Party to a self-proclaimed socialist.

Leading contenders for Mrs. Tinglof's seat appear to be Rev. James Edward Jones, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, strongly supported by Negro organizations, and Ralph Poblano, a leader in Mexican-American organizations.

Other leading candidates include Dr. Alex D. Aloia, a professor of education at Loyola University; Robert L. Docter of Northridge, a professor of education at San Fernando Valley State College; Marion Miller, fromer FBI undercover agent who is now a real estate agent; Melvin L. Miller, an attorney active in civic and youth oragnizations, and Laural Roberts, vice president of the California Retired Teachers Association and an active member of several women's organizations.

Roosevelt's Remark Ires L.A. Chief

LOS ANGELES (CNS)—Police Chief William Parker Saturday angrily denied he was "under the spell or political orders of Mayor Sam Yorty."

Parker replied to Congressman James Roosevelt's accusation at a news conference Saturday morning that Mayor Yorty used "pressure" to obtain support from the chief.

Roosevelt's comments were on published reports which quoted the chief as saying, at a rally in Pacific Palisades Friday night, that during Yorty's 3½ years in City Hall "I have had full support and have had less interference than I had in the previous 15."

• • • •

THE CONGRESSMAN said he felt Parker's statement meant the city was in danger of having a political machine set up by Yorty and charged the pressure Yorty used was "an agreement to allow the chief to do certain things if the mayor should be re-elected."

Chief Parker declared his appearance at Friday night's meeting was arranged by a letter last March 19, in which the chief was invited to be honored guest at a "civic affair" when he would receive "the thanks of the community for your fine work."

No speeches were to be made at the event, at which Mayor Yorty was also to appear, Parker said he was told, adding, "on that basis, I went to Pacific Palisades."

"To my knowledge, the mayor did not know I was there. As I was convalescing, I was introduced first. I spoke for three or four minutes and left. I saw no campaign literature or banners and the campaign was not mentioned."

• • • •

THE CHIEF said that the police department had never before been a major issue in any campaign and that "I was hoping James Roosevelt would respect that. But I witnessed a telecast in which he was critical of the department and indicated I was in some way under the spell or political orders of Mayor Sam Yorty."

Parker said the policies of the police department have been "either recommended by my staff and myself or agreed to by my staff and myself. If there is anything wrong in the administration the responsibility rests with Parker and no one else."

The invitation to the civic event was sent to the chief by Harry E. Levitt, a Pacific Palisades resident, Parker said, adding that he had also appeared at a meeting of the Mexican-American Chamber of Commerce earlier this year at which Roosevelt was also present.

Yorty also denied Roosevelt's charges, saying, "Charges of a deal or pressure are absolutely assinine."

42 Couples to Adopt Korea Kids

For 42 American couples, including seven from Orange County and Lakewood, April can't pass quickly enough.

On May 1 the couples will board a chartered plane for a flight that will take them to Seoul, Korea — and, they pray, the fulfillment of a common dream: the adoption of one or more Korean orphans.

The unusual expedition, the fourth of its kind, is being sponsored by the American Mother of Korean Orphans. It will be led by Mrs. Raymond Proxmire, of Anaheim, who has adopted three Korean children herself.

"If I can get someone to take care of the children, I plan to make the trip," says Mrs. Proxmire, who lives at 332 S. Anaheim Blvd.

Among the couples who'll be going are Mr. and Mrs. Burl Shockley, 6903 Harvey Way, Lakewood, Mr. and Mrs. L. Whitfield of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hill of Fullerton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of Fullerton, Mr. and Mrs. Glen McCoy of Yorba Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McWilliams of Placentia and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Gilbert of Huntington Beach.

* * * *

WITH THE REST of the group, they'll leave from Los Angeles International Airport on a Saturday and return the following Friday, May 7.

The children already have been assigned by photographs. But in order to formalize the adoptions, the new parents must first see the children, then have them cleared through myriad governmental agencies.

For the vast majority of couples, its an exhausting but joyous experience. On the three previous trips, 165 orphans were brought back. But now and then a couple meets with heartbreak as it discovers that the child it had set its heart on cannot get the necessary clearance.

NEW YORK (AP) — If you want instant data on your favorite stocks, just push a few buttons on the newest desk-top quotation device now appearing in brokerage offices. Answers about the latest sale, bid and asked prices, and price/earnings ratio appear magically on a small television-like screen.

These models will be getting a lot of wear, day after day, but the keybuttons won't fade, change color, become illegible or wear off, says the Amerace Corporation. Letters of one color are molded directly into plastic of another color.

Show's Fun but It's More Fun to Get a Raise

BEIRUT (AP) — Lebanon's Members of Parliament recently decided that since the country's civil servants were getting a raise, they deserved one too.

Thirty-two of them marched into the office of Speaker Sabri Hamade and asked that their salary (1,683,000 Lebanese Pounds, or U.S. $560 a month) be increased.

"Have you seen the Minister of Finance" the speaker asked.

Yes, they replied.

"And have you seen the President of the Parliamentary Commission?" Hamade stalled.

Yes, they said.

"Ah, but have you seen the Prime Minister?" the speaker countered.

"We saw him too," they answered in unison.

Surprised, the speaker replied: "You get a priceless show like that and you still want money?"

They got the raise.

A.F. Reserve Training Goes On

The Air Force Reserve's individual training program will not be affected by studies in Washington regarding transfer of units between the Air Force Reserve and the Air National Guard.

Col. Glenn T. Eagleston, commander of the 2478th Air Force Reserve Sector at Long Beach Airport, said the decision to retain individual training units, similar to the present Air Reserve Squadrons, was made by the Department of Defense.

The 2478th Air Force Reserve Sector has jurisdiction over all non-flying Air Force Reservists in Southern California, Arizona and Nevada. Under its control are 24 Air Reserve squadrons composed of Reservists receiving classroom training but no pay.

Nearly 2,000 men are involved in this phase of the program in this area.

Nationwide there are 364 Air Reserve squadrons with approximately 17,000 persons assigned.

Col. Eagleston said the individual training units will be open to ready Reservists who have the basic skills needed to meet Air Force requirements for reinforcement personnel.

Former members of Recovery units and standby Reservists who transfer to the Ready Reserve are eligible provided they meet skill and grade requirements.

Col. Eagleston said plans are being developed for an improved training program oriented to specific grades and skills. Promotion and retirement credits will be awarded to participating Reservists. Participation will be voluntary.

The Reserve squadrons were formerly supervised by Air Force Reserve Recovery Groups, last of which were deactivated on March 25.

Saigon . . . Birmingham: Cities of Bombs

Combined Wire Services

A suicide squad of Viet Cong Communist terrorists bombed the five-story U.S. Embassy in Saigon last week, inflicting heavy loss of life and firing up the South Viet Nam war.

The building and surroundings were made a shambles. Dead, injured and wrecked automobiles littered the street. Fires broke out 100 yards away.

Monday morning, a Renault drove slowly into the street alongside the United States Embassy in Saigon and sputtered to a stop, as if the engine had failed. Guards rushed toward it and the car exploded, killing driver and guards and shattering every window in the embassy.

• • • • •

TWENTY-TWO persons were killed, including Barbara A. Robbins, 21, of Denver, a secretary at the embassy.

More than 150 persons were injured, including Deputy Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson. Bleeding from face cuts he stood his ground and helped Americans and Vietnamese get out the wounded.

About 45 Americans were injured, including a half dozen or so hurt so gravely they were hustled out to Manila by air for expert treatment.

Authorities concluded the car had contained 250 pounds of TNT or dynamite. A Vietnamese motorbike rider cut down by gunfire and captured said the Viet Cong had paid him $70 to cruise by and pick up the driver of the Renault. Blood spotted the floor of nearly every room in the embassy, and the office of Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was wrecked. Taylor was not hurt; he was in Washington, talking with President Johnson.

• • • • •

JOHNSON quickly commented that the "terrorist outrage" in Saigon would "only reinforce the determination of the American people" to stand behind the South Vietnamese. He announced plans for a new American chancery in Saigon which would be "one more symbol of our solidarity with the people of Viet Nam."

Johnson ruled out for the time being any retaliatory strike against Hanoi itself. He told a press conference on far-reaching change in strategy is planned though present policy will be made "more efficient and effective."

Massive day-to-day U.S.-South Vietnamese air raids continued razing air bases and other Communist military targets on both sides of the 17th parallel. There also was sharp ground fighting in which more U.S. troops died.

Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk restated U.S. policy — to carry the war to Hanoi until Communist boss Ho Chi Minh, relentless in his fight to dominate Southeast Asia, leaves South Viet Nam in peace.

—AP Wirephoto

COLD-EYED, TIGHT-LIPPED Viet Cong guerrilla, recently captured by South Vietnamese, appears to ponder his fate now that his jungle war against South Viet Nam's government has ended. Picture was taken by AP's Eddie Adams.

But in the world's capitals there were growing whispers of negotiations. At the United Nations, London and elsewhere there was talk of peace feelers. In Washington, Johnson said he had no information that North Viet Nam was "ready and willing" to negotiate.

The turbulent civil rights front made more headlines.

Gov. George C. Wallace received a 16-member biracial delegation Tuesday, talked to them for one hour and 25 minutes, gave each member an autographed picture of himself. Nevertheless, the delegation reported they were encouraged by Wallace's attitude. A short time later 10 coffins, representing the people killed in civil rights disorders, were left near the Capitol in Montgomery.

• • • • •

IN CAMDEN, Ala., demonstrating Negroes twice were dispersed by smoke bombs, and The Rev. Martin Luther King called for a boycott of Alabama products. He said this might force Alabama to give the vote to at least 50% of eligible Negroes, and put an end to police brutality. In Washington and elsewhere, the boycott idea was received coolly.

Violence broke out again Thursday in Birmingham. At 3:45 a.m. Thursday a dynamite bomb blasted the home of T. L. Crowell, a Negro public accountant, and slightly injured his son, Weymouth, 13.

Then powerful bombs were found near the home of Mayor Albert Boutwell and City Councilman Nina Miglionico. Police said they could have destroyed the houses had they detonated.

Gov. Wallace interrupted a flight to Washington, hurried to Birmingham and started a reward fund that soon mounted to $50,000. He said such bombings were dastardly and un-American and "we are not going to tolerate it." Birmingham has had 23 bombings or attempted bombings since 1956.

• • • • •

IN WASHINGTON, the House Committee on Un-American Activities voted Tuesday to conduct a full-scale investigation of the Ku Klux Klan. Four days earlier President Johnson had termed the Klan a "hooded society of bigots."

Funeral services were held in Detroit for Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, white and mother of four. Four Klansmen are accused of her sniper death in Alabama.

Senate and House committees worked overtime on a draft of President Johnson's bill to guarantee Negro voting rights in seven Southern states.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, under pressure from civil rights groups to take more punitive action in racial oppressions, declared that he would not permit his agency to be "forced into practices which smack of police state actions." He asked Congress for 200 more agents to help enforce the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The nation's economy appeared in robust health. The government reported unemployment in March dropped to 4.7%, the lowest figure since the 4.5% of October 1957. American Telephone and Telegraph Company reported net earnings of $1.74 billion for the year ending Feb. 28, the highest earnings in history for any corporation, exceeding even General Motors' 1964 profits.

• • • • •

IN WASHINGTON, two Interstate Commerce Commission examiners recommended the merger of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central Railroad. If approved by the full ICC, the merger would be the largest in corporate history, with assets of $5.2 billion. The new rail system would cover 14 states and parts of Canada. Two days after the recommendation, the New Haven Railroad voted to sell all its properties to the merged company for $140 million.

On the darker side, pilots struck against Pan American World Airways Wednesday night, in a dispute over wages and working conditions. The airline serves 70 nations and carries 14,000 passengers daily. The line said a jet pilot working 80 hours a month averages about $31,800 a year, co-pilots $21,600.

A strike against New York City newspapers was averted just before the 2 a.m. Wednesday deadline when unions and management reached tentative agreement on wages and working conditions. As the week ended, the newspapers and unions were still discussing details of a new contract with wage increases in the area of $10.50 a week over two years.

Ray C. Bliss of Ohio took over as Republican National Chairman succeeding Dean Burch, a Barry Goldwater appointee. In a speech to a GOP women's conference here, Bliss called for building a party "which offers a broad appeal to all citizens."

• • • • •

GOLDWATER and Richard M. Nixon offered conflicting advice on the President's voting rights legislation. Nixon said it was needed to safeguard Negro voting rights. Goldwater, who forfeited the Negro vote in his presidential race because he opposed the Civil Rights Act, said there are adequate laws on the books to protect the voting rights of all qualified citizens.

In other news spheres, Henry H. Fowler, a former Treasury official, was sworn in as secretary of the Treasury succeeding C. Douglas Dillon who resigned.

A House Appropriations Committee disclosed that the Secret Service has on file 130,000 names of persons considered potentially dangerous to the President.

Johnson revealed that, like a lot of other citizens, he had to borrow money to pay his 1964 income taxes because withholding from his salary did not cover his debt. In his case, the amount borrowed covered "a portion" of the $100,000 he owes.

• • • • •

THE LABOR Department reported that unemployment fell sharply in March—driving the basic jobless rate to the lowest level in almost eight years.

The President promised Congress he would "cooperate completely" in making available all possible executive branch information. He said he alone would be the only official authorized to invoke "executive privilege"—the right to withhold certain facts in highly sensitive areas.

Deaths:

Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, 68, known as the "Burma surgeon" for 40 years, died March 28 at the Baptist Hospital in Namkham, Northern Burma, the institution he had made famous by his work and his writings.

Helena Rubinstein, 94, Polish-born multimillionaire cosmetics tycoon, died April 1 in New York, active until the end as head of her world-wide beauty business.

Quotes of the Week:

"They have a procedure where they pay it to the President with the left hand and take it out with the right."—President Johnson, on why he had to borrow to pay his income taxes.

"While most of us, I think, disagree with the slogan 'better Red than dead,' I think we would all agree that 'It's better to cry than die.'"—Julian Amery in House of Commons, on U.S. use of tear gas in Viet Nam.

FOREIGN PRESS VIEWS

'Important U.S. History Chapter'

By United Press International

European newspapers commented last week on the racial situation in the United States.

The TIMES of London noted that the murder in Alabama "also reflects the calm knowledge that even when Southern Negroes have won their right to vote they may endanger their lives and jobs if they exercise it . . ."

The Austrian SALZBURGER NACHRICHTEN said, "No matter what incidents the white fanatics might yet provoke, it is clear even now that this 'freedom march' (from Selma to Montgomery, Ala.) is an important chapter of American history."

The French CANDIDE said, "It is certain that by 1975, if the influx of Negroes to Mississippi and Alabama is as large as it promises to be, these two states will be almost entirely black, and could elect Negro representatives, senators and governors."

The Dutch DE VOLKSKRANT said, "The American nation, which nowadays admires the valor and eloquence of the Rev. Luther King, knows too well that the Ku Klux Klan never fights for a just cause . . . More and more whites who still believe in (Alabama Gov. George) Wallace, will come into conflict with their conscience."

The Saigon DAILY NEWS commented, "The Johnson administration has to face a hard test, it cannot remain silent. That is why it has issued a decree to deal with those who obstruct the application of the Civil Rights Bill and has mobilized a special force to protect the Negro marchers."

A short time later 10 coffins, representing the people killed in civil rights disorders, were left near the Capitol in Montgomery.

IN CAMDEN, Ala., demonstrating Negroes twice were dispersed by smoke bombs, and The Rev. Martin Luther King called for a boycott of Alabama products. He said this might force Alabama to give the vote to at least 50% of eligible Negroes, and put an end to police brutality. In Washington and elsewhere, the boycott idea was received coolly.

Violence broke out again Thursday in Birmingham. At 3:45 a.m. Thursday a dynamite bomb blasted the home of T. L. Crowell, a Negro public accountant, and slightly injured his son, Weymouth, 13.

Then powerful bombs were found near the home of Mayor Albert Boutwell and City Councilman Nina Miglionico. Police said they could have destroyed the houses had they detonated.

Gov. Wallace interrupted a flight to Washington, hurried to Birmingham and started a reward fund that soon mounted to $50,000. He said such bombings were dastardly and un-American and "we are not going to tolerate it." Birmingham has had 23 bombings or attempted bombings since 1956.

* * * *

IN WASHINGTON, the House Committee on Un-American Activities voted Tuesday to conduct a full-scale investigation of the Ku Klux Klan. Four days earlier President Johnson had termed the Klan a "hooded society of bigots."

Funeral services were held in Detroit for Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, white and mother of four. Four Klansmen are accused of her sniper death in Alabama.

Senate and House committees worked overtime on a draft of President Johnson's bill to guarantee Negro voting rights in seven Southern states.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, under pressure from civil rights groups to take more punitive action in racial oppressions, declared that he would not permit his agency to be "forced into practices which smack of police state actions." He asked Congress for 200 more agents to help enforce the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The nation's economy appeared in robust health. The government reported unemployment in March dropped to 4.7%, the lowest figure since the 4.5% of October 1957. American Telephone and Telegraph Company reported net earnings of $1.74 billion for the year ending Feb. 28, the highest earnings in history for any corporation, exceeding even General Motors' 1964 profits.

* * * *

IN WASHINGTON, two Interstate Commerce Commission examiners recommended the merger of the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central Railroad. If approved by the full ICC, the merger would be the largest in corporate history, with assets of $5.2 billion. The new rail system would cover 14 states and parts of Canada. Two days after the recommendation, the New Haven Railroad voted to sell all its properties to the merged company for $140 million.

On the darker side, pilots struck against Pan American World Airways Wednesday night, in a dispute over wages and working conditions. The airline serves 70 nations and carries 14,000 passengers daily. The line said a jet pilot working 80 hours a month averages about $31,800 a year, copilots $21,600.

A strike against New York City newspapers was averted just before the 2 a.m. Wednesday deadline when unions and management reached tentative agreement on wages and working conditions. As the week ended, the newspapers and unions were still discussing details of a new contract with wage increases in the area of $10.50 a week over two years.

Ray C. Bliss of Ohio took over as Republican National Chairman succeeding Dean Burch, a Barry Glodwater appointee. In a speech to a GOP women's conference here, Bliss called for building a party "which offers a broad appeal to all citizens."

* * * *

GOLDWATER and Richard M. Nixon offered conflicting advice on the President's voting rights legislation. Nixon said it was needed to safeguard Negro voting rights. Goldwater, who forfeited the Negro vote in his presidential race because he opposed the Civil Rights Act, said there are adequate laws on the books to protect the voting rights of all qualified citizens.

In other news spheres, Henry H. Fowler, a former Treasury official, was sworn in as secretary of the Treasury succeeding C. Douglas Dillon who resigned.

A House Appropriations Committee disclosed that the Secret Service has on file 130,000 names of persons considered potentially dangerous to the President.

Johnson revealed that, like a lot of other citizens, he had to borrow money to pay his 1964 income taxes because withholding from his salary did not cover his debt. In his case, the amount borrowed covered "a portion" of the $100,000 he owes.

* * * *

THE LABOR Department reported that unemployment fell sharply in March —driving the basic jobless rate to the lowest level in almost eight years.

The President promised Congress he would "cooperate completely' in making available all possible executive branch information. He said he alone would be the only official authorized to invoke "executive privilege" —the right to withhold certain facts in highly sensitive areas.

Deaths:

Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, 68, known as the "Burma surgeon" for 40 years, died March 28 at the Baptist Hospital in Namkham, Northern Burma, the institution he had made famous by his work and his writings.

Helena Rubinstein, 94, Polish-born multimillionaire cosmetics tycoon, died April 1 in New York, active until the end as head of her world-wide beauty business.

Quotes of the Week:

"They have a procedure where they pay it to the President with the left hand and take it out with the right."—President Johnson, on why he had to borrow to pay his income taxes.

"While most of us, I think, disagree with the slogan 'better Red than dead,' I think we would all agree that 'it's better to cry than die.'"—Julian Amesy in House of Commons, on U.S. use of tear gas in Viet Nam.

FOREIGN PRESS VIEWS

'Important U.S. History Chapter'

By United Press International

European newspapers commented last week on the racial situation in the United States.

The TIMES of London noted that the murder in Alabama "also reflects the calm knowledge that even when Southern Negroes have won their right to vote they may endanger their lives and jobs if they exercise it . . ."

The Austrian SALZBURGER NACHRICHTEN said, "No matter what incidents the white fanatics might yet provoke, it is clear even now that this 'freedom march' (from Selma to Montgomery, Ala.) is an important chapter of American history."

The French CANDIDE said, "It is certain that by 1975, if the influx of Negroes to Mississippi and Alabama is as large as it promises to be, these two states will be almost entirely black, and could elect Negro representatives, senators and governors."

The Dutch DE VOLKSKRANT said, "The American nation, which nowadays admires the valor and eloquence of the Rev. Luther King, knows too well that the Ku Klux Klan never fights for a just cause . . . More and more whites who still believe in (Alabama Gov. George) Wallace, will come into conflict with their conscience."

The Saigon DAILY NEWS commented, "The Johnson administration has to face a hard test, it cannot remain silent. That is why it has issued a decree to deal with those who obstruct the application of the Civil Rights Bill and has mobilized a special force to protect the Negro marchers."

Oscar Derby a Contest Between Musical Girls

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The 37th annual Oscar jamboree Monday night will be largely a contest between a pair of musical females—"Mary Poppins" and "My Fair Lady."

Both pictures lead the annual Motion Picture Academy competition with 13 and 12 nominations respectively.

And both leading ladies will be in Santa Monica Civic Auditorium at 7 p.m. for the showdown.

Julie Andrews, who played the title role in Poppins, will be there as a nominee for best actress.

Miss Hepburn, who was not nominated for her role as Eliza Doolittle (which Miss Andrews originated on Broadway), will be on hand to present the best actor Oscar.

• • • •

ON THE EVE of the film world's gaudiest event, here are the major categories and the nominees:

Best Picture — My Fair Lady, Mary Poppins, Becket, Dr. Strangelove, and Zorba The Greek.

Best Actress — Julie Andrews, Anne Bancroft (The Pumpkin Eater), Sophia Loren (Marriage Italian Style), Debbie Reynolds (The Unsinkable Molly Brown), Kim Stanley (Seance On A Wet Afternoon).

Best Actor — Rex Harrison (My Fair Lady), Anthony Quinn (Zorba The Greek), Peter Sellers (Dr. Strangelove), Peter O'Toole and Richard Burton (Becket).

Best supporting actress — Gladys Cooper (Fair Lady), Edith Evans (The Chalk Garden), Grayson Hall (The Night Of The Iguana), Lila Kedrova (Zorba The Greek), Agnes Moorehead (Hush . . Hush, Sweet Charlotte).

Best supporting actor — John Gielgud (Becket), Stanley Holloway (Fair Lady), Edmond O'Brien (Seven Days In May), Lee Tracy (The Best Man), Peter Ustinov (Topkapi).

Best song — "Chim Chim Cher-ee" (Mary Poppins), "My Kind Of Town" (Robin And The 7 Hoods) and three ditties taken from the titles of their pictures: "Dear Heart," "Where Love Has Gone" and "Hush . . . Hush, Sweet Charlotte."

Oscar Derby a Contest Between Musical Girls

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The 37th annual Oscar jamboree Monday night will be largely a contest between a pair of musical females—"Mary Poppins" and "My Fair Lady."

Both pictures lead the annual Motion Picture Academy competition with 13 and 12 nominations respectively.

And both leading ladies will be in Santa Monica Civic Auditorium at 7 p.m. for the showdown.

Julie Andrews, who played the title role in Poppins, will be there as a nominee for best actress.

Miss Hepburn, who was not nominated for her role as Eliza Doolittle (which Miss Andrews originated on Broadway), will be on hand to present the best actor Oscar.

* * * *

ON THE EVE of the film world's gaudiest event, here are the major categories and the nominees:

Best Picture — My Fair Lady, Mary Poppins, Beckett, Dr. Strangelove, and Zorba The Greek.

Best Actress — Julie Andrews, Anne Bancroft (The Pumpkin Eater), Sophia Loren (Marriage Italian Style), Debbie Reynolds (The Unsinkable Molly Brown), Kim Stanley (Seance On A Wet Afternoon).

Best Actor — Rex Harrison (My Fair Lady), Anthony Quinn (Zorba The Greek), Peter Sellers (Dr. Strangelove), Peter O'Toole and Richard Burton (Beckett).

Best supporting actress — Gladys Cooper (Fair Lady), Edith Evans (The Chalk Garden), Grayson Hall (The Night Of The Iguana), Lila Kedrova (Zorba The Greek), Agnes Moorehead (Hush . . Hush, Sweet Charlotte).

Best supporting actor — John Gielgud (Beckett), Stanley Holloway (Fair Lady), Edmond O'Brien (Seven Days In May), Lee Tracy (The Best Man), Peter Ustinov (Topkapi).

Best song — "Chim Chim Cher-ee" (Mary Poppins), "My Kind Of Town" (Robin And The 7 Hoods) and three ditties taken from the titles of their pictures: "Dear Heart," "Where Love Has Gone" and "Hush . . . Hush, Sweet Charlotte."

DRAMATIC ARTS CENTER BENEFIT

'Girl Happy' Premiere Here Tuesday Night

Many of the bright names in films and television will turn out for the world premiere of "Girl Happy" — MGM's Elvis Presley starrer directed by Joseph Pasternak —to screen at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Crest Theater.

The premiere, first major film premiere in Long Beach in eight years, will benefit the new Dramatic Arts Center, of Community Playhouse.

Among the entertainment world luminaries to attend the event will be Chad Everett, who will star with Ann Margaret in Joe Pasternak's new film "Made in Paris;" Richard Simmons, now working in Frank Sinatra's "Marriage on the Rocks;" Sybil Brand, of MGM, who will attend with John Conte and other stars; John Smith, of the TV series, "Laramie" who will soon be seen in "Circus World" starring John Wayne and Rita Hayworth.

Richard Arlen who is marking his 45th year in motion pictures will attend as will Rosemary De Camp, star of TV, stage and motion pictures; Chris Noel, who is in "Girl Happy" with Presley; Robert Lansing, star of TV's "Twelve O'Clock High;" Emily McLaughlin, star of TV's "General Hospital;" William Lundmark, Disney Studio contract player and Craig Hill, star of TV's "Whirlybirds."

• • • •

BYRON PALMER, who has appeared with Ginger Rogers and in many musicals and on television—will be master of ceremonies at the premiere. Celebrities in the audience will be spotlighted and in the short ceremony preceding the pictures, 25 long-playing records of the score of "Girl Happy" and large color pictures of Elvis Presley will be given away to lucky ticket holders.

CHRIS NOEL

CHAD EVERETT

In addition to "Girl Happy" with Presley, Shelley Fabares, Joby Baker, Harold Stone, Gary Crosby, Nita Talbot, Jimmy Hawkins, Mary Ann Mobley and Miss Noel, two short subjects, nominated for Academy Awards will be shown. They are "The Pink Phink" and "140 Days Under the World."

• • • •

KEITH HOUDYSHELL will introduce celebrities as they arrive at the theater for the benefit arranged by the Dramatic Allied Arts Guild of Community Playhouse, headed by Florence Cole.

"Diamond Horseshoe" area seats for the premiere are $25 and general admission is $5. Students with student body cards will be admitted for $3.

TV Watcher Roars Approval

NAPLES (AP) — One of the most avid television fans in these parts is Milord, a seven-foot long, two-year-old lion belonging to Beppino Russo of nearby Piano di Sorrento. Milord comes in from his job of guarding the orchards every time the TV set is turned on. And he sits entranced until the show is over. He shows no preference—sports events, music or advertising—he seems to like them all.

MUSIC IN EUROPE

Vienna Presents Choice Problem

By JULIEN MUSAFIA

VIENNA—After the orgiastic musical activity of the Berliners, the Viennese seem almost calm on this subject since they have "only" three symphony orchestras to the five or six in Berlin. The difference, however, is made up in chamber music and opera. Recitals also are very numerous, several daily, and most are well attended.

An evening at the State Opera was a feast both aurally and visually. A few minutes away, the Wolksopera which gives nightly performances like the State Opera presents a newcomer with a problem of choice—in this case the "Magic Flute" versus "Arabella" by Richard Strauss. The luck of the beginner guided us to "Arabella."

"ARABELLA," though classified as a lyric comedy has one of the most luscious musical scores in the entire literature. For its ability to paint feelings with sounds it takes a place side by side with Der Rosenkavalier, and in spite of its length of 3 hours and 15 minutes, it goes amazingly fast. Much credit for the fast flowing sequences must go to the quality of the performance which exceeded any expectation.

In the pit there was the magificent Vienna Philharmonic orchestra. This 150-years-old organization is second to none in perfection of ensemble, richness of sound clarity and individual sensitivity of the players. Conductor Joseph Keilberth proved to be a giant of his profession. On stage there was what could be called an all star cast. Without knowing what the individual fame of every singer is, one could not choose between them as one being greater than the next. Even the most insignificant role was entrusted to someone who had a splendid voice and perfectly confident demeanor. Of course, Lisa Della Casa, known to the California audiences, drew the greatest attention in the title role, through her singing, acting and no less her looks. Equally convincing was soprano Anneliese Rothenberger as the younger sister.

• • • •

THE CAST of 25 soloists, with only three exceptions regulars with the State Opera, through their enormous accomplishments, give an indication of the concern of the Opera management for quality at all cost. This is all the more impressive when one considers the fact that Austria is a small country with a population of 7 million with very few natural resources. The Opera House itself, destroyed during the war, was rebuilt in a style that is exquisitly sensitive yet overwhelming in its grandeur and splendor. Stage scenery reflected the same artistic conceptions of design and color combinations.

AT MAGNOLIA

'Enter Laughing' Delights Audience

BY SAMUEL A. BOYEA

"Enter Laughing," Carl Reiner's novel adapted by playwright Joseph Stein, is "pure camp" entertainment as seen in the round at Magnolia Theater.

And for anyone who has somehow missed the word which puts you in the catbird's seat in today's world of the arts and entertainment, "camp" describes the capacity for taking a work of total triviality (like "Enter Laughing") and through intentional (or unintentional) self, character or technique parody turn it into a howling audience delight.

Thus, works ranging from "op, pop, and slop" paintings, Barbra Streisand's "Funny Girl" to Norman Mailer's latest novel, Marlene Dietrich's "Blue Angel" oldie movie and Steve Reeve's "Hercules" movie horrors can be safely taken into "camp".

• • • •

THOUGH "Enter Laughing" is partly self-parody and unintentional on Reiner's part — since he is merely a television "renaissance" man and not so hot in the longer distance of creative writing — it deserves the "pure camp" tag.

It is a howling delight with riotous, intentional parody performances that director Pat Brown has wrested from several of her main actors, especially Ralph Richmond as a phony acting school director in Cecil B. De Mille boots, and youthful Ed Rice with more hair than Carl probably has ever had as the Reiner boy (David Kolovitz). Tall, massive Richmond plays it real "broad" and Rice, mixing his buffonery style well with some nifty straight acting, shows that his comedic and sober talents are on the rise.

The one-thought story revolves around Rice's David. A New York Jewish kid out of the seabrous 30s, David doesn't want to fulfill his parents' dreams and become a druggist. "Nobody looks at a druggist", quips David. So he wants to be an actor — "a something," the sort of actor — judging from the play — who is perilously closer to Arnold Stang than a real "something" like New York's Second Avenue Maurice Schwartz or Paul Muni.

• • • •

OUT OF SOME of the episodic scenes came Nathan Adler's able, thick borscht-accent portrayal of the grumpy, yet good-natured machine shop owner and David's boss, Mr. Foreman, and Frank Corsentino's amusing mimicry of a frustrated kosher Donald Duck-speaking type who was always intruding on David's work hours and private life. George August's Roger as a good Samaritan down to his shorts was also a standout.

The ladies also turned in arresting performances, although in a couple of instances verging on unintentional self-parody.

Celeste Clinton, a young photogenic actress from Hawaii via Little Rock, Arkansas, impressed as a coming performer with a terrific acting and voice range even in a bit role. In her spanking sailor blouse and "boater" in the dairy restaurant scene with money borrowing boy friend, David, again with him in the cemetery bit, Miss Clinton entered "small," exited "big" and with style.

• • • •

DORENE PORTER, a blond actress with a sweeping, extrovert style, was fine and gushing as the furry, flamboyant Queen of Pleasure actress and the acting school director's sexy daughter. Evelyn Finer and Walter Romanski as David's mother and father succeeded with the old Gertrude kosher-kitchen-komedy acting try. Though blatantly "goyish" (gentile), redhead Gail Tweed deserves the play's bagel for her frantic Miss B, although occasionally too close to self-parody for sweet comfort.

Pat Brown's over-protective direction at times frisked the cast of their own creative energies, but kept the proceedings well paced and bright-eyed—and not one bit "erudite."

And that is the way to go "camp" and get the crowd howling.

Weekend Windup in N.Y.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Ann-Margret told Universal she wants to make a movie with Marlon Brando. (She's in "Bus Riley's Back In Town" with another Brando — his sister Jocelyn) . . . Jerry Vale bought a music publishing firm in Puerto Rico . . . Liz Ashley—who just finished "The Third Day" —says her N.Y. apartment is furnished in "department Store floor lamps and Early Salvation Army" . . . The Aly Khan bio., "Aly," recounts he poured 200 gallons of cologne into a swimming pool so it would be fragrant for his bride, Rita Hayworth.

• • • •

EARL'S PEARLS: A local fellow thinks he's getting old: "I get winded going up in an elevator."

George Jessel, discussing the cost of living, told of the man who phoned a supermarket for some food. Later he complained, "Fifty bucks for a bag of groceries that small?" The grocer said, "You want it in a bigger bag?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Daughter to Be Father's New Boss

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Edward A. Huth is going to work for his daughter.

Next September, Dr. Huth will turn over his duties as chairman of the sociology department at the University of Dayton to his daughter, Dr. Mary Josephine Huth. Then he'll continue as a teacher in her department.

"We've always gotten along very well," said the 66-year-old Dr. Huth. "I don't anticipate any trouble."

His daughter, an honor student at Dayton in 1950 who took classes under her father, agreed. "I don't think that being head of a department means you have to boss people around," she said.

Mary Jo has been on the Dayton faculty since 1962. Her father has been here since 1930.

The SAVAGE CELL

BY PAT McGRADY

Don't miss a word of this hard-hitting series on the Cancer threat!

Cancer—that hushed, dreaded word. Now it is beginning to come out in the open. Recently President Johnson declared war on this No. 2 killer of men. National awareness of this "savage cell" is on the increase.

And "The Savage Cell" is another weapon to fight it. It is a special series to appear soon in this newspaper telling you about cancer—and some of the facts and information you won't read elsewhere.

Pat McGrady, author of "The Savage Cell," says that in each family of four, cancer will come on an average to one member. In his 12-part series, condensed from his book that has been so widely acclaimed, he tells what you can do personally to help ward off cancer, and what you can hope for in cancer research. The series isn't bitter medicine. On the contrary, it is fascinating reading that you will look forward to each day. It could help you on the road to better health and peace of mind.

Pat McGrady has been science editor of The American Cancer Society since 1947. Of his book, "The Savage Cell," it has been called "...a great accomplishment...really unique in help of value both to the practicing physician and to his patients."

DRAMATIC ARTS CENTER BENEFIT

'Girl Happy' Premiere Here Tuesday Night

Many of the bright names in films and television will turn out for the world premiere of "Girl Happy" — MGM's Elvis Presley starrer directed by Joseph Pasternak — to screen at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Crest Theater.

The premiere, first major film premiere in Long Beach in eight years, will benefit the new Dramatic Arts Center, of Community Playhouse.

Among the entertainment world luminaries to attend the event will be Chad Everett, who will star with Ann Margaret in Joe Pasternak's new film "Made in Paris;" Richard Simmons, now working in Frank Sinatra's "Marriage on the Rocks;" Sybil Brand, of MGM, who will attend with John Conte and other stars; John Smith, of the TV series, "Laramie" who will soon be seen in "Circus World" starring John Wayne and Rita Hayworth.

Richard Arlen who is marking his 45th year in motion pictures will attend as will Rosemary De Camp, star of TV, stage and motion pictures; Chris Noel, who is in "Girl Happy" with Presley; Robert Lansing, star of TV's "Twelve O'Clock High;" Emily McLaughlin, star of TV's "General Hospital;" William Lundmark, Disney Studio contract player and Craig Hill, star of TV's "Whirlybirds."

* * * *

BYRON PALMER, who has appeared with Ginger Rogers and in many musicals and on television—will be master of ceremonies at the premiere. Celebrities in the audience will be spotlighted and in the short ceremony preceding the pictures, 25 long-playing records of the score of "Girl Happy" and large color pictures of Elvis Presley will be given away to lucky ticket holders.

CHRIS NOEL

CHAD EVERETT

In addition to "Girl Happy" with Presley, Shelley Fabares, Joby Baker, Harold Stone, Gary Crosby, Nita Talbot, Jimmy Hawkins, Mary Ann Mobley and Miss Noel, two short subjects, nominated for Academy Awards will be shown. They are "The Pink Phink" and "140 Days Under the World."

* * * *

KEITH HOUDYSHELL will introduce celebrities as they arrive at the theater for the benefit arranged by the Dramatic Allied Arts Guild of Community Playhouse, headed by Florence Cole.

"Diamond Horseshoe" area seats for the premiere are $25 and general admission is $5. Students with student body cards will be admitted for $3.

TV Watcher Roars Approval

NAPLES (AP) — One of the most avid television fans in these parts is Milord, a seven-foot long, two-year-old lion belonging to Reppino Russo of nearby Piano di Sorrento. Milord comes in from his job of guarding the orchards every time the TV set is turned on. And he sits entranced until the show is over. He shows no preference—sports events, music or advertising—he seems to like them all.

MUSIC IN EUROPE

Vienna Presents Choice Problem

By JULIEN MUSAFIA

VIENNA—After the orgiastic musical activity of the Berliners, the Viennese seem almost calm on this subject since they have "only" three symphony orchestras to the five or six in Berlin. The difference, however, is made up in chamber music and opera. Recitals also are very numerous, several daily, and most are well attended.

An evening at the State Opera was a feast both aurally and visually. A few minutes away, the Wolksopera which gives nightly performances like the State Opera presents a newcomer with a problem of choice—in this case the "Magic Flute" versus "Arabella" by Richard Strauss. The luck of the beginner guided us to "Arabella."

* * * *

"ARABELLA," though classified as a lyric comedy has one of the most luscious musical scores in the entire literature. For its ability to paint feelings with sounds it takes a place side by side with Der Rosenkavalier, and in spite of its length of 3 hours and 15 minutes, it goes amazingly fast. Much credit for the fast flowing sequences must go to the quality of the performance which exceeded any expectation.

In the pit there was the magnificent Vienna Philharmonic orchestra. This 150-years-old organization is second to none in perfection of ensemble, richness of sound, clarity and individual sensitivity of the players. Conductor Joseph Keilberth proved to be a giant of his profession. On stage there was what could be called an all star cast. Without knowing what the individual fame of every singer is, one could not choose between them as one being greater than the next. Even the most insignificant role was entrusted to someone who had a splendid voice and perfectly confident demeanor. Of course, Lisa Della Casa, known to the California audiences, drew the greatest attention in the title role, through her singing, acting and no less her looks. Equally convincing was soprano Anneliese Rothenberger as the younger sister.

* * * *

THE CAST of 25 soloists, with only three exceptions regulars with the State Opera, through their enormous accomplishments, give an indication of the concern of the Opera management for quality at all cost. This is all the more impressive when one considers the fact that Austria is a small country with a population of 7 million with very few natural resources. The Opera House itself, destroyed during the war, was rebuilt in a style that is exquisitly sensitive yet overwhelming in its grandeur and splendor. Stage scenery reflected the same artistic conceptions of design and color combinations.

AT MAGNOLIA

'Enter Laughing' Delights Audience

BY SAMUEL A. BOYEA

"Enter Laughing," Carl Reiner's novel adapted by playwright Joseph Stein, is "pure camp" entertainment as seen in the round at Magnolia Theater.

And for anyone who has somehow missed the word which puts you in the catbird's seat in today's world of the arts and entertainment, "camp" describes the capacity for taking a work of total triviality (like "Enter Laughing") and through intentional (or unintentional) self, character or technique parody turn it into a howling audience delight.

Thus, works ranging from "op, pop, and slop" paintings, Barbra Streisand's "Funny Girl" to Norman Mailer's latest novel, Marlene Dietrich's "Blue Angel" oldie movie and Steve Reeve's "Hercules" movie horrors can be safely taken into "camp".

* * * *

THOUGH "Enter Laughing" is partly self-parody and unintentional on Reiner's part — since he is merely a television "renaissance" man and not so hot in the longer distance of creative writing — it deserves the "pure camp" tag.

It is a howling delight with riotous, intentional parody performances that director Pat Brown has wrested from several of her main actors, especially Ralph Richmond as a phony acting school director in Cecil B. De Mille boots, and youthful Ed Rice with more hair than Carl probably has ever had as the Reiner boy (David Kolovitz). Tall, massive Richmond plays it real "broad" and Rice, mixing his buffonery style well with some nifty straight acting, shows that his comedic and sober talents are on the rise.

The one-thought story revolves around Rice's David. A New York Jewish kid out of the scabrous 30s, David doesn't want to fulfill his parents' dreams and become a druggist. "Nobody looks at a druggist", quips David. So he wants to be an actor - - "a something;" the sort of actor — judging from the play — who is perilously closer to Arnold Stang than a real "something" like New York's Second Avenue Maurice Schwartz or Paul Muni.

* * * *

OUT OF SOME of the episodic scenes came Nathan Adler's able, thick borscht-accent portrayal of the grumpy, yet good-natured machine shop owner and David's boss, Mr. Foreman, and Frank Corsentino's amusing mimicry of a frustrated kosher Donald Duck-speaking type who was always intruding on David's work hours and private life. George August's Roger as a good Samaritan down to his shorts was also a standout.

The ladies also turned in arresting performances, although in a couple of instances verging on unintentional self-parody.

Celeste Clinton, a young, photogenic actress from Hawaii via Little Rock, Arkansas, impressed as a coming performer with a terrific acting and voice range even in a bit role. In her spanking sailor blouse and "boater" in the dairy restaurant scene with money borrowing boy friend, David, again with him in the cemetery bit, Miss Clinton entered "small," exited "big" and with style.

* * * *

DORENE PORTER, a blond actress with a sweeping, extrovert style, was fine and gushing as the furry, flamboyant Queen of Pleasure actress and the acting school director's sexy daughter. Evelyn Finer and Walter Romanski as David's mother and father succeeded with the old Gertrude kosher-kitchen-komedy acting try. Though blatantly "goyish" (gentile), redhead Gail Tweed deserves the play's bagel for her frantic Miss B, although occasionally too close to self-parody for sweet comfort.

Pat Brown's over-protective direction at times frisked the cast of their own creative energies, but kept the proceedings well paced and bright-eyed—and not one bit "erudite."

And that is the way to go "camp" and get the crowd howling.

Weekend Windup in N.Y.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Ann-Margret told Universal she wants to make a movie with Marlon Brando. (She's in "Bus Riley's Back in Town" with another Brando — his sister Jocelyn) . . . Jerry Vale bought a music publishing firm in Puerto Rico . . . Liz Ashley—who just finished "The Third Day"—says her N.Y. apartment is furnished in "department Store floor lamps and Early Salvation Army" . . . The Aly Khan bio., "Aly," recounts he poured 200 gallons of cologne into a swimming pool so it would be fragrant for his bride, Rita Hayworth.

* * * *

EARL'S PEARLS: A local fellow thinks he's getting old: "I get winded going up in an elevator."

George Jessel, discussing the cost of living, told of the man who phoned a supermarket for some food. Later he complained, "Fifty bucks for a bag of groceries that small?" The grocer said, "You want it in a bigger bag?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Daughter to Be Father's New Boss

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Edward A. Huth is going to work for his daughter.

Next September, Dr. Huth will turn over his duties as chairman of the sociology department at the University of Dayton to his daughter, Dr. Mary Josephine Huth. Then he'll continue as a teacher in her department.

"We've always gotten along very well," said the 66-year-old Dr. Huth. "I don't anticipate any trouble."

His daughter, an honor student at Dayton in 1950 who took classes under her father, agreed, "I don't think that being head of a department means you have to boss people around," she said.

Mary Jo has been on the Dayton faculty since 1962. Her father has been here since 1939.

Gasoline Sale Methods in U.S. Probed

By HARRY W. SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The oil industry is enjoying an exceptionally quiet season on the federal anti-trust front.

In fact, as General Counsel Donald C. O'Hara of the National Petroleum Refiners Association points out in a report to NPRA members, the government is filing fewer cases and is changing emphasis on those it does file.

There's a reason, apparently, and this, too, is cited by O'Hara. Both the Justice Department and the business-policing Federal Trade Commission (FTC) have been getting some hard legal knocks in the courts.

O'Hara suggests that this is partly behind the government's new approach, especially in the FTC. He reported the Justice Department seems to be devoting most of its efforts to blocking big company mergers or acquisitions.

• • • •

THE FTC is now gearing for an open-door investigation of nationwide gasoline marketing practices, including price wars, after throwing up its hands in despair in trying to win price-discrimination cases in the courts.

This doesn't mean the quasi-judicial agency is relaxing its vigilance. Such charges are certain to be filed in areas of obvious guilt. But the complexities of gasoline marketing have tied the FTC and the courts in knots. That's why the commission has set the public inquiry for May 3. It needs and wants a way out of the legal maze through administrative action or legislation.

The commission will dig into such things as the market structure and competitive behavior at all levels; pricing of gasoline at all levels of distribution; causes and effects of price wars; competition between branded and unbranded gasoline and between integrated and non-integrated refiners; gasoline grades and qualities, including exchange agreements, additives, and octane ratings, and "other matters pertinent to competition."

• • • •

THE AGENCY has been up to its hips in legal deadends in most of these areas. As O'Hara noted, it has not won a clear-cut victory in a gasoline pricing case under the Robinson-Patman Anti-Price Discrimination Act in eight years.

Congress has been of no help. Legislative remedies sought by the FTC, Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., and other legislators have died in pigeonholes. Roosevelt heads a House Small Business Subcommitee which over a long period has scored exactly zero in trying to insulate 100,000 independent filling station operators from alleged marketing abuses.

Roosevelt is urging a big turn out for the investigation. So is FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon who particularly wants major companies represented. Many of the latter have been brought into court from time to time but the commission's score sheet doesn't record much success.

• • • •

THE COMMISSION said it had been deluged with complaints and inquiries from various industry groups, members of congress, and consumers. It said that these, plus its own experience, "made it evident that an industrywide inquiry is necessary to obtain a solid factual foundation for remedial action."

The commission hired Prof. George W. Stocking of Vanderbilt University as special consultant to work on the inquiry. It decided on the probe after dropping long-pending cases charging four big producers with illegal pricing. They were Standard Oil (Indiana), Texaco, Inc., Shell Oil Co., and Pure Oil Co.

Gleason Sells House to CBS

PEEKSKILL, N. Y. (UPI) — Television entertainer Jackie Gleason has sold his oddly styled home, called Round Rock, to the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The dwelling near here, which some people insist resembles an artist's conception of a flying saucer, was valued at $800,000 — with furnishings — by real estate dealers two years ago.

Federal tax stamps filed with a deed of sale in the Westchester County Clerk's office in White Plains Friday indicated the sale price was around $350,000.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Traders Still Perplexed as Market Coasts Along

By C. J. PARNOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market coasted along in rather slow trading last week and although the market barometers posted a small advance traders still were perplexed.

Caution still was the dominant theme of most near term forecasts and traders seemed to be abiding by these prognostications. Price swings reflected this hesitancy towards new purchases.

Prices started off with a continuation of the prior week's downturn and the popular averages racked up a fair-sized loss. However, a small gain was posted Tuesday despite the fact that volume had dwindled to a three-month low.

• • • •

ANOTHER gain came Wednesday, but a last-minute selling spree pushed prices back and the Dow-Jones Industrial average finished unchanged for the first time since April 9, 1963.

Volume expanded again Thuresday, but prices registered only a modest gain. Normal pre-weekend profit-taking seemed nonexistent Friday as prices posted their best gain on the week.

The present uncertainty has divided the analysts into two camps. One group believes firmly the present phase is a consolidation which will carry the averages backward for a while, but which will build a healthy base for a new advance. They believe the forthcoming first quarter earnings statements will once more win back traders' attention from world affairs and put their focus on the fundamentals.

• • • •

HOWEVER, there are a number of analysts who believe the present situation has all the marking of a double top—a chart formation which preceeds a sharp break in prices.

Faced with these conflicting arguments, traders and investors are apparently waiting for the market to provide more conclusive statistics before committing themselves to either side.

Dow-Jones Industrials gained 1.72 on the week at 893.38, but rails fell 2.61 to 211.08. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.33 to 86.53.

Volume slowed to 23,277,680 shares from 25,645,130 shares a week before and compared with 29,689,310 shares in the same week last year. Turnover was the slowest for any week since 23,297,712 shares traded in the first week of 1965.

• • • •

GAINS held only a slim margin over loss as 708 issues advanced while 632 declined. Of the 1,518 issues crossing the tape, 145 touched new 1965 highs while 107 hit new lows.

Baldwin - Lima - Hamilton, maker of heavy construction equipment, topped the active list with a gain of 1¾ at 18½ on a turnover of 319,000 shares following news it will merge with Armour, the "meat people."

Martin - Marietta took second place with a gain of ¾ at 21⅜ on 288,100 shares. The company has offered to buy 2 million shares at $22 each.

American Telephone was third. It advanced ⅝ to 67⅛ on 281,000 shares. It reported a gain in first quarter earnings.

• • • •

ERIE RAILROAD was third with a loss of ¾ at 8¾ on 176,900 shares. The decline apparently was prompted by the failure of Interstate Commerce Commission examiners to include a recommendation for Erie's inclusion in the New York Central - Pennsylvania merger which received preliminary approval last week.

Pennsylvania Railroad was on the active list with a loss of 2. New York Central, although not included in the list, fell 1¾.

Blue chips were generally narrow. Steels milled uncertainly as contract talks continued. Motors took on a firm tone with General Motors up 1⅝, Chrysler ½ and Ford 2⅛. Selling pressure continued to plague the chemicals. DuPont fell 1½, Dow 3⅜ and Union Carbide and Olin Mathieson ¾ each.

Electronics met selective demand. IBM advanced 8½. Control Data 2¾, Motorola 5½, Zenith 2⅜ and Honeywell 1. Texas Instruments dropped 2½, Litton 1½ and Beckman 1⅜.

• • • •

OILS DRIFTED narrowly for the most part, but substantial buying interest developed in the Getty group. Mission Corp. climbed 4¾. Mission Development 2½. Getty 1 and Tidewater 2⅜.

The advance in airline shares slowed considerably toward the end of the week, but a number of issues still posted good gains. National and American were ahead 2⅜, Northwest 2¼, United 2 and Delta 1¼. Trans World Airlines, which said it is considering its first cash dividend since 1936, added 1½.

Aircrafts were strong with Boeing up 2⅛, Douglas 2¼, McDonnell 2, Grumman 1¾ and Lockheed and North American 1 each.

Comsat soared 6⅜ on news it will launch its first communications satellite this week. Polaroid picked up 2. It said it will introduce two low-priced color pack cameras in July.

Pan American Sulphur jumped 5½ on a boost in its sulphur price. Texas Gulf Sulphur, which also increased prices, rose 2⅜. Freeport Sulphur added 2½.

Gasoline Sale Methods in U.S. Probed

By HARRY W. SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The oil industry is enjoying an exceptionally quiet season on the federal anti-trust front.

In fact, as General Counsel Donald C. O'Hara of the National Petroleum Refiners Association points out in a report to NPRA members, the government is filing fewer cases and is changing emphasis on those it does file.

There's a reason, apparently, and this, too, is cited by O'Hara. Both the Justice Department and the business-policing Federal Trade Commission (FTC) have been getting some hard legal knocks in the courts.

O'Hara suggests that this is partly behind the government's new approach, especially in the FTC. He reported the Justice Department seems to he devoting most of its efforts to blocking big company mergers or acquisitions.

* * * *

THE FTC is now gearing for an open-door investigation of nationwide gasoline marketing practices, including price wars, after throwing up its hands in despair in trying to win price-discrimination cases in the courts.

This doesn't mean the quasi-judicial agency is relaxing its vigilance. Such charges are certain to be filed in areas of obvious guilt. But the complexities of gasoline marketing have tied the FTC and the courts in knots. That's why the commission has set the public inquiry for May 3. It needs and wants a way out of the legal maze through administrative action or legislation.

The commission will dig into such things as the market structure and competitive behavior at all levels; pricing of gasoline at all levels of distribution; causes and effects of price wars; competition between branded and unbranded gasoline and between integrated and non-integrated refiners; gasoline grades and qualities, including exchange agreements, additives, and octane ratings, and "other matters pertinent to competition."

* * * *

THE AGENCY has been up to its hips in legal deadends in most of these areas. As O'Hara noted, it has not won a clear-cut victory in a gasoline pricing case under the Robinson-Patman Anti-Price Discrimination Act in eight years.

Congress has been of no help. Legislative remedies sought by the FTC, Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., and other legislators have died in pigeonholes. Roosevelt heads a House Small Business Subcommitee which over a long period has scored exactly zero in trying to insulate 100,000 independent filling station operators from alleged marketing abuses.

Roosevelt is urging a big turn out for the investigation. So is FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon who particularly wants major companies represented. Many of the latter have been brought into court from time to time but the commission's score sheet doesn't record much success.

* * * *

THE COMMISSION said it had been deluged with complaints and inquiries from various industry groups, members of congress, and consumers. It said that these, plus its own experience, "made it evident that an industrywide inquiry is necessary to obtain a solid factual foundation for remedial action."

The commission hired Prof. George W. Stocking of Vanderbilt University as special consultant to work on the inquiry. It decided on the probe after dropping long-pending cases charging four big producers with illegal pricing. They were Standard Oil (Indiana), Texaco, Inc., Shell Oil Co., and Pure Oil Co.

Gleason Sells House to CBS

PEEKSKILL, N. Y. (UP) — Television entertainer Jackie Gleason has sold his oddly styled home, called Round Rock, to the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The dwelling near here, which some people insist resembles an artist's conception of a flying saucer, was valued at $800,000 — with furnishings — by real estate dealers two years ago.

Federal tax stamps filed with a deed of sale in the Westchester County Clerk's office in White Plains Friday indicated the sale price was around $350,000.

THE BUSINESS WEEK

Traders Still Perplexed as Market Coasts Along

By C. J. PARNOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market coasted along in rather slow trading last week and although the market barometers posted a small advance traders still were perplexed.

Caution still was the dominant theme of most near term forecasts and traders seemed to be abiding by these prognostications. Price swings reflected this hesitancy towards new purchases.

Prices started off with a continuation of the prior week's downturn and the popular averages racked up a fair-sized loss. However, a small gain was posted Tuesday despite the fact that volume had dwindled to a three-month low.

* * * *

ANOTHER gain came Wednesday, but a last-minute selling spree pushed prices back and the Dow-Jones Industrial average finished unchanged for the first time since April 9, 1963.

Volume expanded again Thuresday, but prices registered only a modest gain. Normal pre-weekend profit-taking seemed nonexistent Friday as prices posted their best gain on the week.

The present uncertainty has divided the analysts into two camps. One group believes firmly the present phase is a consolidation which will carry the averages backward for a while, but which will build a healthy base for a new advance. They believe the forthcoming first quarter earnings statements will once more win back traders' attention from world affairs and put their focus on the fundamentals.

* * * *

HOWEVER, there are a number of analysts who believe the present situation has all the marking of a double top—a chart formation which precedes a sharp break in prices.

Faced with these conflicting arguments, traders and investors are apparently waiting for the market to provide more conclusive statistics before committing themselves to either side.

Dow-Jones Industrials gained 1.72 on the week at 893.38, but rails fell 2.61 to 211.08. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index tacked on 0.33 to 86.53.

Volume slowed to 23,277,680 shares from 25,645,130 shares a week before and compared with 29,689,310 shares in the same week last year. Turnover was the slowest for any week since 23,297,712 shares traded in the first week of 1965.

* * * *

GAINS held only a slim margin over loss as 708 issues advanced while 632 declined. Of the 1,518 issues crossing the tape, 145 touched new 1965 highs while 107 hit new lows.

Baldwin - Lima - Hamilton, maker of heavy construction equipment, topped the active list with a gain of 1¾ at 18½ on a turnover of 319,000 shares following news it will merge with Armour, the "meat people."

Martin - Marietta took second place with a gain of ¾ at 21⅜ on 288,100 shares. The company has offered to buy 2 million shares at $22 each.

American Telephone was third. It advanced ⅝ to 67⅛ on 281,000 shares. It reported a gain in first quarter earnings.

* * * *

ERIE RAILROAD was third with a loss of ¾ at 8¾ on 176,900 shares. The decline apparently was prompted by the failure of Interstate Commerce Commission examiners to include a recommendation for Erie's inclusion in the New York Central - Pennsylvania merger which received preliminary approval last week.

Pennsylvania Railroad was on the active list with a loss of 2. New York Central, although not included in the list, fell 1¾.

Blue chips were generally narrow. Steels milled uncertainly as contract talks continued. Motors took on a firm tone with General Motors up 1⅝, Chrysler ½ and Ford ⅜. Selling pressure continued to plague the chemicals. DuPont fell 1½, Dow 3⅝ and Union Carbide and Olin Mathieson ¾ each.

Electronics met selective demand. IBM advanced 8½, Control Data 2¾, Motorola 5½, Zenith 2⅜ and Honeywell 1. Texas Instruments dropped 2¼, Litton 1½ and Beckman 1⅜.

* * * *

OILS DRIFTED narrowly for the most part, but substantial buying interest developed in the Getty group. Mission Corp, climbed 4¾, Mission Development 2½, Getty 1 and Tidewater 2⅜.

The advance in airline shares slowed considerably toward the end of the week, but a number of issues still posted good gains. National and American were ahead 2⅜, Northwest 2¼, United 2 and Delta 1¼. Trans World Airlines, which said it is considering its first cash dividend since 1936, added 1½.

Aircrafts were strong with Boeing up 2⅛, Douglas 2¼, McDonnell 2, Grumman 1¾ and Lockheed and North American 1 each.

Comsat soared 6⅜ on news it will launch its first communications satellite this week. Polaroid picked up 2. It said it will introduce two low-priced color pack cameras in July.

Pan American Sulphur jumped 5½ on a boost in its sulphur price. Texas Gulf Sulphur, which also increased prices, rose 2⅝. Freeport Sulphur added 2½.

SAYS SATCHMO:

Cat a Cat, Commie or Capitalist

By RICHARD M. SUDHALTER

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Satchmo paused, razor in hand, took another swipe at the stubble on his chin, and said:

"Man, I got to keep playing my horn. If I retired, what would I do? Playing's my life. If I stopped I'd just lay down and die."

At 64, Louis Armstrong gets talking sometimes about the day he retires. In the middle of his current tour of East Europe he attracted attention by saying when he retired he might do so in Ghana. He visited the country some years ago and liked it.

But in an interview during a rest stop in Frankfurt the best known jazz trumpeter of them all seemed almost scared at the thought of quitting.

"Sure," he said, "maybe I won't travel quite so much after awhile. But stop playing my horn? No sir. As long as Ol' Satch can lay all that music on the folks, he's going to."

• • • •

WHY HAD he been touring Communist areas this trip? In Bucharest, Romania, he drew sellout crowds at officially sponsored concerts. He packed them in in East Germany—East Berlin and Leipzig.

"Cats is cats" to Satchmo, be they Communist cats or capitalist cats.

"Man," he said, putting down the razor and toweling his face, "the houses were all sold out. In East Germany the cats would come up to me saying, 'I remember you on such and such a record in 1925.' And they really do. Some of them even got the records to prove it.

"Lots of them are just kids. Ever since my 'Hello Dolly' I got a whole new generation of fans. Now here they are diggin' Ol' Pops for the first time. Man, how can I think of retiring when all the fans are wanting to hear all those good old tunes?"

• • • •

HE CHUCKLED.

"Folks are the same everywhere when we play that horn. They're all cats."

Suddenly he laughed.

"The folks have been wonderful. You know, at an airport in East Germany a little band came out to meet us. They played the old ja-ja jing-jing-jing for us. And they swung so pretty. I guess they have their complaints, those folks. When a cat wants to go visit his friend, he doesn't want anybody saying he can't go without saying why.

"But when we blow for them, it's all one language. They're all digging Ol' Satch."

• • • •

THE GRIN faded and he turned serious.

"You know, it ain't the same as it used to be for a jazz musician. So many of the good old cats, where are they now? Jack Teagarden . . . Don Redman. All dead in the last couple of years.

"Even Nat King Cole. That was just a terrible thing . . .

"The young cats coming up now, they feel, you know, different about music than we did years ago. They don't get together, socialize or play just for kicks any more. They just play for the money."

Then again the sudden flash of teeth and the big grin.

"Man, they're all playing guitars anyway. Those Beatles, they're just having a ball. There's one bunch that does enjoy themselves.

"And me, too, when I'm playing my horn."

• • • •

THE THOUGHT of retirement flashed through his mind again and he shook his head, as though arguing with himself.

"I suppose some day I'll cut down and stay home instead of moving around, blowing my horn and singing."

He smiled into the mirror, rubbing a hand over his chin. And again the familiar chuckle as he half whispered:

"But not this year, daddy. I'll be too busy. Not this year . . ."

Churchill Stamps Go on Sale May 24

LONDON (AP)—British postage stamps commemorating Sir Winston Churchill go on sale May 24, Commonwealth Day. They are denominations of four pence and one shilling-three pence (15 pence).

Solon Asks Halt to Long Suspensions of Students

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Assemblyman Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, announced Saturday he would introduce legislation to halt "the soaring rate" of high school pushouts.

Beilenson described pushouts as students being handed long-term suspensions and "being turned into the streets without jobs or skills and without being given a chance at a work-study type of school program."

The assemblyman said the legislation, to be presented Monday, was the result of a survey which showed that long-term suspensions had almost doubled in the last three years while the number of formal expulsions had dropped 75%.

"Some school administrators were using the long-term suspension as a device to avoid bringing cases before the Board of Education," Beilenson said.

"The issue here is one of throwing out the baby along with the bath water," he said. "We need to maintain a good learning situation in regular classrooms, but we also need to give the non-conformist a positive educational program so that he can be an effective citizen and not a future welfare recipient."

Brown Appoints S.F. Architect to Design Panel

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Brown announced Saturday the appointment of Nathaniel A. Owings, a San Francisco architect, to head the governor's advisory committee on good design.

Brown also announced a series of workshop conferences of design to be held this month and next for key state managers whose policies can effect the design quality of state facilities.

The conferences will be held April 15 and 29, May 13 and 27 in Sacramento.

THE GRIN faded and he turned serious.

"You know, it ain't the same as it used to be for a jazz musician. So many of the gnod old cats, where are they now? Jack Teagarden . . . Don Redman. All dead in the last couple of years.

"Even Nat King Cole. That was just a terrible thing . . .

"The young cats coming up now, they feel, you know, different about music than we did years ago. They don't get together, socialize or play just for kicks any more. They just play for the money."

Then again the sudden flash of teeth and the big grin.

"Man, they're all playing guitars anyway. Those Beatles, they're just having a ball. There's one bunch that does enjoy themselves.

"And me, too, when I'm playing my horn."

THE THOUGHT of retirement flashed through his mind again and he shook his head, as though arguing with himself.

"I suppose some day I'll cut down and stay home instead of moving around, blowing my horn and singing."

He smiled into the mirror, rubbing a hand over his chin. And again the familiar chuckle as he half whispered:

"But not this year, daddy. I'll be too busy. Not this year . . ."

Solon Asks Halt to Long Suspensions of Students

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Assemblyman Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, announced Saturday he would introduce legislation to halt "the soaring rate" of high school pushouts.

Beilenson described pushouts as students being handed long-term suspensions and "being turned into the streets without jobs or skills and without being given a chance at a work-study type of school program."

The assemblyman said the legislation, to be presented Monday, was the result of a survey which showed that long-term suspensions had almost doubled in the last three years while the number of formal expulsions had dropped 75%.

"Some school administrators were using the long-term suspension as a device to avoid bringing cases before the Board of Education," Beilenson said.

"The issue here is one of throwing out the baby along with the bath water," he said. "We need to maintain a good learning situation in regular classrooms, but we also need to give the non-conformist a positive educational program so that he can be an effective citizen and not a future welfare recipient."

Brown Appoints S.F. Architect to Design Panel

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Brown announced Saturday the appointment of Nathaniel A. Owings, a San Francisco architect, to head the governor's advisory committee on good design.

Brown also announced a series of workshop conferences of design to be held this month and next for key state managers whose policies can effect the design quality of state facilities.

The conferences will be held April 15 and 29, May 13 and 27 in Sacramento.

PATRICIA MORISON... Pageant Headliner

IBC Signs Star of 'Kiss Me Kate'

Patricia Morison, star of television, movies and stage, will headline the two-hour "Spectaculars" of the International Beauty Congress in August, Wayne Dallard, executive producer, announced Saturday.

Miss Morison, who is famed for her roles in "Kiss Me Kate," "The King and I," and "Song of Norway," will star in a variety of productions in the Municipal Auditorium on Aug. 9, 10 and 11.

The Spectaculars will select Miss American Beauty from the United States and Miss International from the world contestants.

• • • •

THE Spectaculars will feature music by Meredith Willson and the IBC Chorale, original numbers created for the IBC Ballet, plus compositions by Frank Allen Hubbell, IBC musical director.

Miss Morison will come to the pageant from New York City where she will be performing in a revival of "Kiss Me Kate."

• • • •

"WE HAVE been able to secure Lawrence Welk and his Champagne Music," Robinson A. Reid, IBC president said. "We are negotiating with other top entertainers to be added to the attractions we will offer the public."

The IBC is sponsored by the city and the Port of Long Beach, Los Angeles County and Long Beach business firms and civic leaders.

Parley Due on 1-Number Plan for Help

L. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

Fire officials from 18 cities will meet Monday morning with County Fire Chief Keith Klinger to discuss Assemblyman Joseph M. Kennick's proposed pilot program of a single telephone number for all emergencies.

County supervisors have scheduled a discussion on the single-number program at 11 a.m. Tuesday during their weekly meeting.

The program contemplates one emergency telephone number which residents throughout Los Angeles County could dial.

Kennick, assemblyman from Long Beach's 44th District, proposes that a test be run in the south part of the county.

Among the cities to be represented at Monday's meeting with Klinger are Bellflower, Compton, Downey, Lakewood, Lynwood, Long Beach, Palos Verdes Estates, Paramount, Rolling Hills and Torrance.

Explosives Controls Pushed in Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Gov. George Wallace said Saturday he will support legislation being drawn up by a close political ally to choke off the Birmingham bombers' dynamite supply.

Federal, state and local law-enforcement agencies also vowed to continue investigating the latest bombing "until it's solved."

The reward for the capture of the bombers who Thursday dynamited a Negro home and tried to blow up the homes of Mayor Albert Boutwell and City Councilwoman Nina Miglionico rose from $50,000 to $65,000. One anonymous group offered $11,500.

• • • •

CIRCUIT Solicitor Earl Morgan, Wallace's former executive secretary and longtime friend, was busy with other local officials drawing up legislation to have introduced to the May 4 regular session of the Alabama legislature. The measure would place strict controls on dynamite from its manufacture until its disposal.

Morgan said he talked with Wallace Saturday by telephone and the governor assured him of "supporting the legislation proposed by the group."

Morgan said Wallace would have his top legislative leaders introduce the measure.

House Speaker Albert Brewer and Senate Floor Leader Pete Mathews were expected to introduce and guide the legislation to passage.

• • • •

WALLACE went to Vanderbilt University in Tennessee Saturday and told an audience at the university's "forum" series that he had "no apologies to make" for the treatment of Negroes in Alabama. He said they are treated well.

Negro leader Roy Wilkins addressed the forum earlier, and after Wallace's speech Wilkins told reporters Wallace is "personally not a racist. Gov. Wallace is part of the system we object to."

French Academy Top Prize Goes to 'Strangelove'

PARIS (UPI)—The French Film Academy Awards for 1964 were announced here Saturday and included the choice of Stanley Kubrick's "Doctor Strangelove" as the outstanding film of the year.

It was awarded "the Grand Prix International," chosen by the Academy's judges headed by Georges Auric.

The Academy chose Italian Stefana Sandrelli as the best foreign actress for her part in "Seduced and Abandoned," and named British actor Peter O'Toole as best foreign actor for his interpretation of Henry the Second in "Becket."

The Academy awarded Jean-Louis Trintignant the best French actor's award for his part in "Mata Hari."

Cat Show Closed by Tigerish Kitten

A kitten with a hatred for cat shows violently closed the Caravan Club show of the Twin-Counties Cat Fanciers at the Municipal Auditorium Saturday night.

The half-grown kitten was being judged by Mrs. Lucille Munk, 62, of Albion, Mich., when it went berserk. With amazing fury it inflicted numerous scratches and bites on Mrs. Munk's arms. Then it sprang on a woman spectator and made long, bloody scratches on her arm before somebody managed to cage it.

Mrs. Munk collapsed with shock and pain, and was rushed by ambulance to St. Mary's Hospital. She was released after treatment.

The show just didn't seem worthwhile after that. Officials closed it two hours early. Presumably the show will continue today.

"I've been going to cat shows for 12 years," said Edward Hogan of Fontana, "and I've never seen anything like this before."

Mrs. Munk, a schoolteacher, is a professional judge of cat shows. She has many years of experience in the care and handling of felines.

He Got the Works

A dozen hamburger patties were part of the loot Saturday in a burglary at Kate's Coffee Shop, 2540 E. Anaheim St. The prowler also took a portable television set and the cash register. The loss was more than $225.

Live Wire Traps Two Briefly in Truck

A Corona man and his eight-year-old son were trapped briefly Saurday in a rented moving van after it snagged an overhead electrical wire, which wrapped around the truck.

Sheriff's deputies said Edward E. Hoon and his son, Phillip, were trapped in the truck at 4624 W. 159th St., Lawndale at 12:45 p.m. They were freed a few minutes later by firemen after neighbors called Lennox sheriff's substation.

Death Takes Pettigrew, L.B. Internist

Rosary will be tonight at 8 in St. Barnabas Church for Dr. Ace Pettigrew, who died Friday after practicing osteopathy in Long Beach since 1934.

Dr. Pettigrew, 61, is survived by his wife, Mildred, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Pettigrew. He lived at 4030 Chestnut Ave.

• • • • •

REQUIEM Mass will be Monday, 9 a.m., also in St. Barnabas Church, for the past president of the American College of Osteopathic Internists.

In 1952, he was named chief of staff of Magnolia and Los Cerritos Maternity hospitals. He had been clinical professor of internal medicine at the former College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, Los Angeles.

• • • •

DR. PETTIGREW was a member of the staff of Pacific Hospital, a member of Long Beach Elks 888 and a board member of the Long Beach division of the American Cancer Society.

He was a member of the American and the California Medical associations.

His family suggests donations to Pacific Hospital's Cardiac Intensive Care unit. Sheelar's Mortuary is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Cow Is Poor Trade

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — It would be a losing proposition to carry feed and water to a cow for one year in exchange for all the milk you wanted.

Dairy specialists at the University of Kentucky figure that in exchange for 11,000 pounds of milk you would carry nearly seven times that much water and one and one-tenth times as much feed.

Homeland Beckons Japanese in U.S.

By LOU JOBST
I. P-T Marine Editor

They came wearing sandals and kimonos and carrying their few belongings in little cloth bundles. They leave in business suits and chic dresses, wearing jewelry and carrying expensive cameras and luggage.

They are the hundreds of Asians, mostly English-speaking Japanese, who are returning to their native lands, many for good, after a lifetime spent in Western America and Hawaii.

Prosperous conditions in the home islands and a desire to see their homeland or end their days on native soil are the chief reasons behind the big surge in West-to-East emigration.

There is also a marked increase in the number of Asians visiting the Pacific Coast as tourists, said Takeshi Okumura of San Francisco, P&O Orient Lines agent in charge of Oriental travelers.

Okumura left Los Angeles Harbor last week aboard the 28,000-ton British passenger ship SS Oronsay with a contingent of 90 Japanese and Chinese.

The Oronsay is sailing to Japan via Hawaii for the beginning of the cherry blossom season. She will pick up 220 more Asians, mostly Japanese, in Honolulu.

The average age of the travelers is 60. Virtually none has been home since coming to the Occident as young people. The eldest is an 84-year-old man who migrated to Canada 56 years ago.

"It is a big group," said the busy Okumura, a Japanese national himself, "but I have had bigger."

Last year he shepherded a group of 390 Asian travelers to the Far East aboard the SS Oriana, sister ship of the Oronsay.

Looking after the Orientals is difficult work. Okumura makes sure all his charges get aboard, looks after the purchase of special Japanese and Chinese foodstuffs, provides Oriental entertainment and reading matter and daily translates the menus from English to native tongues.

The hardest job is translating and filling out endless documents for the travelers, many of whom cannot write.

Okumura gets a hand, at mealtime at least, from two Chinese cooks that P&O maintains aboard the ship to prepare special meals for the Orientals.

The cooks were recruited in Hong Kong.

Okumura said travel to the West Coast by Japanese fell off slightly last year because of the Olympic games. But the trade seems to be headed toward new heights this year.

The executive officer and three crewmen of the USS Turner Joy received decorations Saturday morning for their conduct under enemy fire last August when the destroyer was attacked in the Gulf of Tonkin by North Vietnamese torpedo boats.

Lt. Cmdr. Robert B. Hoffman, 33, of 3030 E. Second St., was awarded the Navy Commendation Medal for "skill, courage and devotion to duty in the face of hostile fire . . ." He is the executive officer of the Turner Joy, which sank two torpedo boats and damaged two others in the two-hour-long battle Aug. 4.

Another Long Beach man, radarman first class John B. Spanka, 27, of 2121 Monitor Ave., received the Secretary of Navy Commendation for Achievement Ribbon for "calmly and coolly" supervising the "flow of vital information" during the engagement.

Gunner's mate Carl W. Deaton, of Howe, Okla., and torpedoman Jerry W. McCown, of Andrew, Tex., were decorated with Navy Commendation Medals.

Deaton earned his by keeping his 5-inch gun mount in action throughout the encounter; McCown was honored because he remained at an exposed station, the depth-charge rack, throughout the engagement.

All awards were made at a 10 a.m. inspection ceremony aboard the Turner Joy at Pier 16, Long Beach Naval Station.

LBSC FACULTY MAGAZINE OPPOSES MERGER WITH UC

Claim State Colleges Treated with 'Disdain'

By ROBERT WILCOX
Education Editor

The University of California treats its sister higher education system, the state colleges, with "condescending disdain" and no attempt should be made to merge the two systems.

So says Forum, Cal State-Long Beach faculty publication, in an unsigned editorial in its current issue.

Possible consolidation of the 27 campuses into one system is under study by the Association of California State College Professors, a professional organization.

"We do not agree with the ACSCP that such a study has merit, says Forum. "No endeavor seems quite so futile to us as seeking to wed someone who treats you with condescending disdain."

Forum predicts continuing "cut-throat competition" between the systems for funds, professors and students in the current "undeclared civil war."

The magazine blames the California Master Plan of Higher Education, adopted in 1959 in an effort to outline roles for the two systems, plus the junior colleges.

The master plan, says Forum, "created more problems than it resolved" by "vaguely" and "nebulously" defining the roles rather than following the advice of former UC President Roger Gordon Sproul. Sproul wanted the junior colleges to assume the basic responsibility for lower division students; the state colleges for upper division students; and UC for graduate students.

"In effect," says Forum, "the master plan outfitted the California state colleges with a slingshot, the university with a machine gun and said 'Go to it gentlemen, but don't aim below the belt.'"

UC is recognized in the state constitution and is not responsible to the legislature. This, says Forum, "is a key to the door of the state treasury."

THE PUBLICATION charges that financial restrictions on the state colleges make it virtually impossible for the system to recruit professors.

"At the same time," says Forum, "the university flaunts its affluence by recruiting faculty members at the rank of full professor only for its new branches at La Jolla and Santa Cruz. We are convinced that in the near future the extremely high cost of building and maintaining such plush academic resorts as these will make it impossible to provide educational opportunities to thousands of deserving young Californians."

Forum charges further that the state colleges do about two-thirds of the work of providing public higher education while the university gets about two-thirds of the money provided for the purpose. It adds: "State college faculty members are more accessible to their students and the students have greater freedom on state college campuses."

THE MAGAZINE CONCLUDES "there is room and resources" in the state for both systems but a fairer way must be found to divide the available money between them.

Forum is published jointly by the Cal State-Long Beach chapters of the American Association of University Professors, the Association of State College Professors, the American Federation of Teachers, and the faculty chapter of the California State Employees Association Editors are Drs. Ottis L. Castleberry of the speech department and Samuel Pollach of the education department.

Streamlined Plan on Improvements

A proposal to streamline the tedious proceedings necessary for improvements financed through special-assessment districts will come under scrutiny of the City Council this week.

Endorsed by management, the new procedure is intended to cut in half the 70-day lag between the completion of the improvement and the final confirmation of the assessment.

Its prime advantages, according to city administrative officials, are that it will make possible quicker and more accurate reports on the amount each property owner owes and will also speed up payment of the contractor on the job.

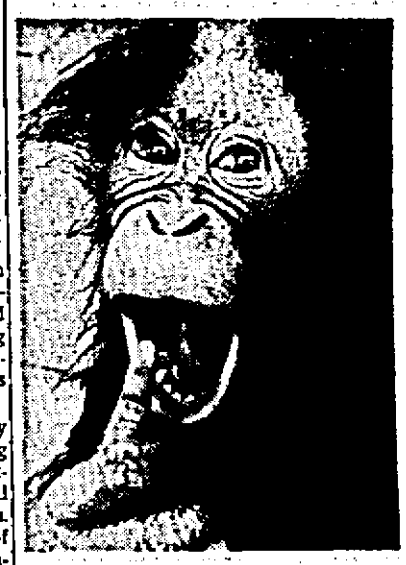

"We think it will produce better public relations all around," said W. W. Pollard, special assessment engineer on City Engineer Jess D. Gilkerson's staff.

* * * *

THE SPECIAL-assessment program is taking on greater importance because of the growth of residential street-lighting projects under this form of financing. It has been used also for many years—since the 1911 act was passed—to encourage alley paving improvements through petitions by the property owners affected.

A principal cause of delay now is that the city is paying half of the incidental expenses on most of the special assessment improvements. Fixing the exact amount of these expenses on each improvement is a time-consuming job. Involved are engineering and inspection costs, along with printing and other incidentals.

To cut through the computer tape, City Manager John R. Mansell has proposed a formula under which the city will pay on each project all the incidental expenses above the total of $500 and 7% of the construction cost.

C'mon Kids, Let's Go to the Zoo

Photos by BOB SHUMWAY

It's new—and it's called the Children's Zoo.

They probably call it this because it's full of "children": baby ducks, baby rabbits, baby chicks, baby llamas and even a baby chimp.

Opened last Monday in Griffith Park, the Children's Zoo is part of the new $9 million Greater Los Angeles Zoo now being constructed near the old zoo in Griffith Park.

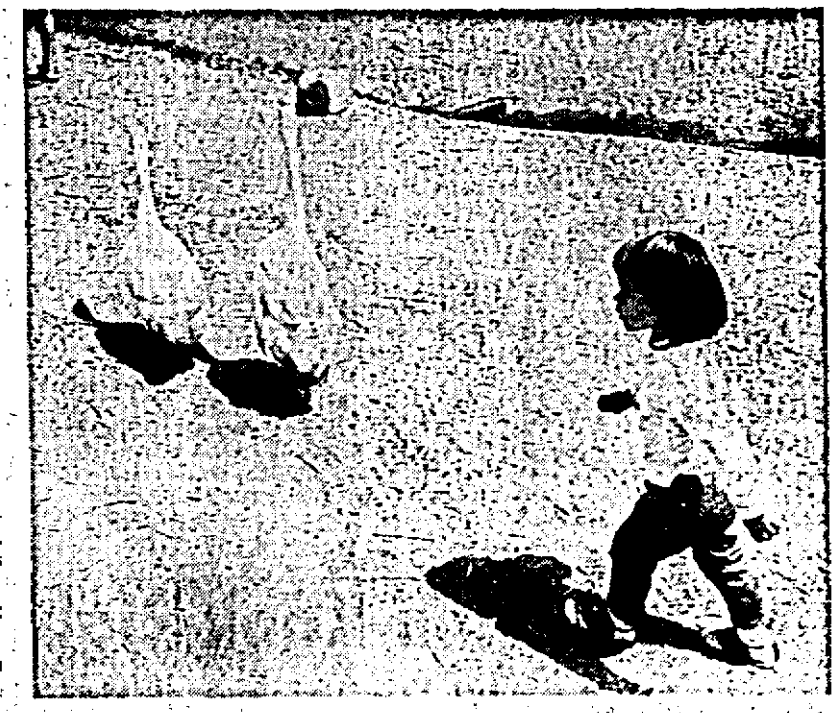

Special facilities have been built to house the animals in natural surroundings. And small, caged creatures are at eye level where viewers can look eye-to-eye with a baby owl, or a frisky chimp. There also are many "grown-up" animals.

Pet food is available, in case you can't resist giving a handout to a strolling sheep.

The zoo is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week. Admission is 15 cents. The zoo is located alongside the Golden State Freeway (signs indicate the Griffith Park off-ramp and the way to the zoo on Crystal Springs Drive in the park).

It's worth the trip. You can take your lunch and eat in the park. And don't forget the children.

They'll enjoy playing among the "children" who live at the zoo.

Unification of 23 Courts Again Issue

By DON BRACKENBURY
L. P-T Los Angeles Bureau

For the fifth time in five years, supervisors Tuesday will take up one of their most controversial issues: consolidation of Municipal Courts into a single, countywide district.

Proponents contend consolidation of the present 23 Municipal and three Justice courts is needed to halt spiraling costs of courts and judges, equalize caseloads among judges, and give uniformity in rules and procedures.

Opponents argue that the present organization gives greater opportunity for opposition to incumbent judges by means of local elections in small districts, thus providing more control over the caliber of local justice, and also gives people appearing in court the feeling that they are facing a judge they elected, "their judge."

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, long a proponent of consolidation, said last week he will move Tuesday that the county board order consolidation.

* * * *

HOW THE VOTE goes will depend on Supervisors Frank G. Bonelli and Warren M. Dorn. In four prior votes since 1960, Bonelli and Dorn are the only supervisors who have changed their positions.

Hahn and Supervisor Ernest E. Debs consistently have voted for consolidation. Supervisor Burton W. Chace has voted against it.

In 1960, Bonelli and Dorn joined Chace in defeating, 3 to 2, a proposed consolidation to one district. In April 1961, the same vote rejected consolidation to nine districts.

A month later, in May 1961, Dorn switched to help Hahn and Debs approve consolidation to 10 districts. The proposal failed to win the required State Legislature ratification, however.

In 1963, supervisors approved consolidation to nine districts. The vote again was 3 to 2, but this time Bonelli voted aye and Dorn voted "no." The proposal again was killed by the State Legislature, however.

* * * *

L. S. HOLLINGER, chief county administrative officer, said in a report released Friday "the county is at the crossroads" on court consolidation.

Noting that 14 additional judges already have been requested this year, Hollinger urged supervisors to order consolidation and oppose any new judges.

If the 14 judges are authorized, he said, it will cost county taxpayers an additional $577,122 annually for operating costs and $3.5 million in construction of new courtrooms.

Hollinger urged supervisors to end the "wasteful" system of 26 independent judicial districts, the "system of the unused judge."

The problem is, Hollinger said, that some judges have full calendars, while others are idle.

The average number of trials handled by an individual judge ranges from a minimum of 548 per year in Long Beach Municipal Court to 1,456 in South Bay Municipal Court, he said.

* * * *

THE 1963 LAW to permit "voluntary transfer of cases" has proved a failure, Hollinger told supervisors. In the year ending last September, only 24 cases throughout the state were transferred from one municipal court to another. Only nine of these cases were in Los Angeles County.

Beach Combing
With Malcolm Epley

THIS is the month for settling with the gov't on income taxes, a task to be approached dutifully.

But being cheerful about it is something else.

Now I'm as grateful as the next taxpayer for the privileges of living under the Flag. I'm also grateful that one of those privileges is the right to grouch.

There are a few things that make me grind my teeth when I make out those income tax papers (besides trying to decipher the forms and instructions).

Such as that $19,000 we pay annually to Mrs. Adam Clayton Powell for sitting in a fine house in Puerto Rico and handling the N.Y. Congressman's "foreign language mail." (He's her husband.)

Such as the recent raise (to $30,000) the Congressmen voted themselves while giving a truly deserved raise to other federal employes.

Such as the personal expense carte blanche given Senators and Congressmen when they go junketing abroad.

And such as the $100 a day paid a Mrs. Mary Kohler for serving as a consultant in the federally-financed war on poverty in New York. (Someone says she sure ought to be an expert on preventing poverty.)

That's enough. I've got to save those teeth.

BY THE way, chickens are coming home to roost after that widely-hailed income tax cut they gave us last year.

While in most instances it reduced the amount withheld from salary workers, the general effect was to reduce withholding actually more than the tax cut. Hence many people who usually find themselves with refunds at this period are disappointed—their refunds have been drastically reduced or eliminated entirely, and some have had to put out tax money unexpectedly.

This has had an effect on business. One large retail operation has been keeping track of refund checks cashed. So far, the number of such checks brought in has run to about 10 per cent of the comparable figure of last year. Hence, there's not so much loose money this spring.

WHEN you buy gasoline now you pay a cent a gallon to help repair roads in Northern California damaged by floods.

That, and the current rains in our own area, bring up the subject of what we have done here, on our own, to control floods.

Since 1952, Los Angeles County taxpayers have bonded themselves to the extent of $679 million — nearly seven-tenths of a billion! — to provide storm drains to carry off the flood waters. We did it in three issues — $275 million, $179 million and $225 million.

In addition, the Flood Control District here imposes a tax of 15 cents per $100 valuation for flood control works. Some of the major projects, such as the big channels, have been financed by federal and state funds, but in general, we've done a pretty good job of paying our way to prevent flood damage.

THIS column has been pretty grim and I ought to end with something funny, the best thing coming to mind being the experience of one of our subscribers who got mixed up in his days of the week.

Somehow, when he woke up last Saturday, he thought it was Sunday. He went out to get his Sunday I, P-T, and got really riled up when it hadn't arrived by 9:30 or so.

He grabbed the telephone and gave us a call.

Our circulation dept. dutifully sent out a copy of that Saturday's Independent. He looked at it in amazement.

Finally he got straightened around and settled down to some unaccustomed Saturday morning reading. He doesn't even take the Independent. He's a P-T subscriber.

Opened last Monday in Griffith Park, the Children's Zoo is part of the new $9 million Greater Los Angeles Zoo now being constructed near the old zoo in Griffith Park.

Special facilities have been built to house the animals in natural surroundings. And small, caged creatures are at eye level where viewers can look eye-to-eye with a baby owl, or a frisky chimp. There also are many "grown-up" animals.

Pet food is available, in case you can't resist giving a handout to a strolling sheep.

The zoo is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week. Admission is 15 cents. The zoo is located alongside the Golden State Freeway (signs indicate the Griffith Park off-ramp and the way to the zoo on Crystal Springs Drive in the park).

It's worth the trip. You can take your lunch and eat in the park. And don't forget the children.

They'll enjoy playing among the "children" who live at the zoo.

Beach Combing
With Malcolm Epley

THIS is the month for settling with the gov't on income taxes, a task to be approached dutifully.

But being cheerful about it is something else.

Now I'm as grateful as the next taxpayer for the privileges of living under the Flag. I'm also grateful that one of those privileges is the right to grouch.

There are a few things that make me grind my teeth when I make out those income tax papers (besides trying to decipher the forms and instructions).

Such as that $19,000 we pay annually to Mrs. Adam Clayton Powell for sitting in a fine house in Puerto Rico and handling the N.Y. Congressman's "foreign language mail." (He's her husband.)

Such as the recent raise (to $30,000) the Congressmen voted themselves while giving a truly deserved raise to other federal employes.

Such as the personal expense carte blanche given Senators and Congressmen when they go junketing abroad.

And such as the $100 a day paid a Mrs. Mary Kohler for serving as a consultant in the federally-financed war on poverty in New York. (Someone says she sure ought to be an expert on preventing poverty.)

That's enough. I've got to save those teeth.

BY THE way, chickens are coming home to roost after that widely-hailed income tax cut they gave us last year.

While in most instances it reduced the amount withheld from salary workers, the general effect was to reduce withholding actually more than the tax cut. Hence many people who usually find themselves with refunds at this period are disappointed—their refunds have been drastically reduced or eliminated entirely, and some have had to put out tax money unexpectedly.

This has had an effect on business. One large retail operation has been keeping track of refund checks cashed. So far, the number of such checks brought in has run to about 10 per cent of the comparable figure of last year. Hence, there's not so much loose money this spring.

WHEN you buy gasoline now you pay a cent a gallon to help repair roads in Northern California damaged by floods.

That, and the current rains in our own area, bring up the subject of what we have done here, on our own, to control floods.

Since 1952, Los Angeles County taxpayers have bonded themselves to the extent of $679 million — nearly seven-tenths of a billion! — to provide storm drains to carry off the flood waters. We did it in three issues — $275 million, $179 million and $225 million.

In addition, the Flood Control District here imposes a tax of 15 cents per $100 valuation for flood control works. Some of the major projects, such as the big channels, have been financed by federal and state funds, but in general, we've done a pretty good job of paying our way to prevent flood damage.

THIS column has been pretty grim and I ought to end with something funny, the best thing coming to mind being the experience of one of our subscribers who got mixed up in his days of the week.

Somehow, when he woke up last Saturday, he thought it was Sunday. He went out to get his Sunday I, P-T, and got really riled up when it hadn't arrived by 9:30 or so.

He grabbed the telephone and gave us a call.

Our circulation dept. dutifully sent out a copy of that Saturday's Independent. He looked at it in amazement.

Finally he got straightened around and settled down to some unaccustomed Saturday morning reading. He doesn't even take the Independent. He's a P-T subscriber.

Unification of 23 Courts Again Issue

By DON BRACKENBURY
I, P-T Los Angeles Bureau

For the fifth time in five years, supervisors Tuesday will take up one of their most controversial issues: consolidation of Municipal Courts into a single, countywide district.

Proponents contend consolidation of the present 23 Municipal and three Justice courts is needed to halt spiraling costs of courts and judges, equalize caseloads among judges, and give uniformity in rules and procedures.

Opponents argue that the present organization gives greater opportunity for opposition to incumbent judges by means of local elections in small districts, thus providing more control over the caliber of local justice, and also gives people appearing in court the feeling that they are facing a judge they elected, "their judge."

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn, long a proponent of consolidation, said last week he will move Tuesday that the county board order consolidation.

* * * *

HOW THE VOTE goes will depend on Supervisors Frank G. Bonelli and Warren M. Dorn. In four prior votes since 1960, Bonelli and Dorn are the only supervisors who have changed their positions.

Hahn and Supervisor Ernest E. Debs consistently have voted for consolidation. Supervisor Burton W. Chace has voted against it.

In 1960, Bonelli and Dorn joined Chace in defeating, 3 to 2, a proposed consolidation to one district. In April 1961, the same vote rejected consolidation to nine districts.

A month later, in May 1961, Dorn switched to help Hahn and Debs approve consolidation to 10 districts. The proposal failed to win the required State Legislature ratification, however.

In 1963, supervisors approved consolidation to nine districts. The vote again was 3 to 2, but this time Bonelli voted aye and Dorn voted "no." The proposal again was killed by the State Legislature, however.

* * * *

L. S. HOLLINGER, chief county administrative officer, said in a report released Friday "the county is at the crossroads" on court consolidation.

Noting that 14 additional judges already have been requested this year, Hollinger urged supervisors to order consolidation and oppose any new judges.

If the 14 judges are authorized, he said, it will cost county taxpayers an additional $577,122 annually for operating costs and $3.5 million in construction of new courtrooms.

Hollinger urged supervisors to end the "wasteful" system of 26 independent judicial districts, the "system of the unused judge."

The problem is, Hollinger said, that some judges have full calendars, while others are idle.

The average number of trials handled by an individual judge ranges from a minimum of 548 per year in Long Beach Municipal Court to 1,486 in South Bay Municipal Court, he said.

* * * *

THE 1963 LAW to permit "voluntary transfer of cases" has proved a failure, Hollinger told supervisors. In the year ending last September, only 24 cases throughout the state were transferred from one municipal court to another. Only nine of these cases were in Los Angeles County.

EDITORIAL

Hypocrisy

MEMBERS OF THE ACADEMIC Senate at Long Beach State College would be the first to tell you that they believe in freedom of speech. Therefore, we detect more than a little hypocrisy in the shabby treatment they have given one of their colleagues merely because he wrote a letter that was printed in the newspaper.

Dr. Lawrence L. Peterson, chairman of the division of fine arts, wrote a letter to the Board of Regents of the University of California expressing approval of an editorial we published. (Our editorial was critical of the juvenile troublemakers at the Berkeley campus.) He sent us a copy, and we assumed it was intended for publication.

Dr. Peterson's letter contained some criticism of Long Beach State's Academic Senate. Forthwith, the shocked members of the Senate expressed their dismay and promised a "thorough review" of the ethics involved in such situations. Dr. Peterson escaped punitive action by the Academic Senate only because he explained that his letter was never intended for publication.

Some of his colleagues professed to be disturbed because they felt that Dr. Peterson was posing as a representative of the college. A reading of the letter shows clearly that he was expressing a personal opinion. While criticizing Dr. Peterson, members of the Academic Senate seem to have overlooked the fact that on the same page on the same day and in a more prominent position under a larger headline another professor wrote a letter on the Berkeley matter. They seem to have ignored, also, a letter written two weeks previously by still another professor on the controversial topic of fraternity housing.

The fact is that we have received and printed many letters on a wide range of topics from Long Beach State professors. We are glad that they have seen fit to take an interest in public questions and to express themselves. And never at any time have we doubted that they were expressing personal opinions rather than the opinion of the college.

We suspect that Dr. Peterson's letter disturbed some of his colleagues simply because it expressed opinions with which they do not agree. The essential issue here is free speech, and they appear to be on the side of censorship.

Intemperate Talk

VICE PRESIDENT HUMPHREY used some unfortunate phrases this week in press conference remarks with regard to criticism leveled at the administration by Congressman Craig Hosmer.

Hosmer has charged that the administration is failing to take advantage of technological advances to produce small nuclear weapons whose effect would be limited to the battlefield.

The Vice President replied angrily that Hosmer's criticisms are a "disservice to America" and "service to the enemy." He said they indicate a lack of knowledge.

Hosmer is the senior House Republican on the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and is regarded by many as the congressional authority in this field. His elaborate and calmly-reasoned arguments have been presented in this newspaper and others in great detail. They have been a service, not a disservice to the country, because they have underscored possible shortcomings in American defense. We have no doubt that his criticisms have helped make the administration more aware of the value of small nuclear weapons.

In any event, the phrase "service to the enemy" smacks of the kind of irresponsible generalizing which our liberal-minded Vice President has always deplored. We deplore his resorting to this device.

Fewer New Laws Likely as Solons Sense Go-Slow Mood

L. P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The 1965 legislative session — now past the halfway mark — is fraught with frustration for any one who hopes this year to turn the legislature into a high-speed bill factory.

McCauley

Though some 3,200 proposed laws have been introduced as bills, only a handful have been passed.

The Brown Administration is fretting publicly because lawmakers are giving its proposals more careful scrutiny than ever before.

Typical of the legislative approach: the Ways and Means subcommittee under the chairmanship of Assemblyman Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach. Chairman Kennick has ordered the controversial new super agency, General Services Department, to demonstrate specifically where it saved any money since it was created two years ago as an efficiency measure.

Unless GSD can prove that it is saving money, the Kennick subcommittee is inclined to wipe out GSD and turn over its functions to the State Finance Department—the old bureau that did the GSD's work.

Traditionally, the Republican Assembly caucus reserves the right to raise final questions concerning any administration budget. Last year it forced the administration to chop several Sacramento buildings from the budget.

Assembly GOP Whip George Deukmejian and other Republicans are certain to take another whack at the budget when it reaches the Assembly floor.

This much is certain: the 1965 legislature is about as far from being a rubber-stamp lawmaking body as any legislature confronting any governor.

Lawmakers are inclined to turn a cold shoulder to new proposals that might put them on the spot politically.

Most of the measures for which there was widespread legislative support cleared past legislatures in the early years of the Brown Administration.

Many of the measures now stalled are politically-hot issues that have been rejected in the past but are back before lawmakers anyway. Partisan local elections, abolishing capital punishment and state birth-control aid are among the oft-defeated measures that seem to be stalled again.

Some lawmakers are reluctant to vote measures that soak taxpayers any harder. Some Democrats, for instance, in generally-considered "safe" districts, won by only slight margins last election.

Republicans have captured three Assembly seats and one Senate seat from Democrats since last year. Lawmakers sense politically-moderate breezes blowing. And they tend to reject liberal measures.

Thus, the 1965 legislature may turn out the fewest laws of any session in the past decade. This would appeal to government theorists who say the fewer laws the better.

And it would give lawmakers a more moderate and conservative stance when next they face the electorate.

• • • •

OTHER SACRAMENTO SOUNDINGS:

Cleanest political statement of the season comes from Assemblyman Charles Chapel, R-Palos Verdes Estates, who opposes short, frequent physical education classes in which there virtually is only time to shower. "Two shower baths every day is good for the water company, soap manufacturers and the towel industry but it doesn't build the right muscles," says Chapel.

• • • • •

ASSEMBLYMAN Robert Badham, R-Costa Mesa, warns the Berkeley campus discontent may spread to other University of California campuses. Badham thinks President Clark Kerr should be fired.

• • • • •

STATE bureaucrats still quietly are plumping for a Dominguez-area site for homeless Palos Verdes State College. However, there has been little if any support for the plan from nearby North Long Beach areas.

Non-Kook Rightists Need Voice

Distributed by Newsday Specials

THIS COLUMN is now six months old, which makes it something less than an institution, but is a long enough time to make possible some sort of inventory.

It got off to a good start. Two papers that signed for it in advance were not at all pleased with my early efforts, and told the syndicate that unless I wrote more to their liking, they would not sign on again at renewal time. The editor of one of the papers—a journal of the liberal persuasion — seemed to believe that his threat to cancel would be enough to make me change my ways. When I read his letter to the syndicate, I said, "Release him right away. Tell him to go to hell, and don't wait for renewal time." That was done.

SINCE THAT TIME OTHER PAPERS have dropped out, others have signed on, and I have been having a ball.

What I knew in my heart has been confirmed: that this country contains a considerable constituency of confused and concerned men and women who are leaderless and feel lost. They are the non-kook conservatives, who have never questioned, for instance, the Negro's right to vote, but who refuse to accept the guilt that the liberals try to splash all over non-liberals. They—we—distrust the distortion of inter-state Commerce laws by which the federal government is arrogating to itself more and more powers that were clearly not intended for it. The active or complacent cooperation of the Supreme Court in all such matters has made Monday, the Court's decision day, a day to be dreaded. Monday can be bad enough without those hebdomodal announcements that the Supreme Court, in its infinite wisdom, has opined that the fathers of this country did not mean what they seemed to mean.

The non-kook conservative wonders, for instance, about the abolition of capital punishment. Who says capital punishment is not a deterrent to murder, and who could possibly tell how many murders and assassinations have been deterred by the fear of the consequences? The non-kook conservative wonders about fluoridation of the water supply, punitive taxes on cigarettes, socialized medicine, cheating in exams, and the outrageous scheme to combat the increase of narcotics addiction by making the stuff easier to get. He wonders what really happened at Yalta and Potsdam, and why, and what is happening in Viet Nam and why. He wonders why we can do so much for the steel industry of India, but do next to nothing for our own railroads.

All these and other matters are disturbing to men and women who are the non-kook conservatives in all sections of the country. This nation is so big that generalizations about the American people as a people are unsafe, but there is a body of opinion not restricted to sectional or economic or social status that seems to be waiting for a leader who may never come. It is a body of opinion, but it is otherwise unorganized, and though it is numerically larger (I am convinced) than various pressure groups, it is ineffectual against the organized minorities.

WHAT THESE PEOPLE NEED is a man who believes as they believe, who is vigorous and articulate and courageous, who is so incorruptible that he will not settle for one of those bipartisan sops that the administration may throw his way when he begins to get somewhere. If such a hero exists, my guess is that he will have to make his presence felt first and that organization will follow, rather than the other way around. In the six months that I have been at this post, I have learned for certain that people are desperately eager to follow such a man. Waiting for Righty, you might say.

CRA Officer Hears Cheers Change to Boos in 3 Years

L. P-T Political Writer

DARVEN L. PADDOCK was in tears in March 1962 when he withdrew from the race for presidency of the California Republican Assembly. For two days he had fought opponent Fred Hall, former Kansas Governor, as being too liberal. Now, facing defeat, he withdrew because he didn't want to contribute any further strife to the "most divisive" CRA convention he had ever witnessed. He was cheered.

HOUSER

In 1963, the big break-up year for CRA, Paddock was again in the conservative fore when CRA's last liberal won the state presidency. Paddock charged at that meeting that the John Birch Society was being used as a whipping boy by the organization's liberal machine.

The militant right called the tune in 1964 in state officers, policy and endorsements.

Then, last week, in a full-dress right-wing show, CRA's keynote speaker was a member of the John Birch Society, State Sen. John G. Schmitz of Orange County. The group passed a resolution endorsing the Liberty Amendment to abolish the federal income tax and take the government out of competition with private enterprise within three years after constitutional ratification.

OLD CONSERVATIVE Darvel Paddock, a state CRA vice president now, went to the mike to oppose the income tax repealer. "Is this realistic?" he asked. "Yes," they answered. "We'd have chaos" after the three-year period, he said. They booed him.

He pleaded with delegates that he be allowed to talk—that this is still a democracy. "No!" they booted, "It's a republic!"

Paddock's decline in grace with CRA between 1962's cheers and 1965's boos capsulizes the change in CRA rather than in Paddock.

While it's a dramatic example, there are numerous others. In past years, party leaders have marched past CRA lecterns bidding for the group's approval. This year there was no Kuchel, no Christopher, no sizeable delegation of GOP officeholders.

CRA President Dr. Nolan Frizelle, Balboa Island optometrist, read the message without comment. Delegates groaned their disapproval.

Actor Ronald Reagan was the man of the convention, scoring strongly with his banquet speech. But Senator Schmitz was hardly less of a lion when he flung out the challenge that if defense of conservative principles "makes us reactionaries or extremists," then let's make the most of it.

WILLIAM NELLIGAN, that last liberal CRA president of 1963, looked back nostalgically to the 1964 convention when he charged that "fanatics of the Birch variety have stunk up the place." Now, he said, if we become more and more "oriented to conservatives and exclude all others, I can sympathize with those who want to walk out and join more moderate organizations."

Jerry Dicus, of the San Diego Patriotic Society, sounded the intense mood of last week's convention during his presentation of an American Patriots Hall of Fame award to speaker Reagan.

Said Dicus:

"God has reached down and touched our shoulders—we, the patriots. And we are not going to lose this country!"

Students Deserve Parking Facility

EDITOR:

Malcolm Epley's column describes the State College parking problem very well. Indeed, there is an acute shortage of on- and off-campus parking, a fact to which any student who has tried to find a space after 7:30 a.m. will readily testify. As Mr. Epley points out, the recent closing of the dirt parking lot at Margo Avenue and Seventh Street has only served to aggravate an already great problem.

Epley's suggestion that the state level off the dirt lot, lightly blacktop it and let it serve as a student parking lot until it is changed into a highway, may be far too much to hope for, but it does seem that the residents of California, and Long Beach specifically, could take a more altruistic view toward the parking problems of the State College student.

Cal State, Long Beach students have shown that they have a keen awareness of personal and property rights. They recently conducted themselves in an orderly manner while listening to a Communist speaker (Ben Dobbs) and a staunch anti-Communist (Fred Schwarz). There have been no demonstrations, riots, or other radical incidents on or near the Cal State campus. As Epley says, "State college students here have been acting like sensible people making responsible use of the facilities provided them for getting an education."

I would like to see more adult citizens voicing views similar to those of Mr. Epley on the State College parking problem. We students are worthy of your consideration.

'No Shame' Is Disney's Code

EDITOR:

My attention has been called to a clipping of the editorial, "Something for the Kids," which appeared in the Press-Telegram on March 6th.

We want to thank you and whoever wrote the editorial. Aside from the tribute to Walt, it certainly outlined the situation that has brought success to Disney productions.

Just the other day I heard Walt say that he likes to make pictures that "any youngster will not be ashamed to take his parents to see."

"Mary Poppins" is a good example of this philosophy. It will be one of the all-time top grossers in the history of the motion picture industry.

You don't have to make pictures just for kids. You cannot look down on them, for today they have pretty good judgment, despite all we read about juvenile delinquency.

Register Voters All Over Again

EDITOR:

The recent action in some parts of our country regarding civil rights and voting registration has caused quite a furor. The only remedy you hear about is to pass a law. Now we have a bill before Congress that will seemingly take more power from the states and place it in the hands of the Federal Government. This very important privilege has always remained for the states and the people therein (10th amendment), but all 50 states stand to lose because some state(s) have not taken it upon themselves to correct an inequity in their voter registration. Our system of checks and balances is being slowly wittled away by the ever increasing power of the Federal Government.

There is a way that we can still preserve this voting system if only certain states would take immediate action. Voting has always been a privilege not a right. We do not let people under 21 years old vote, nor those convicted of certain crimes, nor those who received dishonorable discharge from the military, so voting is a privilege.

On this basis, I would like to recommend that Southern states and other states re-register all their prospective voters, not just those that are not registered. During this re-registration process, they could give them a written test as part of the requirement, and only those who passed this test would be eligible to vote.

This method of registration would show the good faith of those who proclaim their state is not restrictive in their registration. It would also permit all the other states to retain their sovereignty and set a good example for all. This is also in line with what Thomas Jefferson advocated.

Complains of Phone Soliciting

EDITOR:

I want to make a complaint. Myself, along with others, are constantly bothered with telephone calls to buy this or that, or a donation here and there or anything, anyone trying to sell something.

I think the average person will donate what he can, or buy what he wants when he wants it, without constantly being pestered with these annoying telephone calls that even get insulting if one refuses. Would surely like to have other comments on this article. Or do I have to go to the Governor or have my telephone taken out?

Fewer New Laws Likely as Solons Sense Go-Slow Mood

I, P-T Sacramento Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The 1965 legislative session — now past the halfway mark — is fraught with frustration for any one who hopes this year to turn the legislature into a high-speed bill factory.

McCauley

Though some 3,200 proposed laws have been introduced as bills, only a handful have been passed.

The Brown Administration is fretting publicly because lawmakers are giving its proposals more careful scrutiny than ever before.

Typical of the legislative approach: the Ways and Means subcommittee under the chairmanship of Assemblyman Joseph Kennick, D-Long Beach. Chairman Kennick has ordered the controversial new super agency, General Services Department, to demonstrate specifically where it saved any money since it was created two years ago as an efficiency measure.

Unless GSD can prove that it is saving money, the Kennick subcommittee is inclined to wipe out GSD and turn over its functions to the State Finance Department—the old bureau that did the GSD's work.

Traditionally, the Republican Assembly caucus reserves the right to raise final questions concerning any administration budget. Last year it forced the administration to chop several Sacramento buildings from the budget.

Assembly GOP Whip George Deukmejian and other Republicans are certain to take another whack at the budget when it reaches the Assembly floor.

This much is certain: the 1965 legislature is about as far from being a rubber-stamp lawmaking body as any legislature confronting any governor.

Lawmakers are inclined to turn a cold shoulder to new proposals that might put them on the spot politically.

Most of the measures for which there was widespread legislative support cleared past legislatures in the early years of the Brown Administration.

Many of the measures now stalled are politically-hot issues that have been rejected in the past but are back before lawmakers anyway. Partisan local elections, abolishing capital punishment and state birth-control aid are among the oft-defeated measures that seem to be stalled again.

Some lawmakers are reluctant to vote measures that soak taxpayers any harder. Some Democrats, for instance, in generally-considered "safe" districts, won by only slight margins last election.

Republicans have captured three Assembly seats and one Senate seat from Democrats since last year. Lawmakers sense politically-moderate breezes blowing. And they tend to reject liberal measures.

Thus, the 1965 legislature may turn out the fewest laws of any session in the past decade. This would appeal to government theorists who say the fewer laws the better.

And it would give lawmakers a more moderate and conservative stance when next they face the electorate.

OTHER SACRAMENTO SOUNDINGS:

Cleanest political statement of the season comes from Assemblyman Charles Chapel, R-Palos Verdes Estates, who opposes short, frequent physical education classes in which there virtually is only time to shower. "Two shower baths every day is good for the water company, soap manufacturers and the towel industry but it doesn't build the right muscles," says Chapel.

* * * *

ASSEMBLYMAN Robert Badham, R-Costa Mesa, warns the Berkeley campus discontent may spread to other University of California campuses. Badham thinks President Clark Kerr should be fired.

* * * *

STATE bureaucrats still quietly are plumping for a Dominguez-area site for homeless Palos Verdes State College. However, there has been little if any support for the plan from nearby North Long Beach areas.

Non-Kook Rightists Need Voice

Distributed by Newsday Specials

THIS COLUMN is now six months old, which makes it something less than an institution, but is a long enough time to make possible some sort of inventory.

It got off to a good start. Two papers that signed for it in advance were not at all pleased with my early efforts, and told the syndicate that unless I wrote more to their liking, they would not sign on again at renewal time. The editor of one of the papers—a journal of the liberal persuasion — seemed to believe that his threat to cancel would be enough to make me change my ways. When I read his letter to the syndicate, I said, "Release him right away. Tell him to go to hell, and don't wait for renewal time." That was done.

SINCE THAT TIME OTHER PAPERS have dropped out, others have signed on, and I have been having a ball.

What I knew in my heart has been confirmed: that this country contains a considerable constituency of confused and concerned men and women who are leaderless and feel lost. They are the non-kook conservatives, who have never questioned, for instance, the Negro's right to vote, but who refuse to accept the guilt that the liberals try to splash all over non-liberals. They—we—distrust the distortion of Inter-state Commerce laws by which the federal government is arrogating to itself more and more powers that were clearly not intended for it. The active or complacent cooperation of the Supreme Court in all such matters has made Monday, the Court's decision day, a day to be dreaded. Monday can be bad enough without those hebdomodal announcements that the Supreme Court, in its infinite wisdom, has opined that the fathers of this country did not mean what they seemed to mean.

The non-kook conservative wonders, for instance, about the abolition of capital punishment. Who says capital punishment is not a deterrent to murder, and who could possibly tell how many murders and assassinations have been deterred by the fear of the consequences? The non-kook conservative wonders about fluoridation of the water supply, punitive taxes on cigarettes, socialized medicine, cheating in exams, and the outrageous scheme to combat the increase of narcotics addiction by making the stuff easier to get. He wonders what really happened at Yalta and Potsdam, and why, and what is happening in Viet Nam and why. He wonders why we can do so much for the steel industry of India, but do next to nothing for our own railroads.

All these and other matters are disturbing to men and women who are the non-kook conservatives in all sections of the country. This nation is so big that generalizations about the American people as a people are unsafe, but there is a body of opinion not restricted to sectional or economic or social status that seems to be waiting for a leader who may never come. It is a body of opinion, but it is otherwise unorganized, and though it is numerically larger (I am convinced) than various pressure groups, it is ineffectual against the organized minorities.

WHAT THESE PEOPLE NEED is a man who believes as they believe, who is vigorous and articulate and courageous, who is so incorruptible that he will not settle for one of those bipartisan sops that the administration may throw his way when he begins to get somewhere. If such a hero exists, my guess is that he will have to make his presence felt first and that organization will follow, rather than the other way around. In the six months that I have been at this post, I have learned for certain that people are desperately eager to follow such a man. Waiting for Righty, you might say.

CRA Officer Hears Cheers Change to Boos in 3 Years

I, P-T Political Writer

DARVEN L. PADDOCK was in tears in March 1962 when he withdrew from the race for presidency of the California Republican Assembly. For two days he had fought opponent Fred Hall, former Kansas Governor, as being too liberal. Now, facing defeat, he withdrew because he didn't want to contribute any further strife to the "most divisive" CRA convention he had ever witnessed. He was cheered.

HOUSER

In 1963, the big break-up year for CRA, Paddock was again in the conservative fore when CRA's last liberal won the state presidency. Paddock charged at that meeting that the John Birch Society was being used as a whipping boy by the organization's liberal machine.

The militant right called the tune in 1964 in state officers, policy and endorsements.

Then, last week, in a full-dress right-wing show, CRA's keynote speaker was a member of the John Birch Society, State Sen. John G. Schmitz of Orange County. The group passed a resolution endorsing the Liberty Amendment to abolish the federal income tax and take the government out of competition with private enterprise within three years after constitutional ratification.

OLD CONSERVATIVE Darvel Paddock, a state CRA vice president now, went to the mike to oppose the income tax repealer. "Is this realistic?" he asked. "Yes," they answered. "We'd have chaos" after the three-year period, he said. They booed him.

He pleaded with delegates that he be allowed to talk—that this is still a democracy. "No!" they hooted, "It's a republic!"

Paddock's decline in grace with CRA between 1962's cheers and 1965's boos capsulizes the change in CRA rather than in Paddock.

While it's a dramatic example, there are numerous others. In past years, party leaders have marched past CRA lecterns bidding for the group's approval. This year there was no Kuchel, no Christopher, no sizeable delegation of GOP officeholders.

CRA President Dr. Nolan Frizelle, Balboa Island optometrist, read the message without comment. Delegates groaned their disapproval.

Actor Ronald Reagan was the man of the convention, scoring strongly with his banquet speech. But Senator Schmitz was hardly less of a lion when he flung out the challenge that if defense of conservative principles "makes us reactionaries or extremists," then let's make the most of it.

WILLIAM NELLIGAN, that last liberal CRA president of 1963, looked back nostalgically to the 1964 convention when he charged that "fanatics of the Birch variety have stunk up the place." Now, he said, if we become more and more "oriented to conservatives and exclude all others, I can sympathize with those who want to walk out and join more moderate organizations."

Jerry Dicus, of the San Diego Patriotic Society, sounded the intense mood of last week's convention during his presentation of an American Patriots Hall of Fame award to speaker Reagan.

Said Dicus:

"God has reached down and touched our shoulders—we, the patriots. And we are not going to lose this country!"

Students Deserve Parking Facility

EDITOR:

Malcolm Epley's column describes the State College parking problem very well. Indeed, there is an acute shortage of on- and off-campus parking, a fact to which any student who has tried to find a space after 7:30 a.m. will readily testify. As Mr. Epley points out, the recent closing of the dirt parking lot at Margo Avenue and Seventh Street has only served to aggravate an already great problem.

Epley's suggestion that the state level off the dirt lot, lightly blacktop it and let it serve as a student parking lot until it is changed into a highway, may be far too much to hope for, but it does seem that the residents of California, and Long Beach specifically, could take a more altruistic view toward the parking problems of the State College student.

Cal State, Long Beach students have shown that they have a keen awareness of personal and property rights. They recently conducted themselves in an orderly manner while listening to a Communist speaker (Ben Dobbs) and a staunch anti-Communist (Fred Schwarz). There have been no demonstrations, riots, or other radical incidents on or near the Cal State campus. As Epley says, "State college students here have been acting like sensible people making responsible use of the facilities provided them for getting an education."

I would like to see more adult citizens voicing views similar to those of Mr. Epley on the State College parking problem. We students are worthy of your consideration.

'No Shame' Is Disney's Code

EDITOR:

My attention has been called to a clipping of the editorial, "Something for the Kids," which appeared in the Press-Telegram on March 6th.

We want to thank you and whoever wrote the editorial. Aside from the tribute to Walt, it certainly outlined the situation that has brought success to Disney productions.

Just the other day I heard Walt say that he likes to make pictures that "any youngster will not be ashamed to take his parents to see."

"Mary Poppins" is a good example of this philosophy. It will be one of the all-time top grossers in the history of the motion picture industry.

You don't have to make pictures just for kids. You cannot look down on them, for today they have pretty good judgment, despite all we read about juvenile delinquency.

Register Voters All Over Again

EDITOR:

The recent action in some parts of our country regarding civil rights and voting registration has caused quite a furor. The only remedy you hear about is to pass a law. Now we have a bill before Congress that will seemingly take more power from the states and place it in the hands of the Federal Government. This very important privilege has always remained for the states and the people therein (10th amendment), but all 50 states stand to lose because some state(s) have not taken it upon themselves to correct an inequity in their voter registration. Our system of checks and balances is being slowly wittled away by the ever increasing power of the Federal Government.

There is a way that we can still preserve this voting system if only certain states would take immediate action. Voting has always been a privilege not a right. We do not let people under 21 years old vote, nor those convicted of certain crimes, nor those who received dishonorable discharge from the military, so voting is a privilege.

On this basis, I would like to recommend that Southern states and other states re-register all their prospective voters, not just those that are not registered. During this re-registration process, they could give them a written test as part of the requirement, and only those who passed this test would be eligible to vote.

This method of registration would show the good faith of those who proclaim their state is not restrictive in their registration. It would also permit all the other states to retain their sovereignty and set a good example for all. This is also in line with what Thomas Jefferson advocated.

Complains of Phone Soliciting

EDITOR:

I want to make a complaint. Myself, along with others, are constantly bothered with telephone calls to buy this or that, or a donation here and there or anything, anyone trying to sell something.

I think the average person will donate what he can, or buy what he wants when he wants it, without constantly being pestered with these annoying telephone calls that even get insulting if one refuses. Would surely like to have other comments on this article. Or do I have to go to the Governor or have my telephone taken out?

Thank you Long Beach for bringing such wonderful music to us Palm Springs people. # GOP's Dirksen Was Key Man in Drafting Vote-Rights Bill

By U. P. I. Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The inside story of how the new voting rights bill was drafted provides new evidence that the most powerful figure in the U.S. Senate in fact, if not name, is in the redoubtable Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.), Minority Leader.

When events in Selma made prompt introduction of a bill imperative, the administration was caught in a bind. Its initial draft was a potpourri of legalisms, citations, and paragraphs which ran to 47 pages.

DIRKSEN

The Senate Democratic leadership on the other hand came to the first drafting sessions with a seven-page job. Sen. Dirksen's representatives arrived with a one and one-half page draft far tougher and more "liberal" than either of the two Democratic versions. The GOP version would have wiped out the poll tax in local elections, for example.

As differences were ironed out through consensous or identified through discussion, it became apparent that the chief stumbling block would be Sen. Dirksen's insistence on putting primary responsibility on the courts for the naming of registrars and creation of vote registration machinery when discrimination was proved.

At the final drafting session, however, Sen. Dirksen broke the logjam by announcing he had no objection to allowing the U.S. Civil Service Commission to prepare lists from which federal registrars would be chosen.

• • • •

DIRKSEN also won the respect of all participants by picking out loopholes and offering perfecting language. For example, one section would have directed the registrars to submit the lists of new voters to the state official in charge of voting.

That wouldn't do, Dirksen pointed out, because the official might choose to stay away from his office indefinitely to frustrate registration. He substituted language calling for delivery "to the office of" the appropriate official.

There were many other instances like that in the drafting sessions. Those who participated say that if any one man's name had to be attached to the bill as author, it would have to be Dirksen's.

THE U.S. Department of Agriculture is the source of this week's most fascinating announcement by a federal agency: the effectiveness of blacklight traps for controlling tobacco hornworms can be greatly increased by putting unmated female moths in or near the light trap. Experiments showed that the addition of each additional female moth, up to a maximum of 10, was equal to installing another 15-watt light trap. USDA's motto is that if you build a better mothtrap, the worms will crawl a path to your door.

THE 82 NATIVES of Rongelap atoll, a palm-fringed dot in mid-Pacific were only mildly curious when a fine, white ash fell upon them as they went about their simple lives on March 1, 1954. The Rongelapese briefly noted the phenomenon and went on fishing and gathering coconuts.

But the next day, Americans arrived and hastily removed them from their atoll. For the coral ring and its inhabitants had been contaminated by radioactive fall-out from a hydrogen bomb detonated at Bikini Atoll, 100 miles away.

The Rongelapese were treated for radiation sickness and burns. Eventually their atoll was decontaminated and they were returned there, but their lives were never quite the same.

"We have had some evidence of stunted growth on the part of some of them," M. W. Goding, high commissioner of the Pacific Islands Trust Territories, told Congress last month. He said there is strong indication that cancerous and goiterous conditions were initiated by the "radioactive accident."

• • • •

THE "RADIOACTIVE ACCIDENT" also affected the Japanese fishing boat Lucky Dragon which blundered undetected into the test area. The boat's crew, stricken by radioactivity, was quickly indemnified by the U.S. Government after bitter protest demonstrations in Japan.

But there were no protest demonstrations among the natives of Rongelap, or if there were, they went largely unheeded in Washington.

"The situation was one in which, for many years, simply because the people did not press very hard, nothing was done," Goding told the House Appropriations Committee.

Last week, the committee voted to appropriate $950,000 to indemnify the Rongelapese for their painful initiation into the nuclear age over a decade ago.

Pressure on Brown---From Connecticut

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is traveling in Europe. The column today is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

SILVER-HAIRED Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., telephoned Gov. Pat Brown in Sacramento, Calif., the other day to intervene in a local zoning case on the opposite side of the continent from his native Connecticut.

ANDERSON

Dodd told the California Governor that he was calling in behalf of Tom Frouge, chairman of the Frouge Corp., who wants to promote a 25,000-population apartment city across the Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco.

It is supposed to be a picturesque, planned community, which press agents have lyrically described as "an Italian hill city," dominated by 53 high-rise apartment towers.

There has been nothing lyrical, however, about the reaction of local citizens who are up in arms against any real estate development that might spoil their view of the famous Golden Gate.

But 3,000 miles away, Dodd doesn't worry about the view around San Francisco. He asked the Governor to help Frouge get the permit. Brown politely promised to explore the matter.

However, big, bull-necked Tom Frouge isn't relying on his long-distance political connections. He has also hired half a dozen attorneys and public relations men with political influence in Marin County where the case will be decided.

Not the least of them is able, amiable Assemblyman William Bagley, who represents the county in the California Legislature. He acknowledged to this column that his law firm had been retained by Frouge, that he had also flown to Washington at Frouge's expense to persuade the Interior Department not to oppose the project. He tried to convince Undersecretary John Carver that the 53 towers wouldn't mar the beauty of the Golden Gate.

As for any conflict between his legal and legislative services, Bagley points out that the zoning matter in no way will come before the State Legislature.

But Frouge's cross-country political string-pulling seems to be doing his case no harm.

In an unpublished manuscript bootlegged out of prison to this column, Cosa Nostra killer Joe Valachi describes in his underworld English the dramatic events that led him to turn informer on the crime brotherhood.

He shared a prison cell in Atlanta with Vito Genovese, ruler of the underworld, who became suspicious of Valachi after he was called out for questioning and kept four hours by federal agents.

Back in the cell, Valachi relates, "Vito started to talk about a barrel of apples. He was saying you know we take a barrel of apples and in this barrel of apples there may be a bad apple. Well this apple would have to be removed and if it ain't removed it would hurt the rest of the apples.

"As he was talking no one could interrupt him. If anyone of us would try and say something he would wave his hand and by waving his hand he meant for us not to interrupt him while he was talking. All I was doing was shaking my head.

"He then said to me to get up and I got up and he said that he knew me for a long time and I want to give you a kiss for old time sake and with that I grabbed him and I pulled him close to me and I gave him a kiss on the other side of the cheek.

"And I went toward my bed and as Ralph (another cell mate) slept on my left we almost went to our beds at the same time and Ralph mumbled to me and said in a low tone 'the kiss of death.' I ignored him and I laid on my bed. Who could sleep?"

Don't Go?—Here We Come!

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SMART SALESMEN know the best way to get people to do something is to ask them not to do it.

President Johnson has just proved it.

He appealed to Americans the other day not to take overseas pleasure trips just now, but to spend their travel money in their own country and see America first.

It was part of the current effort to solve the balance-of-payments problem that is plaguing the United States.

So what are we fun-loving, high-spirited Americans doing in response to our leader's plea?

We're going overseas by golly, that's what!

Some 1,350,000 of us—10% more than last year—are going to Europe this year to spend a record $1.7 billion, including transportation, just to get away from it all, including America.

In reporting this booming exodus to foreign shores, travel agents don't seem particularly grief-stricken.

One high travel official, in fact, is quoted as feeling "it is unbecoming to the great western democracy" to suggest that we great western democrats curb our yen to see Europe.

The fact that the President has asked Congress to impose certain little penalties on those of us who insist on going overseas—a slash in the amount of duty exemption, for instance—seems only to whet the appetite for foreign travel at this particular time.

Maybe the way to achieve the balance-of-payments goal is for Congress to pass a law making it slightly illegal for any American citizen to travel in the United States this year, and to offer inducements to those who do go abroad.

Then it would really be fun to see America first.

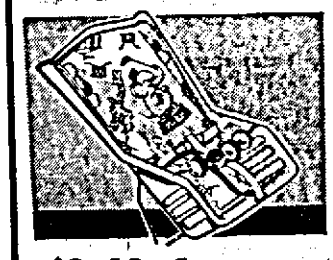

Meanwhile, shall we go to Europe by air or water? Oh, these decisions!

THE 82 NATIVES of Rongelap atoll, a palm-fringed dot in mid-Pacific were only mildly curious when a fine, white ash fell upon them as they went about their simple lives on March 1, 1954. The Rongelapese briefly noted the phenomenon and went on fishing and gathering coconuts.

But the next day, Americans arrived and hastily removed them from their atoll. For the coral ring and its inhabitants had been contaminated by radioactive fall-out from a hydrogen bomb detonated at Bikini Atoll, 100 miles away.

The Rongelapese were treated for radiation sickness and burns. Eventually their atoll was decontaminated and they were returned there, but their lives were never quite the same.

"We have had some evidence of stunted growth on the part of some of them," M. W. Goding, high commissioner of the Pacific Islands Trust Territories, told Congress last month. He said there is strong indication that cancerous and goiterous conditions were initiated by the "radioactive accident."

* * * *

THE "RADIOACTIVE ACCIDENT" also affected the Japanese fishing boat Lucky Dragon which blundered undetected into the test area. The boat's crew, stricken by radioactivity, was quickly indemnified by the U.S. Government after bitter protest demonstrations in Japan.

But there were no protest demonstrations among the natives of Rongelap, or if there were, they went largely unheeded in Washington.

"The situation was one in which, for many years, simply because the people did not press very hard, nothing was done," Goding told the House Appropriations Committee.

Last week, the committee voted to appropriate $950,000 to indemnify the Rongelapese for their painful initiation into the nuclear age over a decade ago.

Don't Go?—Here We Come!

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SMART SALESMEN know the best way to get people to do something is to ask them not to do it.

President Johnson has just proved it.

He appealed to Americans the other day not to take overseas pleasure trips just now, but to spend their travel money in their own country and see America first.

It was part of the current effort to solve the balance-of-payments problem that is plaguing the United States.

So what are we fun-loving, high-spirited Americans doing in response to our leader's plea?

We're going overseas by golly, that's what!

Some 1,350,000 of us—10% more than last year—are going to Europe this year to spend a record $1.7 billion, including transportation, just to get away from it all, including America.

In reporting this booming exodus to foreign shores, travel agents don't seem particularly grief-stricken.

One high travel official, in fact, is quoted as feeling "it is unbecoming to the great western democracy" to suggest that we great western democrats curb our yen to see Europe.

The fact that the President has asked Congress to impose certain little penalties on those of us who insist on going overseas—a slash in the amount of duty exemption, for instance—seems only to whet the appetite for foreign travel at this particular time.

Maybe the way to achieve the balance-of-payments goal is for Congress to pass a law making it slightly illegal for any American citizen to travel in the United States this year, and to offer inducements to those who do go abroad.

Then it would really be fun to see America first.

Meanwhile, shall we go to Europe by air or water? Oh, these decisions!

BOYS' CLUB WEEK OPENS

Full Program Set Here; Expansion Plan Mapped

By GEORGE ERES

Boys' Clubs of Long Beach observe National Boys' Club Week April 4-10 with a full schedule of events at the various branches and begin a drive for $200,000 in endowments.

The program gets under way today, Go-To-Church Day, with members of the clubs and families attending church of their choice.

Monday will be Community Appreciation Night. From 6:30 to 9 p.m. local residents, businessmen, educators and professional leaders are invited to visit Boys' Club branches.

Tuesday, 6:30 to 9 p.m., Family Night with Boy-of-the-Months winners for the first three months of the year presented to the audiences.

Wednesday, 6:30 to 9 p.m., Bring Your Buddies Night; members will bring friends who are not members and participate in various contests.

Thursday, 6:30 to 9 p.m., Man and Boy Night. Members bring father, uncle, or other older male relatives for evening of games.

Friday, 6:30 to 9 p.m., Fun Night—talent shows, carnivals, films and parties for members only.

Saturday, 9 a.m. to noon, Physical Fitness Day. Track and field meets, gymnastic exhibitions, bicycle rodeos and skateboard contests.

All branches of the Boys' Clubs will participate in the programs. Branches are located as follows: Lakewood 4654 Charlemagne; West, 1835 Willard; East, 1215 Freeman; North, 711 Via Wanda. Clubs are open to boys 7 to 18 and serve the Long Beach, Lakewood, Signal Hill and Dominguez areas. Membership fees are $1.25 a year and the clubs are open regularly on this schedule: Weekdays, 3 to 5:30 p.m. and 6:30 to 9 p.m.; Saturdays, 9 a.m. to noon; vacation hours are 1 to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 9 p.m. daily and 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays.

CLYDE A. PAISLEY
Program Chairman

TO FURTHER the purpose of the clubs to meet the needs of boys and provide programs of fun and guidance, the Boys' Clubs of Long Beach have expanded their activities to include the "Operation Liftup" and Extension Service program.

The Liftup program provides group and individual tutoring and vocational guidance; the Extension service expands activity of the Clubs to areas where no branches exist.

A United Way agency, the Boys' Clubs plan to raise funds for the Extension service and equipment replacement through the drive for $200,000 in endowments.

The campaign, known as the Herbert Hoover Memorial Fund for $200,000 would provide $10,000 a year, according to Clyde A. Paisley, chairman of the Boys' Club Week observance.

"OF THE amount," he said, "$5,000 would be used for the Extension service and $5,000 for equipment which is badly needed."

The Fund is named after Hoover for 28 years was national chairman of the Board of Directors of the Boys' Clubs of America.

Pledges to the fund of stocks or other property should be made to the Boys' Clubs of Long Beach Hoover Memorial Fund, 1585 Chestnut Ave.

GROWTH OF the Boys' Clubs here, said Lee Faust, president, can be attributed to the "Men behind the Boys." Since 1956, outstanding citizens who have worked with the clubs have been honored at the "Golden Boy Award" banquet. Recognition has been given to such men as Judge Fred Miller, Ray C. Peterson, J. C. Ashbourne, Guy S. Balser, Henry H. Clock, who serves on the national board, Harold Parks, Will S. Taylor, Herbert Murphy, Maurice Hubbell and John De Vico. Harry Buffum is a National Associate of Boys' Clubs, a group of citizens who raise funds for the clubs. A director and past president, Ray Stricklin also serves as chairman of the Southern Pacific Area Council of the Boys' Clubs.

Locally, the executive director of the activity is Maurie Bugbee, who now is in his 19th year in the post.

"The observance of National Boys' Club Week," said Faust, "spotlights the need for new clubs. The development of Extension Service programs may serve as a buffer; certainly the development of materials, equipment and publications will be intensified. Scholarship aid will be sought for recruiting and training staff personnel. The work will move forward."

L.B. Air Reserve Chief Decorated

Col. Claude J. Norton, commander of Long Beach's 8646th Air Force Reserve Recovery Group before its deactivation last month, has been presented the Air Force's commendation medal.

SPEAKER
Dr. George D. Demos, dean of students, State College here, will speak on "Psychological Implications of Working With People" at the meeting of the Exchange Club at noon Wednesday in the Lafayette Hotel.

The medal was presented Friday by Brig. Gen. Jack W. Gibbs, commanding general of the 6th Air Force Reserve Region, which embraces the 11 western states.

Col. Norton, in civilian life a resident engineer with the Orange County Flood Control District, resides in Corona del Mar.

The 8646th last year was named the nation's outstanding Reserve Recovery Group. Col. Norton is the only reserve commander in the history of the Air Force Reserve who has won the award twice. The first time he won the award was when he commanded the 9336th Air Reserve Squadron in Santa Ana.

The Air Force Reservist is a veteran of World War II and Korea. In Korea he commanded the famous 728th intruder squadron which brought destruction to North Korea on daring low-level raids. During World War II he served in Europe, Africa and Asian theaters.

Dr. Daniel G. Aldrich, chancellor, announced Slim's appointment.

Dale Lowell Retires as Firefighter Local Chief

Long Beach fireman Dale Lowell, who has served as president of the Long Beach Firefighters Local 372 for the past 14 years, retired Friday.

Not from the Fire Department, but from the "almost permanent" job as president of the union.

Lowell, who has been very active in civic affairs during his tenure in office, says he became president in 1951 when the then president resigned and the executive board appointed him to fill out the four-month term.

"I just kept getting elected ever after that," he says ruefully.

• • • •

WHY IS HE getting out of the job?

"Well, I thought I would let somebody else do it," he says. "And besides I want to have time to watch my son, Bruce, play baseball at Long Beach State College.

During the regular installation ceremony for the new officers, the firefighters presented Lowell with a scroll thanking him for his service as president.

DALE LOWELL
Too Many Jobs

He was succeeded in the job by Lon Slusser.

During his tenure in office the membership of the union grew from around 200 to 406 at the last count.

A partial list of posts held by the 19-year veteran of the fire department includes: downtown area chairman for the Community Chest (now the United Fund) drives; member of the boards of the Volunteers of America and North Long Beach YMCA; membership on the industrial relations and fire science advisory boards at Long Beach State College and handling transportation and other details for various Long Beach sports events.

Educators, Federal Officials Will Confer

College educators and federal government officials will discuss mutual problems at the two-day annual conference of the College-Federal Council for Southern California Wednesday and Thursday at the Edgewater Inn, Long Beach.

About 200 representatives from federal agencies, junior colleges, colleges and universities are expected to attend.

Principal speaker for the conference is Dr. Francis A. Ianni, director of the Cooperative Research Branch of the U.S. Office of Education. Ianni will discuss "The Federal Concern for Research and Education" at the 7 p.m. Wednesday opening session.

Mrs. Regina H. Saxton, consultant for the Neighborhood Youth Corps of the U.S. Department of Labor, will speak at 9 a.m. Thursday, discussing "War on Poverty."

The conference will conclude with a luncheon Thursday and an address by Dr. Leo Cain, president of Palos Verdes State College.

Conference chairman is dean Clarence Bergland of Long Beach State College.

Jan Peerce Will Sing in Fullerton

A concert by tenor Jan Peerce will conclude the artist-lecture series at Fullerton Junior College auditorium at 8 p.m. today.

Peerce, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, began his musical career as a violinist and subsequently auditioned for the late Arturo Toscanini, who signed him to sing in his presentation of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony.

The series, sponsored by the associated students at the junior college, has featured Dr. Werner von Braun, Carlos Montoya, Dr. Louis T. Rader, and Dr. Murray Banks.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained at the junior college.

Newspaper Chains Tell of Merger

Two bi-weekly newspaper chains in southeast Los Angeles County—the Enterprise and Call newspapers — announced the merger this week of their corporate ownerships.

The new corporation, to be known as Shannon-Whitehead Inc., will continue to publish both groups of papers under the same names, with each group retaining its current personnel. Maurice Harris, publisher of the Enterprise papers, will be chairman of the board of the new firm.

Starlight Serenade Planners to Meet

Planning for the fourth annual series of Starlight Serenade pops concerts will begin Friday, according to Wallace Arntzen, new chairman of the Long Beach Symphony Association committee for summer events.

WALLACE ARNTZEN
New Chairman

Arntzen said the meeting in the conference room at the chamber of commerce offices, 121 Linden Ave., will set dates for this year's programs of the popular music evenings.

Arntzen assumed chairmanship at the annual meeting of the symphony association, where Mrs. Herman H. Ridder resigned after founding the Starlight Serenade productions and heading them for their first three successful years.

The new chairman said he will propose to the committee that it create a new post of honorary chairman for Mrs. Ridder, under whose chairmanship the series expanded from its initial two-program season to four, including three at the Bixby Park bandshell and a finale concert for the year at Avalon, Catalina Island.

Arntzen, who previously served as vice-chairman, said the same four-part format will be followed this year.

Bachauer Concert Another Triumph

By DANIEL CARIAGA

Gina Bachauer's concert Friday night, the Long Beach Community Concert Association's annual presentation of a major pianist playing a major program, was as grand and distinguished a musical event as one would expect from this artist and this concert association, knowing the past record of both.

For the past two seasons, you will remember, Rudolph Serkin and Jorge Bolet have been presented here in truly masterful recitals, bringing to Long Beach a luxury few other communities can afford: live concerts by some of the most distinguished pianists in the world today.

Miss Bachauer's impeccable playing Friday evening continued this tradition, and added to it those special pianistic values that mark her individuality: a broad and all-inclusive technic completely subordinate to the intellect that controls it; an heroic and sweeping musical drive, propelled more by understanding than by emotion; and last but certainly not least, sheer physical power, as amazing for its restraint as for its compass.

• • • •

THE PROGRAM was a happy blend of familiar and less-familiar items: the E Major Sonata of Opus 14 of Beethoven, the Brahms F minor Sonata, Debussy's suite, "Pour le Piano," and the Barcarolle and A-flat Polonaise of Chopin.

The audience seemed to take special delight in the Debussy and Chopin, and with good reason—Miss Bachauer's easy and effortless technic is a joy to watch and hear. Furthermore, her essentially Gallic approach to this essentially Gallic music is quite remarkable in its cleanliness, its reserve, its utterly civilized nature. It is French through and through—dry, urbane, charming.

For me, and undoubtedly for the many pianists I saw sprinkled through the audience, the heart of the program, and the work most suited to the pianist's musical personality, was the Brahms Sonata. The heroic proportions of the piece, its cyclical implications, the warm, almost tearful soliloquy in the second movement, every part of the work and its totality also were given a reading as caressing and as understanding as only one who has known it intimately for several decades can give it.

• • • •

AT THE END of the program, and before she played "The Great Gate of Kiev" as an encore, the audience gave Miss Bachauer a standing ovation that was really spontaneous.

Starlight Serenade Planners to Meet

Planning for the fourth annual series of Starlight Serenade pops concerts will begin Friday, according to Wallace Arntzen, new chairman of the Long Beach Symphony Association committee for summer events.

WALLACE ARNTZEN
New Chairman

Arntzen said the meeting in the conference room at the chamber of commerce offices, 121 Linden Ave., will set dates for this year's programs of the popular music evenings.

Arntzen assumed chairmanship at the annual meeting of the symphony association, where Mrs. Herman H. Ridder resigned after founding the Starlight Serenade productions and heading them for their first three successful years.

The new chairman said he will propose to the committee that it create a new post of honorary chairman for Mrs. Ridder, under whose chairmanship the series expanded from its initial two-program season to four, including three at the Bixby Park bandshell and a finale concert for the year at Avalon, Catalina Island.

Arntzen, who previously served as vice-chairman, said the same four-part format will be followed this year.

Bachauer Concert Another Triumph

By DANIEL CARIAGA

Gina Bachauer's concert Friday night, the Long Beach Community Concert Association's annual presentation of a major pianist playing a major program, was as grand and distinguished a musical event as one would expect from this artist and this concert association, knowing the past record of both.

For the past two seasons, you will remember, Rudolph Serkin and Jorge Bolet have been presented here in truly masterful recitals, bringing to Long Beach a luxury few other communities can afford: live concerts by some of the most distinguished pianists in the world today.

Miss Bachauer's impeccable playing Friday evening continued this tradition, and added to it those special pianistic values that mark her individuality: a broad and all-inclusive technic completely subordinate to the intellect that controls it; an heroic and sweeping musical drive, propelled more by understanding than by emotion; and last but certainly not least, sheer physical power, as amazing for its restraint as for its compass.

* * * *

THE PROGRAM was a happy blend of familiar and less-familiar items: the E Major Sonata of Opus 14 of Beethoven, the Brahms F minor Sonata, Debussy's suite, "Pour le Piano," and the Barcarolle and A-flat Polonaise of Chopin.

The audience seemed to take special delight in the Debussy and Chopin, and with good reason—Miss Bachauer's easy and effortless technic is a joy to watch and hear. Furthermore, her essentially Gallic approach to this essentially Gallic music is quite remarkable in its cleanliness, its reserve, its utterly civilized nature. It is French through and through—dry, urbane, charming.

For me, and undoubtedly for the many pianists I saw sprinkled through the audience, the heart of the program, and the work most suited to the pianist's musical personality, was the Brahms Sonata. The heroic proportions of the piece, its cyclical implications, the warm, almost tearful soliloquy in the second movement, every part of the work and its totality also were given a reading as caressing and as understanding as only one who has known it intimately for several decades can give it.

* * * *

AT THE END of the program, and before she played "The Great Gate of Kiev" as an encore, the audience gave Miss Bachauer a standing ovation that was really spontaneous.

Burial Insurance
Persons ages 1 to 80 years are now eligible to register under a plan of burial insurance. Costs only a few cents a day. In time of need, regardless of how little has been paid, the plan pays the face amount as specified. For example, $500 was paid recently on a funeral bill when only $4.58 had been paid.
Issued by an admitted legal reserve insurer. Good anywhere in the world.
Other plans also available. For free information mail coupon today.

We're Searching For a Man With a Wonderful Future He Doesn't Know About

He may be someone you see every day in your church . . . in your office . . . he may be one of your neighbors. As you know, great companies become great only thru the effort of fine people who work together to help the company grow. We would like to ask your help in our search for a fine man for our sales staff. The qualifications he needs do not necessarily include experience. He only needs an intense interest in people, and at the same time, he must be vitally interested in an unlimited future for himself and his family. If you know such a man, would you please have him call me for an interview. We'd really appreciate it, and we feel quite sure he would to! Call Mr. Casper from 9:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. at GA 6-5949.

ZENO 'JUST SEEING GIRL'

UCLA football star Larry Zeno was charged with burglary Saturday and was released on $550 bond pending arraignment in court Wednesday on the felony charge.

Zeno, 22, UCLA's all-time offensive leader, was arrested early Saturday morning on complaint of television producer Herbert Solow, who said a prowler in his stocking feet was in the back yard of his home and looking into a window.

The 190-pound six-foot quarterback said he had no intention to burglarize the home but had had "a few beers" and was looking for the house of his girl friend.

Zeno, a senior at UCLA, told a newsman he mistakenly entered the back yard of a house next to that of the girl, Kim Higgins, 18, a UCLA freshman.

"I just got an impulse to see my girl friend. I didn't want to drive around the front because it was late, so I tried to go through the back.

"I didn't know how to get there exactly, and I got in the wrong back yard. This fellow saw me, and I got scared and ran."

Miss Higgins said, "Larry and I have been dating for about four months; he comes here frequently. I don't doubt that what happened is exactly as he explained it.

"As a matter of fact, we have a date tonight."

Zeno was arrested shortly after midnight. Police said his general description matched that of a suspect in three burglaries in the West Los Angeles area.

When arrested, Zeno was wearing his blue and gold UCLA jacket and, according to police, "generally muddy clothing that looked like he had been crawling through the grass."

Zeno reportedly told police that when he realized he was in the wrong yard he removed his shoes and tiptoed away. Officers said his socks were wet.

"I had never seen the back and didn't know where I was going. I wound up in the back yard next door to my girl's house. As I was walking through the yard the fellow in the other house yelled at me. I heard him and ran. I knew this was the wrong thing to do. Once I was in the back yard I knew I was trespassing."

Zeno indicated the neighbor's alarm was justified. "There have been a lot of burglars in that area," Zeno said, "and this fellow has had things stolen from his car."

Detectives said the football player denied any intention of "peeping" through the windows of either house.

Shortly after his arrest Zeno said, "I never looked into windows before. I must have scared the man when I looked into the window."

Zeno, signed to play professional football for the Dallas Cowboys, was asked if the arrest would interfere with his reporting to Dallas in July.

He said, "I don't know why it should. I haven't done anything wrong."

West Nets 49 in 121-115 Victory; Baylor's Status Undetermined

Elgin Baylor suffered a new and perhaps serious injury Saturday night, but the Lakers struggled to victory anyway behind Jerry West's 49 points and the inspired play of reserves Jim King and Leroy Ellis.

Once ahead by 19 points, the Lakers gladly settled for a last-minute 121-115 win over Baltimore's brawny Bullets, who surely missed a golden opportunity what with Baylor's injury.

A crowd of 14,579 in the L.A. Sports Arena watched Baylor limp off the court with a pulled tendon in his left kneecap after only seven minutes had been played and never return again. He did not score a point.

• • • •

THE seriousness of the injury is unknown, even to Dr. Robert Kerlan, who told Laker officials, "Elgin will be tested on a day-to-day basis. He may be okay by Monday, but then again he may not."

Baylor wasn't certain how the mishap came about, but he said he heard something "pop" while going up for a jump shot. An ensuing collision with Bullet Don Ohl had nothing to do with the injury, coach Fred Schaus said later.

Schaus was anything but depressed in the dressing room after the game, choosing perhaps to accentuate the positive and hope his superstar would be ready for Monday's return match in this best-of-seven series for the Western Division title.

• • • •

STILL, THE element of doubt must be frightening. Everytime Baylor has had knee problems, he has been

DALEY GIVEN RELEASE, TO END CAREER

Daley said he would return to his insurance business and would not try to join another club.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts said Daley's release was not based on the ex-Yankee's reported bad arm.

"It doesn't mean I think he can no longer pitch," Tebbetts said.

'Reichardt Will Return' Says Rigney

Angels' $175,000 Bonus Player Sent to Seattle

By ROSS NEWHAN
L.P-T Staff Writer

PALM SPRINGS — They came to praise Rick Reichardt, not to bury him.

Confirming an L.P-T story of last Monday, the $175,000 bonus beauty was dispatched to Seattle Saturday with manager Bill Rigney's strong superlatives echoing in his ears.

"Some day Rick Reichardt will be the best center fielder the Angels have ever had and possibly the best in all of baseball," said Rigney after his cerebral engagement with the San Francisco Giants had been postponed by a natural phenomenon which might be called rain everywhere except Palm Springs.

• • • •

"THIS PLAYER is close to being a major leaguer right now," continued Rigney. "However, we had never considered keeping him unless he was going to be our regular center fielder. At this stage of his development his progress would best be served by playing every day.

"I do not know how long he will be at Seattle—perhaps only as long as I can't do without him here. I have been 100% pleased by what he has demonstrated this spring and as soon as he hits it with more consistency he'll be back.

"His biggest problem has been an attempt to justify himself to our owners. I can tell you now that the money spent for this boy was money well spent."

• • • •

THE DECISION to condition the swift, strong and immensely popular Reichardt at Seattle, forces the Angels to retain catcher Tom Egan, at 18, four years Reichardt's junior, who received $100,000 and also falls under the first-year bonus rule.

"Considering Egan's age, we felt his future was expendable for a few months while Reichardt was preparing to rejoin us," said Rigney. "We

It's Captain Wills From Now on, Fans

Alston Appoints Maury Dodgers' Leader on Field

By GEORGE LEDERER
L.P-T Staff Writer

TAMPA, Fla. — Spiritually and statistically, Maury Wills has been an unofficial leader all his life. By his own admission, his field leadership has been vague and the record book disguises his most prized lead with an asterisk.

Saturday, Walter Alston removed the bug that has bugged Wills the most. He appointed Wills captain of the Dodgers.

Alston had considered the move ever since Duke Snider, the last Dodger captain, was sold to the Mets two springs ago. And, ever so quietly, Wills has prepared himself for the job.

• • • •

A YEAR ago, the announcement would have made baseball history. But Alvin Dark beat Alston to the punch by naming Willie Mays captain of the Giants and first Negro captain in the major leagues.

Now that history is out of his department, the 32-year-old Wills will concentrate on personal and team psychology.

"It's an honor, of course," said Wills. "Moreover, it gives me more incentive. I don't need to be pushed, but I need to be led. That's why I've always set goals. This year, when I received no raise, it gave me a feeling that I might be leveling off. I'm out to prove that I haven't slowed down.

"Being captain will put more weight on my shoulders, but it will make me hustle 100% on the field, in the clubhouse and even on the team bus."

• • • •

WILLS attempted to minimize any team benefits.

"Most of the fellows don't need a leader. Maybe the younger ones do and, for them, I've always tried to put myself in the leader's role in a vague sort of way. I never had much to say when I was captain at Pueblo (in 1956), but this time I plan to work at it."

Alston believes the team benefits will be immeasurable.

"Maury has been captain of our infield in an unannounced capacity for some time. This year, when we're likely to have a couple of kids (Wes Parker and Jim Lefebve) and a newcomer (John Kennedy) on the infield, he'll be a great help.

"I've always respected Maury's judgment. He's the man we want to do the job."

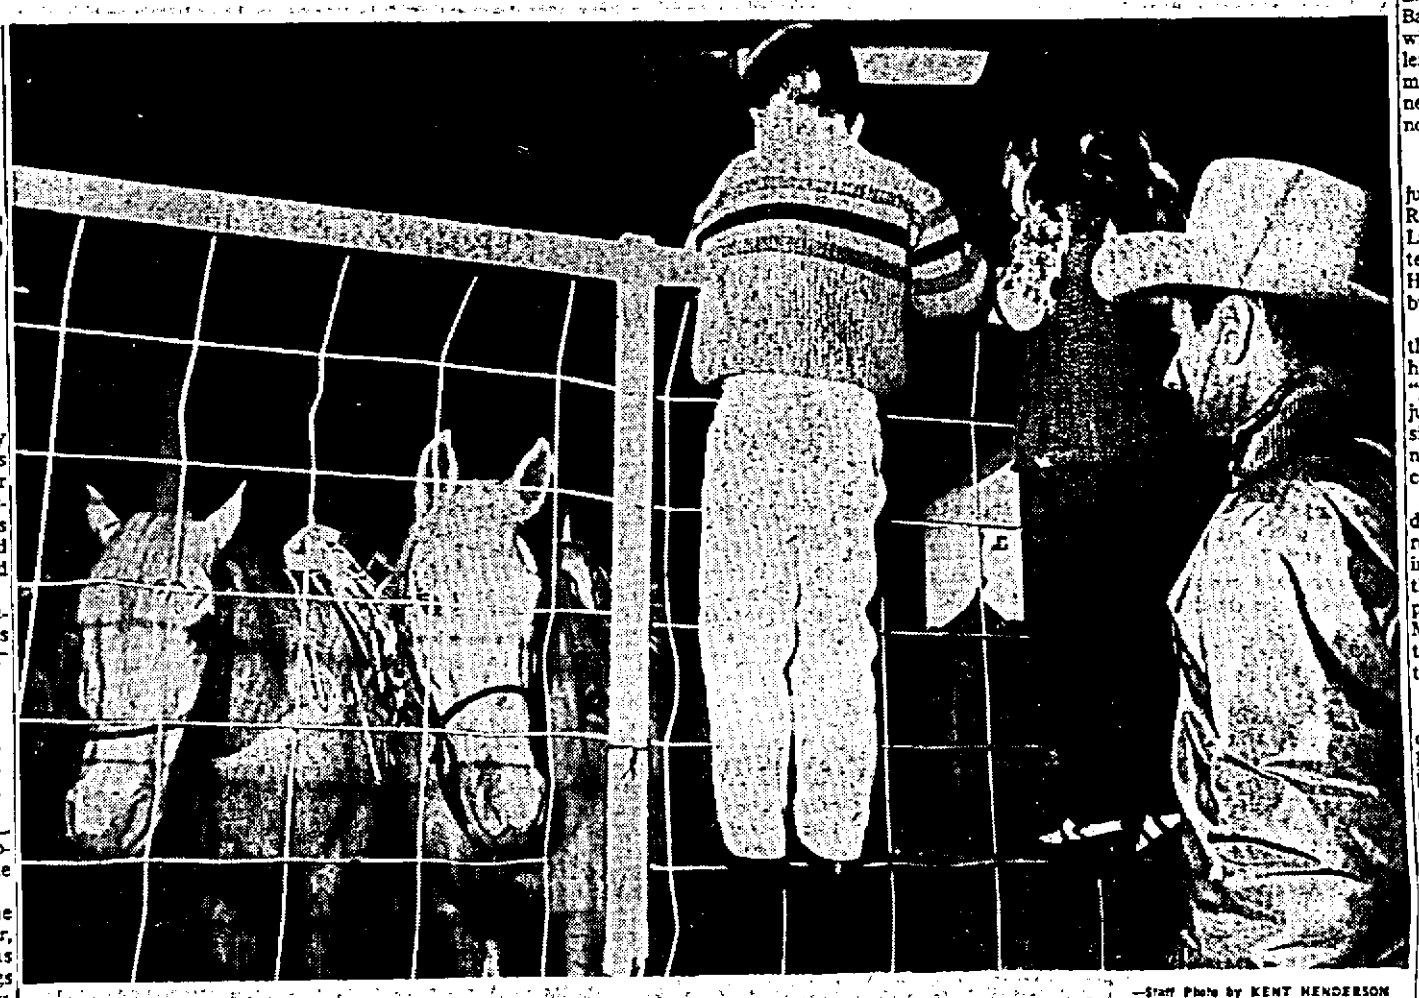

• • • •

WALLY MOON, acting as spokesman for the players, concurred, "Maury has deserved the job for a long time."

The captain usually receives $500, but Wills said he hasn't discussed extra money. "It would go to the government, anyway. It would be like the year I stole 104 bases. I'd keep 54 and Uncle Sam would get 50."

"You take that one and I'll take this one," says 6-year-old Jay Overfelt, of Bell, to sister Jo, 5. But look out, kids, Bill Martinelli, the saddle bronc champ, is about to bushwack you. "Ah, shucks, podner," says Jay, "we're just funnin'."

Bronc Earns Reprieve, Kicks Rider Into Lead

By AL LARSON

Sensing he was headed for a dog food can if he didn't kick up his heels, a black and white Paint named "Chief" made Ralph Buell chief bareback bronc rider during Saturday's matinee performance of the Long Beach Pacific Indoor Rodeo at the L.B. Arena.

The Andy Jauregui horse, who had been farmed out to pasture because he'd lost all his steam, was bucking for the first time this year and he showed his old stuff.

"Chief wasn't bucking too well, so he had been rested the past few months," said rodeo manager Lex Connelly. "He would have been in a dog food can if he hadn't bucked well here."

The San Diego cowboy scored 65, best mark of the performance and five less than Dennis Reiners recorded Friday night. Buell won the event here last year.

Dick Felton of Scottsdale, Ariz., who uncorked a bad throw in the first go-round, came back to string his calf in 10.4 seconds to tack up the fastest time during the evening's calf roping event.

RODEO CHAMP MAN TO MAN—D-3

National money leader in this event, Glen Franklin of House, N.M., had to chase down a rough customer and settle for 11.3 seconds.

A crowd of 7,625 cheered as Alvin Beal moved into third place in the bareback bronc riding by scoring 61 on War Dance. Ken Stanton, who ranked second to Dean Oliver in his drive for national all-around honors, marked a score of 60—fourth best to date.

Bill Ashorn may have found his calling as a trouble shooter.

The cowboy from Houston, Tex., aboard a big brahma named Trouble Shooter, made the eight-second whistle to mark 61 points in the night's bull ring riding event.

The hunchback animals continued their reign, flattening 8 of 13 contestants. Going into today's final go-rounds, which start at 1 and 6 p.m., the bulls have tossed 20 of the 35 riders.

King of the bull riders Bob Wegner was no exception. Drawing big bad black Missoula, Wegner was clobbered in two seconds.

Hurricane Hank was almost conquered for the first time in three years here, but the 1,800-pound bull finally shook off Bill Wilkinson an instant before the whistle.

COWBOY CHAMP HOGTIED BY CLERK

While checking into the Lafayette Hotel Friday, Dean Oliver discovered his name didn't ring a bell with the room clerk and, consequently, he was nearly turned away.

"I flew in from Boise, Idaho, with only a small handbag," the 7-time champion calf roper related. "The clerk told me that since I didn't have a reservation that I'd have to pay in advance.

"I told him I'd stayed at the hotel last year and no one asked me to pay for my room in advance. Then the guy said that they'd had some people who had run out on bills.

"I was just about ready to walk out, but by now I was getting a little hot and figured I'd speak my piece. I told the guy I'd pay for the phone call to Boise and that I'd match my credit rating against his.

"Then I told the clerk that if I had the money I'd buy this place and the first thing I'd do would be to fire you'."

And Oliver could come close to backing up his statement. He's the Rodeo Cowboys Association's wealthiest contestant.

West Nets 49 in 121-115 Victory; Baylor's Status Undetermined

Elgin Baylor suffered a new and perhaps serious injury Saturday night, but the Lakers struggled to victory anyway behind Jerry West's 49 points and the inspired play of reserves Jim King and Leroy Ellis.

Once ahead by 19 points, the Lakers gladly settled for a last-minute 121-115 win over Baltimore's brawny Bullets, who surely missed a golden opportunity what with Baylor's injury.

A crowd of 14,579 in the L.A. Sports Arena watched Baylor limp off the court with a pulled tendon in his left kneecap after only seven minutes had been played and never return again. He did not score a point.

* * * *

THE seriousness of the injury is unknown, even to Dr. Robert Kerlan, who told Laker officials, "Elgin will be tested on a day-to-day basis. He may be okay by Monday, but then again he may not."

Baylor wasn't certain how the mishap came about, but he said he heard something "pop" while going up for a jump shot. An ensuing collision with Bullet Don Ohl had nothing to do with the injury, coach Fred Schaus said later.

Schaus was anything but depressed in the dressing room after the game, choosing perhaps to accentuate the positive and hope his superstar would be ready for Monday's return match in this best-of-seven series for the Western Division title.

STILL, THE element of doubt must be frightening. Everytime Baylor has had knee problems, he has been

DALEY GIVEN RELEASE, TO END CAREER

Daley said he would return to his insurance business and would not try to join another club.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts said Daley's release was not based on the ex-Yankee's reported bad arm.

"It doesn't mean I think he can no longer pitch," Tebbetts said.

'Reichardt Will Return' Says Rigney

Angels' $175,000 Bonus Player Sent to Seattle

By ROSS NEWHAN
I. P-T Staff Writer

PALM SPRINGS — They came to praise Rick Reichardt, not to bury him.

Confirming an I, P-T story of last Monday, the $175,000 bonus beauty was dispatched to Seattle Saturday with manager Bill Rigney's strong superlatives echoing in his ears.

"Some day Rick Reichardt will be the best center fielder the Angels have ever had and possibly the best in all of baseball," said Rigney after his cerebral engagement with the San Francisco Giants had been postponed by a natural phenomenon which might be called rain everywhere except Palm Springs.

* * * *

"THIS PLAYER is close to being a major leaguer right now," continued Rigney. "However, we had never considered keeping him unless he was going to be our regular center fielder. At this stage of his development his progress would best be served by playing every day.

"I do not know how long he will be at Seattle—perhaps only as long as I can't do without him here. I have been 100% pleased by what he has demonstrated this spring and as soon as he hits it with more consistency he'll be back.

"His biggest problem has been an attempt to justify himself to our owners. I can tell you now that the money spent for this boy was money well spent."

* * * *

THE DECISION to condition the swift, strong and immensely popular Reichardt at Seattle, forces the Angels to retain catcher Tom Egan, at 18, four years Reichardt's junior, who received $100,000 and also falls under the first-year bonus rule.

"Considering Egan's age, we felt his future was expendable for a few months while Reichardt was preparing to rejoin us," said Rigney. "We

It's Captain Wills From Now on, Fans

Alston Appoints Maury Dodgers' Leader on Field

By GEORGE LEDERER
I. P-T Staff Writer

TAMPA, Fla. — Spiritually and statistically, Maury Wills has been an unofficial leader all his life. By his own admission, his field leadership has been vague and the record book disguises his most prized lead with an asterisk.

Saturday, Walter Alston removed the bug that has bugged Wills the most. He appointed Wills captain of the Dodgers.

Dodger Dr. Featured

How Dr. Robert Kerlan takes care of ailing athletes —especially valuable pitching arms like Sandy Koufax's — is told in today's Parade Magazine.

Alston had considered the move ever since Duke Snider, the last Dodger captain, was sold to the Mets two springs ago. And, ever so quietly, Wills has prepared himself for the job.

* * * *

A YEAR ago, the announcement would have made baseball history. But Alvin Dark beat Alston to the punch by naming Willie Mays captain of the Giants and first Negro captain in the major leagues.

Now that history is out of his department, the 32-year-old Wills will concentrate on personal and team psychology.

"It's an honor, of course," said Wills. "Moreover, it gives me more incentive. I don't need to be pushed, but I need to be led. That's why I've always set goals. This year, when I received no raise, it gave me a feeling that I might be leveling off. I'm out to prove that I haven't slowed down.

"Being captain will put more weight on my shoulders, but it will make me hustle 100% on the field, in the clubhouse and even on the team bus."

* * * *

WILLS attempted to minimize any team benefits.

"Most of the fellows don't need a leader. Maybe the younger ones do and, for them, I've always tried to put myself in the leader's role in a vague sort of way. I never had much to say when I was captain at Pueblo (in 1956), but this time I plan to work at it."

Alston believes the team benefits will be immeasurable.

"Maury has been captain of our infield in an unannounced capacity for some time. This year, when we're likely to have a couple of kids (Wes Parker and Jim Lefebve) and a newcomer (John Kennedy) on the infield, he'll be a great help.

"I've always respected Maury's judgment. He's the man we want to do the job."

* * * *

WALLY MOON, acting as spokesman for the players, concurred. "Maury has deserved the job for a long time."

The captain usually receives $500, but Wills said he hasn't discussed extra money. "It would go to the government, anyway. It would be like the year I stole 104 bases. I'd keep 54 and Uncle Sam would get 50."

RUSTLERS ON LOOSE IN LONG BEACH

"You take that one and I'll take this one," says 6-year-old Jay Overfelt, of Bell, to sister Jo, 5. But look out, kids, Bill Martinelli, the saddle bronc champ, is about to bushwack you. "Ah, shucks, podner," says Jay, "we're just funnin'."

Bronc Earns Reprieve, Kicks Rider Into Lead

By AL LARSON

Sensing he was headed for a dog food can if he didn't kick up his heels, a black and white Paint named "Chief" made Ralph Buell chief bareback bronc rider during Saturday's matinee performance of the Long Beach Pacific Indoor Rodeo at the L.B. Arena.

The Andy Jauregui horse, who had been farmed out to pasture because he'd lost all his steam, was bucking for the first time this year and he showed his old stuff.

"Chief wasn't bucking too well, so he had been rested the past few months," said rodeo manager Lex Connelly. "He would have been in a dog food can if he hadn't bucked well here."

The San Diego cowboy scored 65, best mark of the performance and five less than Dennis Reiners recorded Friday night. Buell won the event here last year.

Dick Felton of Scottsdale, Ariz., who uncorked a bad throw in the first go-round, came back to string his calf in 10.4 seconds to tack up the fastest time during the evening's calf roping event.

COWBOY CHAMP HOGTIED BY CLERK

While checking into the Lafayette Hotel Friday, Dean Oliver discovered his name didn't ring a bell with the room clerk and, consequently, he was nearly turned away.

"I flew in from Boise, Idaho, with only a small handbag," the 7-time champion calf roper related. "The clerk told me that since I didn't have a reservation that I'd have to pay in advance.

"I told him I'd stayed at the hotel last year and no one asked me to pay for my room in advance. Then the guy said that they'd had some people who had run out on bills.

"I was just about ready to walk out, but by now I was getting a little hot and figured I'd speak my piece. I told the guy I'd pay for the phone call to Boise and that I'd match my credit rating against his.

"Then I told the clerk that 'if I had the money I'd buy this place and the first thing I'd do would be to fire you'."

And Oliver could come close to backing up his statement. He's the Rodeo Cowboys Association's wealthiest contestant.

—By AL LARSON

National money leader in this event, Glen Franklin of House, N.M., had to chase down a rough customer and settle for 11.3 seconds.

A crowd of 7,625 cheered as Alvin Beal moved into third place in the bareback bronc riding by scoring 61 on War Dance. Ken Stanton, who ranked second to Dean Oliver in his drive for national all-around honors, marked a score of 60—fourth best to date.

Bill Ashorn may have found his calling as a trouble shooter.

The cowboy from Houston, Tex., aboard a big brahma named Trouble Shooter, made the eight-second whistle to mark 61 points in the night's bull ring riding event.

The hunchback animals continued their reign, flattening 8 of 13 contestants. Going into today's final go-rounds, which start at 1 and 6 p.m., the bulls have tossed 20 of the 35 riders.

King of the bull riders Bob Wegner was no exception. Drawing big bad black Missoula, Wegner was clobbered in two seconds.

Hurricane Hank was almost conquered for the first time in three years here, but the 1,800-pound bull finally shook off Bill Wilkinson an instant before the whistle.

Reds Agree with Scouts --They're Team to Beat

By GEORGE LEDERER
I-P-T Staff Writer

TAMPA, Fla.—A consensus of scouts tabs the Cincinnati Reds as the best team training in Florida, the team that should be favored to win the National League pennant.

Not a Red will argue the point.

Manager Dick Sisler, who took the job under trying circumstances last summer, cannot and is not trying to hide his enthusiasm. He is convinced that, at a comparable stage, his club is better than the pennant-winning Reds of 1961.

"I'd have to go with this club right now," Sisler said Saturday. "We had some power in '61—Post, Bell and Lynch. But I think our hitters stack up better. I know it's easy to get overenthused so early, but it's getting later, too.

"I haven't made a single managerial move. Our guys just win and they like it."

The Reds have been winning regularly and lead the Grapefruit League with a 15-5-1 record. Saturday, they made it three in a row and 11 wins in their last 13 games by defeating the Dodgers, 6-1. The hitters have stacked up 22 home runs in 21 games and the pitchers have allowed only one run in the last three.

Gordy Coleman, a disgruntled Red last season when, first, he was platooned, then lost even his part-time first base job, is back in the swing of things.

Coleman drove in three runs Saturday with a two-run homer and a single. He also speared a low line drive and doubled a runner off first, a play he might not have made with the extra poundage he collected on the bench last year.

"The competition for talent on this club is so great," said Coleman, "we're playing every game like it's the World Series. This is my 12th year in camp and it's the best talent I've seen. We have hitting and we have defense. And pitching—man, we've got a whole lot of arms."

Sisler even ran out of fingers as he counted the arms.

"Let's see," he said. "There's Maloney, O'Toole, Nuxhall, Tsitouris, Craig, Jay, McCool, Arrigo, Duren, Henry. . ." At that point, Sisler ran out of fingers and he still hadn't mentioned Sammy Ellis, 10-3 in relief last year.

Ellis pitched a two-hit shutout over the White Sox Friday night "and now he thinks he's the greatest starting pitcher who ever lived. After the game he told me, 'I'll be ready for my next turn a week from Monday.'

"I wondered what would take him so long to come back, and then it dawned on me—that's opening day. I told him he might have to wait until Tuesday. We're off that day and he can pitch 10 minutes of batting practice."

Such is the reborn spirit of the Reds, a spirit that was crushed last season when Fred Hutchinson was dying of cancer and the pennant was lost in the final two days.

"Honestly, I can't think of a thing that's looked bad this spring. We've experimented a little and it's working well."

The great experiment is Deron Johnson at third base. Last year he was the first baseman who sent Coleman to the bench. This year his victims will be Steve Boros and the fleet Chico Ruiz.

"The idea of the experiment was to get more power into the lineup without sacrificing much defense. So far, Johnson has done much better than I expected. He's made every play a third baseman should make.

"That's our only position change as such. But we expect more hitting from some others like (Tommy) Harper. He's been the big surprise to me."

Harper is the left fielder, who is hitting .345. There are five others hitting over .300, so Sisler is getting what he expected . . . and then some.

Sports Merry-Go-Round

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH

The Sunday Sermon

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

. . . . Jimmy Piersall's magnetism continues to spread. Now the Angel outfielder has a Long Beach area fan club. Secretary Irma Garner wants any prospective members to contact her at 21843 Salmon Ave., L.B. "Aside from occasional meetings and a paper called 'Piersall Patter' we plan to attend Angel games as a group and cheer for Jimmy," says Irma. Piersall probably has more fan clubs than any other player in baseball (aside possibly from unfortunate Sandy Koufax). He merits them all. Jim is the last of a vanishing breed — a colorful baseball player.

JIM PIERSALL
Adds New Fan Club

. . . . Two other Angels have been in the news lately and I think both have groundless gripes. Our Ross Newhan reported Friday that Ken McBride and Albie Pearson had strong chances of being shipped to the Pacific Coast League (Seattle). When appraised of this possible action, both lashed back at management. Neither has a case. Neither has done a thing this spring, nor last season. McBride's 4-13 pitching record was as ridiculous as Pearson's .223 batting mark. No team wins a pennant, nor finishes in the first division, with those performances.

. . . . Was postponement of the big Coliseum fight doubleheader—featuring San Pedro's Paul Rojas' attempt to gain the world featherweight title—really prompted by two of the principals' desires to spend Holy Week in Mexico City? I dunno. But I do know that on the original April 24 Saturday night date a baseball game will be played in Dodger Stadium and the Lakers possibly might be involved in a playoff contest at the Sports Arena. Three major attractions in one night really would be splitting the Yankee dollar.

. . . . Irony Dept.: Laughing on the outside but crying on the inside is Mr. Lauren Proctor, concessions boss at L.B. Arena. Teased these many years by this corner for serving cold coffee at the glitter palace, Proctor is on the other side of the fence now. The poor fellow was sued for $35,000 because somebody got splashed with his HOT coffee!

BOUQUET DEPT.: To Bill Lockyer's Long Beach State College crew, which spent 44 hours on the road (22 each way) to participate in the season's opening races on Williamette River at Corvallis, Ore. The boys (and Uncle Bill) slept on their bus going and coming. Crew is one sport which requires tremendous dedication. In this case, it also required built-in shock absorbers. (And when was the last time YOU spent 44 hours on a bus?)

. . . A feature of the current Sportsmen's Show at Pan-Pacific Auditorium is the "California state varmint calling contest." (Having been called a varmint for years, I hope the call of the wild doesn't reach my ears.) Anyway, varmint callers are sportsmen who call predatory animals such as coyotes, bobcats, foxes, wolves and mountain lions with an artificial, mouth-operated call—like a duck call. (Do wolves really react in the same manner as DUCKS?)

. . . Irish Layden suggests a name for the Angels when they move to Anheim: The Orange Angels. "Then contact Charley Finley of Kansas City," says Layden. "He should have some orange-colored suits around some place. With green undershirts, this should bring out all the Irish both North and South. The fights in the stands would be entertaining even if the Angels are not." (What do you want, Irish, the franchise moved? Ones have been transferred for lesser reasons, y'know.)

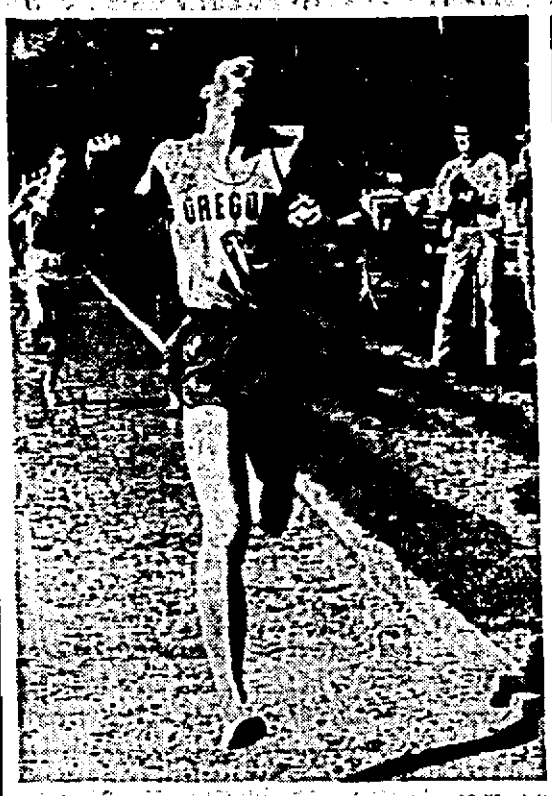

. . . Writing of franchises being moved reminds that the two ex-Milwaukee pitchers (not too strangely both southpaws) who have sounded off against Bobby Bragan should visit psychiatrists in their declining years. Elder statesman Warren Spahn's blasts obviously are of the sour grape variety, but Billy Hoeft's comments (i.e. "Bragan was told not to win because how do you move a team from Milwaukee to Atlanta that wins a pennant?") were absurd. Bragan doesn't know how to take a dive. He's just a hard-driver, which (unfortunately for them) Spahn and Hoeft learned last season.

NOTE TO JIM STANGELAND: Harbor College newspaper columnist Dan DeLong has "found out" that your City College national football champions "don't exactly want to scrimmage with Harbor this year." (I can understand why you might balk, coach. After the mess that school stirred up last year in a losing scrimmage when you utilized six dozen players, I'd balk, too. Like the Yankees, you experiment during the training season. The other guys are out for blood—yours!)

. . . . Note to Bill Felstner: Has the puny scoreboard at Blair Field been replaced yet? If not, you should tell the city officials again there's only one week remaining before the Angels play here. (I can visualize now the grand "publicity" the outside press will transmit once that sandlot board is exposed.)

. . . I'd be interested to read the reaction of our entertaining columnist, George Robeson, after he hastily shoved a cup of Old Tennis Shoes under the snoot of a vicious Brahma bull at the pre-rodeo festivities Thursday eve. All heart, Robeson stood his ground. So did the bull, which (as George knew) was penned-in "tighter" than a woman's girdle.

Worst Dual Defeat Since '22; Lobos Win 13 of 17 Events

Combined Wire Services

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.—New Mexico's freshman and sophomore-laden track team mauled highly touted Southern California, 98½ to 46⅔, Saturday before a crowd of 6,000.

It was USC's first dual meet loss since 1962, second in 124 dual meets over a 20-year period and worst defeat since 1922.

New Mexico took 13 of 17 first places and defeated the Trojans in their specialties, the distances. Pat Cox won the 880 (1:54.0), John Baker the mile (4:14.2) and Web Loudat the 2-mile (9:28.8).

The Lobos swept the javelin behind Frank Bugasser's school record 245-9½; the 100-yard dash, with Olympian Bernie Rivers clocking 9.3, and both relays, 40.9 and 3:13.4.

• • • •

Wellesley Clayton bounded 26-0 in taking the long jump to crack Troy's oldest school mark—25-8¼ by Al Olson set in 1935 — and former Long Beach City College great Jeff Smith upset Lobo Larry Kennedy and teammate Don Castle in the shotput with a career best of 59-¾.

USC's other first came in the pole vault where Bill Fosdick won on fewer misses over Jon Caffey and Dean Lehman, all at 14-11½.

• • • •

TROJAN distance runners appeared to be hampered by Albuquerque's 5,000-foot altitude, but the outcome never depended on these events.

Art Carter and Fred Knight were the day's only double winners. Carter ran 20.8 and 47.2 while Knight sped a windy 13.9 and swift 37.6 in the hurdles.

100—Rivers (NM) 9.2, Caminiti (NM) 9.4, Lloyd (NM) 9.6.

High jump—Brannon (NM) 6-7, tie among Murphy (USC), Moore (NM) and Hoyt (USC) 6-6.
Pole vault—Fosdick (USC) 14-11½, Caffey (NM) 14-11½, Lehman (NM) 14-11½ (places decided on fewer misses at lower heights).
Shotput—Smith (USC) 59¾, Kennedy (NM) 58-10, Castle (USC) 57-9.
Discus—Cox (NM) 174-7, Carlson (USC) 174-1½, Davies (USC) 155-11.
Javelin—Burgasser (NM) 245-9¼, Boradus (NM) 209-10½, Christianson (NM) 207-6.
Triple jump—Samuels (USC) 51-11½ (stadium and school record), C. Robinson (NM) 49-7, Baxter (NM) 49-3½.
Final score: New Mexico 98⅓, USC 46⅔.

MATSON SHY; WORLD MARK BY AN INCH

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas A&M's giant sophomore Randy Matson came within an inch of matching the world record in the shotput Saturday when he heaved the iron ball 67-9 in the Texas Relays.

Before a crowd of 8,000 Matson surpassed all marks except Dallas Long's world record of 67-10, set during last year's US-USSR meet.

Texas Southern's Jose Villalongo (48.1), Herb Stevens (47.6), Jimmy Hines (46.7) and Ray Saddler (45.4) reeled off the fastest mile relay of the season in 3:07.8 in the only other noteworthy performance.

San Jose Spikers Nip Ducks

BERKELEY (UPI) — Les Bond and Tommy Smith paced San Jose State to a narrow victory over defending NCAA champion Oregon Saturday in a triangular track meet at California.

Bond scored victories in the long jump (23-4¼) and triple jump (48-9), the latter a meet record, while Smith clocked 20.6 in the 220, came from behind to win the 440 relay and ran a 46.3 anchor leg in the mile relay.

The Spartans' second-place finish in the mile relay decided the meet, San Jose getting 74 points to Oregon's 68½ and Cal's 38½.

Nine meet records were broken and one tied on the newly surfaced Erwards Stadium track that will host the 1965 NCAA meet.

100—Herman (SJS) 9.5 (ties meet record), Brinkworth (O) 9.8, Beaty (O) 9.8, Wood (O) 9.9.

Angels Give Rick 2-Way Ticket Out

will not jerk Rick back until he is ready to play every day for us."

Until that moment arrives, Jose Cardenal, once again healthy, looms as the opening night center fielder. "I can choose between Cardenal, Piersall, Simpson and Pearson, if he's still with the club," said Rigney, who then amended his statement.

• • • •

"DESPITE speculation in certain news media," said Rigney, with a trace of sarcasm, "I would have to say that both Albie and Ken McBride will be with us on opening day. I admit, neither one figures to help us at the start. They'll have to prepare through workouts. There won't be much playing time for them in their present state."

Rigney also cleared the smog from third base, indicating Paul Schaal will be his starter when the bell rings.

"Paul has been a very pleasant surprise," said Rigney. "If he is for real then we are going to have quite an infield. He could fill the gap for a great many years."

• • • •

RIGNEY, however, did not stray long from the subject of Rick Reichardt, who batted .222 with one homer and 7 RBI in 14 spring games.

"I have said before that Jim Fregosi is the best young player I've managed since Willie Mays," reiterated the manager. "I believe it won't be long until Reichardt is Fregosi's equal.

"This boy doesn't want to be a celebrity, he simply wants to be a ballplayer. I can't compare him to Mays because there will probably never be another Mays. However, he has the instincts toward the game which Willie possessed. I mean, he wants to know everything there is to know. He is one of the few youngsters I've seen who knows when he makes an out why he made the out.

"His desire is unmatched and this may be one of the reasons he didn't hit it better this spring—he wants success so badly that he became over-anxious, as youth is subject to do."

• • • •

IN HIS new environment at El Centro, Reichardt will again be tutored by Chuck Tanner, who was his first professional manager while at Quad Cities last season. It was Tanner who succinctly described Reichardt's awesome strength.

"He has," said Tanner, "more power than General Electric."

ANGEL ANGLES: Despite Rigney's declaration on Pearson and McBride, the L.A.-P-T learned that the Angels cleared waivers on both players . . . If they are released, it will be one of the manager's strong wishes to send them to Seattle where they could work regularly. . . . Bart West, Seattle president, declared that Reichardt's addition "will be a great stimulus for a Seattle team, on the field and at the box office." . . . Rick may stay with the junior varsity at least 10 days. . . . Saturday's rain washed out the biggest Palm Springs advance sale since the Dodgers appeared there in 1962. Ticket purchasers may recoup by writing The Angels Spring Training, 1525 N. Western, Los Angeles. . . . Fred Newman starts against Jack Sanford today and, weather permitting, the teams will play five or six extra innings with Dean Chance replacing Newman. . . . Angels are now seven players over the limit . . . Rigney had kind words for young outfielders Dick Simpson and Jackie Warner . . . "They are only two years away from being ready," said Rig. "When they arrive we might get three runs once in awhile instead of two over day." . . . Miss Irma Garner of Long Beach reports she has formed a Jimmy Piersall fan club . . . Those interested are asked to write 21843 Salmon Ave., Long Beach. . . . Tony Perkins is ineligible for membership.

ANGELS-SEATTLE TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets for the exhibition game between the Angels and their Seattle farm club of the Pacific Coast League at Blair Field Sunday are on sale daily.

They may be purchased at Blair Field (today from 9 to 5, weekdays from noon to 5) and at Brown's, Kenny's and Spaulding's sporting goods stores.

'NOT TRUE' REPORT ON LUCAS TRADE

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Cincinnati Royals officials Saturday repudiated a report that Jack McMahon will be fired as coach and that Jerry Lucas will be traded.

Tom Grace, executive vice president of the Royals, branded the report "ridiculous."

"There has been no discussion of McMahon's future," Grace said.

An article in a Dayton, Ohio, newspaper Friday said McMahon would be ousted and probably replaced by Arlen Bockhorn, veteran Royals player who was sidelined with an injury nearly all of this past season.

Victoria Bombards Seattle, Closes Gap

VICTORIA, B.C. (UPI) — The Victoria Maple Leafs bombed Seattle goalie Jim McLeod for 3 goals in less than 7 minutes Saturday night to take their first win, 5-2, from the Seattle Totems in playoff action.

The Leafs were defeated by Seattle in the first two games of the best-of-seven Western Hockey League series.

Canadians Defeat L.A. Hockey Stars

A team of visiting Canadian teenage hockey stars defeated the Greater Los Angeles all-stars, 4-1, at Culver City Saturday night.

The juvenile class champion Mohawks from Jasper Place, Alberta, return home Monday after their one-game Southland appearance.

Softball Entries

The Long Beach Recreation Dept. is accepting entries for men's, women's and slo-pitch softball teams. For information, call HE 6-9041.

Postpone Track Meet

The UCLA-Stanford track meet, rained out Saturday, will be held Tuesday in the Coliseum at 3 p.m.

came back to string his calf in 10.4 seconds for the fastest time in calf roping.

Pat Marr of Tularosa, N. M., and Allene Gaylor of Colorado Springs, Colo., tied for first go-round leadership of the popular girls' barrel racing. The gals were clocked in 14.2 seconds, bettered Sammy Thurman's previous fastest ride of 14.4.

Other matinee winners were:

—Bill Fedderson, El Reno, Okla., captured the saddle bronc riding on Copper Mountain with a score of 69 points. Fedderson, a real old pro at 37, also is conducting an official's school for judges.

—Gary Denny, Colorado Springs, won the steer wrestling by cutting down his animal in 4.7 sec. The 3-time Marine champion shared afternoon laurels with Jim Houston, who pulled his steer off its feet in 6.5 to post best average of 12.3 to date.

—Clay Vincent, Oakdale, Buckie Smith, Prineville, Ore., and Ronnie Thomas, Whiting, Iowa, tied for high score in bull riding with 55 points each.

Lakers Tip Bullets

sidelined longer than first anticipated.

West had a fantastic first half, scoring 31 points, but without much rest, he tired in the late going and made only 3 of 15 shots from the floor in the final 24 minutes.

When West was missing, King and Ellis picked up the slack, however. Each scored 18 points, with Long Beach's King making 8 of 11 from the field. Ellis also had 15 rebounds.

A 39-point second period gave the Lakers a 68-51 halftime lead, and they still were in command 92-77 going into the final quarter.

With Ohl and Walt Bellamy leading the way, the Bullets charged back, once scoring 13 consecutive points with the Lakers countering, and several times got within two and four points.

• • • •

TWICE KING hit on longer jumpers when the Bullets threatened, and twice Ellis made rebound follow shots at critical times in the final 5½ minutes.

Ahead 117-113, King and West teamed on a steal with 53 seconds left that was the turning point in the game. West's two free throws at 0:42 beat down the last Baltimore challenge.

Schaus admitted he was happy "we didn't win easily. If we would have coasted in, we might have let down Monday. This way I think everybody realizes this will be a tough, tough series, with or without Baylor."

Reds Agree with Scouts --They're Team to Beat

By GEORGE LEDERER
I. P-T Staff Writer

TAMPA, Fla.—A consensus of scouts tabs the Cincinnati Reds as the best team training in Florida, the team that should be favored to win the National League pennant.

Not a Red will argue the point.

Manager Dick Sisler, who took the job under trying circumstances last summer, cannot and is not trying to hide his enthusiasm. He is convinced that, at a comparable stage, his club is better than the pennant-winning Reds of 1961.

"I'd have to go with this club right now," Sisler said Saturday. "We had some power in '61—Post, Bell and Lynch. But I think our hitters stack up better. I know it's easy to get overenthused so early, but it's getting later, too.

"I haven't made a single managerial move. Our guys just win and they like it."

The Reds have been winning regularly and lead the Grapefruit League with a 15-5-1 record. Saturday, they made it three in a row and 11 wins in their last 13 games by defeating the Dodgers, 6-1. The hitters have stacked up 22 home runs in 21 games and the pitchers have allowed only one run in the last three.

Gordy Coleman, a disgruntled Red last season when, first, he was platooned, then lost even his part-time first base job, is back in the swing of things.

Coleman drove in three runs Saturday with a two-run homer and a single. He also speared a low line drive and doubled a runner off first, a play he might not have made with the extra poundage he collected on the bench last year.

"The competition for talent on this club is so great," said Coleman, "we're playing every game like it's the World Series. This is my 12th year in camp and it's the best talent I've seen. We have hitting and we have defense. And pitching—man, we've got a whole lot of arms."

Sisler even ran out of fingers as he counted the arms.

"Let's see," he said. "There's Maloney, O'Toole, Nuxhall, Tsitouris, Craig, Jay, McCool, Arrigo, Duren, Henry. . ." At that point, Sisler ran out of fingers and he still hadn't mentioned Sammy Ellis, 10-3 in relief last year.

Ellis pitched a two-hit shutout over the White Sox Friday night "and now he thinks he's the greatest starting pitcher who ever lived. After the game he told me, 'I'll be ready for my next turn a week from Monday.'

"I wondered what would take him so long to come back, and then it dawned on me—that's opening day. I told him he might have to wait until Tuesday. We're off that day and he can pitch 10 minutes of batting practice."

Such is the reborn spirit of the Reds, a spirit that was crushed last season when Fred Hutchinson was dying of cancer and the pennant was lost in the final two days.

"Honestly, I can't think of a thing that's looked bad this spring. We've experimented a little and it's working well."

The great experiment is Deron Johnson at third base. Last year he was the first baseman who sent Coleman to the bench. This year his victims will be Steve Boros and the fleet Chico Ruiz.

"The idea of the experiment was to get more power into the lineup without sacrificing much defense. So far, Johnson has done much better than I expected. He's made every play a third baseman should make.

"That's our only position change as such. But we expect more hitting from some others like (Tommy) Harper. He's been the big surprise to me."

Harper is the left fielder, who is hitting .345. There are five others hitting over .300, so Sisler is getting what he expected . . . and then some.

DIS AND DATA—John Tsitouris held the Dodgers to six hits in eight innings Saturday and picked up his fourth win without a loss. . . Roger Craig pitched a 1-2-3 ninth. . . The run came on Tommy Davis' sixth homer with two out in the sixth. . . Tommy also was responsible for the first three Cincinnati runs. . . Trying another Willie Mays-type basket catch, Davis dropped John Edwards' fly ball to left after two were out in the fourth. . . One run scored on the error and two more came in when Leo Cardenas followed with a double against John Purdin. . . Purdin also served up Coleman's home run. . . Joe Moeller started for the Dodgers and blanked the Reds on two singles in three innings. . . Dodgers have lost two in a row for the first time this spring. . . Record is 15-8.

General manager Buzzie Bavasi trimmed the squad to 31 roster players, plus ten Lefebvre and Dick Smith . . . Seven players were assigned to minor league clubs. . . Pitchers Bill Singer and Dick Calmus, and infielders Bart Shirley and John Werhas were optioned to Spokane. . . Pitcher Charles Bohling, shortstop Tommy Dean and outfielder Bill Parrier were assigned to Albuquerque. . . Dean is the Dodgers' designated first-year player for the first half of the season. . . Willie Crawford, the $100,000 bonus outfielder, will go out when Dean returns.

Lefebvre split the index finger on his right hand while fielding a ground ball before the game and may miss a game or two. . . Willie Davis' seven-game hitting streak ended as a pinch-hitter. . . Newly appointed captain Maury Wills also had a seven-game hitting streak snapped and failed to score for the first time in 12 games. . . Rookie shortstop Tommy Helms made two spectacular plays to help Tsitouris in the seventh inning. He's batting .400, too, but can't make the starting lineup and probably won't survive the last cut, either. . . Happy birthday to Wally Moon, 35 Saturday. . . Dodgers play their final home exhibition this afternoon, Johnny Podres and Mike Kekich pitching against the White Sox and Joel Horlen.

Sports Merry-Go-Round

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

The Sunday Sermon

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

. . . . Jimmy Piersall's magnetism continues to spread. Now the Angel outfielder has a Long Beach area fan club. Secretary Irma Garner wants any prospective members to contact her at 21843 Salmon Ave., L.B. "Aside from occasional meetings and a paper called 'Piersall Patter' we plan to attend Angel games as a group and cheer for Jimmy," says Irma. Piersall probably has more fan clubs than any other player in baseball (aside possibly from unfortunate Sandy Koufax). He merits them all. Jim is the last of a vanishing breed — a colorful baseball player.

JIM PIERSALL
Adds New Fan Club

. . . . Two other Angels have been in the news lately and I think both have groundless gripes. Our Ross Newhan reported Friday that Ken McBride and Albie Pearson had strong chances of being shipped to the Pacific Coast League (Seattle). When appraised of this possible action, both lashed back at management. Neither has a case. Neither has done a thing this spring, nor last season. McBride's 4-13 pitching record was as ridiculous as Pearson's .223 batting mark. No team wins a pennant, nor finishes in the first division, with those performances.

. . . . Was postponement of the big Coliseum fight doubleheader—featuring San Pedro's Paul Rojas' attempt to gain the world featherweight title—really prompted by two of the principals' desires to spend Holy Week in Mexico City? I dunno. But I do know that on the original April 24 Saturday night date a baseball game will be played in Dodger Stadium and the Lakers possibly might be involved in a playoff contest at the Sports Arena. Three major attractions in one night really would be splitting the Yankee dollar.

. . . . Irony Dept.: Laughing on the outside but crying on the inside is Mr. Lauren Proctor, concessions boss at L.B. Arena. Teased these many years by this corner for serving cold coffee at the glitter palace, Proctor is on the other side of the fence now. The poor fellow was sued for $35,000 because somebody got splashed with his HOT coffee!

BOUQUET DEPT.: To Bill Lockyer's Long Beach State College crew, which spent 44 hours on the road (22 each way) to participate in the season's opening races on Williamette River at Corvallis, Ore. The boys (and Uncle Bill) slept on their bus going and coming. Crew is one sport which requires tremendous dedication. In this case, it also required built-in shock absorbers. (And when was the last time YOU spent 44 hours on a bus?)

. . . A feature of the current Sportsmen's Show at Pan-Pacific Auditorium is the "California state varmint calling contest." (Having been called a varmint for years, I hope the call of the wild doesn't reach my ears.) Anyway, varmint callers are sportsmen who call predatory animals such as coyotes, bobcats, foxes, wolves and mountain lions with an artificial, mouth-operated call—like a duck call. (Do wolves really react in the same manner as DUCKS?)

. . . Irish Layden suggests a name for the Angels when they move to Anheim: The Orange Angels. "Then contact Charley Finley of Kansas City," says Layden. "He should have some orange-colored suits around some place. With green undershirts, this should bring out all the Irish both North and South. The fights in the stands would be entertaining even if the Angels are not." (What do you want, Irish, the franchise moved? Ones have been transferred for lesser reasons, y'know.)

. . . Writing of franchises being moved reminds that the two ex-Milwaukee pitchers (not too strangely both southpaws) who have sounded off against Bobby Bragan should visit psychiatrists in their declining years. Elder statesman Warren Spahn's blasts obviously are of the sour grape variety, but Billy Hoeft's comments (i.e. "Bragan was told not to win because how do you move a team from Milwaukee to Atlanta that wins a pennant?") were absurd. Bragan doesn't know how to take a dive. He's just a hard-driver, which (unfortunately for them) Spahn and Hoeft learned last season.

NOTE TO JIM STANGELAND: Harbor College newspaper columnist Dan DeLong has "found out" that your City College national football champions "don't exactly want to scrimmage with Harbor this year." (I can understand why you might balk, coach. After the mess that school stirred up last year in a losing scrimmage when you utilized six dozen players, I'd balk, too. Like the Yankees, you experiment during the training season. The other guys are out for blood—yours!)

. . . . Note to Bill Feistner: Has the puny scoreboard at Blair Field been replaced yet? If not, you should tell the city officials again there's only one week remaining before the Angels play here. (I can visualize now the grand "publicity" the outside press will transmit once that sandlot board is exposed.)

. . . I'd be interested to read the reaction of our entertaining columnist, George Robeson, after he hastily shoved a cup of Old Tennis Shoes under the snoot of a vicious Brahma bull at the pre-rodeo festivities Thursday eve. All heart, Robeson stood his ground. So did the bull, which (as George knew) was penned-in "tighter than a woman's girdle.

Angels Give Rick 2-Way Ticket Out

will not jerk Rick back until he is ready to play every day for us."

Until that moment arrives, Jose Cardenal, once again healthy, looms as the opening night center fielder. "I can choose between Cardenal, Piersall, Simpson and Pearson, if he's still with the club," said Rigney, who then amended his statement.

* * * *

"DESPITE speculation in certain news media," said Rigney, with a trace of sarcasm, "I would have to say that both Albie and Ken McBride will be with us on opening day. I admit, neither one figures to help us at the start.

ANGELS-SEATTLE TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets for the exhibition game between the Angels and their Seattle farm club of the Pacific Coast League at Blair Field Sunday are on sale daily.

They may be purchased at Blair Field (today from 9 to 5, weekdays from noon to 5) and at Brown's, Kenny's and Spaulding's sporting goods stores.

They'll have to prepare through workouts. There won't be much playing time for them in their present state."

Rigney also cleared the smog from third base, indicating Paul Schaal will be his starter when the bell rings.

"Paul has been a very pleasant surprise," said Rigney. "If he is for real then we are going to have quite an infield. He could fill the gap for a great many years."

* * * *

RIGNEY, however, did not stray long from the subject of Rick Reichardt, who batted .222 with one homer and 7 RBI in 14 spring games.

"I have said before that Jim Fregosi is the best young player I've managed since Willie Mays," reiterated the manager. "I believe it won't be long until Reichardt is Fregosi's equal.

"This boy doesn't want to be a celebrity, he simply wants to be a ballplayer. I can't compare him to Mays because there will probably never be another Mays. However, he has the instincts toward the game which Willie possessed. I mean, he wants to know everything there is to know. He is one of the few youngsters I've seen who knows when he makes an out why he made the out.

"His desire is unmatched and this may be one of the reasons he didn't hit it better this spring—he wants success so badly that he became over-anxious, as youth is subject to do."

* * * *

IN HIS new environment at El Centro, Reichardt will again be tutored by Chuck Tanner, who was his first professional manager while at Quad Cities last season. It was Tanner who succinctly described Reichardt's awesome strength.

"He has," said Tanner, "more power than General Electric."

ANGEL ANGLES: Despite Rigney's declaration on Pearson and McBride, the I. P-T learned that the Angels cleared waivers on both players. . . If they are retained, it will be over the manager's strong wishes to send them to Seattle where they could work regularly. . . Bert West, Seattle president, declared that Reichardt's addition "will be a great stimulus to the Seattle team, on the field and at the box office. . . . Rick may stay with the junior varsity at least 10 days. . . Saturday's rain washed out the biggest Palm Springs advance sale since the Dodgers appeared here in 1962. . . Ticket purchasers may send requests by writing The Angels Spring Training, 1525 N. Western, Los Angeles. . . Fred Newman starts against Jack Sanford today and, weather permitting, the teams will play five or six extra innings with Dean Chance replacing Newman. . . Angels are now seven players over the limit. . . Rigney had kind words for young outfielders Dick Simpson and Jackie Warner. . . "They are only two years away from being ready," said Rig. . . "When they arrive we might get three runs once in awhile instead of two every day." . . Miss Irma Garner of Long Beach reports she has formed a Jimmy Piersall fan club. . . Those interested are asked to write 21843 Salmon Ave., Long Beach. . . Tony Perkins is ineligible for membership.

'NOT TRUE' REPORT ON LUCAS TRADE

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Cincinnati Royals officials Saturday repudiated a report that Jack McMahon will be fired as coach and that Jerry Lucas will be traded.

Tom Grace, executive vice president of the Royals, branded the report "ridiculous."

"There has been no discussion of McMahon's future," Grace said.

An article in a Dayton, Ohio, newspaper Friday said McMahon would be ousted and probably replaced by Arlen Bockhorn, veteran Royals player who was sidelined with an injury nearly all of this past season.

Victoria Bombards Seattle, Closes Gap

VICTORIA, B.C. (UPI) — The Victoria Maple Leafs bombed Seattle goalie Jim McLeod for 3 goals in less than 7 minutes Saturday night to take their first win, 5-2, from the Seattle Totems in playoff action.

The Leafs were defeated by Seattle in the first two games of the best-of-seven Western Hockey League series.

Canadians Defeat L.A. Hockey Stars

Worst Dual Defeat Since '22; Lobos Win 13 of 17 Events

Combined Wire Services

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.—New Mexico's freshman and sophomore-laden track team mauled highly touted Southern California, 98⅓ to 46⅔, Saturday before a crowd of 6,000.

It was USC's first dual meet loss since 1962, second in 124 dual meets over a 20-year period and worst defeat since 1922.

New Mexico took 13 of 17 first places and defeated the Trojans in their specialties, the distances. Pat Cox won the 880 (1:54.0), John Baker the mile (4:14.2) and Web Loudat the 2-mile (9:28.8).

The Lobos swept the javelin behind Frank Bugasser's school record 245-9½; the 100-yard dash, with Olympian Bernie Rivers clocking 9.3, and both relays, 40.9 and 3:13.4.

* * * *

Wellesley Clayton bounded 26-0 in taking the long jump to crack Troy's oldest school mark—25-8⅞ by Al Olson set in 1935 — and former Long Beach City College great Jeff Smith upset Lobo Larry Kennedy and teammate Don Castle in the shotput with a career best of 59-¾.

USC's other first came in the pole vault where Bill Fosdick won on fewer misses over Jon Caffey and Dean Lehman, all at 14-11½.

* * * *

TROJAN distance runners appeared to be hampered by Albuquerque's 5,000-foot altitude, but the outcome never depended on these events.

Art Carter and Fred Knight were the day's only double winners. Carter ran 20.8 and 47.2 while Knight sped a windy 13.9 and swift 37.6 in the hurdles.

100—Rivers (NM) 9.3, Caminiti (NM) 9.6, Lloyd (NM) 9.6.
220—Carter (NM) 20.8, Middleton (USC) 21.2, Rivers (NM) 21.2.
440—Carter (NM) 47.2, Buck (USC) 47.4, Little (NM) 47.4.
880—Cox (NM) 1:54.0, Bess (USC) 1:55.1, Davis (NM) 1:55.3.
Mile — Baker (NM) 4:14.2, Johnson (USC) 4:17.0, Calhoun (USC) 4:25.5.
2-mile—Loudat (NM) 9:28.8, Coleman (NM) 9:41.8, Goettleman (USC) 9:52.5.
High hurdles—Knight (NM) 13.9w, Kerry (USC) 14.0w, Viltz (USC) 14.1w.
330 IH—Knight (NM) 37.6, Caminiti (NM) 38.4, Kerry (USC) 38.4.
440 relay—New Mexico (Carter, Caminiti, Lloyd, Rivers) 40.9.
Mile relay—New Mexico (Knight, Little, Lloud, Carter) 3:13.4.
Long jump—Clayton (USC) 26-0 (school record), C. Robinson (NM) 25-10¾, T. Robinson (NM) 25.0.
High jump—Brannon (NM) 6-7, tie among Murphy (USC), Moore (NM) and Hovi (USC) 6-6.
Pole vault—Fosdick (USC) 14-11½, Caffey (NM) 14-11½, Lehman (NM) 14-11½ (places decided on fewer misses at lower heights).
Shotput—Smith (USC) 59¾, Kennedy (NM) 58-10, Castle (USC) 57-9.
Discus—Kennedy (NM) 178-5½, Carlson (USC) 176-11½, Davies (USC) 153-11.
Javelin—Burgasser (NM) 245-9½, Borodus (NM) 209-10½, Christianson (NM) 207-4.
Triple jump—Samuels (USC) 51-11½ (stadium and school record), C. Robinson (NM) 49-7, Baxter (NM) 49-3½.
Final score: New Mexico 98⅓, USC 46⅔.

MATSON SHY WORLD MARK BY AN INCH

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas A&M's giant sophomore Randy Matson came within an inch of matching the world record in the shotput Saturday when he heaved the iron ball 67-9 in the Texas Relays.

Before a crowd of 8,000 Matson surpassed all marks except Dallas Long's world record of 67-10, set during last year's US-USSR meet.

Texas Southern's Jose Villalongo (48.1), Herb Stevens (47.6), Jimmy Hines (46.7) and Ray Saddler (45.4) reeled off the fastest mile relay of the season in 3:07.8 in the only other noteworthy performance.

San Jose Spikers Nip Ducks

BERKELEY (UPI) — Les Bond and Tommy Smith paced San Jose State to a narrow victory over defending NCAA champion Oregon Saturday in a triangular track meet at California.

Bond scored victories in the long jump (23-4¼) and triple jump (48-9), the latter a meet record, while Smith clocked 20.6 in the 220, came from behind to win the 440 relay and ran a 46.3 anchor leg in the mile relay.

The Spartans' second-place finish in the mile relay decided the meet, San Jose getting 74 points to Oregon's 68½ and Cal's 38½.

Nine meet records were broken and one tied on the newly surfaced Erwards Stadium track that will host the 1965 NCAA meet.

100—Hermen (SJS) 9.5 (ties meet record), Brinkworth (C) 9.8, Beaty (C) 9.8, Wood (O) 9.9.
220—Smith (SJS) 20.6 (meet record), Hermen (SJS) 21.0, Beaty (C) 21.2, Wood (O) 21.7.

Mile—Moore (O) 4:06.8, Bell (O) 4:09.9, Shaffer (C) 4:11.8, Neff (SJS) 4:15.0.
2-mile—Moore (O) 8:58 (meet record), Tuite (SJS) 8:59.4, Mortensen (O) 9:02.8, Darnell (SJS) 9:04.4.
High hurdles—Hunter (O) 14.3, Buller (O) 14.5, Elliott 14.5, Clough (SJS) 14.7.
330-LH—Buller (O) 37.7, Elliott (O) 39.5, Buchanan (O) 38.4, Shackleford (SJS) 39.2.
440 relay—San Jose State (Hermen, Murad, Compton, Smith) 40.4, Cal 43.6, Oregon 41.8.
Mile relay—Cal (Courchesne, Fishbach, Archibald, Beaty) 3:09.1, San Jose State 3:13.9, Oregon 3:19.4.
Long jump—Bond (SJS) 23-4¼, Fergus (SJS) 21-9½, Fox (O) 21-8, Moran (SJS) 21-1.
High jump—French (C) 6-8, Carter 6-8, Doe (SJS) 6-6, Terrannis (SJS) 6-4.
Pole vault—Morin (O) 15-4½ (meet record), Tuite (SJS), Werne (SJS) 14.7, Clardy (C) 14.4, tie between Keller (O) and Bowles (C) 13-6¾.
Shotput—Steinhauer (O) 59-10, Nelson (SJS) 57-11½, Hann (SJS) 52-11½, Gridley (C) 52-0.
Discus—Akers (SJS) 171-3, Schmidt (C) 169-3½, Steinhauer (O) 160-6, Thompkins (SJS) 158-5.
Javelin—Helkkila (O) 224, Baughman (SJS) 218-6, Brown (SJS) 208-0, Hodges (O) 203-1.
Triple jump—Bond (SJS) 48-9, Fergus (SJS) 47-7¼, Moran (SJS) 46-8½, Fox (O) 46-0.
Final score: San Jose State 74, Oregon 68½, Cal 38½.

TRACK BRIEFS

Bob Hayes won $500 purse in professional foot racing debut in Sydney, Aust., defeating rugby star Michael Cleary and sprinter Terry Clarke in 9.6 100 . . . Trent Jackson of Illinois defeated Kentucky State freshman Craig Wallace 9.8 to 9.9 for Kentucky boys . . . Lynn Davies of Great Britain edged world record holder Ralph Boston 25-9¼ to 25-8½ but U.S. men won two-day meet, 70-47, Billy Mills set British indoor record of 13:36.8 for 3-miles . . . Morgan Groth clocked 1:51.5 half-mile but Oregon State was beaten, 83-62, by Washington State . . . Sacramento State's 40.4 in 440 relay sparked Hornets' 110-35 win over San Francisco State.

came back to string his calf in 10.4 seconds for the fastest time in calf roping.

Pat Marr of Tularosa, N. M., and Allene Gaylor of Colorado Springs, Colo., tied for first go-round leadership of the popular girls' barrel racing. The gals were clocked in 14.2 seconds, bettered Sammy Thurman's previous fastest ride of 14.4.

Other matinee winners were:

—Bill Fedderson, El Reno, Okla., captured the saddle bronc riding on Copper Mountain with a score of 69 points. Fedderson, a real old pro at 37, also is conducting an official's school for judges.

—Gary Denny, Colorado Springs, won the steer wrestling by cutting down his animal in 4.7 sec. The 3-time Marine champion shared afternoon laurels with Jim Houston, who pulled his steer off its feet in 6.5 to post best average of 12.3 to date.

—Clay Vincent, Oakdale, Buckie Smith, Prineville, Ore., and Ronnie Thomas, Whiting, Iowa, tied for high score in bull riding with 55 points each.

Lakers Tip Bullets

sidelined longer than first anticipated.

West had a fantastic first half, scoring 31 points, but without much rest, he tired in the late going and made only 3 of 15 shots from the floor in the final 24 minutes.

When West was missing, King and Ellis picked up the slack, however. Each scored 18 points, with Long Beach's King making 8 of 11 from the field. Ellis also had 15 rebounds.

A 39-point second period gave the Lakers a 68-51 halftime lead, and they still were in command 92-77 going into the final quarter.

With Ohl and Walt Bellamy leading the way, the Bullets charged back, once scoring 13 consecutive points with the Lakers countering, and several times got within two and four points.

* * * *

TWICE KING hit on longer jumpers when the Bullets threatened, and twice Ellis made rebound follow shots at critical times in the final 5½ minutes.

Ahead 117-113, King and West teamed on a steal with 53 seconds left that was the turning point in the game. West's two free throws at 0.42 beat down the last Baltimore challenge.

Schaus admitted he was happy "we didn't win easily. If we would have coasted in, we might have let down Monday. This way I think everybody realizes this will be a tough, tough series, with or without Baylor."

4-F: Fame, Fortune, Family, Future

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—When the world's top golfers assemble here this week for the Masters Tournament the player most people will be picking to win is a strapping young man from Ohio named Jack Nicklaus.

It is easy to see why they call him The Golden Bear.

A blond, powerful six-footer of German descent, he has both the golden look and the golden touch. No golfer in history—not even the immortal Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen or Ben Hogan—ever won as many major tournaments or piled up a greater fortune more quickly.

And Nicklaus, they say is just beginning.

At 25, ten years short of a player's normal prime, Jack has won eight national and international championships. He is the only man who has captured all four of America's blue ribbon events—the National Amateur, National Open, Masters and PGA.

Young Nicklaus represents the epitome of the modern capitalistic breed that now travels the nation's fairways and only Arnold Palmer, with a 10-year head start, has built a larger commercial dynasty.

Pays Income Tax on $500,000

Nicklaus pays income tax on around $500,000 a year—probably $250,000 less than his close partner and keen rival, Palmer. His enterprises are just beginning to mushroom. In another two or three years it is conceivable he will be a millionaire many times over.

Prize money from golf tournaments—$113,284.50 last year to lead official winnings—makes up only a percentage of his income. He gets a fat fee for representing a major club manufacturer but he uses different clubs in Britain, still other brands in Australia and the Far East for added revenue. He owns a company that makes shirts and slacks. He manufactures golf togs in Canada, gloves in Britain.

He has a firm that prints tags for wearing apparel. He syndicates instruction in newspapers and contributes regularly to magazines. He is half-owner, with Palmer, of the weekly television series "Golf's Big Three." He heads the Ohio Golf Exhibition Co., which arranges exhibitions for players, and he has large oil investments with Bob Hope and Perry Como.

'Very Much a Home Body'

Yet success falls easily on the beefy shoulders of this fairway Goliath.

"Jack is very much a home body," said Nicklaus' father Charley, a successful Columbus, Ohio, pharmacist who follows his son around the world, seldom missing a shot.

"When he's through playing, Jack can't wait to get home and horse around with the boys," the father added. "He seems able to forget the game completely. Whether he shoots 66 or 76, he never gets edgy. He has an amazing faculty for putting the day's round out of his mind and relaxing."

Jack's family consists of his tall and attractive blue-eyed wife, the former Barbara Bash, a college sweetheart whom he met and married while at Ohio State nearly five years ago; two sons, Jackie, 3½, and Steve, 2, and a French poodle, Napoleon, called Nappy. A third child is expected momentarily.

Both boys are lively and rambunctious, pampered by their grandparents and a Negro maid who travels with the family wherever it goes.

Ask Jackie Jr. his name and he replies crisply, "My name is Jackie Nicklaus, Under Par."

"I don't know where in the world he got that," says Barbara. "None of us told him to say it. He just picked it up."

Barbara used to take the boys to the course but decided differently after an incident in a California tournament.

Jack was on the tee in the midst of his back swing when the stillness was broken by a shrill cry: "Da-dy!" Jack stopped, a bit shaken but not embarrassed; took his stance again and swung. Jackie was hustled, whimpering, to the club house.

Now the youngster gets news of his father's exploits by telephone.

"Bring me home some eagles and birdies," he always tells his famous dad, "but no boogies."

The Nicklaus' live in a new stone ranch in Upper Arlington, a suburb of Columbus, in the neighborhood where Jack grew up. It's a rambling house on a plot 120 feet by 250, with a putting green in the back.

Most of the time the house is shuttered as Jack and his family flit from tournament to tournament—about 30 a year in the United States plus regular commitments overseas, principally Britain and Australia.

They fly to the U.S. tournament sites in Jack's private plane—an 11-seater with a permanent pilot, Stanley Pierce. Nicklaus is logging hours so that he can fly the plane himself.

Jack also has a 28-foot boat for fishing and family cruises. It usually is tied up at a small canal adjoining Pap Nicklaus' bungalow at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. That's where Jack and his family quarter during the latter part of the Winter Tour.

Barbara does her own shopping and cooking, leaving to her maid the duties of washing dishes, cleaning house and occasionally baby sitting.

"Jack's not hard to cook for," Barbara said. "He likes simple dishes— casseroles and things like that. Sometimes, when we get in late, we send out for hamburgers or fried chicken."

Takes Occasional Beer

Nicklaus must watch his diet. He comes from a family of heavy eaters inclined to balloon into big men. He tries to keep his playing weight down to 210 pounds. He restricts his drinking to an occasional beer. He rarely smokes.

Once but no longer burdened with such nicknames as "Whalebone" and "Ohio Fats," Jack presents a massive but athletic figure with the shoulders of an ox, thick thighs and legs. This is the source of the power that makes him the longest hitter of a golf ball that ever lived.

Despite his size, he has a round, boyish face and a high-pitched voice that almost squeaks when he gets excited. On the course, he is like a heavyweight Ben Hogan with his intense concentration—agonizingly slow at times—but he breaks into an occasional smile. He chats amiably with the gallery between shots. He has a good sense of humor.

Nicklaus was winning men's tournaments in Ohio when he was 14. He won the first of his two National Amateur crowns at 19 and at 20 shot consecutive rounds of 66, 67, 68, 68 for 269 over the Merion (Philadelphia) course where Hogan won the National Open in 1950 with 287.

Has Palmer's Number

Jack defeated Palmer in a playoff for the National Open crown in 1962, added the Masters and PGA in 1963, won the individual trophy in the Canada Cup international matches in 1963 and 1964. In these tournaments, as in the World Series of Golf in 1962 and 1963, he had to whip his friend and rival, Palmer, in head-to-head duels.

"It is frightening to think what this fellow might do in the next 10 or 15 years," said the former great, Byron Nelson.

"No golfer reaches his peak until he's 30 to 35 years old. Nicklaus should wipe out every record in the book."

Sam Snead disagrees.

"Jack has been going fullsteam since he was 14," the Slammer argued. "A man can only go to the post so many times under this kind of pressure. He burns himself out, and I don't think Jack will get any better."

Nicklaus is both amused and chagrined at these volunteer appraisals.

Will he become too enmeshed in his business enterprises and lose his desire as a result of his wealth?

"That's ridiculous," Jack said. "My business is to play golf. A staff of lawyers headed by Mark McCormack handles all my other affairs. I keep my eye on my outside businesses, naturally, but not to the detriment of my golf.

"I have one ambition—that is, to be the greatest golfer who ever lived. I won't let anything dull that aim."

Admits Slow, Getting Faster

Will he let weight or an inclination to slow play jeopardize his career?

"Weight is no longer a problem—I have sense enough to watch that," he said. "As for slow play, which some say might hurt me in the future—I'll admit I'm slow. I concentrate and think out shots a little too much maybe, but I'm getting faster, and I'm not worried."

Will he become over golfed?

"Never," Jack insisted. "Unlike many of the pros, I don't let golf completely possess me. I work hard at it on the course. When I'm through, I forget it.

"At home, we never discuss my round. Barbara, my father and mother—nobody ever bugs me about the way I played.

"I like to be with my family. I like my hobbies—fishing and hunting especially.

"After a few weeks on the tour, I take off and go fishing. It's complete relaxation for me. When I return to golf, I'm fresh and eager again.

"I expect to be playing golf and fishing for a long time to come."

OLIVER

By JERRY WYNN

He can't act. He can't sing. He can't shoot worth a tarnation.

But Dean Oliver is the real king of the cowboys.

All-around champion of the Rodeo Cowboys Assn. for the past two years and seven-times national champion, the handsome 6-foot-3, 200-pounder from Boise, Idaho, has earned $291,530 in 15 years of riding the bronc, bull and buck circuit.

This weekend Oliver is the featured hand at the Long Beach Pacific Indoor Rodeo at the Arena.

How did you become interested in the rodeo, Dean?

"My father was a pilot, but he died when I was 10 and I went to work at a ranch near home. I became pretty good at calf-roping and found that there was good wages to be made in the rodeo."

How much money can a rodeo cowboy earn in a year?

"The most was $47,000 by Jim Shoulders. I've made about $31,000 the last two years. But that is above average. I guess there are only about 15 cowboys who make over $20,000. It's all a big gamble. Some weeks you don't make a dime and the traveling expenses are very high."

Do you consider rodeo a sport or a show?

"It's no show. You just try to get your work done as fast as you can whether it's tying a calf or throwing a steer. There's no showmanship. It's 100% ability, just like hitting a home run in baseball."

Is the rodeo really dangerous?

"You danged right. The roping isn't so bad. It's the riding. When the bulls buck you off, they can step on you or kick you or butt you or land on you. And when those broncs go a-jumping and a-kicking and a-bucking, it can get mighty rough up there."

Why is the rodeo so popular in Southern California?

"Gosh, I don't know. I guess they're just more Western-minded here. Same goes in Northern California. This state is good rodeo country."

Rodeo has been criticized as being inhumane to animals. Is this true?

"I don't feel it is. A calf can get hurt when a horse kicks it, but that doesn't happen too often. It's the man who gets the most bruises. He weighs 170 against a calf that weighs 700. I don't feel sorry for the calf."

Do you like horse racing?

"I like the quarterhorse type. That's more our style. I sure have admiration for those jockeys. It must be a lot tougher to ride with those little stirrups and all those different horses."

Would you like to change places with Bill Shoemaker?

"No, but I hear that he does make a lot more money than rodeo cowboys."

Have you a favorite among Hollywood cowboy heroes?

"Gary Cooper was my favorite when I was a kid. I also like John Wayne and Glenn Ford and some of the others. It takes a lot of talent to be a good actor. I know I wouldn't like to face those cameras."

Why do Americans love the cowboy?

"It's hard to explain. There's just something about horses, cattle, ranches and the old West that appeals to kids and grown-ups too. You're a writer. Maybe you can explain it."

Nope, podner, I can't either. But my 10-gallon imitation is still off to Dean Oliver, king of the cowboys.

MOANING PALMER CARDS 70

GREENSBORO, N.C., (UPI) — "Right now," said Arnold Palmer, "I'm shooting better pool than I am golf."

Palmer, trying to get his game in shape to defend his Masters title at Augusta, Ga., next week, had just turned in a scrambling one-under par 70 for a 54 hole total of 216 in the Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

Well off the pace, Palmer said, he "wouldn't be thinking about next week so much if I was playing well." His game, he said, "is lousy, consistently lousy."

Palmer, who'll be after his fifth Masters' title, said he was "driving the ball good. I'm not happy with anything else. Nothing."

ALMOST DISQUALIFIED, BUT . . .

Slammer Ahead by 2

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Aging Sam Snead, the man they dedicated the tournament to, fired a 68 Saturday to leave the youngsters two strokes behind after 54 holes of the $65,000 Greater Greensboro open golf tournament.

Snead, approaching his 53rd birthday, had earlier rounds of 68 and 69, to give him a total of 205 going into the final round today. Labron Harris Jr. fired a 67 to move into second place at 207.

Phil Rodgers, the Californian who celebrated his 27th birthday with a three-under-par 69, moved to within four strokes at 209. He was tied with Billy Casper, who faltered from his midway point tie with Snead and came up with a 72.

Harris, who admitted to "being a little nervous" playing with Snead, said he "played better being nervous." He missed the green five times but still managed the day's best round which was matched by Charles Sifford and Gordon Jones.

Casper complained of being ill. He said he thought he got food poisoning Friday night.

"I thought I played damn well for a man who's been sick," Casper said.

Snead, who almost disqualified himself by arriving only five seconds before he was to tee off, sank putts of four, 12, 18, and 25 feet for birdies and collected his only bogey on the 17th when he three-putted. He has won this tournament seven times and has finished out of the money only three times in the past 24 years.

The city of Greensboro dedicated this year's tournament to Snead for the record the sweet-swinging Slammer has established since the tournament began. Snead won the first in the series in 1938 as a youngster and has outlasted the rest of his generation in this final tuneup for the Masters.

4-F: Fame, Fortune, Family, Future

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—When the world's top golfers assemble here this week for the Masters Tournament the player most people will be picking to win is a strapping young man from Ohio named Jack Nicklaus.

It is easy to see why they call him The Golden Bear.

A blond, powerful six-footer of German descent, he has both the golden look and the golden touch. No golfer in history—not even the immortal Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen or Ben Hogan—ever won as many major tournaments or piled up a greater fortune more quickly.

And Nicklaus, they say is just beginning.

At 25, ten years short of a player's normal prime, Jack has won eight national and international championships. He is the only man who has captured all four of America's blue ribbon events—the National Amateur, National Open, Masters and PGA.

Young Nicklaus represents the epitome of the modern capitalistic breed that now travels the nation's fairways and only Arnold Palmer, with a 10-year head start, has built a larger commercial dynasty.

Pays Income Tax on $500,000

Nicklaus pays income tax on around $500,000 a year—probably $250,000 less than his close partner and keen rival, Palmer. His enterprises are just beginning to mushroom. In another two or three years it is conceivable he will be a millionaire many times over.

Prize money from golf tournaments—$113,284.50 last year to lead official winnings—makes up only a percentage of his income. He gets a fat fee for representing a major club manufacturer but he uses different clubs in Britain, still other brands in Australia and the Far East for added revenue. He owns a company that makes shirts and slacks. He manufactures golf togs in Canada, gloves in Britain.

He has a firm that prints tags for wearing apparel. He syndicates instruction in newspapers and contributes regularly to magazines. He is half-owner, with Palmer, of the weekly television series "Golf's Big Three." He heads the Ohio Golf Exhibition Co., which arranges exhibitions for players, and he has large oil investments with Bob Hope and Perry Como.

'Very Much a Home Body'

Yet success falls easily on the beefy shoulders of this fairway Goliath.

"Jack is very much a home body," said Nicklaus' father Charley, a successful Columbus, Ohio, pharmacist who follows his son around the world, seldom missing a shot.

"When he's through playing, Jack can't wait to get home and horse around with the boys," the father added. "He seems able to forget the game completely. Whether he shoots 66 or 76, he never gets edgy. He has an amazing faculty for putting the day's round out of his mind and relaxing."

Jack's family consists of his tall and attractive blue-eyed wife, the former Barbara Bash, a college sweetheart whom he met and married while at Ohio State nearly five years ago; two sons, Jackie, 3½, and Steve, 2, and a French poodle, Napoleon, called Nappy. A third child is expected momentarily.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Aging Sam Snead, the man they dedicated the tournament to, fired a 68 Saturday to leave the youngsters two strokes behind after 54 holes of the $65,000 Greater Greensboro open golf tournament.

Snead, approaching his 53rd birthday, had earlier rounds of 68 and 69, to give him a total of 205 going into the final round today. Labron Harris Jr. fired a 67 to move into second place at 207.

Phil Rodgers, the Californian who celebrated his 27th birthday with a three-under-par 69, moved to within four strokes at 209. He was tied with Billy Casper, who faltered from his midway point tie with Snead and came up with a 72.

Harris, who admitted to "being a little nervous" playing with Snead, said he "played better being nervous." He missed the green five times but still managed the day's best round which was matched by Charles Sifford and Gordon Jones.

Casper complained of being ill. He said he thought he got food poisoning Friday night.

"I thought I played damn well for a man who's been sick," Casper said.

Snead, who almost disqualified himself by arriving only five seconds before he was to tee off, sank putts of four, 12, 18, and 25 feet for birdies and collected his only bogey on the 17th when he three-putted. He has won this tournament seven times and has finished out of the money only three times in the past 24 years.

The city of Greensboro dedicated this year's tournament to Snead for the record the sweet-swinging Slammer has established since the tournament began. Snead won the first in the series in 1938 as a youngster and has outlasted the rest of his generation in this final tuneup for the Masters.

Disgruntled Scribe Brews Yank Rhubarb

HITTIN' THE HIGH SPOTS: Roger Maris' trouble in Florida undoubtedly will raise the question as to whether or not Johnny Keane is going to have difficulty controlling the Yankee "nightriders," who were greatly responsible for the dissension on the club last year that resulted in Yogi Berra being released as manager even though he won the American League pennant.

Strangely enough, Maris has never been regarded as a regular member of the "night riders," thus the latest episode appears to be an isolated case.

JOHNNY KEANE
Takes 'Bad Rap'

However, it comes at a bad time publicity-wise for the Yankees, especially after the recent story in which it was said that several players, led by Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford, were feuding with their new manager.

The latter situation, of course, has been vigorously denied by everyone, but a lot of people are still not convinced that something is going on . . . figuring "where there is smoke, there is fire."

However, the Mantle-Ford-Keane situation is a "bad rap," according to information we have received from Florida. It is blamed on a disgruntled writer who dreamed up the story "to show the Yankees who they're dealing with."

This, I am told, is what really happened:

Keane, Yankee publicity man Bob Fishel and four newspapermen who cover the club were having dinner together a week ago last Tuesday in the dining room of the team's Fort Lauderdale headquarters on the eve of their game with the Dodgers.

ACCORDING TO THE WRITERS present, Keane remarked he was being asked more and more about the Mantle situation and since the Yankees were about to take off on a trip, out-of-town newspapermen undoubtedly would ask where he planned to play Mickey—in center, left or right field.

He said he was mentioning it because he did not want anything to come out without the men who were covering the Yankees having first crack at it.

"So," he reportedly said, "here is my thinking on the matter. If a decision had to be made right now, Mickey would be my leftfielder. Tresh would be in center and Maris would remain in right."

The following day when other newsmen who were not present at the informal dinner gathered for the flight to Vero Beach, Fishel told them of Keane's remarks. The writer who ultimately wrote that "a smoking feud seems to be arising" in the Yankee camp was present . . . but did not say anything at the time.

THE GAME THAT AFTERNOON with the Dodgers was the one in which Ford was belted hard for 12 hits and 11 runs in five innings. Nothing worked for Whitey.

After the club returned to Fort Lauderdale that night, the writer finally approached Fishel and said he didn't like the idea of getting Keane's decisions second-hand when other newsmen got them directly.

"If this happens again, I shall have to do something about it," he is quoted as saying.

Apparently he thought about it some more . . . and later that night finally sent the story that Mantle was shook up over Keane taking him out of center; that Ford was in "sympathy" with Mickey, and implied that Whitey's poor showing that afternoon actually was in protest to the move.

Keane, it is reported, has been going out of his way to be obliging and cooperative to newsmen this spring.

LITERARY NOTE: Whatever hanky-panky Australia's Dawn Fraser may have seen in the Olympic Village last year in Tokyo finally will be revealed next month when her eagerly-awaited book is released.

Her recent statement in which she asserted that "sex provides a popular diversion in any large community of athletes" drew world-wide interest in what further things she has to say about the subject.

And her suspension by the Australian Swimming Association for 10 years—it might as well have been for life competitively-speaking for Dawn is 27 now—has assured handsome financial returns from the book for the publicity reportedly will make it a "best seller" in several countries.

THE SAN FRANCISCO GIANTS are desperately seeking a deal for a lefthanded pitcher which they feel could be the whole key to their pennant hopes this season.

Their No. 1 choice is Alvin Jackson of the New York Mets . . . but also are talking with the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Such names have been mentioned as trade bait as Harvey Kuenn, Chuck Hiller, Jim Duffalo and Cap Peterson.

The Giants feel a lefthander will "put them over the top." Their excellent righthanded crew headed by Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry is supported by only one southpaw at present—Bob Hendley—after a recent squad cut.

L.B. Aquas Top Lynwood

Long Beach Aquatic Club dumped Lynwood AC, 174½-154½, Saturday at Lynwood to avenge an early-season loss, in age-group swimming action.

BAKER COULD BE T.D. MAKER

Breathing Fire? Not Svelte Svare

By JERRY WYNN

Over a Danish dish at Scandia Restaurant, the Norwegian-bred coach they call Swede talked of his most satisfying accomplishments of the past year.

"I quit smoking. I lost 15 pounds. I learned to put on a seat belt whenever I enter a car."

But his one most precious goal had eluded Harland Svare of the Rams. His football team failed to reach a .500 plateau in the 1964 season. The record of the Rams was 5-7-2.

"We've done a lot of figuring and studying of what went wrong and what was right about last season," said the handsome 35-year-old who resembles actor Richard Burton minus any wife.

"I'm confident the Rams will be a much better club next season."

Svare is particularly enthusiastic about the addition to his staff of two new assistants — line coach Bill Austin from the Green Bay Packers and defensive back coach Don Doll from the Detroit Lions.

"It gives us an insight into how those other teams operated and some fresh thinking for our club," explained Svare. "With the competition as tough as it is, there is no angle that can be overlooked trying to strengthen the Rams."

The youthful headmaster of Reeves U. feels he must upgrade his team's passing offense and defensive secondary to make it a contender in 1965.

"We've got our problems, and we've got our strengths. Our ends lack experience and we need more bodies at linebacker. We're strong in the lines, both offense and defense, and we should be able to run the ball very well."

One of Svare's pleasanter decisions will be to choose among Dick Bass, Ben Wilson, Les Josephson, Terry Baker and rookie Clancy Williams as starting running backs. Surprisingly, he says that Baker—the people's choice and the coaches' dilemma — has a good shot at one of the berths.

AUSTIN BAKER

"We know Terry has the attitude and he has certainly shown ability. The problem now is to make a full-fledged halfback out of him."

Svare also feels the Rams will be second to none but Unitas with Bill Munson and Roman Gabriel at quarterback, and his plans now are to allow them to call their own signals.

Svare gave his own signal for the waiter's check after refusing dessert and shunning an after-dinner smoke and was quick to fasten his seat belt upon entering the car.

Now if the Rams can only produce as well.

---

What are the Ram players doing during the off-season?

Several really have "gone Hollywood."

Mike Henry is starting his second Tarzan picture . . . Rosie Grier has had featured singing roles in the television shows "Shindig" and "Hullabaloo" and has cut a new set of Falstaff commericals . . . Duane Allen heads his own band, "The Contenders" . . . Cliff Livingston interrupts his bicycling jaunts by modeling for commericals.

But Joe Carollo and Don Chuy have the choicest roles. In addition to their blossoming careers as wrestlers, they are working in a movie in which they play oriental bodyguards assigned to Sophia Loren.

Merlin Olsen is a representative for a New York chemical company which has hired 20 NFL stars . . . Dick Bass is president of Dick Bass Bail Bonds . . . Deacon Jones, Bruce Gossett, Charlie Cowan and Joe Wendryhoski are selling autos . . . Frank Varrichione, Ed Meador and Andy Von Sonn are in real estate.

Bill Munson, Roman Gabriel, Marlin McKeever and Willie Brown handle public relations chores for major companies — Brown with Star-Kist Tuna of Long Beach.

Terry Baker is in law school at USC . . . Ben Wilson has forsaken dentistry for graduate business school at his Trojan alma mater . . . Bucky Pope and Aaron Martin are receiving training, the six-month Army cram course at Fort Polk, La. . . . Bobby Smith is in insurance . . . Lamar Lundy is with TWA, behind a desk.

Busiest Ram is Danny Villanueva. The Toe-reador has a nightly sports show on KMEX (channel 34), is full-time youth director for the Southern California Ford dealers, has a partnership in a Fresno shopping center, an interest in a land development company and is a member of the State Recreation Commission.

Clark Cracks Barrier in Swim Finals

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Steve Clark, Yale's Olympian became the first swimmer ever to break 46 seconds in the 100-yard freestyle Saturday night, an awesome performance that highlighted the national AAU men's indoor championships.

The 21-year-old winner of three gold medals at the Tokyo Olympics sprinted the distance in 45.6 seconds. Swimming experts rated the performance the equivalent of the breaking of the four minute mile barrier in track.

• • • •

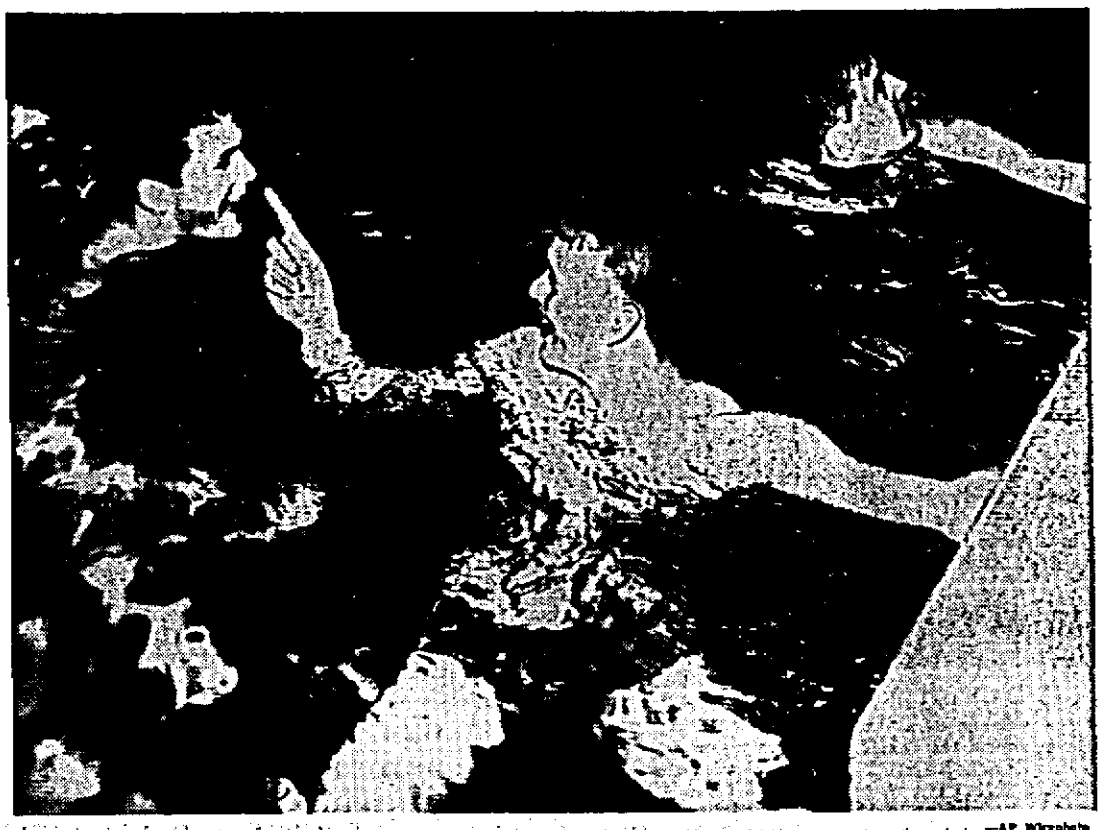

SO INCREDIBLE was Clark's performance that a turnaway audience at the plush Payne Whitney Gymnasium gave him a deafening standing ovation which lasted for over five minutes.

Bob Kiphuth, one-time Yale mentor, many times U.S. Olympic coach and at 72 years of age known affectionately as the grand old man of swimming said he had never, in almost 50 years of association with the sport, seen such a rousing ovation.

SCHOLLANDER TOP OLYMPIC MALE IN '64

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don Schollander, only a freshman at Yale, Saturday added another honor to his already impressive list of world wide acclamation when he was voted the outstanding Olympic male athlete of 1964 by the National Academy of Sports.

Schollander, who captured four gold medals in swimming at Tokyo, will be honored May 3 in New York where he will receive the Academy Star Award, the sports equivalent to Hollywood's Oscar.

Billy Mills, the 10,000-meter gold medalist at Tokyo, finished second to Schollander in voting while Bob Hayes, who won two gold medals in track at the Olympics, was third. Skater Terry McDermott came in fourth and 5,000-meter Olympic champion Bob Schul was fifth.

LBSC Ruggers Top Loyola for Title, 11-3

By JIM McCORMACK

Long Beach State Rugby Club stopped a spirited squad from Loyola University, 11-3, Saturday at Long Beach State to win the Southern California Rugby Union championship.

Under a unique interpretation of Union rules, the 49ers, open division champions, had to face the Lions, who finished second to San Diego State in the collegiate group.

San Diego State withdrew from the title clash although it held an earlier 14-9 win over the 49ers. Instead of giving L.B. the crown by forfeit, Union officials ruled it must play Loyola.

• • • •

THE HEAVY rains which pounded the Southland most of the week made field conditions sloppy although the contest was played in sunshine.

The field was, however, in perfect condition for a Beaver, or a former Beaver, so Long Beach turned loose ex-Oregon State rugby star Bill Candee and he had a field day.

The "mudder" broke a scoreless deadlock late in the first half on a beautiful twisting 35-yard run through most of Loyola's 15-man squad to give L.B. a 3-0 halftime lead.

• • • •

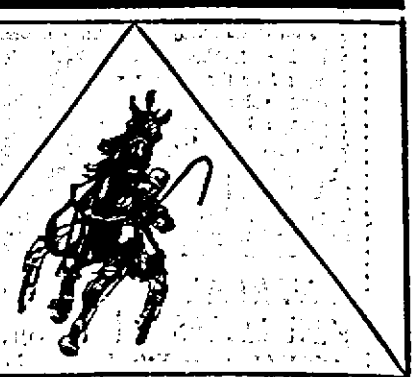

THE 49ERS scored again early in the second half when lineman John Woods picked up a loose ball and scored from five yards out. The Lions countered shortly thereafter, cutting the margin to 6-3.

After a scoreless 20 minutes Candee took over again and tallied on a 25-yard dash through the middle of the Lion squad. The 49ers' kicker, Jim O'Hara, added the conversion for his 113th and 114th points of the season.

Next week the 49er Rugby Club, which was 9-0 in league and 18-3 on the season, travels to San Francisco for a clash with Northern California champion Peacock Gap of San Rafael.

He said he was mentioning it because he did not want anything to come out without the men who were covering the Yankees having first crack at it.

"So," he reportedly said, "here is my thinking on the matter. If a decision had to be made right now, Mickey would be my leftfielder. Tresh would be in center and Maris would remain in right."

The following day when other newsmen who were not present at the informal dinner gathered for the flight to Vero Beach, Fishel told them of Keane's remarks. The writer who ultimately wrote that "a smoking feud seems to be arising" in the Yankee camp was present . . . but did not say anything at the time.

THE GAME THAT AFTERNOON with the Dodgers was the one in which Ford was belted hard for 12 hits and 11 runs in five innings. Nothing worked for Whitey.

After the club returned to Fort Lauderdale that night, the writer finally approached Fishel and said he didn't like the idea of getting Keane's decisions second-hand when other newsmen got them directly.

"If this happens again, I shall have to do something about it," he is quoted as saying.

Apparently he thought about it some more . . . and later that night finally sent the story that Mantle was shook up over Keane taking him out of center; that Ford was in "sympathy" with Mickey, and implied that Whitey's poor showing that afternoon actually was in protest to the move.

Keane, it is reported, has been going out of his way to be obliging and cooperative to newsmen this spring.

LITERARY NOTE: Whatever hanky-panky Australia's Dawn Fraser may have seen in the Olympic Village last year in Tokyo finally will be revealed next month when her eagerly-awaited book is released.

Her recent statement in which she asserted that "sex provides a popular diversion in any large community of athletes" drew world-wide interest in what further things she has to say about the subject.

And her suspension by the Australian Swimming Association for 10 years—it might as well have been for life competitively-speaking for Dawn is 27 now—has assured handsome financial returns from the book for the publicity reportedly will make it a "best seller" in several countries.

THE SAN FRANCISCO GIANTS are desperately seeking a deal for a lefthanded pitcher which they feel could be the whole key to their pennant hopes this season.

Their No. 1 choice is Alvin Jackson of the New York Mets . . . but also are talking with the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Such names have been mentioned as trade bait as Harvey Kuenn, Chuck Hiller, Jim Duffalo and Cap Peterson.

The Giants feel a lefthander will "put them over the top." Their excellent righthanded crew headed by Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry is supported by only one southpaw at present—Bob Hendley—after a recent squad cut.

L.B. Aquas Top Lynwood

Long Beach Aquatic Club dumped Lynwood AC, 174½-154½, Saturday at Lynwood to avenge an early-season loss, in age-group swimming action.

Kim Ouelette and Debbie Stillson won two events each and Kathy Decker, Lori Swatek and Martha De Weese first places, also, to pace the girls, while Jim Morrissey led the boys with two victories.

BAKER COULD BE T.D. MAKER

Breathing Fire? Not Svelte Svare

By JERRY WYNN

Over a Danish dish at Scandia Restaurant, the Norwegian-bred coach they call Swede talked of his most satisfying accomplishments of the past year.

"I quit smoking. I lost 15 pounds. I learned to put on a seat belt whenever I enter a car."

But his one most precious goal had eluded Harland Svare of the Rams. His football team failed to reach a .500 plateau in the 1964 season. The record of the Rams was 5-7-2.

"We've done a lot of figuring and studying of what went wrong and what was right about last season," said the handsome 35-year-old who resembles actor Richard Burton minus any wife.

"I'm confident the Rams will be a much better club next season."

Svare is particularly enthusiastic about the addition to his staff of two new assistants — line coach Bill Austin from the Green Bay Packers and defensive back coach Don Doll from the Detroit Lions.

"It gives us an insight into how those other teams operated and some fresh thinking for our club," explained Svare. "With the campetition as tough as it is, there is no angle that can be overlooked trying to strengthen the Rams."

The youthful headmaster of Reeves U. feels he must upgrade his team's passing offense and defensive secondary to make it a contender in 1965.

"We've got our problems, and we've got our strengths. Our ends lack experience and we need more bodies at linebacker. We're strong in the lines, both offense and defense, and we should be able to run the ball very well."

One of Svare's pleasanter decisions will be to choose among Dick Bass, Ben Wilson, Les Josephson, Terry Baker and rookie Clancy Williams as starting running backs. Surprisingly, he says that Baker—the people's choice and the coaches' dilemma — has a good shot at one of the berths.

AUSTIN BAKER

"We know Terry has the attitude and he has certainly shown ability. The problem now is to make a full-fledged halfback out of him."

Svare also feels the Rams will be second to none but Unitas with Bill Munson and Roman Gabriel at quarterback, and his plans now are to allow them to call their own signals.

Svare gave his own signal for the waiter's check after refusing dessert and shunning an after-dinner smoke and was quick to fasten his seat belt upon entering the car.

Now if the Rams can only produce as well.

---

What are the Ram players doing during the off-season?

Several really have "gone Hollywood."

Mike Henry is starting his second Tarzan picture . . . Rosie Grier has had featured singing roles in the television shows "Shindig" and "Hullabaloo" and has cut a new set of Falstaff commericals . . . Duane Allen heads his own band, "The Contenders" . . . Cliff Livingston interrupts his bicycling jaunts by modeling for commericals.

But Joe Carollo and Don Chuy have the choicest roles. In addition to their blossoming careers as wrestlers, they are working in a movie in which they play oriental bodyguards assigned to Sophia Loren.

Merlin Olsen is a representative for a New York chemical company which has hired 20 NFL stars . . . Dick Bass is president of Dick Bass Bail Bonds . . . Deacon Jones, Bruce Gossett, Charlie Cowan and Joe Wendryhoski are selling autos . . . Frank Varrichione, Ed Meador and Andy Von Sonn are in real estate.

Bill Munson, Roman Gabriel, Marlin McKeever and Willie Brown handle public relations chores for major companies — Brown with Star-Kist Tuna of Long Beach.

Terry Baker is in law school at USC . . . Ben Wilson has forsaken dentistry for graduate business school at his Trojan alma mater . . . Bucky Pope and Aaron Martin are receiving training, the six-month Army cram course at Fort Polk, La. . . . Bobby Smith is in insurance . . . Lamar Lundy is with TWA, behind a desk.

Busiest Ram is Danny Villanueva. The Toe-reador has a nightly sports show on KMEX (channel 34), is full-time youth director for the Southern California Ford dealers, has a partnership in a Fresno shopping center, an interest in a land development company and is a member of the State Recreation Commission.

Clark Cracks Barrier in Swim Finals

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Steve Clark, Yale's Olympian became the first swimmer ever to break 46 seconds in the 100-yard freestyle Saturday night, an awesome performance that highlighted the national AAU men's indoor championships.

The 21-year-old winner of three gold medals at the Tokyo Olympics sprinted the distance in 45.6 seconds. Swimming experts rated the performance the equivalent of the breaking of the four minute mile barrier in track.

* * * *

SO INCREDIBLE was Clark's performance that a turnaway audience at the plush Payne Whitney Gymnasium gave him a deafening standing ovation which lasted for over five minutes.

Bob Kiphuth, one-time Yale mentor, many times U.S. Olympic coach and at 72 years of age known affectionately as the grand old man of swimming said he had never, in almost 50 years of association with the sport, seen such a rousing ovation.

COME THROUGH IN GOO

LBSC Ruggers Top Loyola for Title, 11-3

By JIM McCORMACK

Long Beach State Rugby Club stopped a spirited squad from Loyola University, 11-3, Saturday at Long Beach State to win the Southern California Rugby Union championship.

Under a unique interpretation of Union rules, the 49ers, open division champions, had to face the Lions, who finished second to San Diego State in the collegiate group.

San Diego State withdrew from the title clash although it held an earlier 14-9 win over the 49ers. Instead of giving L.B. the crown by forfeit, Union officials ruled it must play Loyola.

* * * *

THE HEAVY rains which pounded the Southland most of the week made field conditions sloppy although the contest was played in sunshine.

The field was, however, in perfect condition for a Beaver, or a former Beaver, so Long Beach turned loose ex-Oregon State rugby star Bill Candee and he had a field day.

The "mudder" broke a scoreless deadlock late in the first half on a beautiful twisting 35-yard run through most of Loyola's 15-man squad to give L.B. a 3-0 halftime lead.

* * * *

THE 49ERS scored again early in the second half when lineman John Woods picked up a loose ball and scored from five yards out. The Lions countered shortly thereafter, cutting the margin to 6-3.

After a scoreless 20 minutes Candee took over again and tallied on a 25-yard dash through the middle of the Lion squad. The 49ers' kicker, Jim O'Hara, added the conversion for his 113th and 114th points of the season.

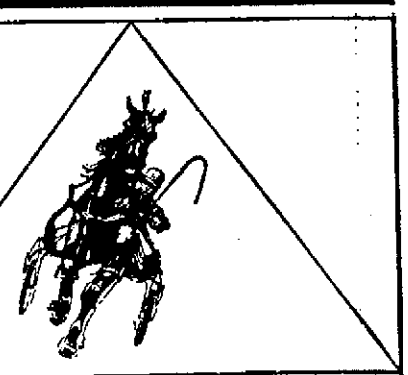

Next week the 49er Rugby Club, which was 9-0 in league and 18-3 on the season, travels to San Francisco for a clash with Northern California champion Peacock Gap of San Rafael.

Bosco Rosco Wins by Nose in Maturity

By ERNIE MASON

Bosco Rosco avoided the fate that befell such outstanding horses as Adios Vic and Argo Kid in the last two days at Santa Anita by winning the $12,500 Spring Maturity Pace by the barest of margins over Jerry Adios on Saturday.

It was the second impressive win at the Santa Anita meeting for the four-year-old pacer as he defeated five of the best four-year-olds on the grounds at the Arcadia track.

It took a long look at the photograph by the judges to determine the winner as just a nose separated Bosco Rosco, driven by Russell Valles Key, and Jerry Adios, reined by Jimmy Cruise.

• • • •

VALLES KEY got Bosco Rosco away from the gate quickly and took a brief lead before allowing Gayliner to go to the front. It was then that Cruise made a bold move with Jerry Adios, last year's "horse of the meeting" at Santa Anita, and it almost paid off until Bosco Rosco, never too far off the lead, made a strong rush at the finish.

He was third at the top of the stretch, a length from the front, as Redouble took a brief lead before Jerry Adios and Bosco Rosco turned on the speed.

The mile was in a relatively slow 2:09⅗ over the off track left heavy from a week of steady rain and a slow first half in 1:07½ left the field fresh for the dash to the wire.

• • • •

THE LAST quarter went in a fast 30⅗ seconds as Bosco Rosco added another $6,250 to his credit. He's already piled up $13,524 in money winnings in 13 starts here and at Phoenix.

Gayliner was third, three lengths behind the dueling pair, while Tarport Count, second choice in the wagering, had another disappointing trip as he finished a poor last.

Fastest mile of the day was in the preceding race when Cedar Crest Delvin surprised in winning over a strong field of pacers. Second longest price in the field, Cedar Crest Delvin, driven by Jack Adams, gained his first win in four starts this year in 2:06⅕ and paid $26.60.

• • • •

THE WIN was an easy one for him as he finished 2½ lengths ahead of Leader Pick as Jimmy Dennis was seeking a driving triple.

Dennis had won earlier with a pair of horses owned by Victor and Morris Zeinfeld —Golden Will and Avalon Bomber.

Joe O'Brien added one more win to his log—23rd of the meeting—when he won with Emory Hanover for the second time at Santa Anita.

That victory left him just six short of the coveted 2,000 mark with four more days of racing remaining at the Santa Anita meeting starting Monday.

JOCKEYS TRY SULKIES AT SANTA ANITA

Noted jockeys and ex-riders will try their luck at piloting harness horses at Santa Anita Monday, the only Monday racing of the spring harness racing season in a special, non-wagering exhibition race at the Arcadia oval.

Recently retired Ralph Neves, former national riding champion Johnny Adams, one-time Calumet Farm contract rider Enclid Le Blanc, popular Bobby McRoberts, who deserted the saddle for the judges' stand, and either Rogelio Trejos or Ken Church will try their hands at piloting pacers around the Santa Anita oval.

The exhibition race will be staged between the third and fourth races on the Monday card, which starts at 1:30.

Ring Champ Returns

Pedro Morales, the new heavyweight wrestling champion who boasts that he will take on all challengers, will battle Billy Red Lyons in this week's top bout at Municipal Auditorium. The Masked Destroyer also is booked for a special challenge match on the Tuesday night card.

A WINNER, FOR SURE

Cheryl Schroder, queen of the Los Alamitos spring racing meeting, lends a helping hand at the new infield tote board.

LOS ALAMITOS OPENS FRIDAY

Quick Q-Horses Set

By DON HARDIN

There are a lot of quaint sayings around quarter horse race tracks, one of them which goes something like this:

"Light your cigarette BEFORE the announcer says 'they're all in the gate' or that first puff of smoke may obliterate the entire race."

This may be stretching the point a bit, but not much, because your heart beats but a few times, no matter how excited you are, during the running of a quarter horse race.

So, beginning Friday, light your cigarette early, wiggle yourself into viewing position BEFORE the announcer's call, because the swiftest of all horses will be sprinting down the stretch nine times a day as Los Alamitos Race Course begins its 27-day spring quarter horse meeting.

A distribution of purses totaling $447,000 for the 243 scheduled races has been announced by Frank Vessels, track president and general manager, and Edward Burke, director of racing.

Nine stakes will be conducted, highlighted by the running of the $25,000 Pacific Coast Quarter Horse Derby April 24, the $15,000 Juvenile Championship on closing day, May 11, and the $35,000 Los Alamitos Championship May 8.

Entries will be taken Wednesday for the Inaugural Handicap, annual opening day feature of spring meetings which brings together some of the best three-year-olds who figured prominently in many of the top juvenile attractions last fall when the horses were only two-year-olds.

Racing fans once again will be able to see such fine quarter horses as Anna Dial, Goetta, Barred's Quest, Night Latch, Bar Request (winner of the rich Futurity), Mel's Luck and Princess Rozella. Charlie Smith, leading rider for the last five seasons and six of the last seven, again will head a crack jockey contingent.

The track has been scrubbed and freshly painted for what is expected to be a banner season. The attendance last spring was 216,280 and the track passed the million dollar mark in betting on April 25 of that meet and barely missed that mark twice during the fall.

The track will present its beautiful queen, Cheryl Schroeder of Anaheim, on opening day. She will present the trophy in the winner's enclosure for the Inaugural.

Gates open at 11:30 and there will be nine races each weekday, excluding Good Friday, with first post at 1:30, preceded by the ever-popular milk run.

JACINTO HURTS LEG

Bold Lad in Romp; Derby to 'Charger'

Bold Lad established himself as the horse to beat in the Kentucky Derby with an impressive return to the races in a six furlong victory at Aqueduct Saturday.

The 2-year-old champion of 1964, hampered in recent weeks by leg injuries, toyed with four older rivals and finished three lengths ahead of Pack Trip.

One-half hour after Bold Lad's triumph, the crowd of 55,578 saw Isidore Bieber's Flag Raiser race to an impressive victory in the $57,400 Gotham, the feature which took a back seat after the withdrawal of Bold Lad and the injured Jacinto.

Under Bob Ussery, Flag Raiser hit the wire four lengths ahead of the stretch-running Dapper Dan, a stablemate of Bold Lad.

• • • •

BOLD LAD, winning his eighth in a row, went the distance in 1:10 2/5 in a performance trainer Bill Winfrey called "just what I wanted."

Winfrey pulled the Wheatley Stable star out of Saturday's richer Gotham Stakes for the shorter race, Bold Lad's first start since December.

Bold Lad paid $2.50, $2.40 and $2.10. Pack Trip returned $4.20 and $2.90 and Exclusive Nashua paid $2.70 to show.

The Derby pictures became a little more scrambled when the highly regarded Jacinto was withdrawn from the Gotham after turning in the morning with an ankle injury.

Flag Raiser went in front at the start of the Gotham and stayed there, running the mile in 1:36 and earning $37,310.

The three-horse entry trained by Hirsch Jacobs—Flag Raiser, Isle of Greece and Turn to Reason — paid $2.90, $2.10 and $2.10. Dapper Dan, fastest at the end, paid $2.10 and $2.10, and Dependability paid $2.10.

• • • •

MAJ. ALBERT Warner's gray-coated Native Charger took the lead a half-mile out then fought off the stretch challenge of Hail to All to win the $119,800 Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

The victory thus made Native Charger the champion of the three-year-olds in Florida for the husky son of the great Native Dancer also won the $100,000 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah a month ago. Gallant Lad finished third another three lengths back.

Time for the mile and one-eighth was a lackluster 1:51⅕, more than four seconds off the track record on a fast racing strip.

Native Charger was the favorite in the nine-horse field and paid $6.80, $4 and $3. Hail to All returned $4.40 and $3.20, while Gallant Lad paid $6.00 to show.

Mexico's Soccer Stars Play in L.A.

Club Zacatepec, one of Mexico's hottest professional soccer clubs and headed by two World Cup players, will be in Los Angeles next week for two international games at Rancho Cienega Stadium.

The team will meet the all-Latin California League all-stars Thursday night and the Greater L.A. League all-stars Sunday afternoon.

TURF BRIEFS

There were freaky and unusual happenings at the Golden Gate race track Saturday. First, a $1,569.60 daily double was recorded when Howdy's Laddie (5-1) and Allsan (90.80) won the first two races. Soccer favorite combined through the next three races with prices of $42.40, $33.20 and $28.20. The track also staged an unusual 10-race card because the California Derby Trial was split into five divisions with Nesbianca winning the first and Kentucky Derby candidate Carpenter's Rule, taking the second. Johnny Longden rode Nesbianca for his 5,950th career victory and the winner paid $4.20, $3.60 and $2.40 after running the mile in 1:36⅘. Carpenter's Rule's time was 1:35⅘ and he paid $9.40, $4.40 and $3.

ONE PLAYER hit the 5-10 pool at Caliente with a perfect card at six winners which was worth $67,744.80. Favored Pump Jack won the six-furlong feature race in 1:10⅘ and paid $5.60.

Bosco Rosco Wins by Nose in Maturity

By ERNIE MASON

Bosco Rosco avoided the fate that befell such outstanding horses as Adios Vic and Argo Kid in the last two days at Santa Anita by winning the $12,500 Spring Maturity Pace by the barest of margins over Jerry Adios on Saturday.

It was the second impressive win at the Santa Anita meeting for the four-year-old pacer as he defeated five of the best four-year-olds on the grounds at the Arcadia track.

It took a long look at the photograph by the judges to determine the winner as just a nose separated Bosco Rosco, driven by Russell Valles Key, and Jerry Adios, reined by Jimmy Cruise.

* * * *

VALLES KEY got Bosco Rosco away from the gate quickly and took a brief lead before allowing Gayliner to go to the front. It was then that Cruise made a bold move with Jerry Adios, last year's "horse of the meeting" at Santa Anita, and it almost paid off until Bosco Rosco, never too far off the lead, made a strong rush at the finish.

He was third at the top of the stretch, a length from the front, as Redouble took a brief lead before Jerry Adios and Bosco Rosco turned on the speed.

The mile was in a relatively slow 2:09⅗ over the off track left heavy from a week of steady rain and a slow first half in 1:07⅘ left the field fresh for the dash to the wire.

* * * *

THE LAST quarter went in a fast 30⅗ seconds as Bosco Rosco added another $6,250 to his credit. He's already piled up $13,524 in money winnings in 13 starts here and at Phoenix.

Gayliner was third, three lengths behind the dueling pair, while Tarport Count, second choice in the wagering, had another disappointing trip as he finished a poor last.

Fastest mile of the day was in the preceding race when Cedar Crest Delvin surprised in winning over a strong field of pacers. Second longest price in the field, Cedar Crest Delvin, driven by Jack Adams, gained his first win in four starts this year in 2:06⅕ and paid $26.60.

* * * *

THE WIN was an easy one for him as he finished 2½ lengths ahead of Leader Pick as Jimmy Dennis was seeking a driving triple.

Dennis had won earlier with a pair of horses owned by Victor and Morris Zeinfeld —Golden Will and Avalon Bomber.

Joe O'Brien added one more win to his log—23rd of the meeting—when he won with Emory Hanover for the second time at Santa Anita.

That victory left him just six short of the coveted 2,000 mark with four more days of racing remaining at the Santa Anita meeting starting Monday.

JOCKEYS TRY SULKIES AT SANTA ANITA

Noted jockeys and exriders will try their luck at piloting harness horses at Santa Anita Monday, the only Monday racing of the spring harness racing season in a special, non-wagering exhibition race at the Arcadia oval.

Recently retired Ralph Neves, former national riding champion Johnny Adams, one-time Calumet Farm contract rider Euclid Le Blanc, popular Bobby McRoberts, who deserted the saddle for the judges' stand, and either Rogelio Trejos or Ken Church will try their hands at piloting pacers around the Santa Anita oval.

The exhibition race will be staged between the third and fourth races on the Monday card, which starts at 1:30.

Ring Champ Returns

Pedro Morales, the new heavyweight wrestling champion who boasts that he will take on all challengers, will battle Billy Red Lyons in this week's top bout at Municipal Auditorium. The Masked Destroyer also is booked for a special challenge match on the Tuesday night card.

A WINNER, FOR SURE

Cheryl Schroder, queen of the Los Alamitos spring racing meeting, lends a helping hand at the new infield tote board.

LOS ALAMITOS OPENS FRIDAY

Quick Q-Horses Set

By DON HARDIN

There are a lot of quaint sayings around quarter horse race tracks, one of them which goes something like this:

"Light your cigarette BEFORE the announcer says 'they're all in the gate' or that first puff of smoke may obliterate the entire race."

This may be stretching the point a bit, but not much, because your heart beats but a few times, no matter how excited you are, during the running of a quarter horse race.

So, beginning Friday, light your cigarette early, wiggle yourself into viewing position BEFORE the announcer's call, because the swiftest of all horses will be sprinting down the stretch nine times a day as Los Alamitos Race Course begins its 27-day spring quarter horse meeting.

A distribution of purses totaling $447,000 for the 243 scheduled races has been announced by Frank Vessels, track president and general manager, and Edward Burke, director of racing.

Nine stakes will be conducted, highlighted by the running of the $25,000 Pacific Coast Quarter Horse Derby April 24, the $15,000 Juvenile Championship on closing day, May 11, and the $35,000 Los Alamitos Championship May 8.

Entries will be taken Wednesday for the Inaugural Handicap, annual opening day feature of spring meetings which brings together some of the best three-year-olds who figured prominently in many of the top juvenile attractions last fall when the horses were only two-year-olds.

Racing fans once again will be able to see such fine quarter horses as Anna Dial, Goetta, Barred's Quest, Night Latch, Bar Request (winner of the rich Futurity), Mel's Luck and Princess Rozella. Charlie Smith, leading rider for the last five seasons and six of the last seven, again will head a crack jockey contingent.

The track has been scrubbed and freshly painted for what is expected to be a banner season. The attendance last spring was 216,280 and the track passed the million dollar mark in betting on April 25 of that meet and barely missed that mark twice during the fall.

The track will present its beautiful queen, Cheryl Schroeder of Anaheim, on opening day. She will present the trophy in the winner's enclosure for the Inaugural.

Gates open at 11:30 and there will be nine races each weekday, excluding Good Friday, with first post at 1:30, preceded by the ever-popular milk run.

JACINTO HURTS LEG

Bold Lad in Romp; Derby to 'Charger'

Bold Lad established himself as the horse to beat in the Kentucky Derby with an impressive return to the races in a six furlong victory at Aqueduct Saturday.

The 2-year-old champion of 1964, hampered in recent weeks by leg injuries, toyed with four older rivals and finished three lengths ahead of Pack Trip.

One-half hour after Bold Lad's triumph, the crowd of 55,578 saw Isidore Bieber's Flag Raiser race to an impressive victory in the $57,400 Gotham, the feature which took a back seat after the withdrawal of Bold Lad and the injured Jacinto.

Under Bob Ussery, Flag Raiser hit the wire four lengths ahead of the stretch-running Dapper Dan, a stablemate of Bold Lad.

* * * *

BOLD LAD, winning his eighth in a row, went the distance in 1:10 2/5 in a performance trainer Bill Winfrey called "just what I wanted."

Winfrey pulled the Wheatley Stable star out of Saturday's richer Gotham Stakes for the shorter race, Bold Lad's first start since December.

Bold Lad paid $2.50, $2.40 and $2.10. Pack Trip returned $4.20 and $2.90 and Exclusive Nashua paid $2.70 to show.

The Derby pictures became a little more scrambled when the highly regarded Jacinto was withdrawn from the Gotham after turning in the morning with an ankle injury.

Flag Raiser went in front at the start of the Gotham and stayed there, running the mile in 1:36 and earning $37,310.

The three-horse entry trained by Hirsch Jacobs—Flag Raiser, Isle of Greece and Turn to Reason — paid $2.90, $2.10 and $2.10. Dapper Dan, fastest at the end, paid $2.10 and $2.10, and Dependability paid $2.10.

* * * *

MAJ. ALBERT Warner's gray-coated Native Charger took the lead a half-mile out, then fought off the stretch challenge of Hail to All to win the $119,800 Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

The victory thus made Native Charger the champion of the three-year-olds in Florida for the husky son of the great Native Dancer also won the $100,000 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah a month ago. Gallant Lad finished third another three lengths back.

Time for the mile and one-eighth was a lackluster 1:51⅕, more than four seconds off the track record on a fast racing strip.

Native Charger was the favorite in the nine-horse field and paid $6.80, $4 and $3. Hail to All returned $4.40 and $3.20, while Gallant Lad paid $6.00 to show.

Mexico's Soccer Stars Play in L.A.

Club Zacatepec, one of Mexico's hottest professional soccer clubs and headed by two World Cup players, will be in Los Angeles next week for two international games at Rancho Cienega Stadium.

The team will meet the all-Latin California League all-stars Thursday night and the Greater L.A. League all-stars Sunday afternoon.

TURF BRIEFS

There were lively and unusual happenings at the Golden Gate race track Saturday. First, a $1,549.60 daily double was recorded when Howdy's Lassie ($79) and Allsan (90.80) won the first two races. Boxcar payoffs continued through the next three races with win prices of $42.40, $31.20 and $28.20. The track also staged an unusual 10-race card because the California Derby Trial was split into two divisions with Nasharco winning the first and Kentucky Derby candidate, Carpenter's Rule, taking the second. Johnny Longden rode Nasharco for his 5,950th career victory and the winner paid $4.20, $2.60 and $2.40 after running the mile in 1:34⅘. Carpenter's Rule's time was 1:35⅘ and he paid $9.40, $4.40 and $3.

* * * *

ONE PLAYER hit the $-10 pool at Caliente with a perfect card of six winners which was worth $47,766.80. Favored Pump Jack won the six-furlong feature race in 1:10⅘ and paid $5.60.

Tex Ellington Fishing for Bass

Tex Ellington, long a familiar figure around the Long Beach waterfront as well as waterfronts of the world, finally is going to see the United States. He has held two titles for years, vice president of Pierpoint Landing Corporation and director of foreign purchases and sales for Van Camp Sea Food Company.

He has retired from Van Camp after 35 years, more than half of which was spent in traveling from country to country and arranging for sea food purchases, as well as sales of Van Camp products. He has been given citations by both the Japanese and Korean governments for helping them promote fisheries.

Tex will retain his position at Pierpoint, but he doesn't intend to let that tie him down to a desk job. He will be mostly a consultant, or perhaps we should say a senior director who now wants to do a bit of roving in western America.

A group of his friends got together the other day at a luncheon in the Pierpoint Restaurant and presented Tex with a deluxe tackle box filled with plugs, lures and other odds and ends for fresh-water use. Inasmuch as Tex has just bought a camper, it would not surprise anybody to see him wheeling away toward a good bass lake on the Colorado River within a week or so.

Also, with the advent of summer, he intends to take his wife, Blanche, and spend about three months exploring the Pacific Northwest. He has never seen much of it.

TEX HAS BEEN FISHING ever since he was knee-high to a flat marlin. Long before he went with Van Camp he was working on commercial and sportfishing boats. Later, he became the captain and owner of a commercial boat.

"I think fishing is fun, whether its for sport or commercial," he says. "I have never had enough time for fresh-water fishing. Once in New Zealand some friends took me to a trout lake and stream and you really would have thought that I was a commercial. I was catching them as fast as I could cast.

"Incidentally, the New Zealand people are among the greatest in the world. I have never met people so friendly. They are far different than the Australians, who, I think, have a tendency to be more stand-offish, if you know what I mean.

"The potential of New Zealand is great. There are untapped minerals, such as iron ore two feet under the soil for miles in one area. There is absolutely no fruit or vegetable that can't be grown in New Zealand. A person with the necessary enthusiasm and ability to work could almost pick his occupation and make a great thing of it.

"Its trout fishing is tremendous, but also the big-game fish abound there by the thousands. It's a great place for marlin and broadbill. The climate is ideal and if I had to pick another country in which to live, it would be New Zealand."

TEX, BORN IN GEORGIA, and with a southern drawl, got the nickname of Tex from some school chums because of that drawl. It has stuck with him ever since. But just for the record, his real name is George P. He and his wife live at 4230 Lime Ave., and have one son, James, 20, now a student in Long Beach City College.

Fortunately, Blanche likes fishing as well as Tex, well, almost! She was born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, but they met after they had migrated to California and were married here.

On one of his last purchasing trips, Tex went to Indonesia where he picked up a rare collection of fish carvings done by diver-artists in those islands. Those carvings, made from driftwood and painted to resemble the real fishes, are on display at Pierpoint Landing now.

It might be well to explain Ellington's feelings about sportfishing. He is against all the anchovy grabs that have been attempted. He favors strict limits on all fish, as suggested by the Department of Fish and Game. He feels that all the fish meal that is being used for poultry and animal feed is being imported from countries that can stand the pressure.

Even though there is an interlocking directorship in Pierpoint and Van Camp, Pierpoint is being managed by an out-and-out sportfisherman, J. E. (Mac) McClintock, and there is nothing commercial about the operation.

THE LARGEST DONATION to Ducks Unlimited by the Long Beach Sportsman's Club will be mailed this week as the result of its annual DU-Ivan Bowman Memorial dinner last Monday night. Three hundred and thirty-five dinners at $5 were served in a two-hour period. The net proceeds from the dinners and the Duk-a-Nickel cans amounted to $2,500, exceeding by $700 the largest ever raised previously.

In addition, $500 was raised for the Ocean Fish Protective Association, for which Lydia (Ole) Ridder should be praised. She had donated her late husband's (Harold F. Ridder) Winchester Model 21 shotgun for a drawing. Half of the proceeds went to DU, the other to OFPA, at her request.

The kitchen crew headed by Frank Pearce, and their wives worked Saturday, Sunday and Monday preparing for the dinner. There was a choice of wild ducks, donated by club members, or Cornish hen. And it was terrific!

LET'S GO FISHING
Mac McClintock (left), general manager of Pierpoint Landing, presents tackle box to retiring Tex Ellington, who intends to learn what fresh-water fishing is all about. See FISHIN' AROUND for details.

Cal Crew Favored in Regatta

The nation's best college crew in 1964 will be one of the competitors in the seventh annual Long Beach Regatta Saturday, April 10, at Marine Stadium.

California's Golden Bears, defending intercollegiate champs, should be favored in the feature varsity 2,000-meter race over eights from USC, San Diego State and Long Beach State.

* * * *

A FIFTH school, Orange Coast, will join the larger colleges in the JV and frosh contests, and Oregon State University will have a boat in the four-oared races.

Rowing clubs from San Francisco, San Diego and Long Beach, members of the California Kayak Club and canoists will also be in action in the 11-race, 3-hour program which starts at 1 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the Long Beach Rowing Association. Ticket prices are $1 and 25 cents.

Sick American Powers Oxford Over Cambridge

LONDON (UPI) — Four strapping Americans helped power Oxford to victory over Cambridge in their annual crew race on the River Thames Saturday, but one Yank confessed later he almost collapsed in the Dark Blues surge for the finish post.

Duncan Spencer of New York, 24-year-old No. 7 oarsman, said "We almost didn't make it near the end. I suddenly felt close to packing it in. I don't know just what went wrong. But I lost all sense of what was happening. I guess we just got home in time."

No hint of Spencer's trouble showed as Oxford crossed the line four lengths ahead, having covered the four miles, 374 yards in 18 minutes and seven seconds.

FROSH SCORE LONE LBSC CREW VICTORY

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State University defeated varsity and junior varsity crews from Long Beach State in 2,000-meter races on the Willamette River at Corvallis Saturday.

The visitors won the Frosh race.

The OSU varsity crew moved ahead at the 700-meter mark and finished with a time of six minutes, 19 seconds. LBSC was one length back, at 6:25.2.

The Oregon State JVs won in 6.37, nine seconds better than the visitors.

The 49er Frosh's winning time was 6:29, compared with OSU's 6:37.

The races were in sunny weather on smooth water with a medium tailwind.

L.B. Gym Meet Friday

The sixth Long Beach Invitational gymnastics meet, annually one of the top events in California, has been scheduled for Friday, April 9, in the Long Beach State College gym at 8 p.m.

The meet, sponsored by Long Beach State, will feature many of the gymnasts taking part in this weekend's NCAA University Championships at Southern Illinois.

Heading the list of champions on hand will be Danny Millman, 1964 world champion on trampoline from the University of California at Berkeley.

Also competing will be every CCAA champion and each state title holder of the past season along with the top junior college performers in California and some top high school stars.

There will be awards given in each event in addition to recognition for the most outstanding gymnast overall. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students other than LBSC students who are admitted free with cards.

Atlanta's '500' Lures 44 Today

ATLANTA (AP)—Five more cars qualified for the Atlanta "500" stock car race Saturday, bringing the total to 29.

Other starting lineup positions for today's race were determined by registration after rain stopped track activity.

The race will start with a field of 44.

The pole position is held by Marvin Panch of Daytona Beach, Fla., in a factory-backed Ford. He had a time of 145.581 m.p.h. Thursday.

* * * *

ABOUT 60,000 persons are expected to watch the race at Atlanta International Raceway's 1½-mile asphalt track.

Of the fastest 10 qualifying times, seven belong to 1965 Fords.

Saturday's qualifiers were: Neil Castles, Charlotte, N.C., 1965 Plymouth 135.075; Bud Moore, Charleston, S.C., Ford, 134.881; Junior Spencer, Hamlin, W. Va., 1964 Ford 132.029; Bob Derrington, Houston, Tex., 1963 Ford, 124.481; Roy Tyner, Mullins, S.C., 1964 Chevrolet, 102.126.

They will occupy positions 25 through 29.

Californian Wins English Race Easily

OULTON PARK, England (AP)—Roy Pike, a 24-year-old Hollywood, Calif., driver, outclassed the cream of British Formula 3 drivers Saturday in a 50-mile race over the twisting Oulton Park circuit.

The American, in a Repco-Brabham racer, went to the front at the start and set a Formula 3 lap record of 93.59 mph.

Pike finished 13 seconds ahead of his nearest rival. His race speed was 90.77 m.p.h.

Danis Hulme, a New Zealander in a Brabham Cosworth, scored a runaway victory in the 110-mile Formula 2 race at an average speed of 96.51.

Graham Hill, a former world auto racing champion, took the lead at the halfway stage, but had to retire with ignition trouble.

The Japanese-engined Honda driven by Australian Jack Brabham, former world champion, covered 17 laps before retiring with engine trouble.

On one of his last purchasing trips, Tex went to Indonesia where he picked up a rare collection of fish carvings done by diver-artists in those islands. Those carvings, made from driftwood and painted to resemble the real fishes, are on display at Pierpoint Landing now.

It might be well to explain Ellington's feelings about sportfishing. He is against all the anchovy grabs that have been attempted. He favors strict limits on all fish, as suggested by the Department of Fish and Game. He feels that all the fish meal that is being used for poultry and animal feed is being imported from countries that can stand the pressure.

Even though there is an interlocking directorship in Pierpoint and Van Camp, Pierpoint is being managed by an out-and-out sportfisherman, J. E. (Mac) McClintock, and there is nothing commercial about the operation.

THE LARGEST DONATION to Ducks Unlimited by the Long Beach Sportsman's Club will be mailed this week as the result of its annual DU-Ivan Bowman Memorial dinner last Monday night. Three hundred and thirty-five dinners at $5 were served in a two-hour period. The net proceeds from the dinners and the Duk-a-Nickel cans amounted to $2,500, exceeding by $700 the largest ever raised previously.

In addition, $500 was raised for the Ocean Fish Protective Association, for which Lydia (Ole) Ridder should be praised. She had donated her late husband's (Harold F. Ridder) Winchester Model 21 shotgun for a drawing. Half of the proceeds went to DU, the other to OFPA, at her request.

The kitchen crew headed by Frank Pearce, and their wives worked Saturday, Sunday and Monday preparing for the dinner. There was a choice of wild ducks, donated by club members, or Cornish hen. And it was terrific!

Cal Crew Favored in Regatta

The nation's best college crew in 1964 will be one of the competitors in the seventh annual Long Beach Regatta Saturday, April 10, at Marine Stadium.

California's Golden Bears, defending intercollegiate champs, should be favored in the feature varsity 2,000-meter race over eights from USC, San Diego State and Long Beach State.

* * * *

A FIFTH school, Orange Coast, will join the larger colleges in the JV and frosh contests, and Oregon State University will have a boat in the four-oared races.

Rowing clubs from San Francisco, San Diego and Long Beach, members of the California Kayak Club and canoists will also be in action in the 11-race, 3-hour program which starts at 1 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the Long Beach Rowing Association. Ticket prices are $1 and 25 cents.

Sick American Powers Oxford Over Cambridge

LONDON (UPI) — Four strapping Americans helped power Oxford to victory over Cambridge in their annual crew race on the River Thames Saturday, but one Yank confessed later he almost collapsed in the Dark Blues surge for the finish post.

Duncan Spencer of New York, 24-year-old No. 7 oarsman, said "We almost didn't make it near the end. I suddenly felt close to packing it in. I don't know just what went wrong. But I lost all sense of what was happening. I guess we just got home in time."

No hint of Spencer's trouble showed as Oxford crossed the line four lengths ahead, having covered the four miles, 374 yards in 18 minutes and seven seconds.

FROSH SCORE LONE LBSC CREW VICTORY

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State University defeated varsity and junior varsity crews from Long Beach State in 2,000-meter races on the Willamette River at Corvallis Saturday.

The visitors won the Frosh race.

The OSU varsity crew moved ahead at the 700-meter mark and finished with a time of six minutes, 19 seconds. LBSC was one length back, at 6:25.2.

The Oregon State JVs won in 6.37, nine seconds better than the visitors.

The 49er Frosh's winning time was 6:29, compared with OSU's 6:37.

The races were in sunny weather on smooth water with a medium tailwind.

L.B. Gym Meet Friday

The sixth Long Beach Invitational gymnastics meet, annually one of the top events in California, has been scheduled for Friday, April 9, in the Long Beach State College gym at 8 p.m.

The meet, sponsored by Long Beach State, will feature many of the gymnasts taking part in this weekend's NCAA University Championships at Southern Illinois.

Heading the list of champions on hand will be Danny Millman, 1964 world champion on trampoline from the University of California at Berkeley.

Also competing will be every CCAA champion and each state title holder of the past season along with the top junior college performers in California and some top high school stars.

There will be awards given in each event in addition to recognition for the most outstanding gymnast overall. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $1.00 for students other than LBSC students who are admitted free with cards.

Californian Wins English Race Easily

OULTON PARK, England (AP)—Roy Pike, a 24-year-old Hollywood, Calif., driver, outclassed the cream of British Formula 3 drivers Saturday in a 50-mile race over the twisting Oulton Park circuit.

The American, in a Repco-Brabham racer, went to the front at the start and set a Formula 3 lap record of 93.59 mph.

Pike finished 13 seconds ahead of his nearest rival. His race speed was 90.77 m.p.h.

Danis Hulme, a New Zealander in a Brabham Cosworth, scored a runaway victory in the 110-mile Formula 2 race at an average speed of 96.51.

Graham Hill, a former world auto racing champion, took the lead at the halfway stage, but had to retire with ignition trouble.

The Japanese-engined Honda driven by Australian Jack Brabham, former world champion, covered 17 laps before retiring with engine trouble.

TUNE-UP AT SEA AFTER SHIPYARD JOB

Destroyer Checked Out

A FULL HEAD OF STEAM—READY TO GO

Story by Buck Lanier, Photos by Joe Risinger

Like your family car which needs a check-up every thousand miles or so, the destroyer USS Turner Joy has just completed a tune-up. And what a job!

After taking a three-year, 200,000-mile journey, the Navy figured she was ready for rehabilitation and overhaul.

On Dec. 18 she was eased into the Long Beach Naval Shipyard and there crews went to work.

It took three months. At one time there were 400 men assigned to her to get the veteran of the Gulf of Tonkin engagement in 100% trim.

Activity ranged from the towering radar antennae straight down to the twin screws.

The shipyard, under the command of Capt. Jaime Adair, has the facilities to handle any Navy ship and can perform any task except the replacement of a nuclear core.

It is the only Navy shipyard with direct access to the sea and weather that permits it to maintain 94% year 'round usage.

Finally, the ship was finished. Then, came the test to see if the nuts and bolts and pipes and levers had been reassembled correctly.

The Turner Joy's drydock was flooded and she eased out to sea. Aboard were 24 civilian shipyard officials and technicians.

Items to be checked included communication capabilities, gun mounts, engine room performance, hull and propeller shaft vibrations and the revised operational work of the sonar and radar.

"It was the longest three months I have ever spent," the ship's captain, Cmdr. Robert Barnhart, said. "But this is needed badly and I have a better ship when the yard period is over, even down to the gun mounts."

(Capt. Barnhart's craft was with the destroyer USS Maddox, last August in the Gulf of Tonkin when North Viet Nam ships attacked the U.S. vessels. The gunboats were repulsed—two were sunk—without U.S. damage. Both skippers were awarded the Bronze Star.)

At sea on her test, the crew ran the Turner Joy through twists and turns, stops and starts.

Jack Walker, head of the Marine Engineering Branch, surveyed the Turner Joy's screws and their related blade frequency. During this time the ship's momentum was taken by degrees, up and down from one-third ahead to "all ahead full."

Technicians insisted on a "quiet ship" while the sonar was checked out. There were no enemy subs in the area but the friendly harbor area whale, Wally, showed up on the screen.

Jack Killen, vibration section chief, had wires strung all over the ship to a radar compartment on the 0-1 deck. Here Arthur Sanchez kept a watchful eye on a sophisticated calibrated recorder.

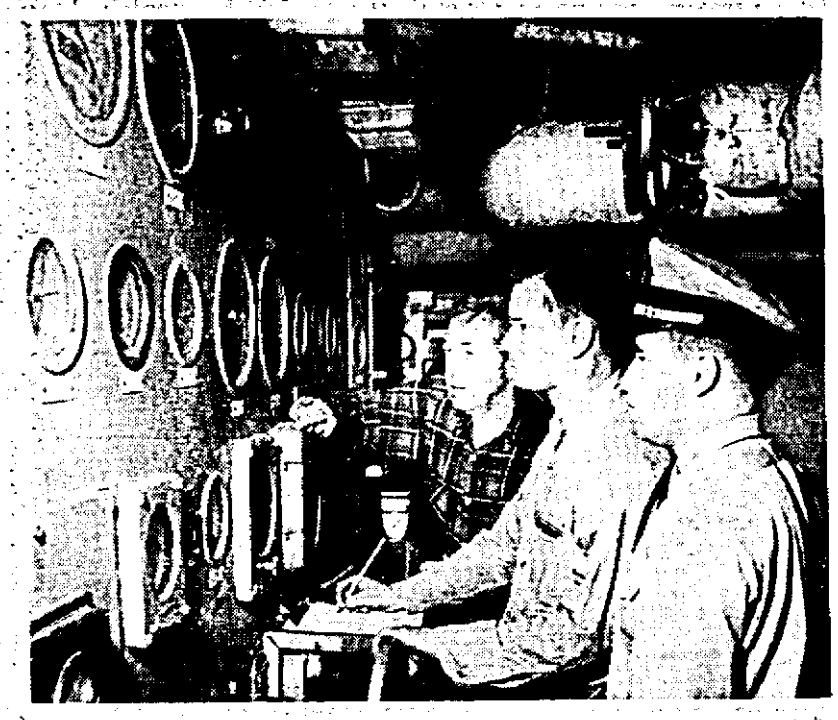

"It's like taking a cardigram on a person," electronics officer Ens. John Meierdierks said.

Listening devices were placed strategically below the hull, around engine shafts and near the screws. They channeled their "report" to Sanchez' machine as power increased.

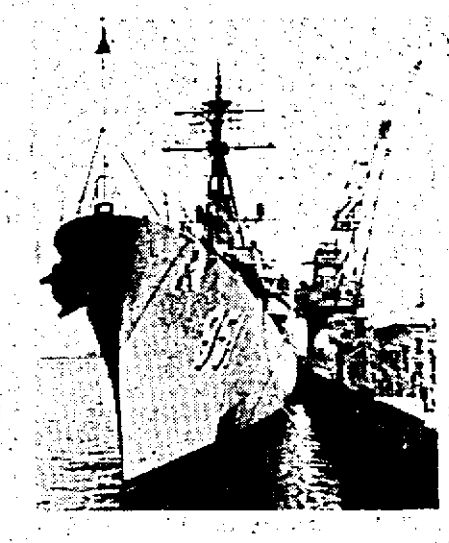

Overall the Turner Joy's "heart" was beating well.

After two days of tests, with minor corrections and adjustments, the Turner Joy was ready for another 200,000 miles and another confrontation with hostile forces, if necessary.

Dad Never Could, but Woman Realtor to See Kentucky Derby

BELLFLOWER — When the traditional floral wreath is placed around the neck of the 1965 Kentucky Derby winner at Louisville, Ky., on May 1, the act will complete a happy turn of life's fortune wheel for a Bellflower woman Realtor, Braunell Price.

Mrs. Price, member of a pioneer family in an area to which the romance of the California rancho days still clings, will be seeing the derby for her dad, the late Alvin Rylee, thanks to a stroke of luck and a new independent local bank, the Bellflower National.

* * * *

THE BANK, in cooperawith the Bellflower Buick dealer, Peairs Bros., offered a trip to the derby as a selective grand prize of its opening celebration. Mrs. Price won the free non-lottery drawing.

What Charles A. Victory, president of the bank, did not know was that Alvin Rylee, who operated one of the leading real estate offices in Bellflower from 1927 to his death in 1962, was a great horse fancier who brought his love for fine horseflesh with him from his native Texas. He owned a Tennessee walker, and riding was one of his chief relaxations.

* * * *

ALWAYS, his dream was to see a Kentucky Derby but somehow there was a family to be raised, obligations to meet, and the dream never materialized. When he died, Braunell, now the wife of veteran Los Angeles County fireman Charles C. Price, carried on the business.

Then came the good fortune of winning the trip, and the daughter of Texan Rylee will be saying "howdy" for him to the finest horseflesh in the land on Saturday, May 1.

Electricians Will Hear Baxter (and Assist Cupid)

City Administrator Fred Baxter of Signal Hill will be speaker at the Long Beach Electrical Contractors Association's monthly meeting Wednesday night at Mr. C's restaurant.

Baxter will talk on "Signal Hill, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." He will discuss how the city hopes to keep pace electrically with its anticipated expansion.

There will be a cocktail hour starting at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner and the program.

It will be the first meeting under the new officers, and President Wes Drennen will be presiding.

* * * *

SPECIAL guest for the evening will be Patricia Sardellia, who won the grand door prize at the association's recent annual dinner dance.

She will use the prize—a three-day trip for two to Mazatlan, Mexico—for her honeymoon.

Her marriage is to be May 1, when she and her new husband will leave on their wedding trip courtesy of the electrical contractors.

Building Industry Groups to Meet Jointly April 8

The April meeting of the Building Contractors Association Orange County Chapter will be a joint meeting with several groups connected with the building industry.

The American Institute of Architects of Orange County; the Orange Empire Chapter of Building Officials, the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Ventura and Orange Counties, and the Orange County Builders are the groups which will attend.

The program will be a presentation of the master plan of Santa Catalina Island which was developed by William L. Pereira, FAIA, and will be described by James Sink, AIA.

The meeting will be at the Santa Ana Elks Club on Thursday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. following a social hour.

This is one of the meetings of the year in which the majority of the associations connected with the building industry get together.

NAM to Have Phone Hookup With Capitol

Industrialists from Western states will have a chance to query members Congress directly during the Western Division Meeting of the National Association Manufacturers in Los Angeles Wednesday.

A feature of the meeting will be a direct-line amplified telephone hookup between Los Angeles and the Capitol Press Gallery in Washington, D.C., which will enable those attending the meeting to discuss current legislative matters with Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), Sen. Gordon Allott (R-Colo.), and Congressman Glenard P. Lipscomb (R-Calif.).

Moderator of the conference in Washington will be R. T. Compton, vice president for governmental relations of NAM. Moderator in Los Angeles will be Leo V. Bodine, executive vice president of NAM.

Theme Set for MAI Conference

"New Horizons in Real Estate Appraising" is the theme of the 15th Southwest Region Appraisal Conference of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers in San Francisco Apr. 8-10, it has been announced by Paul Fullerton, MAI, San Francisco, chairman.

Area Car Dealers Back Drive for High Advertising Standards

Southern California Motor Car Dealers Association members have given whole-hearted endorsement to a united effort to build public confidence in retail automobile advertising, Charles Soderstrom, president, announced.

Many Long Beach area new car dealers and members of the Better Business Bureau attended a meeting in Los Angeles when Carl Dalke, president of the Chicago Better Business Bureau spoke.

He called for a united effort by dealers, Better Business Bureaus, publishers and broadcasters to join in rigid adherence to a program of recommended ethical standards in advertising and selling.

* * * *

REPORTS of abuses, said Dalke, do not reflect an accurate picture of the vast majority of dealers whose integrity in business practices offers no basis for criticism. He declared three requisites, essential to an effective program, are: Support by franchised new car dealers; an effective umpire and interpreter of the standards, such as Better Business Bureaus; and cooperation of all communication media by refusing to publish or broadcast any advertising that is not honest and ethical.

"The first requisite for an effective program is industry-wide recognition that the most valuable asset of all dealers is public confidence. It is not enough for an individual dealer to abide by accepted standards," said Dalke. "Unfair tactics on the part of a few or even one of his competitors affects car buyers' attitudes toward the entire industry and impairs the value of advertising for all dealers.

"Support of a program of ethical standards for selling and advertising must be continuing and long-range," explained Dalke. "If the streets of your city were swept but once, you would hardly expect them to remain clean a year later."

His second requisite calls for an independent, objective umpire, such as the Better Business Bureau, to interpret the standards, to conduct shopping investigations of selling practices, to effect voluntary cooperation and compliance with the program, and the ensure that advertising will refuse to accept deceptive or dishonest advertising.

Third requisite, he said, is the active support of all advertising media — television, radio and newspapers — and the realization by advertising executives that the program is in the public interest as well as in the enlightened self-interest of the automobile dealers.

Most destructive to public confidence, he said, is the outright fraud that occasionally creeps into any business and which must be limited by prompt exposure and prosecution.

Bankers to Convene

Palm Springs will be the site of the 74th anniversary convention of the California Bankers Association, May 2 through 4, with all sessions in the Riveria Hotel.

Clifford Tweter, CBA president, said that an informal atmosphere will prevail to carry out the "Desert Fiesta" theme of the convention. More than 800 bankers and their wives are expected to attend.

Area Car Dealers Back Drive for High Advertising Standards

Southern California Motor Car Dealers Association members have given whole-hearted endorsement to a united effort to build public confidence in retail automobile advertising, Charles Soderstrom, president, announced.

Many Long Beach area new car dealers and members of the Better Business Bureau attended a meeting in Los Angeles when Carl Dalke, president of the Chicago Better Business Bureau spoke.

He called for a united effort by dealers, Better Business Bureaus, publishers and broadcasters to join in rigid adherence to a program of recommended ethical standards in advertising and selling.

REPORTS of abuses, said Dalke, do not reflect an accurate picture of the vast majority of dealers whose integrity in business practices offers no basis for criticism. He declared three requisites, essential to an effective program, are: Support by franchised new car dealers; an effective umpire and interpreter of the standards, such as Better Business Bureaus; and cooperation of all communication media by refusing to publish or broadcast any advertising that is not honest and ethical.

"The first requisite for an effective program is industry-wide recognition that the most valuable asset of all dealers is public confidence. It is not enough for an individual dealer to abide by accepted standards," said Dalke. "Unfair tactics on the part of a few or even one of his competitors affects car buyers' attitudes toward the entire industry and impairs the value of advertising for all dealers.

"Support of a program of ethical standards for selling and advertising must be continuing and long-range," explained Dalke. "If the streets of your city were swept but once, you would hardly expect them to remain clean a year later."

His second requisite calls for an independent, objective umpire, such as the Better Business Bureau, to interpret the standards, to conduct shopping investigations of selling practices, to effect voluntary cooperation and compliance with the program, and the ensure that advertising will refuse to accept deceptive or dishonest advertising.

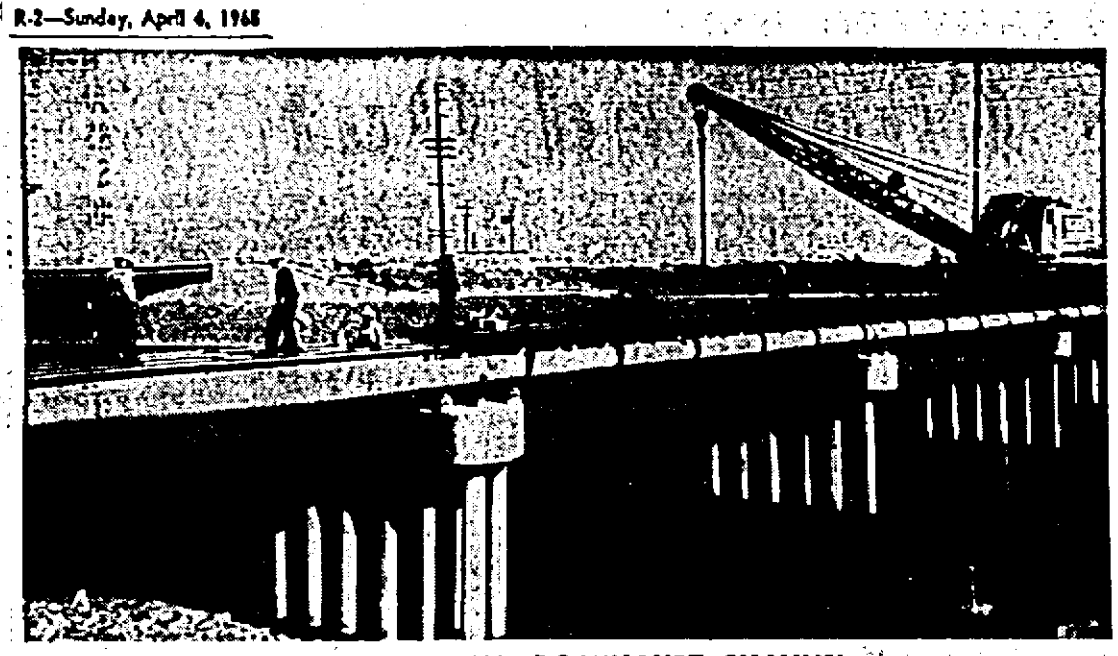

Third requisite, he said, is the active support of all advertising media — television, radio and newspapers — and the realization by advertising executives that the program is in the public interest as well as in the enlightened self-interest of the automobile dealers.

Most destructive to public confidence, he said, is the outright fraud that occasionally creeps into any business and which must be limited by prompt exposure and prosecution.

Bankers to Convene

Palm Springs will be the site of the 74th anniversary convention of the California Bankers Association, May 2 through 4, with all sessions in the Riveria Hotel.

Clifford Tweter, CBA president, said that an informal atmosphere will prevail to carry out the "Desert Fiesta" theme of the convention. More than 800 bankers and their wives are expected to attend.

FACTORY SERVICE RAIL LINE SPANS DOMINGUEZ CHANNEL

A one-mile drill track spans Dominguez Channel on a new 280-foot bridge to link the Watson Industrial Center with the main line of the Southern Pacific Co., extending direct nationwide rail service to the 100 industries anticipated for the center. First, 2,000 feet of track, plus individual spur connections, have been completed. The drill track cuts through Watson Center east of Wilmington Avenue along the San Diego Freeway, crosses Dominguez Channel, then curves back into the center west of Wilmington Avenue. The 600-acre, $150 million industrial center is owned by the Watson Land Co. and Southern Pacific; William J. Moran Co. is developer.

Future Opportunities Eyed by Westinghouse

Rapid transit, fresh water, undersea exploration and refuse disposal were described recently to Westinghouse Electric Co. stockholders as areas of great commercial promise.

President D. C. Burnham said in the 1964 annual report mailed to nearly 200,000 stockholders, "I am encouraged by significant new areas of development in which Westinghouse is engaged. They hold profitable promise for the company; they are basic to growing human needs, and they will help solve some of the most vital problems facing the world and its expanding population."

• • • •

"WE ESTIMATE that more than 30 cities in the United States alone need new, modern rapid transit systems," Burnham said. "We believe the newly developed Westinghouse Transit Expressway offers a solution to urban traffic congestion."

Westinghouse is building near Pittsburgh a two-mile-long experimental roadway that runs overhead and at ground level to test a revolutionary concept in automated mass transportation. Financing for the project was supplied jointly by federal, state and local governmental agencies and industry.

"It is estimated that by 1980 in the United States alone, water consumption will exceed the maximum available supply of 515 billion gallons a day . . . One solution to the problem is the use of the oceans, which cover most of the earth's surface. Westinghouse is in the forefront of technology to convert seawater to fresh, drinkable water."

• • • •

"THE AREA HIDDEN from man's view by the waters of the oceans represents 70% of the earth's surface, and it holds the future storehouse of mankind—food for expanding populations, a wealth of minerals." Westinghouse is building a family of manned submersibles which can dive from 4,000 to 20,000 feet for commercial and scientific operations.

"As urban centers grow, the customary methods of refuse disposal—sanitary landfill and incineration—become increasingly difficult and costly." Last year Westinghouse announced participation in a performance-proven method that puts the waste materials back into useful form, such as compost.

Burnham observed that "these are some of the new horizons for Westinghouse which will help satisfy human needs, solve critical population problems and assist the growth of the company."

CHANGE IN MANAGEMENT
Realtor C. V. Jackson (left) has dropped out from active management of his office at 530 E. Carson St., but will continue as an associate. New owner is Harold K. Steele (right) of Steele & Moss, Inc., 500 E. Fourth St.

Realtor Harold Steele Acquires Jackson Office

C. V. Jackson, whose real estate office at 530 E. Carson St. has handled sales of many of the high priced homes in the Los Cerritos and Bixby Knolls areas, has given up active management of the business, effective April 1.

Operation of the office was taken over by Harold K. Steele of Steele & Moss, Inc., Realtors, 500 E. 4th St.

• • • •

HOWEVER, Jackson said he would continue as an associate of the new owner, and is not going into full retirement.

Jackson entered the realty business here in 1947 after leaving Navy service. He was in the office of Robert Taylor four years and has owned the business since 1952.

Jackson's office personnel will be retained by Steele, whose associates will include Edith Quayle; Charles M. Ulrich III; Elaine Ulrich, his mother; Betty Ames; James McCommins; Barbara Joines; Betty Wilkinson and Bertha D. Horace.

• • • •

STEELE, a native of Montezuma, Iowa, with a farming background, went to work at the Long Beach Douglas plant in 1941. He obtained a real estate broker's license in 1946 and opened an office at 3821 E. 7th St., later moving to a location at Carson Street and Orange Avenue.

In 1958, a corporation was formed and named Steele-Moss and Warren Enterprises. It purchased a building at 500 E. 4th St.

Steele has been president. He has been active in local and state realty circles. His wife, the former Helen Warren, also is from Iowa.

Restaurant Contract Let

COSTA MESA—The W. J. Burke Construction Co., Inc., of Orange will build the first Howard Johnson's restaurant on the West Coast here, it was announced last week.

The restaurant and motor lodge chain widely known along the Eastern Seaboard and in the Middle West is coming to California and the first units are being constructed in Orange County.

Another motor lodge is being built near Disneyland, and a restaurant will be added there later.

Plans are reported under way for locating in Huntington Beach, too.

The Burke Construction Co. will build the first restaurant in College Center, an ultra-modern commercial center featuring a three-story office building with 30 suites, and a four-unit shopping center with 40 specialty and service shops.

The Edward Peabody Corp. of Boston will operate this initial franchise.

• • • •

BURKE CONSTRUCTION, headed by William J. Burke, president, will begin construction immediately. The contract was signed with owners and developers of College Center, San Joaquin Associates, headed by Keith Gaede, general manager, Bill Ring, Mike Schlossman and Richard Dodd.

College Center is located at the southeast corner of Harbor Boulevard and Adams Avenue, in Costa Mesa.

The new restaurant will cost an estimated quarter of a million dollars, according to San Joaquin Associates.

To Build Torrance Can Plant

Reynolds Metals Co. will build an aluminum can manufacturing plant in Torrance to supply the west coast facilities of the Theo. Hamm Brewing Co. and other can customers. Cost of the plant was not disclosed.

The can plant will be located in an existing 100,000-square-foot building on a 12½ acre plot owned by Reynolds. The company will add 83,000 square feet to the existing building. In addition to housing drawn and ironed aluminum can-making equipment, the one-story building will provide warehouse and office facilities.

• • • •

CAN PRODUCTION is scheduled for early 1966. The facility will have an annual capacity of 200,000,000 cans. Employment probably will reach 100 by early next year. The plant also will produce aluminum ends for cans.

Employes at the plant are represented by Local No. 388 of the Printing Specialties and Paper Products.

Panel to Analyze Housing Trends

Housing market trends for Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties will be discussed by three Southland market analysts at the Monday dinner meeting of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties at Rodger Young Auditorium in Los Angeles, according to Larry Armour, HBA president.

The program has been scheduled for 7 p.m., preceded by a social hour.

The panel includes: Harry G. Stewart Jr., executive vice president of L. C. Major & Associates, Inc., Downey, and board chairman of Shipley-Stewart Corp., a real estate and business management research organization, Downey; John T. Martin, vice president for residential research, Sanford R. Goodkin Research Corp., Sherman Oaks; William S. Lund, vice president of Economics Research Associates, Los Angeles.

L.B. Architects to Hear Knowles

Current trends in the education of architects will be discussed Tuesday evening at the local meeting of the American Institute of Architects.

R. L. KNOWLES

Ralph Lewis Knowles will be speaker at the 6 p.m. dinner in the Petroleum Club.

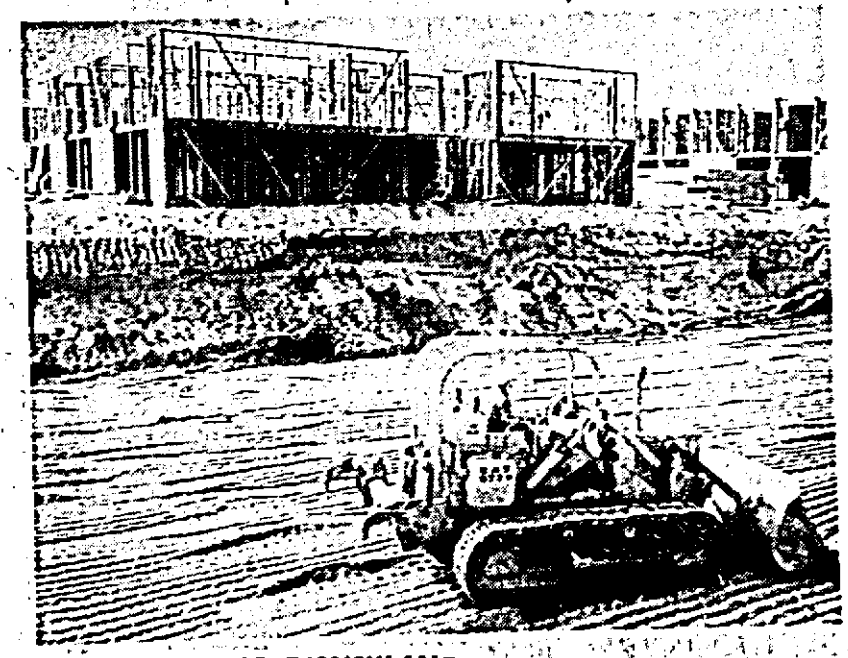

Commenting about the meeting, Richard Pryor, AIA, president of the Long Beach chapter, said:

"Mr. Knowles is well qualified to speak on this subject. He is associate professor of the Department of Architecture at the University of Southern California. Architects hold varying opinions about methods or architectural education and this meeting promises to be both lively and well attended."

ON BOARD

Richard L. Weiss, vice president for real estate operations, Sunset International Petroleum Corp., Beverly Hills, has been elected to the board of directors of the Home Builders Assn. of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties. He also served as a member of the HBA board from 1956 through 1959.

GOING UP NEAR DISNEYLAND
Framework is going up for new Howard Johnson motor lodge on Harbor Boulevard just east of Disneyland and near the Santa Ana Freeway. Contract also has been let for another Johnson development at Costa Mesa.

ON XIMENO BETWEEN 5TH AND 6TH STREETS
This three-story, 74-unit apartment building is under construction on the east side of Ximeno Avenue, between 5th and 6th Streets by C. Robert Langslet Co. of Long Beach. Near-million-dollar project will include subterranean parking and elaborate recreational facilities, according to President Langslet.

Repro-Color in Expansion Move

Repro/Color, the West's only specialist in pre-make-ready for color pages, is moving to a larger and more convenient building.

More than four times larger than the present quarters, the new location is at 3100 Riverside Drive at the corner of Los Feliz Blvd., Los Angeles.

The move was necessary due to the recent acquisition of new and superior equipment plus a substantial increased volume.

Repro/Color specializes in color transparency duplicates of reproduction quality, assemblies of multiple color units into one shot, and retouching of color transparencies.

Reports Biggest Year in Growth

Southwestern Life Insurance Co. had the greatest growth year in its 62-year history in 1964, according to Jack Carpenter, Southwestern representative in Long Beach.

The 62nd annual report shows new all-time highs for new insurance sales, assets, insurance in force, benefit payments and investments. Business produced in this area made a significant contribution to the firm's record year.

Insurance in force advanced to a record of $3,316,391,978.

Record for United Air

Substantial increases in 1964 resulted in new records for passenger and cargo traffic by United Air Lines at Los Angeles.

During the year, United handled a total of 2,334,601 arriving and departing passengers at Los Angeles International Airport, an increase of seven per cent. The company handled 59,268,300 pounds of freight, up 25 per cent.

United, the nation's largest airline, carried 14,630,000 passengers, and flew 1,060,980,000 revenue passenger miles over its 18,000-mile nationwide system in 1964.

I, P-T Rates High in Color Advertising

BURKE CONSTRUCTION, headed by William J. Burke, president, will begin construction immediately. The contract was signed with owners and developers of College Center, San Joaquin Associates, headed by Keith Gaede, general manager, Bill Ring, Mike Schlossman and Richard Dodd.

College Center is located at the southeast corner of Harbor Boulevard and Adams Avenue, in Costa Mesa.

The new restaurant will cost an estimated quarter of a million dollars, according to San Joaquin Associates.

To Build Torrance Can Plant

Reynolds Metals Co. will build an aluminum can manufacturing plant in Torrance to supply the west coast facilities of the Theo. Hamm Brewing Co. and other can customers. Cost of the plant was not disclosed.

The can plant will be located in an existing 100,000-square-foot building on a 12½ acre plot owned by Reynolds. The company will add 83,000 square feet to the existing building. In addition to housing drawn and ironed aluminum can-making equipment, the one-story building will provide warehouse and office facilities.

• • • •

CAN PRODUCTION is scheduled for early 1966. The facility will have an annual capacity of 200,000,000 cans. Employment probably will reach 100 by early next year. The plant also will produce aluminum ends for cans.

Employes at the plant are represented by Local No. 388 of the Printing Specialties and Paper Products.

Panel to Analyze Housing Trends

Housing market trends for Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties will be discussed by three Southland market analysts at the Monday dinner meeting of the Home Builders Association of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties at Rodger Young Auditorium in Los Angeles, according to Larry Armour, HBA president.

The program has been scheduled for 7 p.m., preceded by a social hour.

The panel includes: Harry G. Stewart Jr., executive vice president of L. C. Major & Associates, Inc., Downey, and board chairman of Shipley-Stewart Corp., a real estate and business management research organization, Downey; John T. Martin, vice president for residential research, Sanford R. Goodkin Research Corp., Sherman Oaks; William S. Lund, vice president of Economics Research Associates, Los Angeles.

L.B. Architects to Hear Knowles

Current trends in the education of architects will be discussed Tuesday evening at the local meeting of the American Institute of Architects.

R. L. KNOWLES

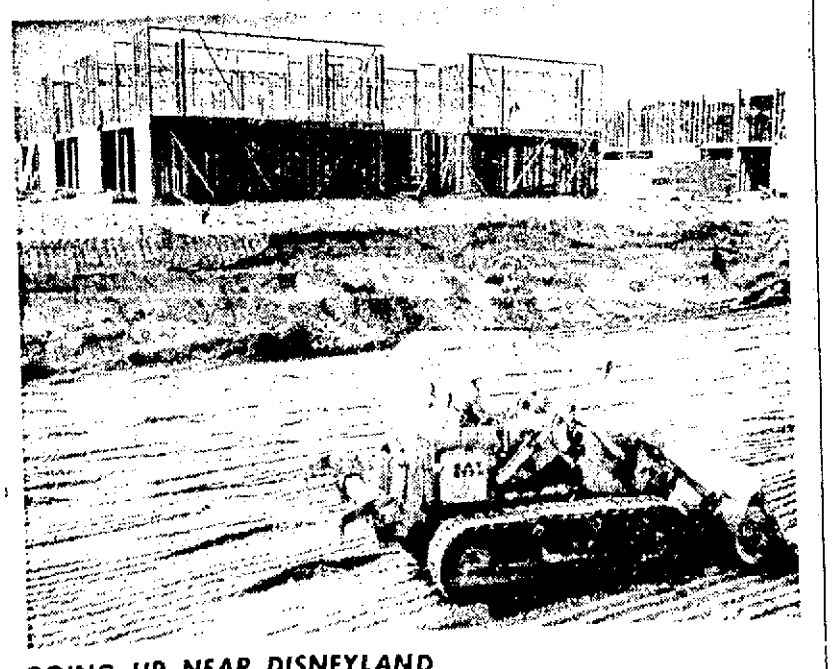

Ralph Lewis Knowles will be speaker at the 6 p.m. dinner in the Petroleum Club.

Commenting about the meeting, Richard Pryor, AIA, president of the Long Beach chapter, said:

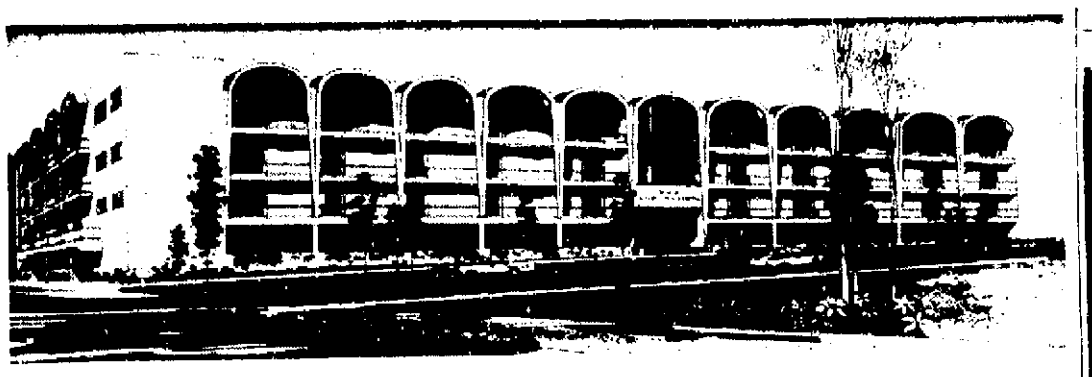

"Mr. Knowles is well qualified to speak on this subject. He is associate professor of the Department of Architecture at the University of Southern California. Architects hold varying opinions about methods or architectural education and this meeting promises to be both lively and well attended."

ON BOARD
Richard L. Weiss, vice president for real estate operations, Sunset International Petroleum Corp., Beverly Hills, has been elected to the board of directors of the Home Builders Assn. of Los Angeles, Orange and Ventura Counties. He also served as a member of the HBA board from 1956 through 1959.

GOING UP NEAR DISNEYLAND
Framework is going up for new Howard Johnson motor lodge on Harbor Boulevard just east of Disneyland and near the Santa Ana Freeway. Contract also has been let for another Johnson development at Costa Mesa.

ON XIMENO BETWEEN 5TH AND 6TH STREETS
This three-story, 74-unit apartment building is under construction on the east side of Ximeno Avenue, between 5th and 6th Streets by C. Robert Langslet Co. of Long Beach. Near-million-dollar project will include subterranean parking and elaborate recreational facilities, according to President Langslet.

Repro-Color in Expansion Move

Repro/Color, the West's only specialist in pre-make-ready for color pages, is moving to a larger and more convenient building.

More than four times larger than the present quarters, the new location is at 3100 Riverside Drive at the corner of Los Feliz Blvd., Los Angeles.

The move was necessary due to the recent acquisition of new and superior equipment plus a substantial increased volume.

Repro/Color specializes in color transparency duplicates of reproduction quality, assemblies of multiple color units into one shot, and retouching of color transparencies.

Reports Biggest Year in Growth

Southwestern Life Insurance Co. had the greatest growth year in its 62-year history in 1964, according to Jack Carpenter, Southwestern representative in Long Beach.

The 62nd annual report shows new all-time highs for new insurance sales, assets, insurance in force, benefit payments and investments. Business produced in this area made a significant contribution to the firm's record year.

Insurance in force advanced to a record of $3,316,391,978.

Record for United Air

Substantial increases in 1964 resulted in new records for passenger and cargo traffic by United Air Lines at Los Angeles.

During the year, United handled a total of 2,334,601 arriving and departing passengers at Los Angeles International Airport, an increase of seven per cent. The company handled 59,268,300 pounds of freight, up 25 per cent.

United, the nation's largest airline, carried 14,630,000 passengers, and flew 1,060,980,000 revenue passenger miles over its 18,000-mile nationwide system in 1964.

I, P-T Rates High in Color Advertising

Surveys recently completed show The Independent, Press-Telegram gaining high rank nationally in the field of color advertising.

Among all American dailies The Independent in 1964 placed fifth in the morning field. The Press-Telegram was seventh among evening newspapers.

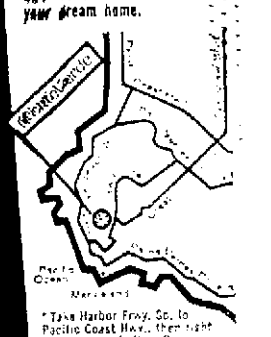

In classified section color advertising, a survey shows The I, P-T placed second nationally.

NEW AZTEC PLANE LIFTS OFF FROM L. B. AIRPORT

Air Newsman Compares Planes--Likes 'Em Both

(Editor's Note: Following is another in a series of articles by L-P-T aviation writer Lee Craig, who is reporting on various new models of small aircraft after flying them from the Long Beach airport.)

Piper's new Aztec twin is now equipped to look eyeball to eyeball with Beechcraft's Baron without giving ground.

The Aztec now has fully retractable gear, which ups the cruise speed at 75% power to a very respectable 208. While this is still appreciably below the Baron, the difference in initial price and operating economy is all in the Aztec's favor.

Aztec Aircraft Sales, Long Beach Airport, provided a new 1965 model for a flight test which almost made this Baron fan a convert.

• • • •

ADDING TO THE CONFUSION, Bob Ceniceros, former head of the Long Beach dealership, Belmont Aviation, but now general manager at Aztec, was along for the ride and singing a slightly different tune, understandably.

Ceniceros, one of the best pilots we know, refused to knock the Baron. But he did point out that the Aztec's speed liability amounted to only a few minutes' time over a distance and that, to some customers, the added passenger and baggage capacity would be more valuable.

We found that the Aztec is easier to fly. The Baron's 20 more horsepower, plus perhaps cleaner lines, make it a hotrod twin. It goes places, fast.

• • • •

THE AZTEC, for a new multi-engine pilot, is more comfortable to handle. Stalling speeds are lower and the airplane seems more destined for utility rather than speed from point to point.

It does, however, float on landing when you cut the power. This can be disconcerting if you're used to a Baron, which is pretty much through flying when the throttles are chopped.

We would hate to pick between them. Judging from comparative sales figures, the public has a hard time deciding, too. And, though Ceniceros may not admit it, we'd bet he thinks that it's a toss-up, himself.

REALTY SPEAKER

Arlie Prowant, April program chairman, has announced that Roman Gabriel (above), star Los Angeles Rams quarterback and special events speaker for Southern California Gas Co., will talk before the Long Beach District Board of Realtors at its weekly breakfast meeting Tuesday, 7:15 a. m., at the Crown Cafeteria. Gabriel, presented as a community service by the investor-owned utility, will be talking before groups until he goes back to the Rams July 1.

Douglas Adds to Brown's Duties

R. L. Brown of Santa Monica has been elected an assistant treasurer of the Douglas Aircraft Co. by the board of directors, it has been announced.

In addition to his new duties, Brown continues as the company's manager-commercial credit analysis and as vice president of the subsidiary Douglas Finance Co.

Brown joined Douglas in 1962 as manager-commercial credit analysis after 19 years with Trans World Airlines, where he held various positions in the finance department.

Appointment of Ben Marble as vice president-marketing communications for Douglas also was announced at Santa Monica by Donald W. Douglas, chairman of the board.

Marble, who was director of marketing communications, has been with the company 23 years.

Paint Company Dividend Raised

TORRANCE—The board of directors of Standard Brands Paint Co. increased the cash dividend rate 20% last week by declaring a regular quarterly dividend of 9 cents a share, payable May 5, to stockholders of record April 15.

Formerly the company had been paying quarterly dividends of 7½ cents per share.

President Sid Greenberg stated that the dividend increase was predicated on the generally excellent business which the company is experiencing in the current fiscal year. Another record year for both sales and profits is anticipated, he concluded.

San Pedro Realtors to Hear Title Talk

SAN PEDRO — Joseph R. Brown, a vice president of Title Insurance & Trust Co., will speak at the April 14 breakfast meeting of the San Pedro Board of Realtors.

The board will meet at 7:30 a.m., at the Hacienda Hotel. Brown's topic: "The Evolution of a Title Insurance Policy."

Davis, manager, petro-chemicals and research and developments; Philip Oxley, newly appointed manager, domestic exploration; James C. Sheppard, manager, domestic production and Russell C. Vlack, newly appointed manager, international production.

Streamline Income Tax Center for More Efficiency

Handling more money from more people than any line of business in Southern California has necessitated streamlining operations of the local Internal Revenue Service and intricately planning its working procedures and space utilization.

These tasks have been completed by the Los Angeles headquarters of the nation-wide space-planning firm of Saphier, Lerner, Schindler, Inc., Environetics, preliminary to the move of I.R.S. into new offices in the eight-story, block-square, million-square-feet federal building nearing completion in Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles I.R.S., largest in the nation, embraces 11 Southland counties.

• • • •

LAST YEAR it processed almost six million tax returns yielding $6.29 billion in federal revenue, according to Robert Riddell, district director. The service is the second largest office-space user in Southern California.

The agency's huge task will be greatly facilitated this July when its 3,000 employes occupy their new 300,000-square-feet quarters.

"Tax returns average 20,000 a day between Jan. 1 and April 15, with peak loads doubling this as the deadline nears," says William H. Peeples, public information officer. "If all of these were in business-size envelopes, they would reach from Los Angeles to Tacoma. They would weigh 375 tons, or as much as 455½ sports cars.

• • • •

WITH INCREASING pressure to handle the ever-growing task, it has become urgent that working methods be improved. To implement this, the Environetics firm, located at 8440 Santa Monica Blvd., Los Angeles, was retained to engineer space-utilization and work processes.

The above firm, which also has offices in New York, Boston, Chicago and San Francisco, has engineered almost four million square feet—91.8 acres—of space planning and office design here for leading corporations.

"Space planning the new federal building for greater I.R.S. efficiency was only one aspect of the assignment," states Sidney Resnick, head of the local Environetics office.

• • • •

"WE ALSO had to provide much more cheerful facilities for people seeking tax advice and a greatly improved work environment to cut employe turnover. In so doing, drab 'government green' was replaced with bright, contemporary colors and furnishings.

"During 1964, I.R.S. gave tax help to 1,049,603 citizens so we have had to greatly improve the public service section to facilitate handling so many people, and to do it more conveniently and privately."

Bellflower Group to Hear Herman

BELLFLOWER—Fred Herman, sales training and public speaking consultant, will be guest speaker at the regular breakfast meeting of the Bellflower District Board of Realtors on Thursday at 7:30 a.m.

The meeting will be held at the Student Center, Cerritos College, with President Ray Smith presiding.

Program Chairman Bob Reed says this is the first opportunity members have had to hear Mr. Herman, and he anticipates well over 200 will be in attendance.

Herman is world famous as a sales training and public speaking consultant. His subject Thursday will be "Planned Creative Selling."

In addition to the regularly scheduled program, the eight candidates for the Board of Education, Bellflower Unified School District, have been invited to attend the meeting as guests and to speak briefly.

Jet Age Steps In at County Sewage Treatment Plant

PRESSURE STEPPED UP

A step-by-step process is necessary to bring sewer gas to required pressure of 150 pounds per square inch. The first step brings the gas to a 4-pound pressure; from there it is compressed to 50 pounds. Here Wade McKim and (right) Charlie M. Nelson, field superintendent for the Fred J. Early Jr. Co. (mechanical contracting firm that made the installation) inspect one of the two storage spheres that maintain a reserve supply of gas compressed at 50 pounds.

POWERED BY SEWER GAS

New turbine engine at Orange County sewage treatment plant is powered by compressed sewer gas. Discussing the installation are (left to right) Don Wade, U. A. Local No. 582 business agent; L. C. McKim, Local 582 journeyman; and William N. Clarke Sr., electrical and mechanical supervisor for the Orange County Sanitation Districts.

Orange County Sanitation District recently adapted the jet age turbine engine at the county sewage treatment plant, replacing some of its internal combustion engines.

This has increased operational efficiency 35 to 40%, reports William M. Clarke Sr., electrical and mechanical supervisor for the county's sanitation program.

• • • •

THE TURBINE, powered by digester gas under pressure, generates electricity with heat in turbine tail gases.

This generates steam to activate a steam turbine which in turn supplies the source of power to generate electricity, which operates pumps required in waste water treatment. The digester gas is a by-product of the treatment . . . thus a free fuel.

A step-by-step process brings the digester gas to a pressure of 125 pounds per square inch before it is injected into the turbine. Two storage spheres maintain a reserve of fuel compressed at 50 pounds.

The turbine consumes approximately 750 cubic feet of the digester gas (65% methane and 35% carbon dioxide) per minute. The steam generator, operated at a temperature of between 800 and 900 degrees, produces some 12,500 pounds of steam per hour. The plants service 80% of the country.

Oil Company Sets Record

Socony Mobil Oil Company, Inc., last week announced record earnings for 1964 and said it had increased its total profits by 79% in the past five years.

Because of the larger number of shares outstanding at the end of last year, earnings per share rose by 71% in this period.

The company's annual report shows 1964 net income of $294.2 million, or $5.79 a share. This compares with $271.9 million, or $5.44 a share, for 1963.

Chairman Albert L. Nickerson pointed out that in the five years ending with 1964, the company's rate of return on shareholders' equity improved by more than a third, total dividends paid increased by 45% to over $141 million, and dividends per share rose from $2 to $2.80. He said that in January of this year the quarterly dividend was increased for the third consecutive year, this tme to 70 cents a share.

• • • •

THE COMPANY announced in its report the initiation of the largest construction project in its history — a "virtual rebuilding" in the next two years of its Torrance refinery at a cost of over $80 million.

This was described as the "opening step" in a major modernization of Mobil's U.S. refinery operations. Computers and other electronic instruments will coordinate operations throughout the new plant in California.

Home Show Prize to Be Extra Room

A grand prize of a 288-square-foot room addition will be awarded Sunday, April 11, final night of the 11th annual Orange County Home Show.

The show will open Wednesday in the New Products Pavilion at the Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa under County Builders Association.

The room will be constructed by the A&D Construction Co. headed by Andy Dudics, general Home Show chairman, in cooperation with Southern California Edison and suppliers and manufacturers in the building industry.

• • • •

VALUE OF THE ROOM is more than $4,000. It can be used as a family room, bedroom or other purposes and may be added to any type of a home, according to George Colouris, Home Show producer.

Any adult may qualify to win the room by registering during the Home Show.

Other features of the show will include hundreds of displays of the latest products for the home, free professional entertainment and a queen contest.

Housing Bill Under Fire

Congress is being asked to require that taxpayers pay part of the rent for hundreds of thousands of middle-income families who do not need it, Maurice G. Read, Berkeley, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, said Saturday.

"Federal gifts to supplement rent payments, as outlined by Administration spokesmen on the pending housing bill to a Congressional committee, would completely bypass the low income families who have real problems," Read said.

"Benefited under the plan," he explained, "would be families with annual incomes ranging up to $8,000 and even higher. According to the government's own census figures, more than 90% of families in the $4,000 to $8,000 income group are in adequate housing.

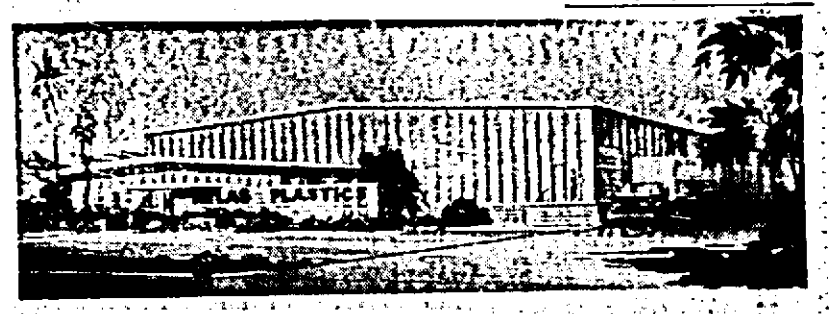

"New approaches are needed to solve our genuine housing problem—the difficulty of providing adequate family accommodations for families with annual incomes below $4,000. We will make proposals to this end. The Administration's new idea is aimed at the wrong target."

Earnings Rate Raised to 4.95%

"Coast Federal Savings' annual earnings rate has been raised to 4.95% for the current semiannual period, payable June 30, 1965," it has been announced by President Joe Crail.

"Last year was a good year financially for Coast Federal, with steady income, low foreclosures and increased operating efficiency, resulting in higher earnings which we are passing on to our savers," Crail stated.

The Long Beach-Orange County area office is located at 200 E. 3rd St., Long Beach. The firm has headquarters in Los Angeles and branches in five other cities in the county.

PLANT TO BE BUILT AT SALTON SEA

A $500,000 investment in a plant for West Coast expansion has been announced by Atlas Plastics Corp. of Cape Girardeau, Mo., to be built at Salton City on the Salton Sea, Imperial County. Within two years, four production lines would be in operation on a three-shift basis, with 100 workers employed. Output of plastic products at the rate of $3 million annually for distribution in the West is foreseen within three years. The plant will open in early summer.

Insurance Exec Named to Board

Ted C. Springfield, president of Van Camp Insurance headquarters in San Pedro, has been named to the board of directors of New York Fire & Marine Underwriters, Inc.

Springfield will attend the next directors' meeting of New York Fire & Marine to be held in mid-April at the company's main offices in New York City.

As president of Van Camp Insurance, Springfield heads one of Southern California's largest insurance agencies. The 41-year-old company has offices in San Pedro, Torrance, Santa Ana, San Diego, and Los Angeles.

Cold Figures

CHICAGO (UPI) — Retail sales of all frozen baked goods hit $275 million last year, up from $227 million in 1963 and $123 million in 1960, according to Quick Frozen Food magazine.

Savings From Synthetic Rubber

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—During the last 2½ years, the synthetic rubber industry has saved American consumers more than $1 billion, according to The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

Goodyear says the availability of synthetic for nearly every use has kept a tight lid on the price of natural, despite continued upheavals in Far Eastern rubber producing areas.

Big Townhouse Development Set for Garden Grove Soon

Major expansion plans in the Southern California market have been announced by Kaufman and Broad Homes, Inc. According to Gene Rosenfeld, vice president of the Los Angeles based firm, Kaufman and Broad has purchased three additional parcels of land in Greater Los Angeles for the development of townhouses and single family homes.

First to open for sale will be a 159-unit townhouse development at the northwest corner of Chapman and Haster in Garden Grove. The 13-acre site was purchased from commercial developer John Irvine. Opening is scheduled for May 15.

Architect Earl Kaltenbach designed the two, three and four-bedroom homes, with features normally found in homes selling for $30,000 and more. Included will be a garden patio kitchen, wood burning fireplaces, complete appliance packages and up to 2½ baths. Two recreational areas will be included with a completely equipped clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis courts and children's playground.

• • • •

COMPANY officials stated that the Chapman and Haster site was chosen because it is centrally located between Garden Grove, Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana. Prices will range from $15,500 to $19,500, with FHA and VA financing.

Two additional sites have been purchased; one in Huntington Beach and one in the San Fernando Valley. The Huntington Beach property is approximately 90 acres at Brookhurst and Indianapolis which was purchased from the Irvine Co.

Master planning for the property is currently in progress and the development will include various forms of housing, including many new concepts. The development cost for the property will exceed $10 million.

Kaufman and Broad is currently building Windsor Square at Harbor and Edinger in Fountain Valley and Holiday Village at Brookhurst and Adams in Huntington Beach. Windsor Square, a 207-unit townhouse development, scored an immediate hit on its opening and is now more than 90% sold out.

Holiday Village is designed especially for people without children. The 262 townhouse units feature unusually large rooms, complete appliances, spacious private patios and an elaborate private clubhouse where residents enjoy weekly parties and dances. Though limited to adults, Holiday Village is not a retirement community. Most residents are quite active in their businesses or professions.

ALL-COPPER PIPES
Builder William Rousey proudly pats all-copper water piping, a quality construction feature at his Premier Homes North and South in Huntington Beach. Premier prices start at $24,750.

Flexible Financing Plans for Buyers of New Premier Homes

Premier Homes North and South in Huntington Beach offer flexibility in financing as a means of meeting varied needs of homebuyers, according to Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattacks Inc., sales agents.

VA "no down" financing is offered at Premier with loans at 5¼%. "Buyers who qualify for veteran's benefits find this package particularly appealing with its moderate interest rate," McFarland said.

FHA minimum down financing is available. McFarland said that the FHA-backed transactions have great appeal to homebuyers because of the "basic soundness and solidity of the FHA package."

• • • •

PREMIER ALSO has available conventional financing for homebuyers seeking an alternative to the FHA or VA arrangements. Conventional financing is from 5% down with good, long-term loans, McFarland reports.

Model home display is on Terry Street in Huntington Beach, just east of Hwy. 39 and adjoining the south side of Fantastic Fair department store, includes a Russian house built from actual Soviet plans.

Premier Homes, priced from $24,750, feature a "Total Convience" kitchen. Double oven with independent controls, range, dishwasher, bench-mounted food center with mixer and blender, built-in dispenser for foils and papers and mixing valve over sink are all standard items.

Oil Well Servicing Contractors Elect

M. S. Openshaw, president, G & O Production Service, Santa Maria, has been elected chairman of the California Chapter, Association of Oil Well Servicing Contractors (AOSC) for 1965.

Also elected were James H. Sipprelle, vice president, Oil Well Service Co., Long Beach, vice chairman; W. A. McMullen, Nomad Service Co., Long Beach, secretary; Earle Maddox, president, Maddox Production Co., Long Beach, national director.

The AOSC is a national association of oil well servicing and workover contractors organized in the permain oil basin area in 1936.

Weekenders Drawn to Hueneme Homes

Spring and its promise of sun-filled vacation days ahead has created a rush demand for the smaller one and two-story garden patio homes at Hueneme Bay, reports Jack Dawson, Project Director.

"Buyers are finding these homes ideal for both year-round living and year-round vacation and weekend retreats!" said Dawson. "Our "weekend" homeowners tell us they could never afford the equivalent to Hueneme Bay's country club-beach-marina type living in the resort areas!"

• • • •

HUENEME BAY, the $21,000,000 condominium offers acres of luxurious recreational facilities within the community, and is ideally located in the smog-free coastal town of Port Hueneme, just minutes from the ocean, beaches and the new 640 boat Channel Islands Marina.

The community offers two types of living: First, the few remaining choice Garden Patio plans in one bedroom and den, two bedrooms, two bedrooms and den, and three bedroom floor plans from $15,950 to $21,300, with as little as 5% down.

The development is reached via the Ventura Freeway to the Vineyard turnoff in Oxnard, or Pacific Coast Hwy. to the Channel Islands Blvd. turnoff.

POPULAR WITH WEEKENDERS

Avenue of Homes Open to Viewers

An avenue of furnished models is featured at El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach, according to a spokesman for S & S Construction Co., builders.

The street of display offers examples of all seven floor plans of three and four-bedroom models in one or two story and split-level homes. S & S proffers 35 exterior designs for the buyers selection.

Every El Dorado Park Estates home has a dining room, and some have family rooms and/or dining nooks in addition. A fireplace graces every home.

• • • •

MEDALLION kitchens keypoint the electric built-in range, and double-oven and dishwasher all color-coordinated with hood and fan. A garbage disposal is included.

Priced from $31,450 to $43,450, the homes are available on conventional financing.

El Dorado Park Estates are located on Spring St., east of the San Gabriel Freeway in Long Beach.

SEPARATE DINING ROOM
Exciting dining room is separated from kitchen by full-height mirrored walls in this delightful El Dorado Park Estates home in Long Beach.

Big Townhouse Development Set for Garden Grove Soon

Major expansion plans in the Southern California market have been announced by Kaufman and Broad Homes, Inc. According to Gene Rosenfeld, vice president of the Los Angeles based firm, Kaufman and Broad has purchased three additional parcels of land in Greater Los Angeles for the development of townhouses and single family homes.

First to open for sale will be a 159-unit townhouse development at the northwest corner of Chapman and Haster in Garden Grove. The 18-acre site was purchased from commercial developer John Irvine. Opening is scheduled for May 15.

Architect Earl Kaltenbach designed the two, three and four-bedroom homes, with features normally found in homes selling for $30,000 and more. Included will be a garden patio kitchen, wood burning fireplaces, complete appliance packages and up to 2½ baths. Two recreational areas will be included with a completely equipped clubhouse, swimming pool, tennis courts and children's playground.

* * * *

COMPANY officials stated that the Chapman and Haster site was chosen because it is centrally located between Garden Grove, Anaheim, Orange and Santa Ana. Prices will range from $15,500 to $19,500, with FHA and VA financing.

Two additional sites have been purchased; one in Huntington Beach and one in the San Fernando Valley. The Huntington Beach property is approximately 90 acres at Brookhurst and Indianapolis which was purchased from the Irvine Co.

Master planning for the property is currently in progress and the development will include various forms of housing, including many new concepts. The development cost for the property will exceed $10 million.

Kaufman and Broad is currently building Windsor Square at Harbor and Edinger in Fountain Valley and Holiday Village at Brookhurst and Adams in Huntington Beach. Windsor Square, a 207-unit townhouse development, scored an immediate hit on its opening and is now more than 90% sold out.

Holiday Village is designed especially for people without children. The 262 townhouse units feature unusually large rooms, complete appliances, spacious private patios and an elaborate private clubhouse where residents enjoy weekly parties and dances. Though limited to adults, Holiday Village is not a retirement community. Most residents are quite active in their businesses or professions.

Weekenders Drawn to Hueneme Homes

Spring and its promise of sun-filled vacation days ahead has created a rush demand for the smaller one and two-story garden patio homes at Hueneme Bay, reports Jack Dawson, Project Director.

"Buyers are finding these homes ideal for both year-round living and year-round vacation and weekend retreats!" said Dawson, "Our "weekend" homeowners tell us they could never afford the equivalent to Hueneme Bay's country club-beach-marina type living in the resort areas!"

* * * *

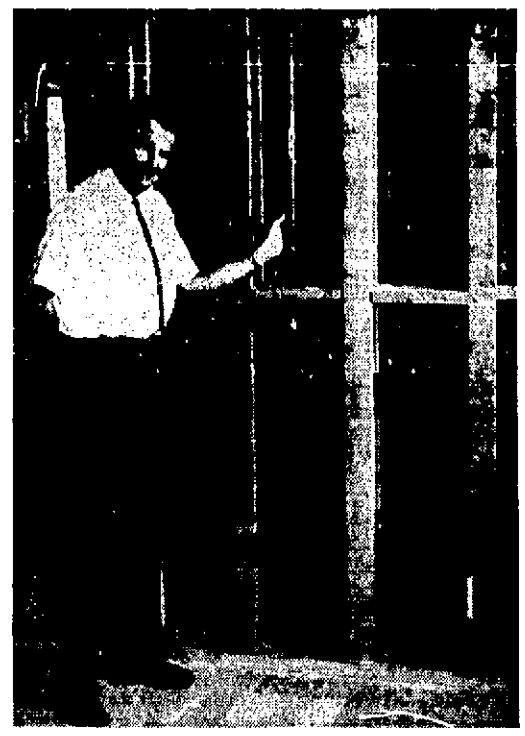

HUENEME BAY, the $21,000,000 condominium offers acres of luxurious recreational facilities within the community, and is ideally located in the smog-free coastal town of Port Hueneme, just minutes from the ocean, beaches and the new 640 boat Channel Islands Marina.

The community offers two types of living: First, the few remaining choice Garden Patio plans in one bedroom and den, two bedrooms, two bedrooms and den, and three bedroom floor plans from $15,950 to $21,300, with as little as 5% down.

The development is reached via the Ventura Freeway to the Vineyard turnoff in Oxnard, or Pacific Coast Hwy. to the Channel Islands Blvd. turnoff.

POPULAR WITH WEEKENDERS
A Hueneme Bay family prepares their boat for a weekend outing. Their home is close to Channel Islands Harbor.

ALL-COPPER PIPES

Avenue of Homes Open to Viewers

An avenue of furnished models is featured at El Dorado Park Estates in Long Beach, according to a spokesman for S & S Construction Co., builders.

The street of display offers examples of all seven floor plans of three and four-bedroom models in one or two story and split-level homes. S & S proffers 35 exterior designs for the buyers selection.

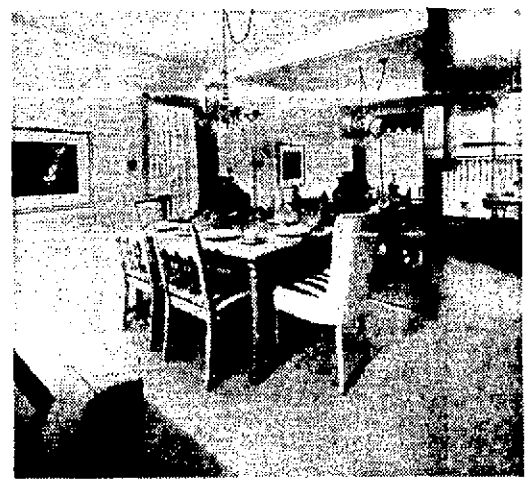

Every El Dorado Park Estates home has a dining room, and some have family rooms and/or dining nooks in addition. A fireplace graces every home.

* * * *

MEDALLION kitchens keypoint the electric built-in range, and double-oven and dishwasher all color-coordinated with hood and fan. A garbage disposal is included.

Priced from $31,450 to $43,450, the homes are available on conventional financing.

El Dorado Park Estates are located on Spring St., east of the San Gabriel Freeway in Long Beach.

SEPARATE DINING ROOM
Exciting dining room is separated from kitchen by full-height mirrored walls in this delightful El Dorado Park Estates home in Long Beach.

Flexible Financing Plans for Buyers of New Premier Homes

Premier Homes North and South in Huntington Beach offer flexibility in financing as a means of meeting varied needs of homebuyers, according to Frank McFarland of McFarland and Mattacks Inc., sales agents.

VA "no down" financing is offered at Premier with loans at 5¼%. "Buyers who qualify for veteran's benefits find this package particularly appealing with its moderate interest rate," McFarland said.

FHA minimum down financing is available. McFarland said that the FHA-backed transactions have great appeal to homebuyers because of the "basic soundness and solidity of the FHA package."

* * * *

PREMIER ALSO has available conventional financing for homebuyers seeking an alternative to the FHA or VA arrangements. Conventional financing is from 5% down with good, long-term loans, McFarland reports.

Model home display is on Terry Street in Huntington Beach, just east of Hwy. 39 and adjoining the south side of Fantastic Fair department store, includes a Russian house built from actual Soviet plans.

Premier Homes, priced from $24,750, feature a "Total Convience" kitchen. Double oven with independent controls, range, dishwasher, bench-mounted food center with mixer and blender, built-in dispenser for foils and papers and mixing valve over sink are all standard items.

Rossmoor Townhouse Sales in Fast Pace

An expanding interest by homeseekers in Rossmoor Townhouses continues at a high rate. Rossmoor Townhouses was seen in the report by Jaymarc Corp. that and are enjoying the private homes have now been sold. Bernard Solomon, chairman of Jaymarc, developers, said that among the major reasons for the rapid sales were: Close proximity to urban facilities and freeways; quality features of the homes themselves; and low price terms.

* * * *

moor residents have moved into their Townhouses in excess of 60% of the homes have now been sold. club house, swimming pools, shuffleboard courts and putting greens. Reports indicate the heated therapeutic pool is getting a considerable play from the residents.

Rossmoor Townhouses' two, three and four-bedroom homes have been built on a luxury scale with quality construction usually found in homes costing over $30,000. Priced from $19,950, these homes offer all modern living conveniences plus a location within walking distance of all necessary shopping and pleasures.

FEATURES include all-electric kitchens with built-in Americana oven and range, disposal, dishwasher and combination washer-dryer; concrete, private patio; two-car garage; and privacy. # Will Serve Roast Beef Today to Patrician Village Viewers day afternoon to Patrician Village's previewing of their new 39 units for "hot roast beef" and refreshments on Yorba Ave. in Tustin this coming weekend, as an invitation by the officials of the company to interested homebuyers and their children.

The first unit of the 4-and 5-bedroom homes of Patrician Village built by the Red Hill Development Corp. is sold out and the second unit of 39 new homes, in the heart of Tustin, one block east of Newport Freeway between 17th and 4th Streets, is now open for previewing and selling.

Three furnished models on a completely landscaped street will be the focal point of the "join the party celebration" being staged.

* * * *

THE FIRST units sold out in record time and according to the sales officials they have already sold 13 homes on the second unit before the official previewing this weekend.

In addition to built-in bookshelves and fine walnut paneling in the new models, Patrician Village homes are noted for the within walking distance location of Tustin schools, four and five bedrooms, formal dining rooms plus informal dining areas, three-car garages, large spacious living rooms, separate from the family rooms, large walk-in linen closets in many of the models and located on winding streets with cul de sacs for the beauty of the development and the safety of the children.

To reach Patrician Village from Santa Ana drive east on 17th or 4th Streets and turn on Yorba Avenue one block east of Newport Freeway to reach the furnished model homes open 7 days a week for inspection and sales.

P & G Trade Exec to Retire April 30

Paul R. Parrette, manager of trade relations for the Procter & Gamble Co., will retire on April 30 at Cincinnati, after more than 39 years with the company.

He will be succeeded by Harry E. Faught, presently on special assignment to P&G's vice president-sales. Faught's appointment becomes effective May 1.

Parrette has been manager of the trade relations division since its creation seven years ago and for the past two years has been chairman of the trade relations committee of the Grocery Manufacturers of America.

Individual Incomes Up

January was a good month for the nation's pocketbooks, heavily depleted by record Christmas spending. Indeed, Business Week reports, individual income in January showed the biggest year-to-year gain since early in 1960.

Nationwide, personal income rose by more than $3 billion, up 8% over January of 1964.

Steel, of course, was partly responsible as employment in the industry pushed to a 56-month high. But much of the growth came from a broad range of industries, led by construction, automobiles, machinery and clothing.

Nearly 1.3 million more people were working in non-farm jobs this January than were a year before, and steel accounted for only 67,000 of the increase.

The gains were fairly widespread across the 50 states.

'Family Covenant' for Safer Driving

An unusual campaign to help curb the nation's highway death toll has been undertaken by The Ohio Casualty Group of Insurance Companies, according to Willis S. Sheldon, manager of the local Ohio Casualty office, 100 E. Ocean Blvd.

The campaign introduces a "Family Covenant" in which all driving-age members of a family pledge to each other strict observance of the rules of traffic safety. The covenant includes the seven basic principles of safe driving. It is to be signed by each member of the family, and is printed on a card which may be attached to a sun visor as a constant reminder of promises made.

"This campaign points up the fact that traffic safety must be a family affair," said Sheldon. "Those of us who are parents should set the example for our young people and join with them in practicing safe driving habits."

* * * *

SIGNERS OF the Family Covenant make their pledge not to some outside authority, not to the father or mother of the family, but to each other—"because of our love for each other and regard for the lives and safety of our fellow citizens." The covenant's seven rules of safety are:

(1) We will drive always at reasonable speeds, being specially careful to keep within specified speed limits and ever alert for children who may dart into our path. (2) We will never be tempted to "show off" or to race with other cars—or railroad trains. (3) We will slow down at intersections and look both ways before proceeding, and even though we may have the right of way we will never contest it with another. (4) We will observe all highway markings designed to promote safety, and will never cross a yellow line or similar marking in our own lane. (5) In passing another car, we will remember always to "look ahead of the car ahead." We will not pass another car on a hill or within 100 feet of an intersection. (6) If the car we are driving is equipped with seat belts, we will use them at all times. (7) We will not drive while under the influence of intoxicants or ride in a car driven by one who is under the influence of intoxicants.

Home Heating System Rolls on Ceiling Like Wallpaper

HEAT PANELS BONDED TO CEILING
The new Sun-Glo electric radiant heating panels by Goodyear are rolled onto the ceiling to assure bonding. Applied like wallpaper, the panels provide a decorative and efficient home heating system.

By KEN CHILCOTE
Business Editor

A home heating system which is rolled on ceilings much like wallpaper has been developed by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., and is to be offered in California as a test market at once.

Called Sun-Glo, the heating system is applied to ceilings and reflects heat evenly over a room to provide a high level of comfort.

The new heating system is a direct outgrowth of airplane de-icing equipment and was developed by Goodyear's Aviation Products Division. It is described as a flexible "sandwich" consisting of two outer layers of thin vinyl and a filling of nylon net interwoven with zig-zagging, thread thin, resistance wiring.

* * * *

ATTACHED to a source of electricity the heating element emits waves of radiant energy which is converted to heat when it contacts objects in the room such as furniture, walls and people.

Temperature is controlled by individual thermostats in each room.

Installation is easy Goodyear says. A hole is drilled in the ceiling for the lead wire. Mastic then is applied to the ceiling; put the wire through the hole and unroll the panel onto the ceiling surface, using a roller to insure that the entire panel surface bonds to the ceiling.

Decorative panels are available or plain panels may be painted or sprayed with acoustical material for textural interest.

THERE IS A GROWING trend among business executives to answer and place their own telephone calls without the help of a secretary. The days of secretary-screened calls as a status symbol may be on the wane, says Administrative Management Society.

Answering the telephone, himself, adds to the executive's image as a man who can be easily approached and the practice reflects good will to their company.

MOST PERSONS dream of inventing some device to get rich quick. Many do come up with some invention. But odds are heavily against them succeeding.

Roland E. Robbins, vice president-manager of the Bank of America's main branch here, says a copy of the latest Small Business Reporter might be of great value before you try to turn your invention into profit.

One-third of the products submitted for patenting are conjured by "backyard scientists," the periodical says. At least 90% of all new products fail within four years of introduction.

Most of these failures could have been avoided if the inventor had realized importance of market testing to determine if the product really is good and if there is a market for such a product.

"Weaning the infant idea too soon" is the biggest mistake made by inventors the B of A publication adds.

APPROXIMATELY 80% of the fresh tomatoes handled in this area the past two months were grown in Mexico, a gain of 30% for the imported vegetables, reports the Council of California Growers.

California growers of winter vegetables are finding it increasingly difficult to compete against Mexican growers with lower labor and tax costs, reports O. W. Fillerup, executive vice president of the council.

"In Mexico," says Fillerup, "the average farm worker receives the equivalent of about $1.65 per day. In California, the Mexican bracero earned an average of $1.39 an hour during 1963." Now, he adds, the pay rate is even higher.

L.B. Eyed for Nursing Home

Continana Corporation will build an ultra modern 92-bed nursing home in Long Beach following acquisition of a suitable site here, it was announced Saturday by Bernard Whitney, president.

According to Whitney, a recently completed feasibility study, conducted for Continana Corporation by the Real Estate Network of America, indicates that this Southland city merits the development and construction of a facility to offer economical nursing care to post surgical, convalescent and indigent patients.

Fashion Shore Home Has Great Appeal

Fashion Shores homes, situated within walking distance of the state park beach in the city of Huntington Beach, offer homes with up to 3,300 sq. ft. of area under roof and up to 2,157 sq. ft. of livable area in one and two-story homes priced from $23,900.

The five-bedroom, two-story home has proved especially popular with the public, according to the builder, Mervin B. Johnson. Sunken living room, paneled hall or family room and a sunken bath in the master bedroom are a few of the features in the home, in addition to its spaciousness.

VA, low FHA terms, Cal-Vet and conventional financing are all available for the convenience of potential purchasers. Features include Hotpoint all-electric kitchens with built-in range, oven and dishwasher; nylon carpeting in all rooms except utility area, fireplaces, side and rear yards completely fenced and such novel built-ins as trash receptacles and clothes hampers.

From the Long Beach area: Turn south on Beach to Atlanta Ave., left on Atlanta to Hamilton and east to Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39). Cannery St., right on Cannery to At- to the corner of Cannery and Fashion Shores homes in Huntington Beach.

ALERT INVESTORS BUYING NOW WITH EYE TO SECURITY TOMORROW

There's a new avenue of thinking these days. Wise people who are not ready for retirement right now are buying vacation homes which will later become their permanent, year 'round home when the time does come. Many are finding the ideal answer at Crystal-Aire Estates. The low down payment and monthly terms allow them to invest in a convertible second home now. Others, still employed in nearby communities, are taking advantage of the Crystal-Aire guaranteed trade-in program.

This plan guarantees the sale of their present home, releasing ready cash towards the immediate purchase of their new Crystal-Aire home, and other security investments.

In this charming, prestige area, nestled in a country club atmosphere at the foot of Mt. San Jacinto, handsome two-bedroom, air-conditioned homes are specifically designed for adult care-free living. The individual homes, each with a private patio, adjoin the complete recreation center which is equipped with spacious clubhouse, swimming pool, shuffleboard, putting greens, horseshoe and croquet.

Crystal-Aire Estates is located between the city of Hemet and the famous Gilman Hot Springs and golf course. It is within convenient walking distance of shopping areas and churches. A short drive leads to mountain playgrounds, Palm Springs and other desert resort areas, where golf courses abound.

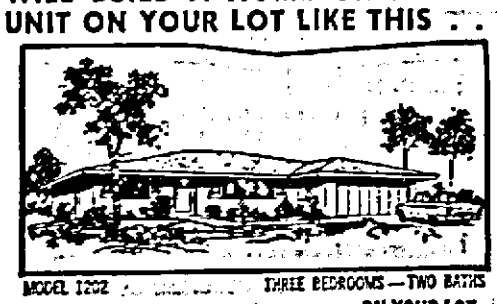

The homes are priced at just $12,500 including a share in ownership of the recreation area. Monthly payments can be as low as $68, with a small monthly fee for maintenance. FHA and conventional terms available.

California Original Fashions Presented Today at Home Fair

First of a series of California Design Original fashion shows will be presented today at the California Home Fair in Huntington Beach.

In high fashion as well as architecture, California's own dazzling flair has been recognized throughout the world. That is one reason the builders at Alco-Pacific Construction are using the Home Fair as a showcase for the event.

Visitors entering the sales pavilion will be greeted by the design exhibit of Merry's Women's Wearing Apparel in Garden Grove. "For many years fashion designers recognized California as more than the name of a state or a wonderful climate and created clothes that are casual, colorful and extremely good looking," says Alco-Pacific President Al Solomon. We feel our homes reflect the type of life Californians desire, comfort with style, casualness with care and functionalism with a lot of fun."

• • • •

THE THREE, four and five-bedroom homes are priced from $29,550 to $35,975 with many exceptional features designed for California's sunny clime. Low overhanging roofs, covered patios, central atriums and garden patios enhance the concept of indoor/outdoor family living and entertaining.

The California fashions will be shown in the striking sales pavilion and through the model home plaza by the flame-lighted reflection pool from 2 to 4 p.m.

The colorful home display of California Design Originals is open daily at 16661 Beach Blvd. in Huntington Beach just four miles south of Garden Grove.

FASHIONS SHOWN
Original California fashion stylings such as this will be shown today at the California Home Fair in Huntington Beach.

More Trucks Leased

CLEVELAND (UPI)—The number of leased trucks on American highways will double in 1965, according to the head of an international equipment leasing firm.

William J. O'Neill, president of Leaseway Transportation Corp., said more than 500,000 trucks were operated under lease arrangements in 1964, up from about 400,000 in 1963. He said indications were more than a million leased trucks would be on the road by the end of 1965.

L.B. Group Going to Insurance Seminar

Fourteen New York Life Field underwriters in Long Beach will attend a business life insurance seminar in Los Angeles, California Thursday and Friday.

They are Charles Allen, LaVern Bell, Max Bramble, Robert Brown, Anthony Costarella, James Hardy, William Harris, Lewis Hindley, Walter Loucks, George Mio, Raleigh Parker, Boyd Peyton, Orville Rundle and Arthur Zahler.

Orville A. Rundle, general manager of the company's Long Beach general office, said the seminar will cover proposed changes in tax laws as they will affect life insurance.

The sessions will be conducted by advanced underwriting consultants sent from the company's home office in New York City.

A $5,000 "family shopping spree" is being offered as grand prize by May Co. in the 31st National Children's Photograph Contest. The winner's family may spend the prize in any store department and the bills will be paid up to the amount of the winnings.

The contest opens Monday, with any child 14 years old or less eligible to enter. Entrant photographs may be taken in a participating studio before May 15, closing date of the contest.

Information is available at the May Co. Lakewood store in the portrait studio on the third floor.

There will be many prizes awarded, with second place valued at $1,000 and third prize at $500.

Oil Drilling Barge Sold to Santa Fe

SANTA FE SPRINGS—Santa Fe Drilling Co. has purchased for cash all of the issued and outstanding capital stock of Blue Water Drilling Corp. of New Orleans, it was announced by Ed L. Shannon Jr., president of Santa Fe, and R. McLean Stewart, chairman of Blue Water.

Blue Water Drilling owns the multi-million dollar Blue Water No. 2, a 6,000-ton offshore semi-submersible drilling vessel capable of working in water depths up to 1,000 feet. It presently is operating off the coast of California under a long-term contract with a major oil company. Since operations began in August, 1964, Blue Water No. 2 has remained continuously on location even though winds of 80 miles per hour and waves 38 feet high have been encountered.

Blue Water, which has been active in the offshore drilling industry since 1957, will operate as a subsidiary of Santa Fe.

Electric Firms Set Big Display

The trend toward more compact electrical equipment for industry will be dramatically emphasized in many of the exhibits at the 13th Annual Western Exposition, opening Tuesday evening at the Great Western Exhibit Center, 2120 S. Eastern Ave., Los Angeles. The show will run through April 9.

Some 111 companies will display the newest in electric motors, motor controls, switchboards, transformers, circuit breakers, timers and recorders, warning devices, industrial lights and lighting, switches and electrical tools for an audience estimated at 12,000 executives and technicians during the four-day show.

Master Traders to Meet Wednesday

The Master Traders group of the 22nd District, California Real Estates Association, will meet Wednesday noon at the Sierra Restaurant, 16227 Lakewood Blvd., Bellflower. Guest speaker James De Cot will discuss "The Psychology of Real Estate Exchanges."

Luxury Townhouses Under Construction

MODELS NOW OPEN
A new condominium, Rolling Hills Vista Townhouses, is under construction in the Palos Verdes Peninsula area. It commands views of harbor and Rolling Hills Estates. Four furnished models for viewers' inspection of townhouse stylings offered are now on display.

Rolling Hills Vista Townhouses, now under construction in the Palos Verdes Peninsula's scenic Rolling Hills Estates, are being previewed to viewers by means of four furnished display models.

The display townhouses, each presenting appointments of a different period decor, typify the variety of floor plans offered at the condominium.

Centering at Palos Verdes Drive North, just west of Western Ave., Rolling Hills Vista Townhouses occupies a picturesque knoll setting that captures views of bridge-spanned harbor, city skyline and green-carpeted hills.

• • • •

PLANNED FOR uncrowded family living, the townhouse units are designed with two, three and four bedrooms, family room and as many as three baths. Separate dining areas, entry halls, individual service porches and large patios are attractions.

Purchase price is from $28,500, with the buyer obtaining grant deed and title insurance protection.

Pointed out by the developers are extensive garden area, heated swimming pool, children's play area, and a lanai clubhouse with facilities for dinner parties and social events.

The townhouses are carpeted throughout. Kitchen built-ins include dishwasher. Forced-air heat, copper water pipe and underground electric wiring are features cited.

Show Your Hobbies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hiding your hobby in a bookcase, drawer or bureau is hiding your light under a bushel, says "American Girl," the magazine published by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

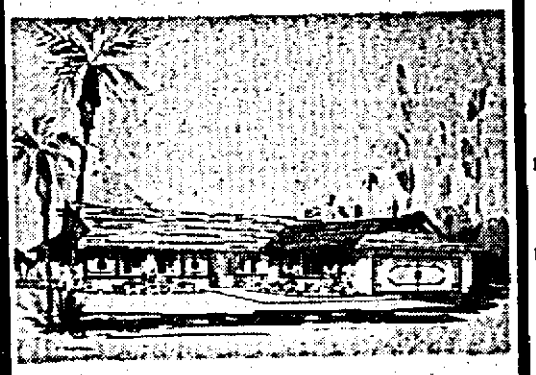

If music plays an important part in your life, for example, you might plan a music wall in your home. Beaver board makes an excellent foundation and your personal mementos provide the decorations.

The same ideas can work for stamps, theater programs, matchbook covers or anything else you collect.

William J. O'Neill, president of Leaseway Transportation Corp., said more than 500,000 trucks were operated under lease arrangements in 1964, up from about 400,000 in 1963. He said indications were more than a million leased trucks would be on the road by the end of 1965.

Fourteen New York Life Field underwriters in Long Beach will attend a business life insurance seminar in Los Angeles, California Thursday and Friday.

They are Charles Allen, LaVern Bell, Max Bramble, Robert Brown, Anthony Costarella, James Hardy, William Harris, Lewis Hindley, Walter Loucks, George Mio, Raleigh Parker, Boyd Peyton, Orville Rundle and Arthur Zahler.

Orville A. Rundle, general manager of the company's Long Beach general office, said the seminar will cover proposed changes in tax laws as they will affect life insurance.

The sessions will be conducted by advanced underwriting consultants sent from the company's home office in New York City.

A $5,000 "family shopping spree" is being offered as grand prize by May Co. in the 31st National Children's Photograph Contest. The winner's family may spend the prize in any store department and the bills will be paid up to the amount of the winnings.

The contest opens Monday, with any child 14 years old or less eligible to enter. Entrant photographs may be taken in a participating studio before May 15, closing date of the contest.

Information is available at the May Co. Lakewood store in the portrait studio on the third floor.

There will be many prizes awarded, with second place valued at $1,000 and third prize at $500.

Oil Drilling Barge Sold to Santa Fe

SANTA FE SPRINGS—Santa Fe Drilling Co. has purchased for cash all of the issued and outstanding capital stock of Blue Water Drilling Corp. of New Orleans, it was announced by Ed L. Shannon Jr., president of Santa Fe, and R. McLean Stewart, chairman of Blue Water.

Blue Water Drilling owns the multi-million dollar Blue Water No. 2, a 6,000-ton offshore semi-submersible drilling vessel capable of working in water depths up to 1,000 feet. It presently is operating off the coast of California under a long-term contract with a major oil company. Since operations began in August, 1964, Blue Water No. 2 has remained continuously on location even though winds of 80 miles per hour and waves 38 feet high have been encountered.

Blue Water, which has been active in the offshore drilling industry since 1957, will operate as a subsidiary of Santa Fe.

Electric Firms Set Big Display

The trend toward more compact electrical equipment for industry will be dramatically emphasized in many of the exhibits at the 13th Annual Western Exposition, opening Tuesday evening at the Great Western Exhibit Center, 2120 S. Eastern Ave., Los Angeles. The show will run through April 9.

Some 111 companies will display the newest in electric motors, motor controls, switchboards, transformers, circuit breakers, timers and recorders, warning devices, industrial lights and lighting, switches and electrical tools for an audience estimated at 12,000 executives and technicians during the four-day show.

Master Traders to Meet Wednesday

The Master Traders group of the 22nd District, California Real Estates Association, will meet Wednesday noon at the Sierra Restaurant, 16227 Lakewood Blvd., Bellflower. Guest speaker James De Cot will discuss "The Psychology of Real Estate Exchanges."

Luxury Townhouses Under Construction

MODELS NOW OPEN

A new condominium, Rolling Hills Vista Townhouses, is under construction in the Palos Verdes Peninsula area. It commands views of harbor and Rolling Hills Estates. Four furnished models for viewers' inspection of townhouse stylings offered are now on display.

Rolling Hills Vista Townhouses, now under construction in the Palos Verdes Peninsula's scenic Rolling Hills Estates, are being previewed to viewers by means of four furnished display models.

The display townhouses, each presenting appointments of a different period decor, typify the variety of floor plans offered at the condominium.

Centering at Palos Verdes Drive North, just west of Western Ave., Rolling Hills Vista Townhouses occupies a picturesque knoll setting that captures views of bridge-spanned harbor, city skyline and green-carpeted hills.

* * * *

PLANNED FOR uncrowded family living, the townhouse units are designed with two, three and four bedrooms, family room and as many as three baths. Separate dining areas, entry halls, individual service porches and large patios are attractions.

Purchase price is from $28,500, with the buyer obtaining grant deed and title insurance protection.

Pointed out by the developers are extensive garden area, heated swimming pool, children's play area, and a lanai clubhouse with facilities for dinner parties and social events.

The townhouses are carpeted throughout. Kitchen built-ins include dishwasher. Forced-air heat, copper water pipe and underground electric wiring are features cited.

Show Your Hobbies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hiding your hobby in a bookcase, drawer or bureau is hiding your light under a bushel, says "American Girl," the magazine published by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

If music plays an important part in your life, for example, you might plan a music wall in your home. Beaver board makes an excellent foundation and your personal mementos provide the decorations.

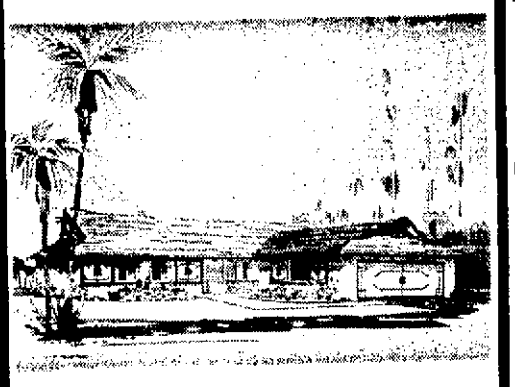

The same ideas can work for stamps, theater programs, matchbook covers or anything else you collect.

WINS FOR ARROWHEAD

Cliff Helms (left), director of sales and marketing for Lake Arrowhead Development Co., is presented with the first Award of Merit from the California Institute of Better Living, by Executive Director J. Paul Langford (right). Helms received recognition for his two years of outstanding work in helping to develop the year 'round resort community of Lake Arrowhead.

Getting Married?

I, P-T Takes Bride-to-Be From Diamond to 'I Do'

In case you haven't been following the social columns, Long Beach's marriage bureau has been doing a record business. That, in turn, means we've been over our typewriters in wedding stories.

But Long Beach is not the only place where rice and old shoes are flying. This year more than 1,700,000 teenage girls—in big cities and small towns — will pledge 'I do' in elaborate and simple ceremonies.

The majority of these weddings—13 per cent, in fact — will take place in June, the traditional month for tying the nuptial knot.

WITH THIS in mind, I. P-T women's staffer Judy Hazlett has prepared a series of articles to help the bride-elect assure a wedding to be remembered. First in the series appears today on page W-8; subsequent articles will appear each Sunday, from now until that important month—JUNE!

She'll tell you procedures for announcing the engagement, what to look for besides karats in your sparkler, what's new (besides you) in wedding gowns and bridal veils, how to decide on the type of wedding (formal, informal, military, at-home, garden), how much it'll cost dad . . . also what to do about showers, parties, flowers, the reception.

She'll even report on the most popular honeymoon areas (Niagara Falls, she tells us, isn't making a very big splash with newlyweds these days).

So, for all the details on how to make every right step to the altar, read Judy's "How to Get Married" series starting today.

'Better Half' Does Better

. . . and better and better

by Mary Carlton Ellis

I, P-T Director of Women's News

Many of the very business-like men who are up to their white shirt collars in civic pursuits over at the Chamber of Commerce are beginning to sit up and take notice of their "better half"—the C of C Women's Division.

And for some very good reasons! Three of them are pictured on this page . . . three more are involved in animated discussions on page W-3. Also, there are 300 more, not pictured.

When the distaff side of the chamber was organized a little more than three years ago—with the blessings of Harry Krusz, executive vice-president, and through the efforts of a steering committee headed by Wilma Hastings (the division's first president)—the going wasn't easy. Some of the hard-shell board members of the very-male chamber were convinced that the female species only drinks tea and thinks mink.

Others eyed the exchequer and decided that if the distaff side was to take up the cause of whatever their cause was, they'd have to be self-supporting. In other words, they'd have to bring in enough paid members to balance their own budget.

They did that—and a lot of other things. For one: the division's civic beautification committee has excited citywide interest and a good deal of active participation in its current "Year of Beauty" campaign . . . so much so, in fact, that the total chamber

BREEZING THROUGH business of buying groceries for 150 guests, Margarita Volker finds space in already stretching-at-the-seams station wagon (upper left) to stow portion of day's fare for 150 luncheon guests. Trekking through market (lower left), she selects perishables and other products to prepare on arrival at church or clubhouse where Luncheon Is (to be) Served. There, Mary Dean (upper right) cuts up letuce for salad as Luella Lassen (lower right) makes sure halibut is done to a turn.

GROCERY CART IS FULL

She's Shopping for a Guest List

Launching luncheon for 150 guests—menu to market to table—is a two-or-three-times-a-week occurrence for pretty Margarita Volker.

Unruffled by the responsibility, she'd like to do it every day, and let clubdom reap the reward for its favorite charity.

As head of the Long Beach-South Bay Branch of Luncheon Is Served, a unique program that has mushroomed into a nationwide operation, the day begins early for the pert Long Beach State College graduate on lunch day.

Her station wagon already bulging with cooking gear, ice chest and other paraphernalia (limited space necessitates a near-blueprint approach to storage), she first visits the ice house for frozen products she plans to use, then on to a Market Basket (one of the plan's many sponsoring firms), for perishables.

She sets a 10 a.m. arrival time for herself at the club or church of the day where she joins her assistants, Misses Luella Lassen and Mary Dean, to supervise their preparation of the day's menu.

A TYPICAL MEAL will include dips and chips, soup (Knorr); meat (Luer) or fish (Van de Kamp's frozen) entree; tossed salad, vegetable, roll and margarine, coffee (S&W) and tea, ice cream and cookies.

Available to all women's clubs, church and civic groups, the program is virtually cost free. The program suggests that 150 guests be served with the sponsoring organization setting its own donation charge for tickets (prices have ranged, Margarita says, from $1 to $3) and keeping all proceeds with the exception of a $35 service charge.

Foodstuffs are donated by sponsoring food processors and markets who look upon Luncheon Is Served as an ideal way to have their products tested, tasted, touted and enjoyed.

WILD WAVES SAY

News Brews, Carson City to Austin

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

UNLESS YOU have been among their closest friends (thus "in on the know") brace yourselves for some happy, electric news. Pauline Dilday and Jim Worsham were married Friday afternoon in Carson City, Nev., and are now on a brief honeymoon to Reno, Lake Tahoe and San Francisco. They'll return here Monday or Tuesday for a couple of weeks before they begin their REAL honeymoon—a trip around the world.

Accompanying them to Carson City for the wedding were June and Bob Dilday, Pauline's sister and brother-in-law, Margaret and Don Harder (of Hayward), Jim's brother and his wife, Don and Jean Worsham, and Dorothy and Dave Slayton.

Pauline and Jim will fly to New York and sail on April 21 aboard the SS Atlantic to begin their two-month world trek by ship, plane, car and train.

HE DID it, he did it! Our own Matt Kelly, son of Dorothy and Ed Kelly, with another fellow student from the U. of Texas, won the national inter-collegiate handball doubles in the National Handball tourney in Austin, Tex. Matt, who starred on Pacific Coast Club's handball teams, enrolled in U of T especially because it has such a terrific handball athletic program.

Incidentally, his dad, Ed, went down to play with Matt as the only father-son team in the national sports event. They did right well, and weren't out of the running until their third game when they lost to a team from Phoenix, Ariz.

Al Gracio, "Mr. Referee" of national tourneys, was there in his official capacity as a U.S. national commissioner and referee. Al is affable owner of Town House, here, and PCC regular player.

Action of this tourney will be seen on "Wide, Wide World of Sport" on TV's channel 11 soon.

LOOKS LIKE Jack and Ruth Kemp (left, below) of Long Beach and good friends, the Coyle Bybees of Chico, had to consider as much weight allowance for tickets as clothing when they started on 150-day round the world trip via Pan Am jet. What fun spending that kind of paper—in So. America—Africa—everywhere!

With all those tickets, they're travel spendthrifts!

Happiness is a thing called men on a stag party with convivial company AND blessings of wives.

LET'S FACE it girls. Happiness for husbands is an occasional allee, allee out's in free night. Like a stag steak barbecue and poker playing bull session. If in doubt, note satisfaction on faces of (from left, above) Don Baum, Bill Cottle, Ken Luberg and Ernie Folsom. When pictured they were at Ken's home while their wives, members of AOPI alumnae, were all on a sorority event. They cooked their own dinner and you can be sure the steaks were rare and then, with blessings of their wives, they settled in for a great time. A few others on night out fling were Jack Bryan, Reed Jensen, "Mac" Epley and Walt Crowe.

Generally AOPi alums and husbands have such potlucks together but this time the men had the night to themselves. Until their wives finished their own femme session and joined them, that is. Welll, heck, all real life stories don't have to have a happy ending.

THIS IS not a broken record. But there is going to be another high school reunion, high school reunion, high school reunion. . . . . .

Wilson High's class of 1930 will reunionize on the night of May 16 at the Recreation Community Center at 6:30 p.m. The center is on 7th Street, kitty-corner from the Bruin campus. Chairman is Mrs. Jack (Marjorie Shinn) Nowell, 3728 Gardena Ave.

Reservations are not a must—but Marjorie and her committee—a few of them—Dorothy (Arvick) Shaw, Max Bramble, Billy Coon, Edith (Washburn) Harvey—would like some kind of a running jump estimate so let them know.

Favorite teachers will be there—Margretta Reagan, Alice (Stoflette) Townsend, Bill Hennes and Mamie R. Krythe, to name a soupcon.

One thing about it, the price is right. There will be no charge to attend. Committee figures won't be any need to hire entertainment. There'll be enough of that in just seeing each other—35 years later!

WE HAVE a high flying plane set in this town and visibility is unlimited in seeing why they have such plane fun when they get set to soar. Members of exclusive Aviation Country Club went on a fly-in to Guaymas, Mexico, and on to Puerto Vallarta.

Marilyn and Jim Crocker flew their Cessna 310; Betty and Larry Hunt, with passenger-guests Evelyn and Lloyd Whaley, flew their big, beautiful new bird, a Cessna 411; Dixie and Noble Millie and Margaret and Charlies Severson also Simone and Al Harrison skywayed in their Cessnas.

All told, about 80 ACC members from all around Southland were on junket. It was not a just-for-Cessna-owners flight but our town's aviators make it seem like same. Distributor Larry (Air-Oasis) apparently has plain plane selling sense!

They all stayed at Vallarta's new, posh Hotel Posada. Weather was paradise—80-ish. Heavenly trip.

WILD WAVES SAY

News Brews, Carson City to Austin

By Iola Masterson
I, P-T Women's Editor

UNLESS YOU have been among their closest friends (thus "in on the know") brace yourselves for some happy, electric news. Pauline Dilday and Jim Worsham were married Friday afternoon in Carson City, Nev., and are now on a brief honeymoon to Reno, Lake Tahoe and San Francisco. They'll return here Monday or Tuesday for a couple of weeks before they begin their REAL honeymoon—a trip around the world.

Accompanying them to Carson City for the wedding were June and Bob Dilday, Pauline's sister and brother-in-law, Margaret and Don Harder (of Hayward), Jim's brother and his wife, Don and Jean Worsham, and Dorothy and Dave Slayton.

Pauline and Jim will fly to New York and sail on April 21 aboard the SS Atlantic to begin their two-month world trek by ship, plane, car and train.

HE DID it, he did it! Our own Matt Kelly, son of Dorothy and Ed Kelly, with another fellow student from the U. of Texas, won the national inter-collegiate handball doubles in the National Handball tourney in Austin, Tex. Matt, who starred on Pacific Coast Club's handball teams, enrolled in U of T especially because it has such a terrific handball athletic program.

Incidentally, his dad, Ed, went down to play with Matt as the only father-son team in the national sports event. They did right well, and weren't out of the running until their third game when they lost to a team from Phoenix, Ariz.

Al Gracio, "Mr. Referee" of national tourneys, was there in his official capacity as a U.S. national commissioner and referee. Al is affable owner of Town House, here, and PCC regular player.

Action of this tourney will be seen on "Wide, Wide World of Sport" on TV's channel 11 soon.

LOOKS LIKE Jack and Ruth Kemp (left, below) of Long Beach and good friends, the Coyle Bybees of Chico, had to consider as much weight allowance for tickets as clothing when they started on 150-day round the world trip via Pan Am jet. What fun spending that kind of paper—in So. America—Africa—everywhere!

With all those tickets, they're travel spendthrifts!

Happiness is a thing called men on a stag party with convivial company AND blessings of wives.

LET'S FACE it girls. Happiness for husbands is an occasional allee, allee out's in free night. Like a stag steak barbecue and poker playing bull session. If in doubt, note satisfaction on faces of (from left, above) Don Baum, Bill Cottle, Ken Luberg and Ernie Folsom. When pictured they were at Ken's home while their wives, members of AOPI alumnae, were all on a sorority event. They cooked their own dinner and you can be sure the steaks were rare and then, with blessings of their wives, they settled in for a great time. A few others on night out fling were Jack Bryan, Reed Jensen, "Mac" Epley and Walt Crowe.

Generally AOPi alums and husbands have such potlucks together but this time the men had the night to themselves. Until their wives finished their own femme session and joined them, that is. Welll, heck, all real life stories don't have to have a happy ending.

THIS IS not a broken record. But there is going to be another high school reunion, high school reunion, high school reunion. . . . . .

Wilson High's class of 1930 will reunionize on the night of May 16 at the Recreation Community Center at 6:30 p.m. The center is on 7th Street, kitty-corner from the Bruin campus. Chairman is Mrs. Jack (Marjorie Shinn) Nowell, 3728 Gardena Ave.

Reservations are not a must—but Marjorie and her committee—a few of them—Dorothy (Arvick) Shaw, Max Bramble, Billy Coon, Edith (Washburn) Harvey—would like some kind of a running jump estimate so let them know.

Favorite teachers will be there—Margretta Reagan, Alice (Stoflette) Townsend, Bill Hennes and Mamie R. Krythe, to name a soupcon.

One thing about it, the price is right. There will be no charge to attend. Committee figures won't be any need to hire entertainment. There'll be enough of that in just seeing each other—35 years later!

WE HAVE a high flying plane set in this town and visibility is unlimited in seeing why they have such plane fun when they get set to soar. Members of exclusive Aviation Country Club went on a fly-in to Guaymas, Mexico, and on to Puerto Vallarta.

Marilyn and Jim Crocker flew their Cessna 310; Betty and Larry Hunt, with passenger-guests Evelyn and Lloyd Whaley, flew their big, beautiful new bird, a Cessna 411; Dixie and Noble Millie and Margaret and Charlies Severson also Simone and Al Harrison skywayed in their Cessnas.

All told, about 80 ACC members from all around Southland were on junket. It was not a just-for-Cessna-owners flight but our town's aviators make it seem like same. Distributor Larry (Air-Oasis) apparently has plain plane selling sense!

They all stayed at Vallarta's new, posh Hotel Posada. Weather was paradise—80-ish. Heavenly trip.

Dean Gilmores Tell of Susan's Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Dean P. Gilmore have announced the engagement of their daughter, Susan Lorraine, to William W. McDannel III.

has taken up the beautify Long Beach banner, declaring it top project for the year.

Proving their worth and convincing the male contingent that "it's good to have a woman around the place," the division—now an integral, functioning part of the Chamber—has a full-time paid secretary (Betty Hansmann). Latest addition to is a young beauty named April DuBois, 22-year-old Long Beach native and a January graduate of the University of Southern California with a degree in public relations and journalism.

Her job: to handle staff duties in connection with the 1965 "Year of Beauty" program.

AND INCOMING PRESIDENT Mrs. Lloyd Mallin, speaking at a women's division board meeting in which she accepted the gavel from out-going president Kay Langen, has outlined a most ambitious program for the coming year.

Also taking office, same meeting (at which time I. P-T staff photographer Joe Risinger snapped these candid pictures), were Mrs. George P. Taubman, first vice-president; Mrs. Kay Crane, second vice-president, and Mrs. Marvin Garvin, treasurer.

All will be formally installed during the Chamber of Commerce's $10-a-plate annual dinner Thursday, 7:30 p.m., at the Edgewater Inn.

At that all-Chamber event, the new distaff president—who came to Long Beach five years ago from Cleveland, Ohio, where she was director of public relations and advertising for large firms, was newscaster and director of women's programs for radio and television, also a lecturer and instructor of public relations at Fenn College—will outline goals for the coming year.

Says she: "We plan to expand our cultural pursuits—such as the Showcase Tea, which capsules the city's art world activities and now has become an annual event. We'll explore, also, the fields of community development, legislative affairs, public health, civic hospitality and public affairs.

"We're out to prove that women, too, are doers."

Yes, ma'am!

Harbor Council to Seat Leaders

Want High Flying Career? Zero In on 'Airport Day'!

"The Stewardess Story" will be theme of Airport Day, 1965, next Saturday at Los Angeles International Airport.

Presented by members of Clipped Wings, United Air Lines stewardess alumnae, it is open to all single women between the ages of 18 and 25 interested in exploring the possibilities of becoming a stewardess.

The annual event will take place in the United Air Lines sattelite at the airport beginning at 11:30 a.m. Members and guests will meet at UA's Travelers' Aid Desk and will participate in a conducted tour of the United's facilities, including stewardess offices and flight operations. Also included: an inside visit through one of the jets of the fleet.

* * * *

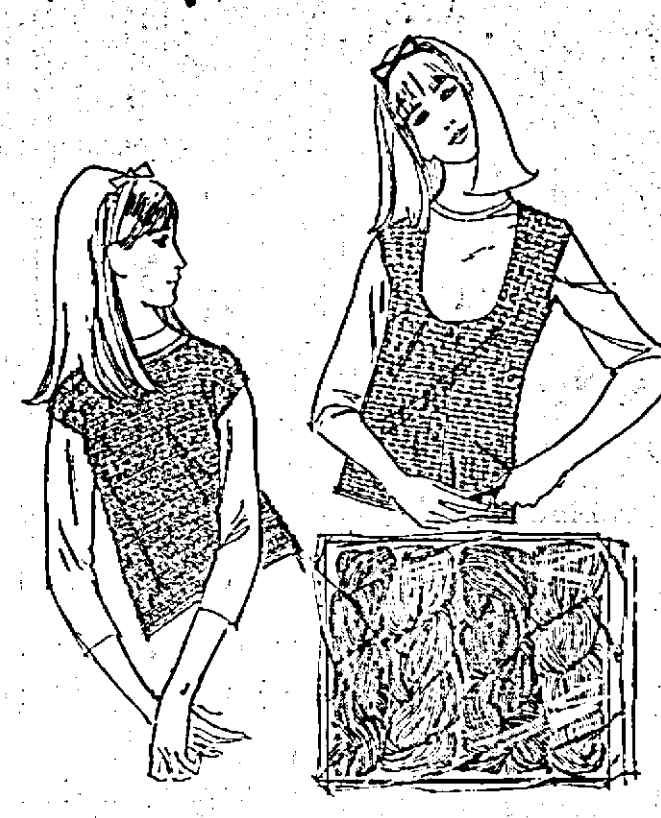

AT 12:30 guests will return to United's Aloha Lounge for punch and a chance to meet one another. A DC-8 luncheon will be served in the United press room, followed by showing of a film, "The Stewardess Story." Purpose of the flim: to present the qualifications for becoming a stewardess and the training a girl undergoes in order to win her "wings." A question-and-answer period follows.

Those wishing to know more about Airport Day may contact Mrs. Daniel Robinson, 2209 Agnes Road, Manhattan Beach.

Want High Flying Career? Zero In on 'Airport Day'!

"The Stewardess Story" will be theme of Airport Day, 1965, next Saturday at Los Angeles International Airport.

Presented by members of Clipped Wings, United Air Lines stewardess alumnae, it is open to all single women between the ages of 18 and 25 interested in exploring the possibilities of becoming a stewardess.

The annual event will take place in the United Air Lines sattelite at the airport beginning at 11:30 a.m. Members and guests will meet at UA's Travelers' Aid Desk and will participate in a conducted tour of the United's facilities, including stewardess offices and flight operations. Also included: an inside visit through one of the jets of the fleet.

* * * *

AT 12:30 guests will return to United's Aloha Lounge for punch and a chance to meet one another. A DC-8 luncheon will be served in the United press room, followed by showing of a film, "The Stewardess Story." Purpose of the flim: to present the qualifications for becoming a stewardess and the training a girl undergoes in order to win her "wings." A question-and-answer period follows.

Those wishing to know more about Airport Day may contact Mrs. Daniel Robinson, 2209 Agnes Road, Manhattan Beach.

Saturday Vows Unite Local Couples

Mrs. Gordon Keenoy

Mrs. Larry Alan Miller

Mrs. William Cooper

Keenoy-Spicer

A reception in the ballroom of the S.S. Lurline followed the marriage Saturday of Susan Mary Spicer and Gordon Michael Keenoy in Saint Anthony's Church.

The couple, who will establish a home in Long Beach, took a honeymoon cruise aboard the ship to San Francisco.

The bride, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Spicer, 2130 E. 2nd St., wore a Cahill gown of Chantilly lace featuring a skirt which draped into a sweeping train.

Nadya Keenoy was maid of honor with Kenneth Jones as best man for the groom, who is son of Mr. and Mrs. Engene F. X. Keenoy, 122 Falcon Ave.

The new Mrs. Keenoy was graduated from Saint Anthony's High School. Her husband was graduated from Wilson High School and attended Long Beach City College, where he was a member of Vidar.

Miller-Strother

Alice Bell Strother and Larry Alan Miller recited nuptial vows Saturday in the North Long Beach Methodist Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Strother, Seal Beach, wore a silk organza gown with appliqued Alencon lace motifs and full chapel train.

Donna Browning was maid of honor with Mari Lou Miller, Kerry Browning, Mrs. Richard Bigelow and Joyce Miller completing the entourage.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, 3144 Cade St., chose Ronald Ralston as best man with Gene Kahmann, Stan Kutch and Rex Strother seating guests.

The new Mrs. Miller was graduated from Huntington Beach High School. Her husband, a Jordan High graduate, attends Long Beach State College.

Following a honeymoon trip to Laguna Beach, the newlyweds will reside in Seal Beach.

Cooper-Spain

Jean Marie Spain and William Edward Cooper repeated nuptial vows Saturday before 175 guests in the Chapel of the Wedding Bells.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Brennan of 6102 Carita, wore a peau de soie gown with the skirt draping into a train. She was graduated from Jordan High School and attended LBSC.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Cooper, Bellflower, was graduated from Bellflower High School and attended Cerritos College.

Mrs. Patrick Spain was matron of honor with Sandra Allison as bridesmaid. Terry Cooper served as best man while Terry Thompson, Ronald Whitney, Donald Showalter, Patrick and Michael Spain seated guests.

Following a honeymoon in Las Vegas, the newlyweds will reside in Bellflower.

Exhibition Dancing in Ball Plans

For those who love to watch expert ballroom dancing, Friday is a night to remember.

On that night (April 9) at Petroleum Club, 3636 Linden Ave., Universal Dance Artists Association will have a ball and a program of exhibition dancing.

The all-star show and dance will feature national and international dance champions, as well as appearance of winners of the Miss Talent U.S.A. contest.

There also will be three dance contests conducted Friday in addition to dancing (all guests) to the music of Al Castile and his eight-piece band.

Thom Keith will be on hand to photograph the show for television. For information regarding attendance, call the Petroleum Club or Mrs. Fred McDowell, 44 Paloma Ave.

Lawyers Wives Slate Conclave

Mrs. Everett L. Miller will represent Lawyers Wives of Long Beach when Lawyers' Wives of California hold their northern conference Tuesday and Wednesday at Hyatt House, San Jose.

Among speakers at the two-day session will be Robert Keldgord, California consultant, National Council on Crime and Delinquency. His topic: "Crime Doesn't Pay—You Do!"

Dental Auxiliary to Hear Program on Fashion

Past presidents will be honored by Women's Auxiliary to Harbor Dental Society at an 11:30 a.m. luncheon Thursday at League House, 394 Roswell Ave. Diane Vance will present the program, "Fashion Tips of the Four Seasons." Reservations may be made with Mrs. John Taylor, 3901 Country Club Drive.

CARIH Session

Florence Chapter, Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital will meet for luncheon, 11:30 a.m. April 11, at home of Mrs. Ida Levine, 4122 Deeboyar, Apt. 21, Lakewood.

THE PULSE BEAT

It Makes Good Scents

By MILDRED K. FLANARY

Your "popliteal" is the place to wear perfume. Wha-a-at? So look it up in the dictionary. All the pulse spots were just made for fragrance, when you're splashing it all over you, that is.

We have it straight from the mouth of one of the world's famous perfume "noses," Dr. Oliver Marton, of Shulton, Inc. Says he: "Apply it to every pulse spot . . . each beat of your heart will warm and diffuse the fragrance."

He suggests Escapade as a new fragrance to reckon with. It has a romantic way with it—a fresh modern blend of lilac, jasmin and pink roses.

Just pop a drop on your old popliteal and call it a saucy, piquant accent for your personality.

Pop-lit-e-al, according to Webster: the pulse spot behind the knee.

Solomon Wins Top Museum Award

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

At 3 p.m. today 10 prize winners will receive awards totaling $2,225 for their entries in the third annual Southern California Juried Exhibition at Long Beach Museum of Art.

The presentations will highlight an opening reception from 2 to 4 p.m. in the museum, 2300 Ocean Blvd.

Jack Solomon of Manhattan Beach won the Douglas Aircraft Award of $750 for his painting, "Nude After Titian." This is the first year the award has been given.

Dr. George Csengeri of Redondo Beach won the $500 Museum Association award for "Construction," a painting; and James Simpson of Long Beach received the Friends of the Museum's purchase award of $500.

Other winners are Rod Briggs of Seal Beach, Andrew C. Annenberg of Santa Monica, Amy Baker of Claremont, Walter Askin of South Pasadena, Max Finkelstein of Los Angeles, Jack Chipman of Monrovia and John Baldessari of San Diego.

Of the 79 works selected from more than 800 entries, 69 are paintings and 10 are sculpture.

Jurors were Donald Brewer, director of the La Jolla Museum of Art; David Gebhardt, director of the art gallery of the University of California, Santa Barbara; and Frederick S. Wight, chairman of the art department of the University of California, Los Angeles.

The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays and from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

• • • •

CONTEMPORARY Israeli Art from the Safrai Art Gallery in Jerusalem will go on display Wednesday at Jewish Community Center, 2601 Grand Ave. and will continue through April 24.

The show will open with a public reception at 8 p.m. sponsored by Hadassah and Pioneer Women. At 9 p.m. two professors, Kosso Eloul and Kenneth Glenn will take part in a dialogue, "Art as a Bridge Between Israel and the United States."

Eloul of Israel, visiting professor and artist in residence at Long Beach State College, is a sculptor of international fame. Born in Russia, he has lived in Israel since he was 4 years old. He studied at Tel Aviv and, from 1939 to 1943, at Chicago Art Institute. He has won many awards and has exhibited in Europe, Japan, Canada and the United States.

Glenn, also a renowned sculptor, recently spent 4 months in Israel living in the artists' village of Ein-Hod which was organized by Marcel Janco. He designed the Ark, Eternal Light and the Menorahs at Temple Beth Shalom and now is working on a mission for a new temple in San Pedro. His works are on permanent display at Ryder Gallery in Los Angeles.

Viewing hours for the exhibit are 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fridays and 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

• • • •

DR. EUGENE WALLIN selected winners for Long Beach Art Association's April membership show of paintings and sculpture, "Media Unlimited."

Vesta Carton was awarded best of show for her crayon, "The Parlor," and second place went to Rose Clark for an oil, "Through the Window." Julie Polousky won honorable mention for "Serenade," a water color.

The exhibit may be seen daily from 1 to 5 p.m., except Mondays, in the LBAA gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

• • • •

"THE WORLD of Italy," features 92 giant photographic reproductions of the works of Michelangelo, may be seen through April 16 at Town and Country Center, 777 S. Main St., Orange. The murals, 5 x 4 feet, are displayed in the mall and interior store areas of the center.

Twentieth Century-Fox studios, producers of the unreleased movie, "The Agony and the Ecstasy," based on the Irving Stone novel about Michelangelo, have loaned $10,000 worth of artifacts, props and sketches from the Italian site where the picture was filmed.

School classes and special groups are invited to tour the exhibit. Films, including color studies of the artist's Sistine Chapel paintings and the Pietas, will be shown daily at 11 a.m., 3 and 5 p.m., and on Monday and Friday evenings when the Town and Country is open.

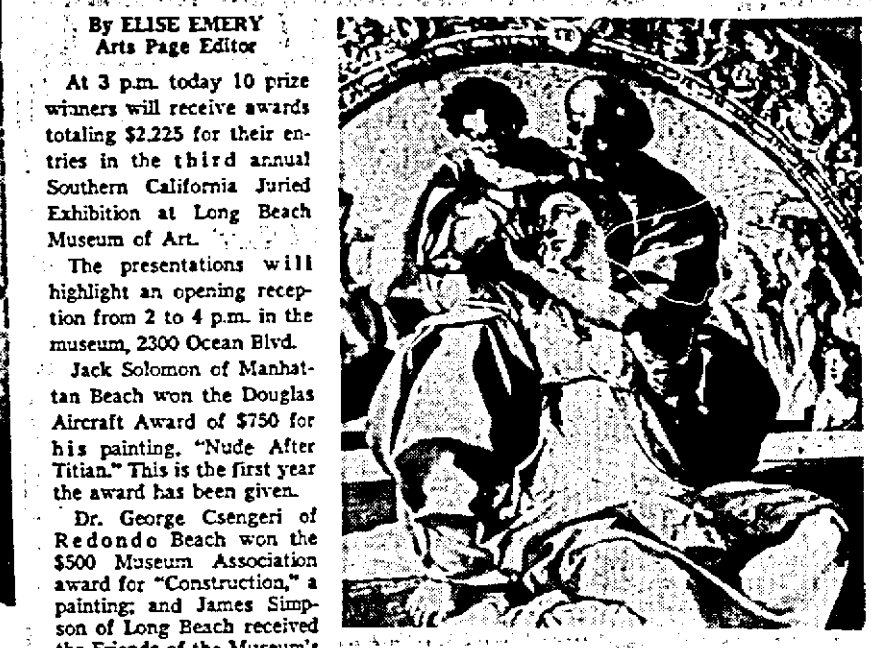

• • • •

Their paintings and those of other winners will be on display in Lakewood City Hall during April.

• • • •

PAINTINGS, drawings, sculpture and stoneware by Tenold Peterson, Ken Conner and Clinton Cline will be sold today from 1 to 5 p.m. at 16470 24th St., Sunset Beach.

HUGE PHOTOGRAPHIC reproduction of Michelangelo's "The Holy Family," in the Sistine Chapel, Rome, is among 92 pictures of the artist's work in "The World of Italy" exhibit at Town and Country Center, Orange. Never before viewed in the Southland, the collection has been assembled through Italian government sources.

'Firsts' to Mark Concert

Long Beach Symphony, directed by Lauris Jones, will play a concert next Sunday, April 11, at 8 p.m. in the Convention Hall of Municipal Auditorium.

Soloists will be the outstanding duo-pianists Luboshutz and Nemenoff.

The event, one of the regular Sunday Evening series, also will be the opening concert of the western division of the Music Educators National Conference. Special guests of the Symphony Association will be delegates to the conference and young musicians who are coming here from five western states to perform April 12 through 14.

• • • •

JONES and the orchestra will present a concert of "firsts"—first appearance in Long Beach of the duo-pianists, first performance here of a concerto composed by Martinu for them, and first Long Beach performance of Eugene Zador's "Festival Overture," which was commissioned by Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra for the opening of the Music Center.

• • • •

"SYMPHONY No. 4" by Brahms and "Firebird Suite" by Stravinsky complete the program.

Tickets may be purchased at Humphrey's Music Co. and Gilmore's Music Store.

No 'Shriek of Soul' in Bonnard Exhibition

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

"Bonnard and His Environment" is a singularly appropriate choice for the opening show at the spectacular new Los Angeles County Art Museum, 5905 Wilshire Blvd., (Hancock Park-La Brea Tar Pitts), Los Angeles. More than 130 paintings, drawings and prints will remain on view through May 30, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesdays through Sundays. There is an admission fee of $1 (25c for children) for this show; the rest of the museum exhibits are free.

Bonnard, who lived from 1867 to 1947 is a very "acceptable" artist to the public in general. He works within the Impressionist tradition, and his subjects are well recognized — interior scenes of the home, colorful landscapes, mostly-innocent nudes and portraits. His mood is contained, that of quiet respectability, and joy in the everyday manifestations of Nature and "normal" human life.

• • • •

THERE IS NO "shriek of the soul," no social protest. But, Bonnard, nonetheless, is as much of a revolutionary as the wildest of "modern" artists who cause such controversies.

Bonnard's innovation is in pushing color and application of pigment to canvas to the utmost extremes. In his early work, like the elegant four-panel screen "Promenade des nourrices, frise des fiacres," the children and women in the foreground and the row of horse carriages in the background are formless blobs of greyed color which resolve themselves into "real" figures.

• • • •

IN "NUDE AND CHAIR" of 1936-38, Bonnard is just as interested in the change of colors in the tile floor as in those of the lady. The entire surface of the painting is treated with equal interest.

• • • •

LIKE MAX BECKMANN, Bonnard's contemporary in Germany, Bonnard seems to feel that physical reality is unreal enough, that the mystery is right here, all about us.

'Six Characters' Opens Wednesday at LBSC

"Six Characters in Search of an Author," fourth major production of the season by the drama department of Long Beach State College opens Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in the college theater and will continue through Saturday.

Luigi Pirandello (1867-1936), playwright of "Six Characters in Search of an Author," is considered a master of the modern Italian theater. With originality and excitement the dramatist brought the intellectual and emotional unrest of post World War I European society to the stage.

In this play the author whom the six characters seek is Pirandello himself. The comedy of their vain searching attempt and the tragedy which rejection brings is dramatized on a stage void of settings, thus emphasizing the person.

• • • •

DIRECTOR of the play is Dr. Harry Stiver, guest professor of drama from Illinois State University, where he is director of the University Theater.

Roy Sorrels, Kathleen McDonnell, Bonnie Gallup, James de Priest, Roger Parker and Susan Stiver head the cast.

Tickets may be reserved by calling the college between 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. or on performance dates until curtain time.

Solomon Wins Top Museum Award

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

At 3 p.m. today 10 prize winners will receive awards totaling $2,225 for their entries in the third annual Southern California Juried Exhibition at Long Beach Museum of Art.

The presentations will highlight an opening reception from 2 to 4 p.m. in the museum, 2300 Ocean Blvd.

Jack Solomon of Manhattan Beach won the Douglas Aircraft Award of $750 for his painting, "Nude After Titian." This is the first year the award has been given.

Dr. George Csengeri of Redondo Beach won the $500 Museum Association award for "Construction," a painting; and James Simpson of Long Beach received the Friends of the Museum's purchase award of $500.

Other winners are Rod Briggs of Seal Beach, Andrew C. Annenberg of Santa Monica, Amy Baker of Claremont, Walter Askin of South Pasadena, Max Finkelstein of Los Angeles, Jack Chipman of Monrovia and John Baldessari of San Diego.

Of the 79 works selected from more than 800 entries, 69 are paintings and 10 are sculpture.

Jurors were Donald Brewer, director of the La Jolla Museum of Art; David Gebhardt, director of the art gallery of the University of California, Santa Barbara; and Frederick S. Wight, chairman of the art department of the University of California, Los Angeles.

The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Fridays and from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

CONTEMPORARY Israeli Art from the Safral Art Gallery in Jerusalem will go on display Wednesday at Jewish Community Center, 2601 Grand Ave. and will continue through April 24.

The show will open with a public reception at 8 p.m. sponsored by Hadassah and Pioneer Women. At 9 p.m. two professors, Kosso Eloul and Kenneth Glenn will take part in a dialogue, "Art as a Bridge Between Israel and the United States."

Eloul of Israel, visiting professor and artist in residence at Long Beach State College, is a sculptor of international fame. Born in Russia, he has lived in Israel since he was 4 years old. He studied at Tel Aviv and, from 1939 to 1943, at Chicago Art Institute. He has won many awards and has exhibited in Europe, Japan, Canada and the United States.

Glenn, also a renowned sculptor, recently spent 4 months in Israel living in the artists' village of Ein-Hod which was organized by Marcel Janco. He designed the Ark, Eternal Light and the Menorahs at Temple Beth Shalom and now is working on a mission for a new temple in San Pedro. His works are on permanent display at Ryder Gallery in Los Angeles.

Viewing hours for the exhibit are 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fridays and 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

DR. EUGENE WALLIN selected winners for Long Beach Art Association's April membership show of paintings and sculpture, "Media Unlimited."

Vesta Carton was awarded best of show for her crayon, "The Parlor," and second place went to Rose Clark for an oil, "Through the Window." Julie Polousky won honorable mention for "Serenade," a water color.

The exhibit may be seen daily from 1 to 5 p.m., except Mondays, in the LBAA gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

"THE WORLD of Italy," features 92 giant photographic reproductions of the works of Michelangelo, may be seen through April 16 at Town and Country Center, 777 S. Main St., Orange. The murals, 5 x 4 feet, are displayed in the mall and interior store areas of the center.

Twentieth Century-Fox studios, producers of the unreleased movie, "The Agony and the Ecstasy," based on the Irving Stone novel about Michelangelo, have loaned $10,000 worth of artifacts, props and sketches from the Italian site where the picture was filmed.

School classes and special groups are invited to tour the exhibit. Films, including color studies of the artist's Sistine Chapel paintings and the Pietas, will be shown daily at 11 a.m., 3 and 5 p.m., and on Monday and Friday evenings when the Town and Country is open.

* * * *

FIRST PLACE winners in Lakewood Art Association's Membership Show are Virginia Lloyd, traditional; Evelyn Carpenter, abstract; Al Kramsky, portraits; and Craig Stephens, graphics or mixed media.

Their paintings and those of other winners will be on display in Lakewood City Hall during April.

* * * *

PAINTINGS, drawings, sculpture and stoneware by Tenold Peterson, Ken Conner and Clinton Cline will be sold today from 1 to 5 p.m. at 16470 24th St., Sunset Beach.

HUGE PHOTOGRAPHIC reproduction of Michelangelo's "The Holy Family," in the Sistine Chapel, Rome, is among 92 pictures of the artist's work in "The World of Italy" exhibit at Town and Country Center, Orange. Never before viewed in the Southland, the collection has been assembled through Italian government sources.

'Firsts' to Mark Concert

Long Beach Symphony, directed by Lauris Jones, will play a concert next Sunday, April 11, at 8 p.m. in the Convention Hall of Municipal Auditorium.

Soloists will be the outstanding duo-pianists Luboshutz and Nemenoff.

The event, one of the regular Sunday Evening series, also will be the opening concert of the western division of the Music Educators National Conference. Special guests of the Symphony Association will be delegates to the conference and young musicians who are coming here from five western states to perform April 12 through 14.

* * * *

JONES and the orchestra will present a concert of "firsts"—first appearance in Long Beach of the duo-pianists, first performance here of a concerto composed by Martinu for them, and first Long Beach performance of Eugene Zador's "Festival Overture," which was commissioned by Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra for the opening of the Music Center.

* * * *

"SYMPHONY No. 4" by Brahms and "Firebird Suite" by Stravinsky complete the program.

Tickets may be purchased at Humphrey's Music Co. and Gilmore's Music Store.

No 'Shriek of Soul' in Bonnard Exhibition

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

"Bonnard and His Environment" is a singularly appropriate choice for the opening show at the spectacular new Los Angeles County Art Museum, 5905 Wilshire Blvd., (Hancock Park-La Brea Tar Pitts), Los Angeles. More than 130 paintings, drawings and prints will remain on view through May 30, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Tuesdays through Sundays. There is an admission fee of $1 (25c for children) for this show; the rest of the museum exhibits are free.

Bonnard, who lived from 1867 to 1947 is a very "acceptable" artist to the public in general. He works within the Impressionist tradition, and his subjects are well recognized — interior scenes of the home, colorful landscapes, mostly-innocent nudes and portraits. His mood is contained, that of quiet respectability, and joy in the everyday manifestations of Nature and "normal" human life.

* * * *

THERE IS NO "shriek of the soul," no social protest. But, Bonnard, nonetheless, is as much of a revolutionary as the wildest of "modern" artists who cause such controversies.

Bonnard's innovation is in pushing color and application of pigment to canvas to the utmost extremes. In his early work, like the elegant four-panel screen "Promenade des nourrices, frise des fiacres," the children and women in the foreground and the row of horse carriages in the background are formless blobs of greyed color which resolve themselves into "real" figures.

* * * *

IN "NUDE AND CHAIR" of 1936-38, Bonnard is just as interested in the change of colors in the tile floor as in those of the lady. The entire surface of the painting is treated with equal interest.

* * * *

LIKE MAX BECKMANN, Bonnard's contemporary in Germany, Bonnard seems to feel that physical reality is unreal enough, that the mystery is right here, all about us.

ROY SORRELS (left) stresses that "Each of us has inside him his own special worlds!" as Bonnie Gallup and Joseph Rojas look on. Scene is from "Six Characters in Search of an Author."

MRS. LEROY CARLISLE (center), ticket chairman for Long Beach Auxiliary of Southern California Symphony Association, will be aided by Mrs. Walter Smallwood (left) and Mrs. L. H. Howe in forthcoming season ticket drive.

Philharmonic Tells Increases

Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra will increase its Long Beach concerts from from four to five for the 1965-66 season, season ticket prices will be increased and the Long Beach Auxiliary of Southern California Symphony Association will streamline the ticket sale procedure.

For some time the orchestra has faced fiscal problems in coming to Long Beach. The small capacity of the Concert Hall, where the concerts are given, and the very low ticket price has meant small financial return —even with sold out houses.

Since the main operating costs of the season are absorbed in the first four concerts, the Philharmonic staff and the symphony association board of directors believe that proceeds from the fifth concert will be of substantial aid. The only additional cost involved will be transporting musicians and their instruments to Long Beach.

• • • •

"EVEN WITH THE increase in price, the concerts are a great bargain," points out Mrs. Leroy Carlisle, who will head the ticket campaign.

Present season subscribers may re-order in three price ranges, $16, $12.50 and $8.50. These same prices will be offered to new subscribers from May 10 to May 15. After May 15, ticket applications will be accepted until Sept. 30 unless the season is sold out. However, prices will be increased to $18.50, $15 and $11. After Sept. 30 admission to concerts will be only by single sale at the box office with seats selling for $4.50, $3.75 and $2.75.

• • • •

ZUBIN MEHTA will conduct here Dec. 4 and 18 and March 24. Guest conductors will direct the orchestra Jan. 19 and Feb. 27.

In preparation for the final concert of this season, which Mehta will conduct Saturday in the Concert Hall, beginning at 8 p.m., members of the Long Beach Auxiliary heard Henri Temianka speak Tuesday in Assistance League House.

The program will consist of Brahms' "Concerto for Violin and Cello," Mendelssohn's "Ruy Blas Overture," Haydn's "Symphony No. 96," and Strauss's "Salome's Dance."

• • • •

TEMIANKA laced his analysis of the music with anecdotes to vividly depict the musicians. But it was when he played themes from the Brahms' work on his violin that he drew the warmest response from the audience. This beautiful instrument is a Stradivarius which was owned by Paganini.

There was brisk applause, too, when the Long Beach State College music professor spoke of modern composers.

"Today many composers are bamboozling the public with their sensational, insincere, crass desire for attention. This is a by-wash of our commercial society in which we are losing dignity and propriety, brainwashed by radio and television.

• • • •

"WE HESITATE to protest, but each of us has a voice and each has the responsibility of making it clear what he believes in without fear or favor."

The public is invited to a preview listening session Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Los Altos Branch Library. At this free study session Mrs. Robert Lease will discuss the Haydn symphony and will illustrate and explain the sonata form.—ELISE EMERY.

Rick Rackers Will Install

Installation of Mrs. David Tallichet as chairman of Rick Rackers, junior auxiliary of Assistance League, will take place during annual meeting Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. at Assistance League House.

Mrs. Tallichet, a native of Indiana, came to Long Beach 10 years ago. She graduated from Long Beach State College and taught in the Long Beach school system. She resides with her well-known restaurateur husband and their three children, Catherine, 3, Billy, 2, and John, 1.

The new chairman brings to office much knowledge from a background of community service. She has served on the Summer Pops Concerts and Jewel Ball committees for the Long Beach Symphony Association and is a member of the Dramatic Allied Arts Guild, Long Beach Adoption Guild and is a Delta Delta Delta alumna.

• • • •

THE INSTALLATION will be conducted by Mrs. Mark Kuffel, immediate past president.

Others to be installed are Mmes. Richard Miller, Joseph Whisenant, Don G. Gill, Malcolm Lucas, Hunter L. Richmond, Jack S. Stanley, Dale Drum, David Berg, Richard Sukman, John M. Nisbet. Mrs. Kenneth S. Wing Jr., outgoing chairman, will serve on the executive board.

• • • •

THE 41 MEMBERS and provisionals of Rick Rackers devoted a total of 6,422 hours to philanthropic work during the past year.

The hours were spent helping support the League Thrift Shop and Girls' Clubs along with their own Franklin Junior High Girls' Club. Rick Rackers also support a campership program and maintain scholarship trust fund for students at Long Beach State College.

Math Materials Like This . . .

By MARY NETH

"How can you do 'new math' problems with an 'old math' mind?"

This pespicacious question comes from Peanuts, audacious squiggle of a comic-strip kid.

It's a question lots of moms and pops would like to have answered.

Modern math is a maze of those not in-the-know.

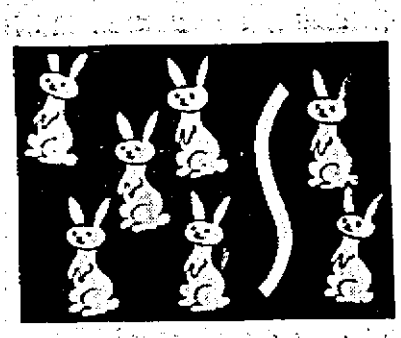

But this doesn't mean local parents are taking a negative "what was good enough for grandpa" attitude. Far from it. If their jet-age juniors can understand, who are they to question.

They'll even supply the "spoonful of sugar to make the medicine go down."

THE SUGAR, in this case, comes in the form of crafty symbols to use in classroom instruction: counting men, bead frames, abacuses, sets of objects, etc.

They're symbols that make it easier for gradeschoolers to catch on to the new concepts — symbols that take too much time for teachers to make.

Since Feb. 3 more than 300 parents (from different schools) have plopped down at desks at Curriculum Workshop Center (Mark Twain School) to paint, shellack, glue and cut out modern math teaching aids.

CREDIT FOR formation of the volunteer parent-workshop (held Wednesday and Friday mornings) goes to staffers at the center: Robert Cantwell, Margaret Concolino, Delfina Hoffmamn and Richard Swinehart. The program will continue through May 12. By then 560 parents will have participated.

Result of the project? Production of fine instructional aids at a minimal cost to the district.

Results for parents taking part? During the mid-morning coffee break, use of the materials is discussed and explained.

For example: the bevy of bunnies shown here. Though Gertrude Stein might have interpreted them to mean 'a bunny, is a bunny, is a bunny,' parent workshop members know better. It's a math problem—that's what! Multiplication, maybe?

PUTTING TOGETHER modern math study aids are (left) Mrs. Harry Hughes, mother of Monroe School student, and Mrs. G. B. Hacker, mother of a Kettering youngster. Their volunteer work is saving school district money and school teachers' time. Parent-workshop takes place Wednesdays and Fridays at Curriculum Workshop Center, Mark Twain School.

HOW TO GET MARRIED

You've Said 'I Will'—Then What?

(First in a Series)

By JUDY HAZLETT
L. P-T Staff Writer

The young lovers paused at the front door of her home. Smiling at each other, they entered the living room.

"Mother . . . dad," the girl said. "Tom and I have something to tell you. We're going to be married."

Breaking the news to your parents of your intended marriage may differ somewhat from the way mom and dad told their parents, but the result will be the same . . . a whirlwind of plans in the next few months that can bring more fun, more excitement into your life than you ever dreamed possible.

Whether you choose a simple home ceremony or a large formal wedding, you will be a busy bride-to-be.

* * * *

THIS column, which will run each Sunday, is designed to help YOU, the bride-elect, plan one of the biggest events in your life . . . we want those months before you take the "big step" to be remembered with fond memories.

One of the first decisions you and your future husband must make is the method by which you want to reveal your betrothal to the rest of your family and friends.

You probably will want the engagement announced in The Independent-Press Telegram (or your own local paper, if you are not from the Long Beach area) . . . and you might also want to liven the occasion with a small dinner or cocktail party.

The announcement always is made by the bride-elect's parents. Example: "Mr. and Mrs. John Jones announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Bill Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith."

However, if neither parent is living, the announcement should be made by a brother or sister, grandmother and grandfather or other guardian.

* * * *

WHEN the future bride is living with her divorced mother, the announcement is made in the mother's name. If her mother has remarried, she may, if everyone desires, make the announcement in the name of the stepfather as well.

But, remember, just because your parents are divorced, neither should be shuned when announcing your engagement. Unless, for instance, you haven't seen or heard from your father (or mother, as the case may be) since you were an infant, his (or her) name also should be included in the public announcement.

There are very few cases when a divorced parent's name is omitted in the announcement. Of course, if your stepfather has adopted you and you bear his name, the announcement will be made in the usual manner.

If you want an engagement party . . . and what could be more fun . . . it is the responsibility of the bride's family, although now and then an intimate friend may step in and do the honors.

There are several choices you can make in the selection of a party. Why not a small tea or luncheon just for the girls with your mother as hostess . . . or maybe a cocktail party or dinner-dance, just for your families.

No matter what your choice, don't forget the prospective mother and father-in-law. They are just as excited about the big event as you are, so include them, too!

* * * *

ONE warning . . . don't be too clever or coy about the party plans and guard against making the announcement something your guests will remember as the "funniest thing we ever heard (or saw)."

Getting married is a serious step . . . and your party should be regarded as such. It isn't a Saturday night get-together or a Halloween costume party.

While the bride-to-be is naturally the star of every engagement and commands the "oohs" and "ahs" from family and friends, don't forget the man who popped the all-important question.

* * * *

YOUR first engagement present probably will be your ring, so it is perfectly natural for you to give your intended some token of remembrance.

Although engagement presents are not a must, it might be nice to give him a beautifully bound copy of his favorite book, some cuff links with the date of your engagement engraved on them, or maybe your picture in a silver or gold frame. Traditionally it may be anything but wearing apparel.

You may choose not to wear an engagement ring in lieu of a handsome wedding band when economics narrow the field.

No matter what you decide about the ring . . . you've chosen each other as life-long partners and there is a lot to be done before the wedding.

Through the course of this series, we will try to make your wedding fun to plan, help you over the rough spots and when the big moment arrives, rekindle memories of the most exciting period of your life.

Mr. and Mrs. Gail R. Kerr

Goldenweds to Be Feted

Mr. and Mrs. Gail R. Kerr, 1613 E. 7th St., will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary next Sunday.

Celebration will be in the form of an open house to take place at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Anderson, 5227 Monlaco Road. Friends are bidden to party from 1:30 to 6 p.m.

* * * *

THE COUPLE has two daughters, Mrs. William Cizmadia, Crescent City, who will be co-hostess at the open house, and Mrs. A. A. Anthony of Pleasantville, Iowa.

The Kerrs were married in Indianola, Iowa, April 13, 1915. Mr. Kerr was in the postal service for 34 years, retiring in 1948. The couple moved to Gasquet, Calif., in 1948 and to Long Beach in 1960. They have eight grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerr are members of First Christian Church, where she is president of Lois Group.

'Get Acquainted' Dinner Set by Policewives Auxiliary Wednesday

Long Beach Policewives Auxiliary will hold annual get-acquainted potluck at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in Whaley Park Clubhouse, 5620 E. Atherton St. A brief meeting will follow dinner to acquaint guests with auxiliary functions. Games and entertainment also are planned.

All Long Beach Policewives are invited and may obtain additional information or transportation by contacting Mrs. James Reed, membership chairman.

Discussion Club

First division will give three minute talks at Friday Morning Discussion Club meeting at 10 a.m. Friday in Bay Shore Library, 195 Bay Shore Drive. Mrs. Herbert E. Lewis will give English drill and Mrs. Newman Dorr will evaluate talks. Coffee hour will follow at home of president, Mrs. Roy A. Cliffgard, 2936 E. Second St.

Jordan High Faculty Wives AFS Students to Address

Jordan Faculty Wives will meet at the home of Mrs. Donald Menke, 1411 Hackett St., Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Cohostesses will be Mmes. Glenn Dargatz, Robert Rich and Ronald Detrick.

Dessert will be served preceding a short business meeting.

Program for the evening is in connection with the Long Beach Chapter, American Field Service, and will be presented by exchange students attending Jordan. They are Maria Torres, Bogota, Colombia, and Pablo Carreno of Madrid, Spain.

Douglas Clark, a Jordan High student who studied in Austria last summer under the AFS program, will introduce the guest students as well as tell of his own experiences abroad.

WONDERFUL WASHINGTON

Elite Party to Aid Residence Foundation

By VIRGINIA W. KELLY
L.P-T Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Only the alert and the early birds will be able to attend the dinner-dance for 400 being jointly sponsored by the district of Columbia Council of the Navy League and the Navy-Marine Residence Foundation.

It will be held on April 24 at the new Washington-Hilton.

The Navy League's National Convention will be held in Washington from April 20-24. Invitations to the benefit are being issued to Navy League members; reservations will be taken on a first-come basis.

Invitations have been extended to President and Mrs. Johnson and to Vice President and Mrs. Humphrey, who are chairmen of honorary sponsors of the Navy-Marine Residence Foundation. Cabinet members also have been invited.

The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and Mrs. Celebrezze; the retiring Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Dillon are honorary sponsors.

Col. Herman H. Ridder, USMC, Res., publisher of the Independent and Press-Telegram, is an Honorary Sponsor of the Navy-Marine Residence Foundation.

• • • • •

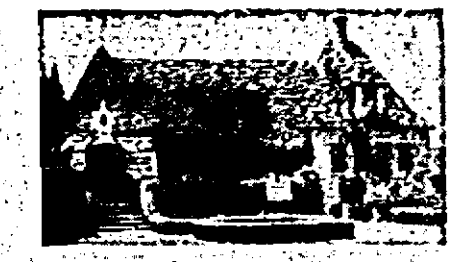

THE FOUNDATION is a non-profit charitable organization which will build a residence for approximately 300 widows of Navy, Marine and Coast Guard officers. A few retired officers of both sexes and their spouses also may live in the residence.

A 13-acre site has been purchased near McLean, Va., across the Potomac from Washington. In the future, it is expected other Navy-Marine Residences will be built in California and possibly in Florida.

DANCING FASHIONS—from watusi to waltz—will spill from Haggerty's treasure chest of new creations Wednesday at Petroleum Club, 3636 Linden Ave. Vogue Models, abeted by Long Beach Dance Academy, will coordinate fashion and fun into a delightful "Musicana" for the Petroleum Wives monthly gathering with noon social hour preceding 1 p. m. luncheon. In charge of the day are Mrs. James R. Hale, program chairman; Mrs. Robert E. Ziebarth, Petroleum Wives chairman; Mmes. Spyros Douglas, Robert F. Carter and Harold Beach.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD

Hand-to-Mouth Life, No Fun

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I love my parents very much, but they have slaved all their lives for anything they have. We get by but I'm so very tired of shopping in bargain basements, stretching dollars, skipping vacations and wearing cast-off clothing.

There must be more to life than getting married, raising a family and working all the time. It would be swell to see Mom and Dad have a few luxuries and my brothers, too, without slaving all the time for that almighty dollar.

Maybe I'm wrong. I have not met THE man yet, so if and when I do I may change my mind. But right now (I'm 19) I can't see any satisfaction in such a life—AIMING TOO HIGH?

DEAR AIMING:

Maybe one thing YOU ought to aim for is to help your mom and dad have a few of the things they've missed out on. You see, if it hadn't been for the things they had to buy, and no doubt wanted to buy, for you and the boys, well, they could have had a few of the luxuries you talk about.

However, when you marry, it won't hurt to try and find a man who is established sufficiently to earn enough of those dollars to keep you from just grubbing along. Alas, so many young people today marry so young, so hurriedly, they haven't the faintest idea what financial security means.—M.M.

• • • •

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Two years ago I left my husband for another man. I have regreted that foolish act many times. We have three children and I should have known better than to think anyone could take his place, or would take his place.

He is now living out of wedlock with a younger woman who has a baby. He says the baby isn't his but it carries his name. I'm sure he doesn't love her but I can't get him to come back to me. I've done everything I can to prove that I'm sorry and that I love him, but he isn't willing to take another chance with me.

Shall I just continue to see him as much as I can and hope he has a change of heart or leave him alone? How does one make up for a terrible mistake?—NERVOUS WRECK

DEAR NERVOUS WRECK:

I really can't blame your husband for being reluctant to try it again with you. "Once bitten, twice shy" is a very true axiom and it will take a long time (if ever) for him to trust you again.

I suppose it would be a good idea to continue seeing him — you may convince him sooner that way. On the other hand, since you've practically begged him to come back, he might have a change of heart if you weren't around for a few weeks. If he thinks you've given up and decided to forget him, he might not be so "hard to get." It's difficult to tell which course would work for you, if either, so you'll have to do what you think best.

Surely hope for the children's sake, you can patch things up.—M.M.

WONDERFUL WASHINGTON

Elite Party to Aid Residence Foundation

By VIRGINIA W. KELLY
I. P-T Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Only the alert and the early birds will be able to attend the dinner-dance for 400 being jointly sponsored by the district of Columbia Council of the Navy League and the Navy-Marine Residence Foundation.

It will be held on April 24 at the new Washington-Hilton.

The Navy League's National Convention will be held in Washington from April 20-24. Invitations to the benefit are being issued to Navy League members; reservations will be taken on a first-come basis.

Invitations have been extended to President and Mrs. Johnson and to Vice President and Mrs. Humphrey, who are chairmen of honorary sponsors of the Navy-Marine Residence Foundation. Cabinet members also have been invited.

The Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and Mrs. Celebrezze; the retiring Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Dillon are honorary sponsors.

Col. Herman H. Ridder, USMC, Res., publisher of the Independent and Press-Telegram, is an Honorary Sponsor of the Navy-Marine Residence Foundation.

* * * *

THE FOUNDATION is a non-profit charitable organization which will build a residence for approximately 300 widows of Navy, Marine and Coast Guard officers. A few retired officers of both sexes and their spouses also may live in the residence.

A 13-acre site has been purchased near McLean, Va., across the Potomac from Washington. In the future, it is expected other Navy-Marine Residences will be built in California and possibly in Florida.

DANCING FASHIONS—from watusi to waltz—will spill from Haggerty's treasure chest of new creations Wednesday at Petroleum Club, 3636 Linden Ave. Vogue Models, abeted by Long Beach Dance Academy, will coordinate fashion and fun into a delightful "Musicana" for the Petroleum Wives monthly gathering with noon social hour preceding 1 p. m. luncheon. In charge of the day are Mrs. James R. Hale, program chairman; Mrs. Robert E. Ziebarth, Petroleum Wives chairman; Mmes. Spyros Douglas, Robert F. Carter and Harold Beach.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD

Hand-to-Mouth Life, No Fun

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I love my parents very much, but they have slaved all their lives for anything they have. We get by but I'm so very tired of shopping in bargain basements, stretching dollars, skipping vacations and wearing cast-off clothing.

There must be more to life than getting married, raising a family and working all the time. It would be swell to see Mom and Dad have a few luxuries and my brothers, too, without slaving all the time for that almighty dollar.

Maybe I'm wrong. I have not met THE man yet, so if and when I do I may change my mind. But right now (I'm 19) I can't see any satisfaction in such a life—AIMING TOO HIGH?

DEAR AIMING:

Maybe one thing YOU ought to aim for is to help your mom and dad have a few of the things they've missed out on. You see, if it hadn't been for the things they had to buy, and no doubt wanted to buy, for you and the boys, well, they could have had a few of the luxuries you talk about.

However, when you marry, it won't hurt to try and find a man who is established sufficiently to earn enough of those dollars to keep you from just grubbing along. Alas, so many young people today marry so young, so hurriedly, they haven't the faintest idea what financial security means.—M.M.

She Sure Is 'Agin' Sex

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am tired of reading articles and columns saying that people are "sick" just because they don't go wild over sex. Tell me something, why do people keep pushing sex? Why didn't you tell that woman, whose husband lost interest in her, to leave the poor guy alone? She probably wore him out. I happen to be one of those people who couldn't care less about sex and I wouldn't change if I could. If you stop to think a minute, you will have to agree that half the world's problems stem from sex. To mention a few: Overpopulation, unwanted children, sex crimes, venereal disease and adultery. Besides, sex can ruin your reputation quicker than anything else. I am not a bitter old maid. I am a 37-year-old married woman and the mother of two teen-agers. And I am not locked up anywhere, so I think I'm normal. I wouldn't give you a nickel for sex and I am perfectly content. — NOT SEXY AND COULDN'T CARE LESS

DEAR NOT SEXY: You may be "perfectly content"—but how about your husband?

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I have had some experience in the matter of men losing interest in sex after having reached a certain age, so I think I am qualified to make a statement on the subject.

Some men lose their youth at 50, and some at 60. But you can take my word for it, if any man over 60 tells you a different story, he is lying.

You are foolish to advise women whose husbands have lost interest in them to "get them to a doctor." No doctor on earth can help them. I am 72 years old and I know more about life than you do. A doctor once told me that after a man reaches 60, he is all washed up in the "love" department. And so is a woman, no matter what anybody says. We accept the fact that as we get older our eyes grow dim, and our hearing starts to fade. Our bodies aren't in the same condition at 55 as they were at 25. So why not face ALL the facts? We just plain dry up. And this happens to everybody if they live long enough. — Respectfully yours, "WASHED UP"

Wasn't in the Cards

"Mumble, mumble, mumble," said the Unlucky Expert. "Last night we had the duplicate all sewed up when our opponents gave us a bottom score on the final hand.

"When my partner passed West's five club bid around to me I was sure that he would hold but a singleton club. Of course, I could have doubled and beaten five clubs two tricks for plus 300 but that would have been the same zero I was handed for down one at five hearts. At every other table South played four hearts and made an overtrick. Not poor me! I played five hearts down one."

• • • •

IT seems that West decided to go all out and try to beat the five heart contract. Hence, he opened his singleton diamond. The unlucky expert won in his own hand and led a small heart toward dummy but West had made his plans and was not going to let anyone upset them. He rose with the ace and underled his ace of clubs. If South happened to hold the club king he would romp off with the rest of the tricks, but as usual it was not the unlucky expert's day.

East won the club trick and led back a diamond for West to ruff.

Most of the time I don't Sympathize with the unlucky expert. He has the faculty of doing most unfortunate things with the best of reasons. This time he was stone cold dead the moment West bid five clubs and worked out the winning defense.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Around the World With Delaplane

"We have been planning a trip and I wrote to the tourist bureaus of several countries. I got only generalized pamphlets or no answer at all. . . ."

ON TRIP PLANNING, I'd go to the airlines servicing the countries. It is sad but true that many national tourist bureaus are country clubs—for a couple of good reasons: one, they are manned by government employes who can't be fired if they don't work, won't get a raise if they do. Second, every country has been showing increase in tourists anyway. The bureau would look good at the end of the year if they took it all on coffee break.

The airlines are competitive. Private enterprise even when government supported. If business doesn't look good at year's end, somebody gets bounced. Hence, they give you more action.

• • • •

"Somebody told us our car insurance does not cover us in Mexico. Is that right?"

RIGHT. You have to buy Mexican insurance. Just before you cross the border, you'll see a hundred signs offering insurance. I don't know what it is today. A few years ago I paid $1.50 a day for fire, theft and liability.

You can buy by mail from Dan Sanborn Travel Service, McAllen, Texas, a reliable agent who also sends you very good updated highway information.

• • • •

"Is there some book on the castles that can be visited in England?"

THE BRITISH tourist office at 64 St. James's street in London has the list. And they sell a small booklet—about a shilling as I recall—on all the historic castles and country homes.

• • • •

"Do you tip in the restaurants in Japan?"

I DON'T. And the local residents don't. There's a small service charge added to your check. Unlike Europe, you don't leave a little extra.

• • • •

"Can you put us in touch with bus tours of Europe? Are they comfortable?"

LINJEBUSS, a Scandinavian outfit has New York sales offices. But I think any travel agent would have their folders, too. Only one I ever rode for long was the Italian CIAT line. Had a driver, a co-pilot—(he blew the horn) and a hostess serving drinks.

• • • •

"My old bag is beaten up. Can you suggest luggage for a European trip?"

I USE THE SOFT side, foldover bag with inner and outer pockets. Holds four suits. They last me about three years and they do get an awful beating. About $50.

• • • •

"Can you advise which of the Central American countries are safe to visit. I am a man of 70. . . ."

POLITICALLY, they're all safe enough right now. For health, all the capitals have hospitals and doctors. But you might not have any quick help in the back country. I think the most attractive of these countries is Guatemala.

• • • •

"How much must we dress in tourist class on an Atlantic voyage?"

JUST TIE and coat for dinner. I doubt that you'll see a dinner jacket on anybody.

• • • •

"Where can we buy a currency converter table for foreign money?"

PAN AMERICAN Airways will give you one. Free.

• • • •

"And a table for converting European clothing sizes into our own?"

AIR FRANCE gives you this one—also free.

• • • •

"Should we carry money in a money belt?"

NO. GET IT into travelers' checks. They're worth it just for peace of mind.

• • • •

"Is it safe—because of health reasons—to take children to Mexico?"

I ALWAYS take mine. They have smallpox vaccinations, tetanus and typhoid shots. I try to stay out of malaria country. And I keep everybody on bottled water and powdered milk. So far, no problems.

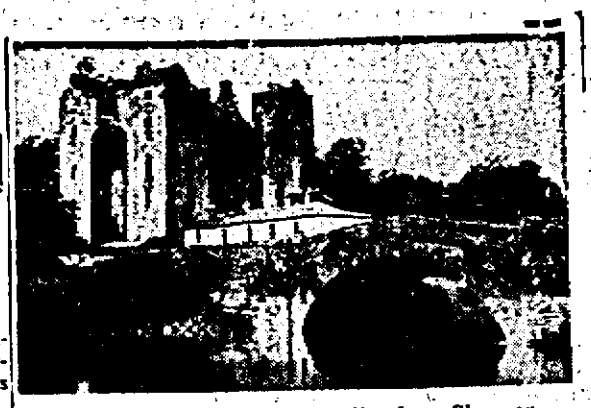

• • • •

". . . a good luncheon place for two ladies in London."

LIVE IT UP and go to Monseigneur's in Jermyn street. Just off Piccadilly Circus.

Wasn't in the Cards

"Mumble, mumble, mumble," said the Unlucky Expert. "Last night we had the duplicate all sewed up when our opponents gave us a bottom score on the final hand.

"When my partner passed West's five club bid around to me I was sure that he would hold but a singleton club. Of course, I could have doubled and beaten five clubs two tricks for plus 300 but that would have been the same zero I was handed for down one at five hearts. At every other table South played four hearts and made an overtrick. Not poor me! I played five hearts down one."

* * * *

IT seems that West decided to go all out and try to beat the five heart contract. Hence, he opened his singleton diamond. The unlucky expert won in his own hand and led a small heart toward dummy but West had made his plans and was not going to let anyone upset them. He rose with the ace and underled his ace of clubs. If South happened to hold the club king he would romp off with the rest of the tricks, but as usual it was not the unlucky expert's day.

East won the club trick and led back a diamond for West to ruff.

Most of the time I don't Sympathize with the unlucky expert. He has the faculty of doing most unfortunate things with the best of reasons. This time he was stone cold dead the moment West had five clubs and worked out the winning defense.

Around the World With Delaplane

"We have been planning a trip and I wrote to the tourist bureaus of several countries. I got only generalized pamphlets or no answer at all. . . ."

ON TRIP PLANNING, I'd go to the airlines servicing the countries. It is sad but true that many national tourist bureaus are country clubs—for a couple of good reasons: one, they are manned by government employes who can't be fired if they don't work, won't get a raise if they do. Second, every country has been showing increase in tourists anyway. The bureau would look good at the end of the year if they took it all on coffee break.

The airlines are competitive. Private enterprise even when government supported. If business doesn't look good at year's end, somebody gets bounced. Hence, they give you more action.

* * * *

"Somebody told us our car insurance does not cover us in Mexico. Is that right?"

RIGHT. You have to buy Mexican insurance. Just before you cross the border, you'll see a hundred signs offering insurance. I don't know what it is today. A few years ago I paid $1.50 a day for fire, theft and liability.

You can buy by mail from Dan Sanborn Travel Service, McAllen, Texas, a reliable agent who also sends you very good updated highway information.

* * * *

"Is there some book on the castles that can be visited in England?"

THE BRITISH tourist office at 64 St. James's street in London has the list. And they sell a small booklet—about a shilling as I recall—on all the historic castles and country homes.

* * * *

"Do you tip in the restaurants in Japan?"

I DON'T. And the local residents don't. There's a small service charge added to your check. Unlike Europe, you don't leave a little extra.

* * * *

"Can you put us in touch with bus tours of Europe? Are they comfortable?"

LINJEBUSS, a Scandinavian outfit has New York sales offices. But I think any travel agent would have their folders, too. Only one I ever rode for long was the Italian CIAT line. Had a driver, a co-pilot- (he blew the horn) and a hostess serving drinks.

* * * *

"My old bag is beaten up. Can you suggest luggage for a European trip?"

I USE THE SOFT side, foldover bag with inner and outer pockets. Holds four suits. They last me about three years and they do get an awful beating. About $50.

* * * *

"Can you advise which of the Central American countries are safe to visit. I am a man of 70. . . ."

POLITICALLY, they're all safe enough right now. For health, all the capitals have hospitals and doctors. But you might not have any quick help in the back country. I think the most attractive of these countries is Guatemala.

* * * *

"How much must we dress in tourist class on an Atlantic voyage?"

JUST TIE and coat for dinner. I doubt that you'll see a dinner jacket on anybody.

* * * *

"Where can we buy a currency converter table for foreign money?"

PAN AMERICAN Airways will give you one. Free.

* * * *

"And a table for converting European clothing sizes into our own?"

AIR FRANCE gives you this one—also free.

* * * *

"Should we carry money in a money belt?"

NO. GET IT into travelers' checks. They're worth it just for peace of mind.

* * * *

"Is it safe—because of health reasons—to take children to Mexico?"

I ALWAYS take mine. They have smallpox vaccinations, tetanus and typhoid shots. I try to stay out of malaria country. And I keep everybody on bottled water and powdered milk. So far, no problems.

* * * *

". . . a good luncheon place for two ladies in London."

LIVE IT UP and go to Monseigneur's in Jermyn street. Just off Piccadilly Circus.

Paris Still Europe's Most Visited City

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Travel Editor

SIDEWALK CAFE on the Champs-Elysses, complete with colorful table umbrellas, is typical of Paris' warm, outgoing charm. (French Government Tourist Office photo)

Again in 1964, as every year in the decade, France was the most visited country in Europe. Of the 1.25 million Americans who traveled to the Continent last year, 600,000 included this country in their itinerary.

Some do so for sentimental reasons, revisiting such spots as Flanders Fields. Others marvel at the countryside, which often looks much as it did 100 years ago. There is the Riviera.

And there is Paris, the city of Light and Love.

To those who have never been there, Paris is a jeweled legend. To most of us who have, it is many cities rolled into one great cosmorama of the past parading up to the present, the capital of world fashion, a shopping paradise, a city of gaiety with an appetite for night life that knows no equal, a city whose wonderful food can be satiated in hundreds of its 5,000 restaurants.

* * * *

NO ONE can describe Paris adequately in a few hundred words but most knowledgeable travelers agree that it is a woman's town and a man's town. It is shocking and sinful, but it is also unbelievably beautiful and keenly intellectual. It is seething with the activity of 5 million Parisians who think that the Champs - Elysees, when crowned with chestnut blossoms in April, is the most wonderful sight on earth.

The time to go? Almost anytime, but in the spring and early summer Paris has an indescribable vibrancy that few cities have. The mercury seldom climbs above 85 degrees, drops below 30 degrees in winter. The big jets will get you there in 12 hours from Los Angeles International.

Hotels and living can be prohibitive. It can also be moderate, depending upon accommodations. De luxe hotels often get $20 a day, single, with no meals, but comfortable lodging can be found for $10 and $12. Tipping is often a problem. Because Paris is overrun with tourists from April to October, it is a good plan to have firm reservations in advance if you wish to avoid disappointment.

* * * *

FRENCH FOOD is, of course, world famous and you will want to splurge once or twice, even if you are on a budget. Places like La Tour d'Argent, with the Notre Dame Cathedral in its "front yard." And Maxim's, where pheasant under glass is routine.

But don't forget the bistros, those little checkered-tablecloth spots all over Paris run by families. And the colorful sidewalk cafes.

No visitor to Paris should depart before sampling the various breads and pastries, the cheeses, and the champagnes and French wines that make eating here an unforgettable adventure.

Snack bars are springing up like crazy all over Paris, and if your budget is really tight "le snack" will serve you up hamburgers and hot dogs, a cola, or a banana split.

* * * *

WHEN YOU shop—you'll see so many beautiful shops that you'll probably become confused — don't overlook Galeries Lafayette, Paris' version of a May Co. layout. It's one of the biggest department stores in the city. At a desk inside the door, you can get an interpreter who'll stay with you while you make your selections.

Streets like the rue de Paix have elegant shops where best buys are in linens, hats, handbags, lingerie, gloves and blouses and perfumes. Custom salons, where late Paris fashions are shown, are nice to browse in.

About sightseeing. Don't forget to stroll down the Champs-Elysees from the Arc de Triomphe. It's an eye opener. Scale the hill to Monmartre, with its magnificent Sacre-Coeur, its quaint shops and restaurants and a view of the city second only from that atop the Eiffel Tower. Don't overlook the famous Left Bank and its art stalls. The sights are endless, and after you have walked until you can walk no more, arrange a tour, maybe to Versailles. Ride the underground metro all day for about 11 cents.

* * * *

NO CITY pulsates with night life quite like Paris. Men like Place Pigalle in Monmartre where, in the scores of clubs, almost everything goes. The Lido, on Champs-Elysees, is the city's most famous floor show and, say globetrotters, one of the best on earth. Another good one is Folies Bergere. The Crazy Horse Saloon, a striptease spot, is popular with Americans. Inquire about night club tours from your hotel concierge.

To do all this, you'll need francs. You exchange currency or travelers checks for them at any bank and at most hotels. Five francs to the dollar. Exchange those you don't use back to dollars when you leave.

You may get back fewer than you thought, but the memories. Comme c'est beau!

Fares Cut for Cruise Into Pacific

A rescheduling of the Matson South Pacific cruise liner Monterey affords an opportunity for choice passenger accommodations on its May 6 sailing from Los Angeles — a reduced fare voyage.

The Monterey, originally scheduled to make a 42-day cruise, will leave Los Angeles May 6 for a 37-day voyage to Bora Bora, Tahiti, Rarotonga, New Zealand, Australia, Fiji, Niuafo'ou or "Tin Can Island," Samoa and Hawaii. She returns to San Francisco June 11.

Fares will be reduced by 25% from the one-way fares for all full cruise passengers. This means savings of from $172 to $614 for each adult. Reduced fares start at $862.

Matson points out that the May 5 cruise is one of the best "buys" of the seasons with traditional ideal weather "down under."

The 21,000-ton Monterey, the only American all-first class liner which regularly roams the South Pacific, is gyrofin stabilized and air-conditioned throughout.

The Monterey's sister ship, the SS Mariposa, also will sail on a reduced fare cruise May 31 from Los Angeles.

Delta Names Ticket Manager

Clayton Prater Jr., 19-year veteran with Delta Air Lines, has been named manager of city ticket offices in the Los Angeles area, district sales manager John Copland announced. Prater will be responsible for administration of six offices in the metropolitan area, including the one in Long Beach, with headquarters at 523 W. 6th St., Los Angeles.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Weekenders in April Have Much to See

Flower lovers, hobbyists and gadders—all will have plenty to see and do on weekend travels in April.

Inglewood holds its 11th annual African violet show next Friday and Saturday in the Professional Women's Clubhouse. Forty-seven classifications will be exhibited.

Some 2,500 bottle-collecting fans gather Saturday and Sunday at the fairgrounds in Bishop to display bottles under auspices of the Bishop Belles and Beaus Bottle Club.

Compton holds its second annual Community Fair Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

More than 500 frogs jump off April 17-18 at the San Diego County Fairgrounds at Del Mar as a preliminary to the nationally known Jumping Frog Jubilee at Angels Camp.

Lakewood's Pan-American Festival is scheduled April 19-25. Each year a different Latin-American country is honored, and this year it will be Uruguay. The Fiesta parade April 25 will draw entries from Mexico and all over the West.

Circle-the-Pacific Tour

A 75-day Circle-the-Pacific cruise, the first all-steamer excursion to be offered by three members of the Trans-Pacific Passenger Conference, can be scheduled this year aboard the ships of American President Lines, Matson Navigation Company, and P&O-Orient Lines.

By arranging a combined itinerary that connects with the luxury liner sailings of each of the three steamship companies, passengers will be able to enjoy a comprehensive cruise that will include more than a dozen ports in three major Pacific area—the South Seas, Australia and New Zealand, and the lands of the fascinating Orient.

The first leg of this unique all-sea excursion begins from San Francisco aboard one of American President Lines' luxurious passenger liners, SS Presidents Cleveland, Wilson, or Roosevelt for a three-week cruise to Hong Kong, via Hawaii and Japan. On six voyages a year, two by each ship, calls are also made at Los Angeles and Keelung, Taiwan.

Connection at Hong Kong is made with a P&O-Orient liner, and the Circle-the-Pacific cruise continues south to Manila, Auckland and Sydney.

Passengers may board one of Matson's two sleek white liners, the Mariposa and Monterey, in Auckland or Sydney for the voyage home to San Francisco by way of Noumea, Suva, Niuafo'ou, Pago Pago and Honolulu.

The complete sea tour is an 11-week holiday that circles upon many of the most fasciating islands and countries in the Pacific basin.

WHEN YOU shop—you'll see so many beautiful shops that you'll probably become confused — don't overlook Galeries Lafayette, Paris' version of a May Co. layout. It's one of the biggest department stores in the city. At a desk inside the door, you can get an interpreter who'll stay with you while you make your selections.

Streets like the rue de Paix have elegant shops where best buys are in linens, hats, handbags, lingerie, gloves and blouses and perfumes. Custom salons, where late Paris fashions are shown, are nice to browse in.

About sightseeing. Don't forget to stroll down the Champs-Elysees from the Arc de Triomphe. It's an eye opener. Scale the hill to Monmartre, with its magnificent Sacre-Coeur, its quaint shops and restaurants and a view of the city second only from that atop the Eiffel Tower. Don't overlook the famous Left Bank and its art stalls. The sights are endless, and after you have walked until you can walk no more, arrange a tour, maybe to Versailles. Ride the underground metro all day for about 11 cents.

* * * *

NO CITY pulsates with night life quite like Paris. Men like Place Pigalle in Monmartre where, in the scores of clubs, almost everything goes. The Lido, on Champs-Elysees, is the city's most famous floor show and, say globetrotters, one of the best on earth. Another good one is Folies Bergere. The Crazy Horse Saloon, a striptease spot, is popular with Americans. Inquire about night club tours from your hotel concierge.

To do all this, you'll need francs. You exchange currency or travelers checks for them at any bank and at most hotels. Five francs to the dollar. Exchange those you don't use back to dollars when you leave.

You may get back fewer than you thought, but the memories. Comme c'est beau!

Fares Cut for Cruise Into Pacific

A rescheduling of the Matson South Pacific cruise liner Monterey affords an opportunity for choice passenger accommodations on its May 6 sailing from Los Angeles — a reduced fare voyage.

The Monterey, originally scheduled to make a 42-day cruise, will leave Los Angeles May 6 for a 37-day voyage to Bora Bora, Tahiti, Rarotonga, New Zealand, Australia, Fiji, Niuafo'ou or "Tin Can Island," Samoa and Hawaii. She returns to San Francisco June 11.

Fares will be reduced by 25% from the one-way fares for all full cruise passengers. This means savings of from $172 to $614 for each adult. Reduced fares start at $862.

Matson points out that the May 5 cruise is one of the best "buys" of the seasons with traditional ideal weather "down under."

The 21,000-ton Monterey, the only American all-first class liner which regularly roams the South Pacific, is gyrofin stabilized and air-conditioned throughout.

The Monterey's sister ship, the SS Mariposa, also will sail on a reduced fare cruise May 31 from Los Angeles.

Delta Names Ticket Manager

Clayton Prater Jr., 19-year veteran with Delta Air Lines, has been named manager of city ticket offices in the Los Angeles area, district sales manager John Copland announced. Prater will be responsible for administration of six offices in the metropolitan area, including the one in Long Beach, with headquarters at 523 W. 6th St., Los Angeles.

TRAVEL and RESORTS

Weekenders in April Have Much to See

Flower lovers, hobbyists and gadders—all will have plenty to see and do on weekend travels in April.

Inglewood holds its 11th annual African violet show next Friday and Saturday in the Professional Women's Clubhouse. Forty-seven classifications will be exhibited.

Some 2,500 bottle-collecting fans gather Saturday and Sunday at the fairgrounds in Bishop to display bottles under auspices of the Bishop Belles and Beaus Bottle Club.

Compton holds its second annual Community Fair Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

More than 500 frogs jump off April 17-18 at the San Diego County Fairgrounds at Del Mar as a preliminary to the nationally known Jumping Frog Jubilee at Angels Camp.

Lakewood's Pan-American Festival is scheduled April 19-25. Each year a different Latin-American country is honored, and this year it will be Uruguay. The Fiesta parade April 25 will draw entries from Mexico and all over the West.

Circle-the-Pacific Tour

A 75-day Circle-the-Pacific cruise, the first all-steamer excursion to be offered by three members of the Trans-Pacific Passenger Conference, can be scheduled this year aboard the ships of American President Lines, Matson Navigation Company, and P&O-Orient Lines.

By arranging a combined itinerary that connects with the luxury liner sailings of each of the three steamship companies, passengers will be able to enjoy a comprehensive cruise that will include more than a dozen ports in three major Pacific area—the South Seas, Australia and New Zealand, and the lands of the fascinating Orient.

The first leg of this unique all-sea excursion begins from San Francisco aboard one of American President Lines' luxurious passenger liners, SS Presidents Cleveland, Wilson, or Roosevelt for a three-week cruise to Hong Kong, via Hawaii and Japan. On six voyages a year, two by each ship, calls are also made at Los Angeles and Keelung, Taiwan.

Connection at Hong Kong is made with a P&O-Orient liner, and the Circle-the-Pacific cruise continues south to Manila, Auckland and Sydney.

Passengers may board one of Matson's two sleek white liners, the Mariposa and Monterey, in Auckland or Sydney for the voyage home to San Francisco by way of Noumea, Suva, Niuafo'ou, Pago Pago and Honolulu.

The complete sea tour is an 11-week holiday that circles upon many of the most fasciating islands and countries in the Pacific basin.

Ah! Breakfast in Bed, Yet!

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I. P-T Food Editor

He's already 'out stayed' "The Man Who Came to Dinner"!

Little did his "hosts" (the Memorial Hospital staff) know, when they invited Harry Fulton (picture right) to attend the groundbreaking ceremonies for their new wing on March 19, that he'd check in three days early and continue to stay.

His reason? "They owe me a free breakfast" says Harry.

Today, he was served that free ?????? breakfast, and this is what he ate:

Orange Juice
Dry cereal with cream
Bacon Eggs in the fluff
Toast Coffee
Milk

It seems that Fulton, special assistant and public relations man to Long Beach City Manager John Mansell, was having trouble getting-along, due to a hitch-in-his-getalong, so . . . "he accepted the invitation with pleasure." Apparently he's enjoying his stay, and his injured back is much improved.

Will he leave now that he has eaten? We understand that he WILL be saying "so long" to his hosts at the Hospital, but not to good "Doc" Edward Wiater, who intends to keep an eye on him.

Harry will be missed at the hospital, but he's also being missed back at City Hall.

Take it easy, Harry, but don't get behind on your cooking. —Millie

La Reina Rule

What Your Name Means

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif., 90812, for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the background on RICHMOND — R.N., Long Beach; R.R., Garden Grove.

R.N., R.R.: RICHMOND, derived from the progenitor's native city of Richmond, Yorkshire, England, began as "Riche-mont." This Anglo-French phrase described "splendid castle-mountain," the site of an ancient fortress. The Richmond shield is red, with two narrow golden bars below a silver stripe as emblems. John Richmond Sr., who died at Taunton, Mass., in 1663, was among New England's founding settlers.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please inform us on BERG, BERGMAN.—R. B., Compton; S. B. Long Beach.

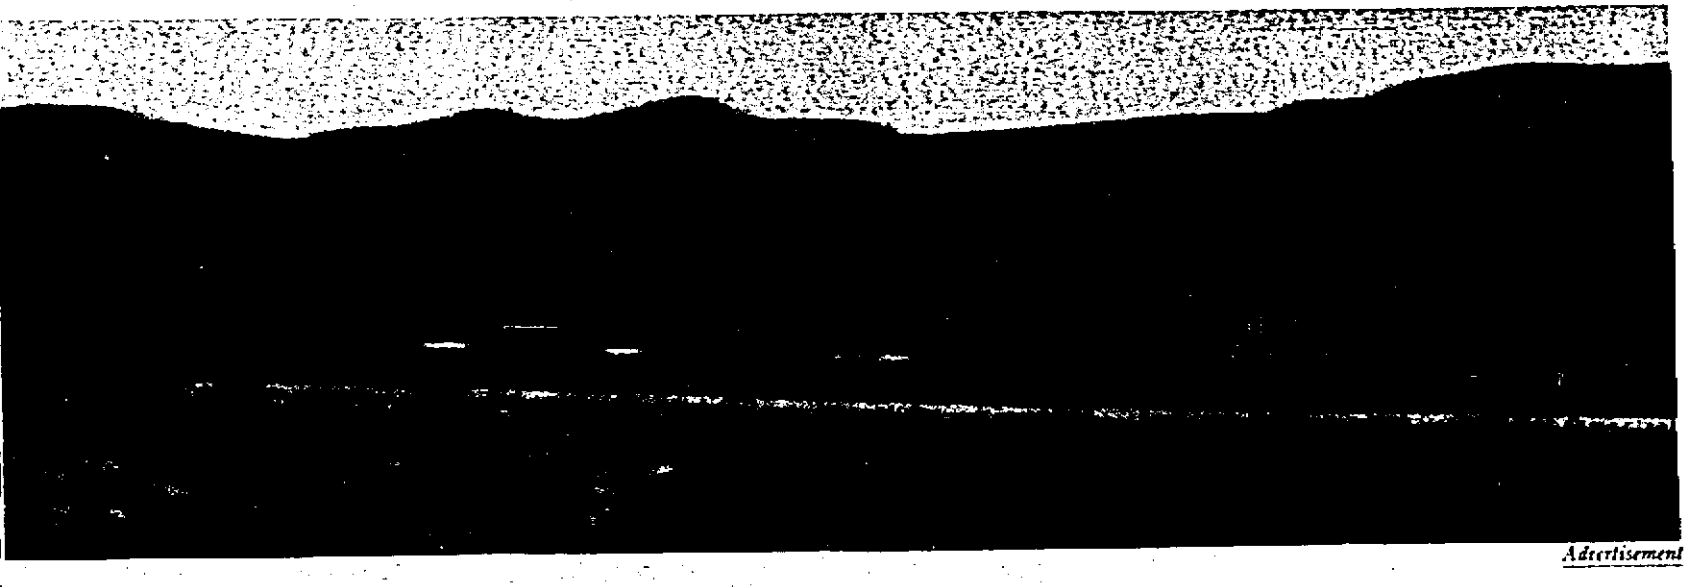

R. B., S.B.: BERG and BERGMAN both indicated, in medieval Germany, "from the mountain," referring to a mountaineer or highlander ancestor. The Berg shield from Saxony is red, embossed with three gold roses placed diagonally. The Bergman shield from Prussia has a horizontal silver stripe engraved with three green clover leaves, overlying a vertically placed arrow. Across the top of the blue background are two crossed swords on a red stripe.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give data on THIGPEN. — A. F., Long Beach.

A. F.: THIGPEN began in old England as "Thicke-penn." This described a home that was located at a "cattle-pen or enclosure in a thicket of small trees." Thicke-penn also denoted a home in a thicket on a cliff or high place. In addition, Thigpen was initiated as the old German warrior name "Thieg-Ban" meaning "commander of the people." No shield is available for Thigpen.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain HARBERT. — L. H., Long Beach.

L. H.: HARBERT originated in France as the Teutonic - French warrior title Hari - Berahr. This name, which meant "illustrious warrior," was transported to England in the 1100s by one valiant descendant. The armorial shield for the related Habert lineage, who used a condensed form of this name, is silver, crossed by three pairs of narrow red stripes.

a positive traction differential with 3.42:1 gearing.
The steering is power assisted, with an optional extra-quick 15:1 gear ratio available for it.
The self-adjusting brakes, also power assisted, are massive 12-inch finned aluminum drums up front, 12-inch finned cast iron on the back.

OUR COVER

A group of Long Beach area girls, most of them barely in their teens and many even younger, is serving as the model for a nationwide program to rejuvenate one of the most ancient and classic forms of sport—gymnastics. The United States has fallen far behind most of the countries of the world in this sport that had its beginning during the Athenian Empire. The Southern California Acro Teens, sponsored by the Lakewood Recreation Department, are state champions and considered the most likely chief contenders for the national championships this year. Three of the foremost members of the team are 13-year-old Wendy Cluff (in the red costume) and 13-year-old Gaye Williams along with 9-year-old Denice Wells. For the story of Lakewood's Crackerjack Jumping Jills, turn to Page 7.

NEXT WEEK

Baseball season is on the way. The two Los Angeles teams, the Dodgers and the Angels, are whetting up for the season's openers with exhibition games. Next week, on the eve of the opening of the National and American Leagues, baseball writers George Lederer and Ross Newhan will tell Southland readers how the Dodgers and Angels are shaping up at this stage of the game.

The Skylark Gran Sport.
A steel-coated pep pill.

What we've done is taken a Skylark, stuffed it full of engine (400 cu. in., 445 lb-ft of torque, and 325 bhp), dropped in a floor-shift 3-speed that's synchronized in all forward gears, laid on a healthy spread of axle ratios, used a reinforced convertible frame, hung a heavy-duty suspension on it, and mounted the whole thing on a set of oversized, 7.75 x 14 tires on 6JK rims.

The GS is a Coupe, a Sport Coupe, and a Convertible.

Outside House Painting Now Eliminated

Another boon of the space age has been accomplished for the homeowner . . . an exterior wall coating so tough and durable that it is guaranteed to totally eliminate exterior house painting for over 10 years. This remarkable textured coating is fiberglass FLEXON.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residence until they hear the FLEXON STORY. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every fiberglass FLEXON job is factory guaranteed for 10 full years against chipping, flaking, or peeling.

Fiberglass brings to FLEXON its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER MANY YEARS

FLEXON is one of the oldest tried and true coatings now being marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 10 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

FLEXON is applied with special heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. FLEXON fuses itself to the wall and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects.

LICENSED and INSURED

WHERE A BARBER GETS $25 PER HAIRCUT

Beverly Hills: Status Symbol

By James Bacon

Associated Press Movie-TV Writer

"I LIVE here because you can live a normal life just like they do in Topeka," says Groucho Marx of Beverly Hills.

Groucho is probably right. Topeka is the home of the Menninger Clinic and Beverly Hills has 171 psychiatrists—or about one for each 193 residents.

Beverly Hills also has about 750 other doctors but not one hospital. No cemeteries either.

The concentration of medical talent in a city of 5.7 square miles and 33,000 people is due partly to the status value of such an address — and the concentration of wealthy sick people.

Pianist Oscar Levant, one of the great pill men of all time, can keep half the doctors busy. Milton Berle once explained Oscar's absence from a Beverly Hills party: "Oscar would have been here tonight but he was taken suddenly well."

Houses like these are typical of the modern homes in Beverly Hills, where living is high.

BEVERLY HILLS, just starting on the second half century of its existence, is a green island completely surrounded by the wealthier section of Los Angeles.

Geographically, Beverly Hills is ideally situated. Only six miles from the Pacific Ocean, its climate is sunny and mild. No mountain ranges block the cool ocean breezes that come in from Santa Monica.

Average family income in Beverly Hills is $20,251, compared with Los Angeles' $6,250. That's a pretty shade of green.

Prices reflect the wealth. Barber Jay Sebring, who boasts such customers as Frank Sinatra and Marlon Brando, gets $25 a haircut—$40 if he comes to your house.

At those prices, Sebring doesn't dare call himself a barber. He's a hair designer.

Although a small town by any standard, Beverly Hills can boast a shopping district that compares with New York's Fifth Ave.

PROPERTY values are astounding. Assessed valuation is $247,504,600.

Highest residential taxpayer in town is Harold Lloyd who owns an 18-acre estate in the heart of the high rent district. He declines to say how much taxes he pays but admits that 25 years ago—in low cost days—his taxes were $25,000 a year.

At the height of his fame in the silent days, Lloyd's income was $60,000 a week—at a time of little taxes. He still owns most of his old films.

But whenever taxes get a little too steep, Harold practices such economies as shutting off the man-made waterfall—one that would do justice to Yosmite—on the estate.

THE BEVERLY HILLS movie stars are different from the breed elsewhere—more on the solid side.

They are the Jimmy Stewarts, the Sen. George Murphys and the Irene Dunnes.

The swingers are more apt to live in Bel-Air, Holmby Hills, Sherman Oaks or Encino.

The Beverly Hills' police department is zealous. It is one of the few communities in the United States where a police car will stop you for just plain walking.

Some years ago, writer Ben Hecht took a midnight stroll as was his wont in New York. Dressed casually and with no identification, Hecht got hauled off to the station. Given the customary phone call, he called Sam Goldwyn and was promptly released.

During the depression, the Beverly Hills Hotel—even older than Beverly Hills itself—was closed. All it needed to get going was someone with a $10,000 down payment. There were no takers.

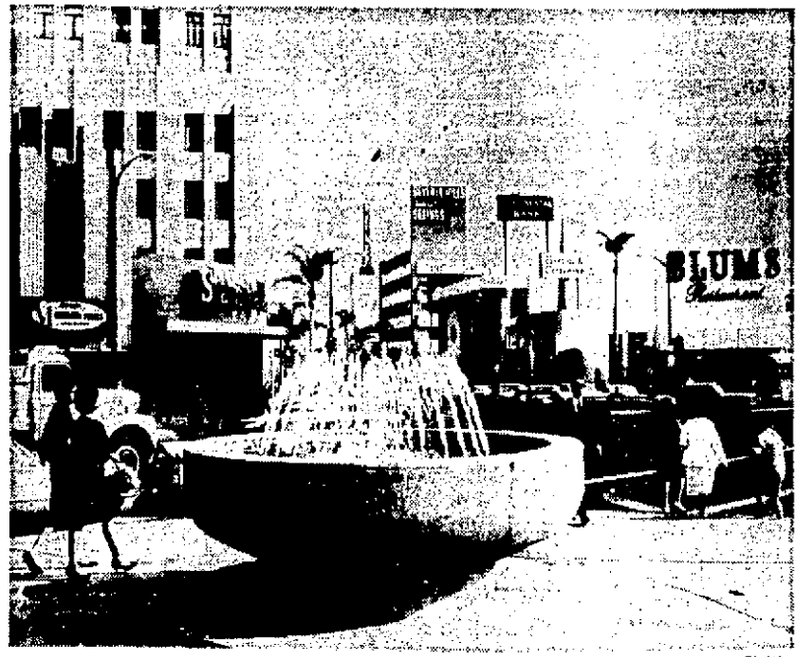

FINALLY the Bank of America reopened it and eventually sold it to some Beverly Hills residents for a song — among them Miss Dunne and Loretta Young.

Ben Silberstein, the present owner, said the latest offer to buy the hotel was $16 million. It is not for sale.

Once Pola Negri sat in a corner suite at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel and pointed to a business block where front footage goes for $100,000 per.

Spring Comes to a Canyon

Don and Marion Pratt, daughter Susan and dog Princess watch the approach of spring from porch of Oak Creek Canyon home at Sedona.

By Vera Williams

SPRING is coming, not slowly as it does in some places, but all in a rush in Arizona's Oak Creek Canyon, which some call "the insider's Grand Canyon."

It has a fine collection of rose-tinted peaks, cliffs and mountain walls, stately trees and rushing streams in which trout leap.

The elders, cottonwoods and willows are leafing; the first buds are showing on the locust trees. If one searches, one can find the earliest rock roses. Soon there will be a canyon wall-to-canyon wall carpeting of lupine and mallow, buttercups and daisies, and after that will come the gorgeous cactus blooms.

Hillsides ring with the high clear notes of mocking birds and meadowlarks — surely the happiest sounds in the world, unless one counts the laughter of children!

GOLDFINCHES, mountain bluebirds, humming birds, tangers, titmice and king birds are showing up in great numbers, many perched in the highest branches of the trees talking about spring.

If one is lucky on a hike, one may see a collared lizard or a race runner or any number of fence lizards.

In strategic spots, artists are painting the scene as they see it, and always there are photographers, professional and amateur.

"We like it always, but spring is the best," say Don and Marion Pratt and their daughter Susan, who moved from Long Beach to Sedona, in the heart of Oak Creek Canyon, a few years ago. Don, a Sedona real estate dealer, and Susan are cornetists. Marion, a whistler, the "bird voice of the movies," makes frequent trips to Hollywood to record bird songs and other outdoor sound effects.

Don, Marion, Susan and Princess, the blond Pomeranian, sit on the porch of their desert home, enjoying the clear air, the stillness, and the magnificent view.

THEY TELL about how in 1901 a Santa Fe "emigrant" train moving toward the Verde Valley via Flagstaff, Ash Fork, and Jerome carried as a passenger Theodore Carleton Schnebly from Missouri.

One car was loaded with the family possessions, household goods and farming equipment. Jerome was the end of the line, and as Schnebly unloaded the car he was told that the stuff would be safe right out there in the open until he could haul it to where he was going.

Where he was going had no name. It wasn't even the proverbial wide spot in the road, but Schnebly took his new friends' word for it—he had no choice—and left his worldly goods parked on the side of the mountain.

IT WAS MONTHS before he managed to transport the entire load 30 miles, hauling it bit by bit down the "Gulch" from Jerome, over a rough trail. His wife Sedona and his family joined him. The new place was named Sedona for her, and the first post office was in their home. The bell in the Wayside Chapel, which now on Sunday mornings sends its chime across Oak Creek Canyon, also was dedicated in her memory, the Sedona bell.

One may visit the cabin where Zane Grey wrote "The Call of the Canyon," which incidentally was filmed at Sedona.

The old Sedona Lodge Movie Camp maintained by the studios for many years, which resounded to the whoop of many an Indian and the crack of many a celluloid six-shooter, was trundled off to become a ski lodge—of all things!—in the suburbs of Flagstaff.

But major motion pictures still are made every year at Sedona.

Part-Human Boat

By Walter Finch

Marine designers have come up with a boat that's part human.

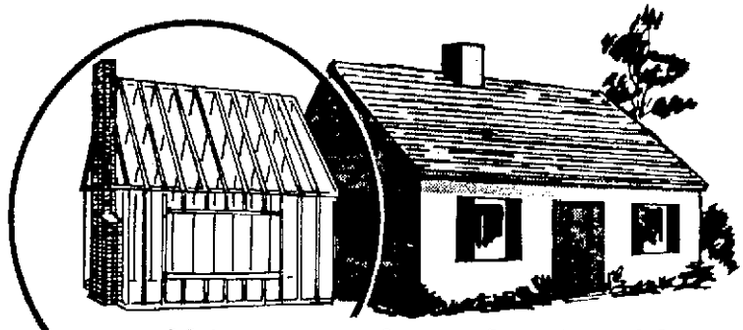

This startling new pleasure craft, called the Sea Dart, is part boat, part people and part planing board.

Only 82 inches long, the Sea Dart, powered by a 22-hp, water-cooled engine, is capable of speeds of up to 30 mph. It can carry two persons tandem and is powerful enough to tow a water skiier.

Under way the sailor rides in the prone position with lower half of his body in the water at the stern. His feet and legs operate the board, controlling the 145-pound craft's trim and direction. It also acts as a brake.

They compete Saturday in championships

Lakewood's Crackerjack Jumping Jills

By JEROME HALL

GYMNASTICS, according to the dictionaries of sport, is a demonstration game of body-bending unfortunately lacking in spectator thrills. Nevertheless, there are about a quarter of a million participants in competitive gymnastics in the United States today and possibly the best team of women gymnasts in the country is the SCATS of Lakewood.

It bothers the SCATS not one whit that they are the least known nationally-recognized champions in the Southland, for most of the members of the team are 10 or 12 are barely in their teens. They are too busily occupied with more important matters to fret about the decimated state of one of the classic facets of sport. And besides, they're having a good time with their twisting and turning and tumbling.

But there is much concern around the country about America's anemic showing in gymnastics during the past Olympic Games and the SCATS may be the large part of the answer to a genuine problem of international proportions.

The lithe little lasses who compose the Southern California Acro Teens — the SCATS — are national champions of the near future, talented enough to win the California championship last summer and considered the favorite for the U. S. Gymnastics Federation's national championship this summer.

CLUB MEMBERS are from Long Beach and neighboring cities. Lakewood is their home base and the Lakewood Recreation Dept. is their sponsor. Next Saturday night the SCATS will be the host team for the "First in the U. S. A." north-south all-star all-girl national invitational championships, to be held at the Lakewood High School gymnasium. Some of the foremost female gymnasts in the nation will compete, including Dale McClements of Seattle, this country's highest-finishing woman gymnast in the last Olympics. She was 34th. America's second highest finisher, Linda Methany of Chicago, also will compete. She was 36th in the Olympics.

"This is the greatest mid-season meet for women ever held in the United States," says co-chairman Bud Marquette, who is coach of the SCATS. "It's got to be," he adds, "because, like the title says, it's the first one of its kind ever held in the USA."

That, very concisely, is precisely why the USA is so anemic in world gymnastics competition, not only in women's but men's as well. (The highest male finisher Uncle Sam had in the last Olympics was Mikado Sakamoto of Los Angeles, the national individual champion, who was 20th. "Very few gymnastics meets of any kind are held anywhere for women, which is the problem in this country," explains Marquette

THE INTERNATIONAL embarrassment provoked the president of the U. S. Gymnastics Federation, Dr. Donald Boydson, to comment, "We have actually lost ground since the '60 Olympics." There was some displeasure from the general American public, the kind that bursts forth each four years when American sports followers ask why a nation of nearly 200 million can't find a couple of hundred athletes who can hold their own against all those little countries in such minor sports as fencing and field hockey and bicycle racing. And gymnastics.

An intensive program has been launched for women's gymnastics, with the Lakewood SCATS serving as the model. "I can see quite a bit of progress in the past year," says Marquette, who has been coaching women's gymnastics for 17 years. But Marquette is cautious about optimism, for he has seen these spurts of interest before.

Marquette coached a Pittsburgh, Pa., women's team to a national championship before he moved to Long Beach eight years ago. There was no gymnastics for girls in this area until he joined with the Lakewood Recreation Dept. to form the SCATS. Now four nights a week at Lakewood High School's gym there are as many as 100 girls training. During the summer the total sometimes is double that.

THEY RANGE in age from 6 to 22. The 22-year-old is Judy Trammel, a former national individual champion and a finalist in the U. S. Olympic Trials last summer. "She's performing better than any time in her life right now," says Coach Marquette.

The best 24 girls earn places on the SCATS.

Until recently there was a national agreement against high school-conducted gymnastics programs for girls, but now many schools around the country have instituted a program. One university, Southern Illinois U., now gives scholarships for women's gymnastics.

Educators have come to understand that there is a vast difference between women's and men's competition. Where men's events are mostly a test of muscle and coordination, women's are exhibitions in grace much like ballet. In fact, ballet is part of the training routine of most good female gymnasts. Gradually, the image of the sport is changing. Pretty little girls with long pony tails and uptilted noses are turning to gymnastics in surprising numbers.

"THE SPORT has stayed in the background in the country because it requires so much work, so much self-discipline," explains Marquette. The SCATS work out four nights a week for two to three hours

Beginner class gets instruction from Bud Marquette, coach of the SCATS, Lakewood organization of enthusiastic young gymnasts. Girls will compete in major event next Saturday night.

Leader of Lakewood's SCATS is Judy Trammel, former national individual women's gymnastics champion.

Budding champion gymnasts begin training at ages of 6 and 7, with year-around work in tumbling and acrobatics. Many become champions in early teens.

Anything you say might be wrong

The Weather? Just Don't Talk About It!

Santa Ana and San Bernardino Mountains (upper left) are visible more than 50 miles away in this rare no-smog aerial photo of Long Beach-Orange County where weather isn't always mild.

By LOU JOBST

THE best thing you can say about the weather in Southern California is nothing.

Almost anything else is likely to be wrong!

It is a phenomena of this phenomena-plagued land that the seemingly changeless and predictable weather defies strict characterization and drives the forecasters crazy.

You can describe the country, like most people do, as being extremely dry, neither very cold nor very hot and sunny day after day.

You can say January is colder than August, May is pretty and it usually rains in December, but don't.

THE BIG BOOK of weather records may not agree.

Dry?

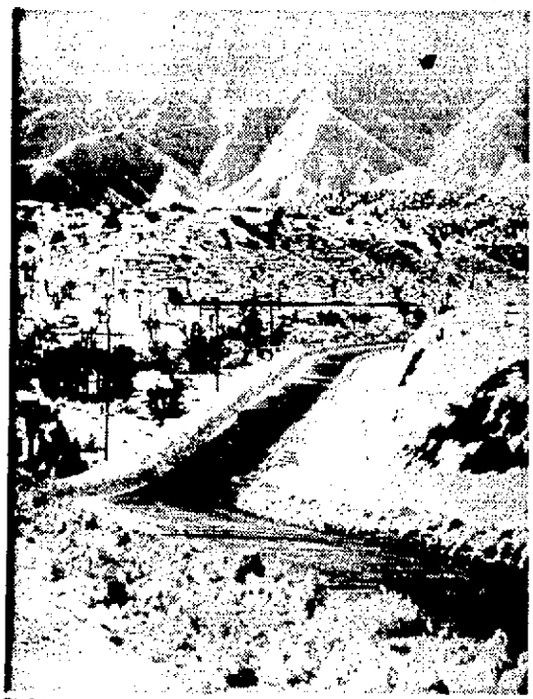

Yes, but the parched Southland has had the dubious honor of being the wettest spot on earth several times and has set some world rainfall records.

A monumental deluge struck Opid Camp in the San Gabriel River Canyon above Azusa on April 5, 1926, dumping between .65 of an inch (the official gauge) and 1.1 (unofficial) inches of rainfall in 60 seconds, an international record for a single minute of precipitation.

Southern California's supposedly dry-side climate doesn't always live up to predictions. Sometimes it rains. And rains and rains! For example, this deep, damp scene at First and Locust a few years ago.

And don't say it doesn't snow here. Long Beach has had its turn with such scenes as this in blizzard-hit Antelope Valley cactus country.

The wettest single calendar day anywhere belongs to Jan. 22, 1943 when the heavens over Big Santa Anita Canyon collapsed and the area was drowned under 26.11 inches of rain.

MIDTOWN Los Angeles, generally considered the heart of the desert coastal basin, was pounded with 41 inches of rain in 1884, far more than the annual average of such traditional "wet spots" as Key West, Houston and Vicksburg.

Long Beach was drenched with nearly 39 inches in 1883 and recorded an annual rainfall of 33 inches in 1941.

The same spots dried up and almost blew away in 1953 when the total yearly precipitation was just over four inches.

While these were times that dampened spirits in these parts, New Year's Eve 1933 would have shaken Noah and his sons. That night nearly 13 inches fell in a torrential downpour that brought on widespread floods that cost 40 lives.

"ALMOST ANY generality you make about the weather can be shot down," says one longtime observer.

August and early September is supposed to be the hottest time of year with January the coldest, but it only got up to a chilly 49 degrees on Aug. 30, 1901.

And it was, the fickle weatherman says, a torrid 90 degrees on Jan. 6, 1923.

February is the wettest month of the year, but there have been six Februaries in recent times without a trace of precipitation.

May is lovely, they say, but it has less sunshine than any of the other months. And they all have less than a lot of people believe with about 100 days of fog and limited visibility each year.

"Well, "the tradition goes," out here you get away from those terrible snows and midwestern heat waves."

Four inches of snow fell in downtown Long Beach in a single hour in 1938.

TEMPERATURES shot off the thermometer at 111 here in October 1958 and again in 1961. There were five straight day of brain-cooking 100 degree heat just two years ago.

One commonly held belief that the dry and wet weather comes in cycles, is supported by the records.

There have been five alternating wet-dry cycles, averaging about 10 years, since the turn of the 20th Century. We are currently "dry" and in the 22nd consecutive year of subnormal rainfall.

There are a lot of reasons, some known and some unknown, why weather hereabouts is so unreliable and difficult to predict.

Many storms drop most of their precipitation in the high north-south mountain ranges such as the Coast Range and the Sierra Nevada to the north of us.

Others are diverted from spilling into the Southland by the east-west lying Tehachapi and San Gabriel Mountains, ranges that wall off this region from the rest of the state.

America's Cup of Coffee

Coffee cherries—pits or "beans" are used; pulp thrown away. About 2,000 make one pound.

By FRANK L. REMINGTON

COFFEE-DRINKING Americans gulp down half the world's production—some 400 million cups per day of the savory beverage.

In fact, U. S. coffee consumption if turned into one black flood—without sugar or cream—would tumble over the American side of Niagara Falls for 16 long hours.

Little wonder then, that the brew and the industry that produces it has become an economic factor of world-wide importance.

For most American families coffee is as necessary as bread. Its tantalizing aroma alone is a more effective waker-upper than a half dozen alarm clocks. A morning cup of the invigorating stuff can convert a half-awake husband into an energetic businessman ready and eager for the day's work. If yours is one of the 92 of every 100 homes where coffee is a daily beverage, you probably quaff between 2½ and 3½ cups a day.

In the home and at the office, at social gatherings and at business conferences "Let's have some coffee" is a signal for relaxation and friendship. And it's not unreasonable to assume that world diplomats might go a lot further toward easing international tensions if they discussed their differences over steaming cups of the brew.

MANY UNION labor contracts have a coffee break written in, and it's sometimes authorized by state labor laws. In the last few years, growing thousands of workers have been popping out for an afternoon cup as well. More often than not the harried boss, who once considered the mass exodus from desk and typewriter a costly and unnecessary waste, now joins the thundering herd and enjoys a cup himself while catching an earful of office gossip.

In the long run, the coffee break pays dividends for the time consumed. Surveys indicate a mug of the beverage not only alerts workers but relieves monotony, increases production and makes for less errors. There's nothing quite like coffee to lift the spirits and maintain high morale.

Prof. Samuel C. Prescott of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who made a study of coffee, says: "Coffee, when properly prepared, has a remarkable stimulating effect. It relieves fatigue, through the action of caffeine, which acts on the central nervous system. Caffeine is a mild stimulant of the heart, increases strength for muscular work, and develops the power of concentration for mental activities and, while eliminating the sensation of fatigue, is an efficacious help for prolonged mental work."

MANY COFFEE devotees, however, don't reap the full benefits. Its stimulating effect is much greater on an empty stomach and without accompanying food. Sugar and cream, too, somewhat diminish its energizing qualities. Yet, only 22% of the coffee-sipping fraternity drink it straight. The majority—47%—prefer it with cream and sugar, while 24% like cream only, and 7% sugar only.

Through the centuries, coffee has been denounced as an intoxicant and poison and praised as a medicament and appetizing beverage. An early Sultan reputedly enjoyed coffee so much that he ordered the execution of two Persian physicians who proclaimed it unhealthful. On the other hand, Charles II of England denounced coffee houses as "Seminaries of sedition."

To those who declared the beverage to be a slow poison the 18th Century French author, Fontennelle, replied: "It must be, for I've been drinking it for 85 years and am not dead yet." Not long ago, Sam Lemler of Los Angeles passed away at the age of 114. He greatly enhanced his enjoyment of a full life, according to his grandchildren, with a daily quota of from 10 to 15 cups of coffee.

COFFEE IS prepared in many ways with many advocates of each process but surveys indicate that very few devotees can brew as delicious a cup as the inherent potential of the coffee warrants. As one connoisseur expressed it: "Experts produce and handle coffee up to the most important process—brewing. Then, ironically, amateurs take over and spoil it."

Of the thousands of ways and hundreds of devices

Coffee is spread to dry on brick terraces, raked by day, covered by night. Above, dried beans are packed to collection centers for shipment. Right, shipment samples are graded at New York exchange to fix standards. U.S. imports annually nearly 3 billion pounds of green coffee.

What Your Name Means

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif., 90812, for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the background on RICHMOND — R.N., Long Beach; R.R., Garden Grove.

R.N., R.R.: RICHMOND, derived from the progenitor's native city of Richmond, Yorkshire, England, began as "Riche-mont." This Anglo-French phrase described "splendid castle-mountain," the site of an ancient fortress. The Richmond shield is red, with two narrow golden bars below a silver stripe as emblems. John Richmond Sr., who died at Taunton, Mass., in 1663, was among New England's founding settlers.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please inform us on BERG, BERGMAN.—R. B., Compton; S. B. Long Beach.

R. B., S.B.: BERG and BERGMAN both indicated, in medieval Germany, "from the mountain," referring to a mountaineer or highlander ancestor. The Berg shield from Saxony is red, embossed with three gold roses placed diagonally. The Bergman shield from Prussia has a horizontal silver stripe engraved with three green clover leaves, overlying a vertically placed arrow. Across the top of the blue background are two crossed swords on a red stripe.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give data on THIGPEN. — A. F., Long Beach.

A. F.: THIGPEN began in old England as "Thicke-penn." This described a home that was located at a "cattle-pen or enclosure in a thicket of small trees." Thicke-penn also denoted a home in a thicket on a cliff or high place. In addition, Thigpen was initiated as the old German warrior name "Thieg-Ban" meaning "commander of the people." No shield is available for Thigpen.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please explain HARBERT. — L. H., Long Beach.

L. H.: HARBERT originated in France as the Teutonic-French warrior title Hari-Beraht. This name, which meant "illustrious warrior," was transported to England in the 1100s by one valiant descendant. The armorial shield for the related Habert lineage, who used a condensed form of this name, is silver, crossed by three pairs of narrow red stripes.

THE MEASURE OF VALUE

JUST A VOICE ON A SOUND TRACK

'Ghost' Who Got No Oscar

By HOYT McAFEE

ACTRESSES Natalie Wood and Rita Moreno appeared to be singing their number with an intensity of feeling. Movie fans in theatres across the nation watched and listened appreciatively. Later, when Academy Award time rolled around, Rita Moreno won an Oscar on the strength of her acting and the manner in which she rendered "I Have A Love" and "A Boy Like That" in "West Side Story."

It so happened, however, that vivacious Rita supplied only the lip movements, facial expressions, and hand waving for those two hit songs. A remarkably talented "ghost" named Betty Wand did the actual singing!

In the same movie Natalie Wood also needed the services of a "ghost singer." Her voice was recorded on sound track and then played back — so that Natalie, via lip expressions, could "sing along" with her.

An array of evidence shows that "ghost singers" are more numerous in Hollywood than the public suspects. No one among them has been more of a busy bee than the aforementioned Betty Wand.

ONE ATTRIBUTE of hers —versatility—has made it possible for her to latch on to a wide range of singing assignments in Hollywood. These date back to the remaking of "Pagan Love Song," a vehicle for swimming star Esther Williams.

In the course of a frank conversation, Betty Wand revealed that hers was the voice movie-goers heard in that film, not Esther's. She also did the singing on the sound track, not on the screen, for Esther Williams in "Easy To Love."

Leslie Caron intrigued American movie audiences with her performance in "Gigi." Oddly enough, that picture convinced film-goers and critics alike that the effervescent French star had developed a first rate singing voice.

ON THAT count they couldn't have been more mistaken. For all the credit belonged to Betty Wand, the "ghost singer" to whom we often listen with pleasure but never glimpse on the screen.

Variety and versatility have done much to promote Betty Wand's "quiet career." She credits them with landing her the most coveted assignment of all. This was the chance to be the "ghost voice" for Rita Moreno in "West Side Story."

For a while, however, it looked like the producer of that Academy Award-winning movie would take a chance on Rita Moreno's singing. He and the director had her rehearse and record her two numbers, naturally hoping that they would prove satisfactory for their purposes.

AFTERWARD, they eagerly attended a studio screening to witness the "rushes" filmed up to that point. Then and there they discovered that Rita Moreno was a truly convincing actress, but less gifted as a singer.

So the hurry-up call—or the Hollywood SOS—went out for Betty Wand. Despite all of her experience in ghost-singing rules, she found herself faced with an extra challenge in "West Side Story."

Hour after hour she had to bear down on requirement number one—that she sing with a Puerto Rican accent. Two: It was necessary for her to give her voice a new and richer "pitch" to achieve the soprano tones of Leonard Bernstein's music. This required energetic and diligent practice.

As an added handicap, nature chose that moment to saddle Betty with a cold! Thus when she answered the movie studio's "come-on-the-run" call, she had to sip cups of hot tea to keep her voice functioning naturally and clearly.

SHUNTED off to a soundproof booth by the producer of "West Side Story," Betty donned earphones and, on signal, sang into a microphone. This, in turn, was recorded on the sound track — accompanied, of course, by the music of Leonard Bernstein.

NATALIE WOOD
No Thrush, Either

ESTHER WILLIAMS
The Voice Was Betty Wand's

Then the situation really became complicated. For instance, Betty had to listen to the recording done by Natalie Wood's "ghost singer" two or three times. Afterward, in a duel with Natalie's "ghost" she had to supply the voice for Rita Moreno—thus making sure the rendition came off harmoniously.

But, Betty explained, her first effort was "botched by Rita Moreno." In short, while listening to the playback of Betty's singing Rita "made the wrong lip and facial expression—that is, her timing was off."

THERE WAS only one solution to that: Betty became a behind-the-scenes actress herself. She studied Rita Moreno's lip and facial movements closely, then made a recording for the sound track. Result: the "patch" was mended and the defect corrected.

Thanks to all that quiet and painstaking effort by "ghost singers," the Natalie Wood-Rita Moreno duet came off harmoniously on the screen.

The United States has fallen far behind most of the countries of the world in this sport that had its beginning during the Athenian Empire. The Southern California Acro Teens, sponsored by the Lakewood Recreation Department, are state champions and considered the most likely chief contenders for the national championships this year. Two U.S. artists have devised a new method of light ray "painting," illustrated above.

Space Age Art

By Caroline Coleman

AN UNUSUAL new art form, painting with colored light instead of oils or water colors — that the famed painter, Pablo Picasso, tried to perfect but abandoned — now has been brought to its full development by two American artists who have worked on the project as a team. The new technique is called Actinism; the painting, an Actino.

Picasso was the first to experiment with this revolutionary method of painting with light in 1946 and was successful in creating black and white designs, but the master of abstract art could not develop a means of using color and, after several attempts, gave it up.

Don Gray, of Los Angeles, and Francis Oliver, of Philadelphia, after several years of research and experimentation, found the secret of creative painting with spectrum light rays, resulting in startling and brilliant color designs that have caught the imagination of art lovers from coast to coast.

USING THE spectrum as as their palette, Gray and Oliver paint in a dark room, conceiving daring abstract forms with often shocking brilliance, as if the artists blindfolded their imaginations and let their creativeness run wild.

They accomplish this remarkable art form by separating the white light in the prism to isolate pure colors and then wield these colors with complete control of form and shape, as one would with a paint brush. Instead of conventional brush, however, these men use a flexible cable, a tube which permits the light to be bent. On the end of this tube is their "brush," a sort of spray gun that permits them to use whichever color they choose.

THE COLORS are shot on a sensitized paper and then "fixed" to stay in the design of the artist's choice.

Art critics have already given Actinism their blessing and with the United States in the midst of a multi-billion-dollar mass culture kick, there is good reason to think that Actinism is an art form, not only of our times, but of the future.

Gray likes to think of Actinos as an integral part of the space age. "We use black backgrounds in most of our paintings because space is black," he said. "At the same time the colors available to us are the infinite number of hues in the spectrum and extend far beyond the wave lengths visible to the human eye."

Gray's and Oliver's Actinos hang today in smart homes, in plush business offices, salons, whever modern art is used to accent a room. The largest Actino yet produced by them, a mural six feet by 25 feet in size, is in the lobby of the Continental Inn, Toledo, Ohio.

WHERE A BARBER GETS $25 PER HAIRCUT

Beverly Hills: Status Symbol

By James Bacon

Associated Press Movie-TV Writer

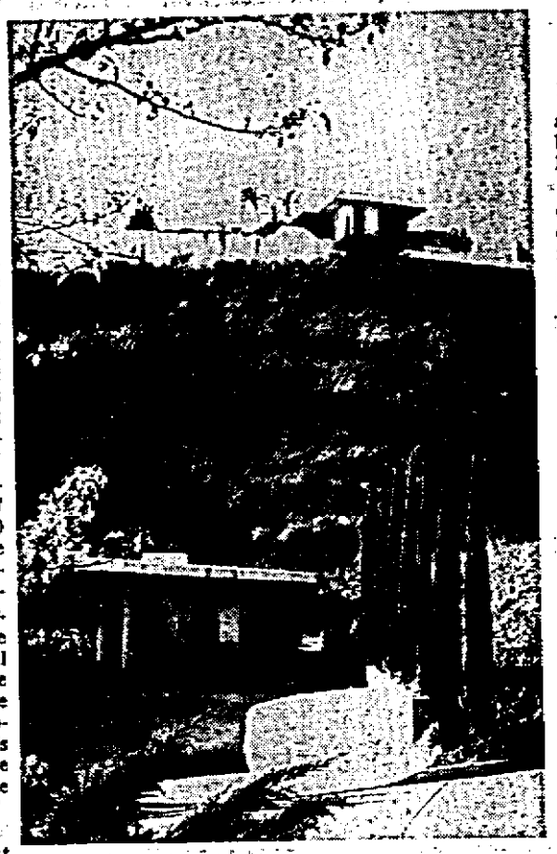

"I LIVE here because you can live a normal life just like they do in Topeka," says Groucho Marx of Beverly Hills.

Groucho is probably right. Topeka is the home of the Menninger Clinic and Beverly Hills has 171 psychiatrists—or about one for each 193 residents.

Beverly Hills also has about 750 other doctors but not one hospital. No cemeteries either.

The concentration of medical talent in a city of 5.7 square miles and 33,000 people is due partly to the status value of such an address—and the concentration of wealthy sick people.

Pianist Oscar Levant, one of the great pill men of all time, can keep half the doctors busy. Milton Berle once explained Oscar's absence from a Beverly Hills party: "Oscar would have been here tonight but he was taken suddenly well."

Houses like these are typical of the modern homes in Beverly Hills, where living is high.

BEVERLY HILLS, just starting on the second half century of its existence, is a green island completely surrounded by the wealthier section of Los Angeles.

Geographically, Beverly Hills is ideally situated. Only six miles from the Pacific Ocean, its climate is sunny and mild. No mountain ranges block the cool ocean breezes that come in from Santa Monica.

Average family income in Beverly Hills is $20,251, compared with Los Angeles' $6,250. That's a pretty shade of green.

Prices reflect the wealth. Barber Jay Sebring, who boasts such customers as Frank Sinatra and Marlon Brando, gets $25 a haircut—$40 if he comes to your house.

At those prices, Sebring doesn't dare call himself a barber. He's a hair designer.

Although a small town by any standard, Beverly Hills can boast a shopping district that compares with New York's Fifth Ave.

PROPERTY values are astounding. Assessed valuation is $247,504,600.

Highest residential taxpayer in town is Harold Lloyd who owns an 18-acre estate in the heart of the high rent district. He declines to say how much taxes he pays but admits that 25 years ago—in low cost days—his taxes were $25,000 a year.

At the height of his fame in the silent days, Lloyd's income was $60,000 a week—at a time of little taxes. He still owns most of his old films.

But whenever taxes get a little too steep, Harold practices such economies as shutting off the man-made waterfall—one that would do justice to Yosmite—on the estate.

THE BEVERLY HILLS movie stars are different from the breed elsewhere—more on the solid side.

They are the Jimmy Stewarts, the Sen. George Murphys and the Irene Dunnes. The swingers are more apt to live in Bel-Air, Holmby Hills, Sherman Oaks or Encino.

The Beverly Hills' police department is zealous. It is one of the few communities in the United States where a police car will stop you for just plain walking.

Some years ago, writer Ben Hecht took a midnight stroll as was his wont in New York. Dressed casually and with no identification, Hecht got hauled off to the station. Given the customary phone call, he called Sam Goldwyn and was promptly released.

During the depression, the Beverly Hills Hotel—even older than Beverly Hills itself—was closed. All it needed to get going was someone with a $10,000 down payment. There were no takers.

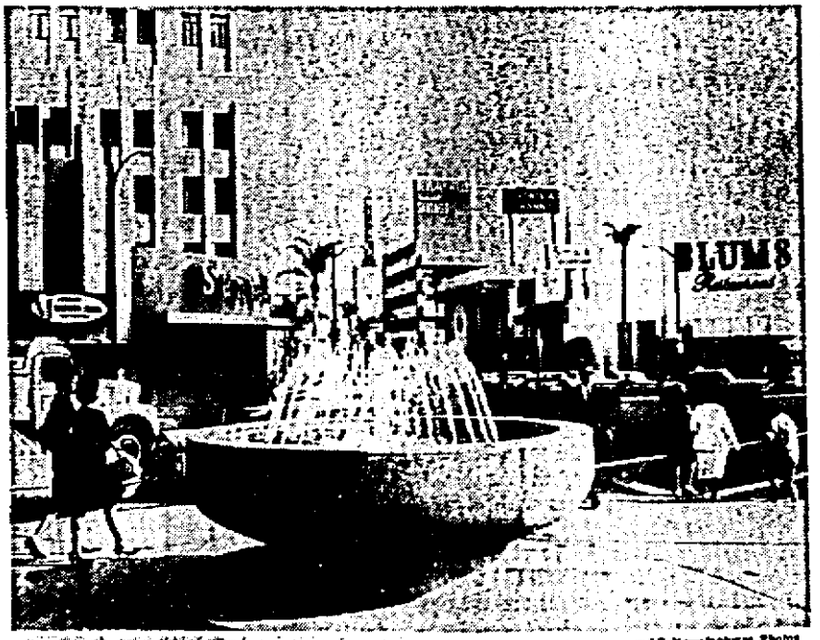

FINALLY the Bank of America reopened it and eventually sold it to some Beverly Hills residents for a song—among them Miss Dunne and Loretta Young.

Ben Silberstein, the present owner, said the latest offer to buy the hotel was $16 million. It is not for sale.

Once Pola Negri sat in a corner suite at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel and pointed to a business block where front footage goes for $100,000 per.

Leisurely but posh is the atmosphere at Beverly Drive and Wilshire in Beverly Hills. One nearby block has a going price of $100,000 per foot.

From a somewhat rundown condition a few years ago to a neighborhood showplace, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Eaton has undergone interesting renascence through extensive use of stone but with little change in architecture.

Renascence Achieved In Stone

By Stella George

Above, stereo unit at deep right was made by Eaton. Below, planter marks a dividing line.

A YOUNG couple, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Eaton, purchased a rundown rancho home a few years ago with the idea of remodeling it into an attractive residence for themselves and their two small children. The home is located at 3322 Kallin Ave., and its is now one of the showplaces of the neighborhood, the result of their own handiwork.

Extensive use of rock is the keynote of the decorating theme both inside and out. On the exterior, the wall facing the street is solid rock. Across the far end of the driveway, a filigree cement wall is interspersed with rock trim.

The only major structural change in the interior was widening the narrow kitchen about three feet. How-

Spring Comes to a Canyon

By Vera Williams

SPRING is coming, not slowly as it does in some places, but all in a rush in Arizona's Oak Creek Canyon, which some call "the insider's Grand Canyon."

It has a fine collection of rose-tinted peaks, cliffs and mountain walls, stately trees and rushing streams in which trout leap.

The elders, cottonwoods and willows are leafing; the first buds are showing on the locust trees. If one searches, one can find the earliest rock roses. Soon there will be a canyon wall-to-canyon wall carpeting of lupine and mallow, buttercups and daisies, and after that will come the gorgeous cactus blooms.

Hillsides ring with the high clear notes of mocking birds and meadowlarks — surely the happiest sounds in the world, unless one counts the laughter of children!

GOLDFINCHES, mountain bluebirds, humming birds, tangers, titmice and king birds are showing up in great numbers, many perched in the highest branches of the trees talking about spring.

If one is lucky on a hike, one may see a collared lizard or a race runner or any number of fence lizards.

In strategic spots, artists are painting the scene as they see it, and always there are photographers, professional and amateur.

"We like it always, but spring is the best," say Don and Marion Pratt and their daughter Susan, who moved from Long Beach to Sedona, in the heart of Oak Creek Canyon, a few years ago. Don, a Sedona real estate dealer, and Susan are cornetists. Marion, a whistler, the "bird voice of the movies," makes frequent trips to Hollywood to record bird songs and other outdoor sound effects.

Don, Marion, Susan and Princess, the blond Pomeranian, sit on the porch of their desert home, enjoying the clear air, the stillness, and the magnificent view.

THEY TELL about how in 1901 a Santa Fe "emigrant" train moving toward the Verde Valley via Flagstaff, Ash Fork, and Jerome carried as a passenger Theodore Carleton Schnebly from Missouri.

One car was loaded with the family possessions, household goods and farming equipment. Jerome was the end of the line, and as Schnebly unloaded the car he was told that the stuff would be safe right out there in the open until he could haul it to where he was going.

Where he was going had no name. It wasn't even the proverbial wide spot in the road, but Schnebly took his new friends' word for it—he had no choice—and left his worldly goods parked on the side of the mountain.

IT WAS MONTHS before he managed to transport the entire load 30 miles, hauling it bit by bit down the "Gulch" from Jerome, over a rough trail. His wife Sedona and his family joined him. The new place was named Sedona for her, and the first post office was in their home. The bell in the Wayside Chapel, which now on Sunday mornings sends its chime across Oak Creek Canyon, also was dedicated in her memory, the Sedona bell.

One may visit the cabin where Zane Grey wrote "The Call of the Canyon," which incidentally was filmed at Sedona.

The old Sedona Lodge Movie Camp maintained by the studios for many years, which resounded to the whoop of many an Indian and the crack of many a celluloid six-shooter, was trundled off to become a ski lodge—of all things!—in the suburbs of Flagstaff.

But major motion pictures still are made every year at Sedona.

Don and Marion Pratt, daughter Susan and dog Princess watch the approach of spring from porch of Oak Creek Canyon home at Sedona.

ever, this made a tremendous difference to that area. The changes which were made in the living room are remarkable because of their simplicity and their resulting air of elegance. A glass partition or divider was trimmed to a triangle form, and Eaton built a rock planter where the rest of the divider stood. Thus, from the front door, the view is through the living room, over the planter, to a glimpse of the kitchen. Because the ceiling is high and beamed, the whole area has a feeling of spaciousness.

AN ENTIRE wall surrounding the fireplace is rock, complementing the planter across the room. Furnishings are kept to a minimum. It is interesting to note that Eaton made most of the furniture himself, including a handsome stereo unit with large speakers.

A low sofa with a built-in table at one end faces a long, low coffee table. A TV is placed in a corner at one side of the fireplace near a built-in hearth-sofa. A weeping willow on the other side of the fireplace shows its bright green leaves to advantage against the rock background. Near the planter across the room is a comfortable black leather chair and hassock.

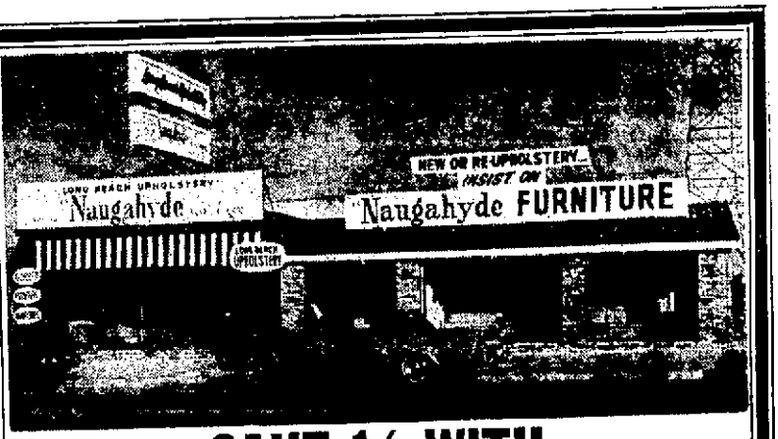

The new kitchen is gay, sunny, and very functional, the latter a must for a busy young mother. There is plenty of room for a round white dining table of continental height at the far end. Windows with frilly curtains line the outside wall. Eaton constructed a buffet to fit under the windows. Built-in appliances are placed in such a way that a maximum of work can be accomplished with a minimum of steps.

A BEDROOM for the Eatons' daughter is done in pink, a son's in blue. The Eatons are currently enlarging and remodeling the master bedroom, adding finer fixtures, and have already installed an attractive planter along one wall.

An inclosed patio behind the filigree cement wall at the front of the home is an excellent, sheltered place for the youngsters to play. In addition, it is attractive with shrubs and plants and a rock waterfall — another creation of the owners.

Eatons increased kitchen size by three feet.

Part-Human Boat

By Walter Finch

Marine designers have come up with a boat that's part human.

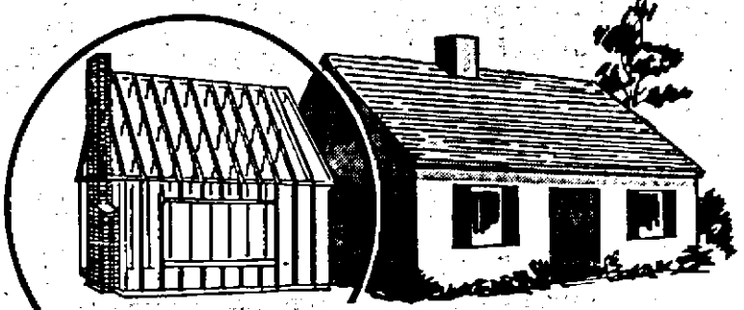

This startling new pleasure craft, called the Sea Dart, is part boat, part people and part planing board.

Only 82 inches long, the Sea Dart, powered by a 22-hp, water-cooled engine, is capable of speeds of up to 30 mph. It can carry two persons tandem and is powerful enough to tow a water skiier.

Under way the sailor rides in the prone position with lower half of his body in the water at the stern. His feet and legs operate the board, controlling the 145-pound craft's trim and direction. It also acts as a brake.

COIN ROUNDUP

King of Coins

By Maurice M. Gould

THE TITLE, King of American Coins, applies to the 1804 U. S. silver dollar.

Over the years, many articles and stories have appeared about this historical piece. Sensational stories have intrigued both the collector and the public. Some numismatic students do not class this piece as a coin of the regular U. S. series because research has shown that it was struck at a later period than it is dated.

The 15 specimens known are all pedigreed and occasionally a new story appears or a collector claims he has found another 1804 silver dollar. When checked out, they are usually found to be altered dates cleverly done to resemble the original.

In 1875, one of these dollars sold for $325, which was a fabulous price for this period, and in 1876, a price of $500 was realized. From then until the present day, the price has been rising steadily.

At a public auction in 1960, this rarity brought $28,000 and in 1961, at another auction, $29,000 was the price realized. The chances are that if another one comes on the market, new records will be set.

There may be one which you can examine in your part of the country as some of these items are owned by institutions and museums. See the King of American Coins on display at the Chase Manhattan Money Museum in New York City; Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore; the National Collection at the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C.; City of Omaha, in the collection of the Public Library at Omaha, Neb.; and the Massachusetts Historical Society in Boston.

The rest of these coins are in private collections, from New York to Texas, and are seldom exhibited.

Many more articles and books will be written and controversies and arguments about the famous 1804 silver dollar will no doubt continue through the years.

"ALL IS NOT GOLD that glitters." I have had many readers write to me about the small California gold pieces. These were struck from 1852 to 1882 in the denominations of $¼, $½ and $1, until the U. S. government passed a law forbidding private coinage.

One of the reasons these were issued was due to a shortage of small change, the same situation we have today.

In recent years, many souvenir pieces have been issued, mostly by jewelers, and are usually gold-plated or without any gold used at all. A good many of these are copies of the earlier California genuine gold pieces and a beginner can easily mistake them for one of the originals.

One of the best methods of determining a genuine piece is by the words, "dol." or "dollar" with the denomination on the reverse. They usually come with three different heads. Liberty Head, Indian Head, and Washington Head.

The Washington Head is quite scarce and all of the $1 pieces are difficult to obtain, especially the round piece, which is the rarest item and sells as high as $300 in proof condition.

These pieces are thin and minute and can easily be bent, so that over the years many of them have disappeared and been mutilated.

Reproductions of these gold pieces have been made for modern jewelry in other metals and are easily detected as not being genuine.

They compete Saturday in championships

Lakewood's Crackerjack Jumping Jills

By JEROME HALL

GYMNASTICS, according to the dictionaries of sport, is a demonstration game of body-bending unfortunately lacking in spectator thrills. Nevertheless, there are about a quarter of a million participants in competitive gymnastics in the United States today and possibly the best team of women gymnasts in the country is the SCATS of Lakewood.

It bothers the SCATS not one whit that they are the least known nationally-recognized champions in the Southland, for most of the members of the team are 10 or 12 are barely in their teens. They are too busily occupied with more important matters to fret about the decimated state of one of the classic facets of sport, And besides, they're having a good time with their twisting and turning and tumbling.

But there is much concern around the country about America's anemic showing in gymnastics during the past Olympic Games and the SCATS may be the large part of the answer to a genuine problem of international proportions.

The lithe little lasses who compose the Southern California Acro Teens — the SCATS — are national champions of the near future, talented enough to win the California championship last summer and considered the favorite for the U. S. Gymnastics Federation's national championship this summer.

CLUB MEMBERS are from Long Beach and neighboring cities. Lakewood is their home base and the Lakewood Recreation Dept. is their sponsor. Next Saturday night the SCATS will be the host team for the "First in the U. S. A." north-south all-star all-girl national invitational championships, to be held at the Lakewood High School gymnasium. Some of the foremost female gymnasts in the nation will compete, including Dale McClements of Seattle, this country's highest-finishing woman gymnast in the last Olympics. She was 34th. America's second highest finisher, Linda Methany of Chicago, also will compete. She was 36th in the Olympics.

"This is the greatest mid-season meet for women ever held in the United States," says co-chairman Bud Marquette, who is coach of the SCATS. "It's got to be," he adds, "because, like the title says, it's the first one of its kind ever held in the USA."

That, very concisely, is precisely why the USA is so anemic in world gymnastics competition, not only in women's but men's as well. (The highest male finisher Uncle Sam had in the last Olympics was Mikado Sakamoto of Los Angeles, the national individual champion, who was 20th. "Very few gymnastics meets of any kind are held anywhere for women, which is the problem in this country," explains Marquette.

THE INTERNATIONAL embarrassment provoked the president of the U. S. Gymnastics Federation, Dr. Donald Boydson, to comment, "We have actually lost ground since the '60 Olympics." There was some displeasure from the general American public, the kind that bursts forth each four years when American sports followers ask why a nation of nearly 200 million can't find a couple of hundred athletes who can hold their own against all those little countries in such minor sports as fencing and field hockey and bicycle racing. And gymnastics.

An intensive program has been launched for women's gymnastics, with the Lakewood SCATS serving as the model. "I can see quite a bit of progress in the past year," says Marquette, who has been coaching women's gymnastics for 17 years. But Marquette is cautious about optimism, for he has seen these spurts of interest before.

Marquette coached a Pittsburgh, Pa., women's team to a national championship before he moved to Long Beach eight years ago. There was no gymnastics for girls in this area until he joined with the Lakewood Recreation Dept. to form the SCATS. Now four nights a week at Lakewood High School's gym there are as many as 100 girls training. During the summer the total sometimes is double that.

THEY RANGE in age from 6 to 22. The 22-year-old is Judy Trammel, a former national individual champion and a finalist in the U. S. Olympic Trials last summer. "She's performing better than any time in her life right now," says Coach Marquette.

The best 24 girls earn places on the SCATS.

Until recently there was a national agreement against high school-conducted gymnastics programs for girls, but now many schools around the country have instituted a program. One university, Southern Illinois U., now gives scholarships for women's gymnastics.

Educators have come to understand that there is a vast difference between women's and men's competition. Where men's events are mostly a test of muscle and coordination, women's are exhibitions in grace much like ballet. In fact, ballet is part of the training routine of most good female gymnasts. Gradually, the image of the sport is changing. Pretty little girls with long pony tails and uptilted noses are turning to gymnastics in surprising numbers.

"THE SPORT has stayed in the background in the country because it requires so much work, so much self-discipline," explains Marquette. The SCATS work out four nights a week for two to three hours

Beginner class gets instruction from Bud Marquette, coach of the SCATS, Lakewood organization of enthusiastic young gymnasts. Girls will compete in major event next Saturday night.

Leader of Lakewood's SCATS is Judy Trammel, former national individual women's gymnastics champion.

Budding champion gymnasts begin training at ages of 6 and 7, with year-around work in tumbling and acrobatics. Many become champions in early teens.

'Cheyenne Autumn'

AN EYE-FILLING adventure of the great American West, "Cheyenne Autumn" is the 10-star capstone to the illustrious career of John Ford, master of colorful screen action.

It recounts the tortured flight of 960 Cheyenne Indians from the Oklahoma territory to their Yellowstone homeland 1,500 miles away, and their pursuit by 10,000 U.S. troops. The astonishing incident is based on Mari Sandoz' historical narrative of the same title.

The Warner Bros. production stars James Stewart, Edward G. Robinson, Richard Widmark, Carroll Baker, Karl Malden, Sal Mineo, Dolores Del Rio, Ricardo Montalban, Gilbert Roland and Arthur Kennedy. It was produced by Bernard Smith in Technicolor and SuperPanavision 70.

Exterior scenes of "Cheyenne Autumn" were filmed in the Monument Valley area of the Navajo Reservation, reaching from northern Arizona into southern Utah. One of the scenic wonders of the world, this breathtaking wilderness of spires, buttes and natural monuments is known as John Ford's West. It was he who discovered it for motion pictures in 1938 through the classic film "Stagecoach." Other exteriors were filmed at Moab, Utah, and Gunnison, Utah.

"Cheyenne Autumn" is notable for the appearance of James Stewart as Wyatt Earp in a wild comedy sequence, and for the romantic teaming of Richard Widmark and Carroll Baker, with Dolores Del Rio as a beauteous Indian woman and Edward G. Robinson as the secretary of the interior.

The Weather? Just Don't Talk About It!

Santa Ana and San Bernardino Mountains (upper left) are visible more than 50 miles away in this rare no-smog aerial photo of Long Beach-Orange County where weather isn't always mild.

By LOU JOBST

THE best thing you can say about the weather in Southern California is nothing.

Almost anything else is likely to be wrong!

It is a phenomena of this phenomena-plagued land that the seemingly changeless and predictable weather defies strict characterization and drives the forecasters crazy.

You can describe the country, like most people do, as being extremely dry, neither very cold nor very hot and sunny day after day.

You can say January is colder than August, May is pretty and it usually rains in December, but don't.

THE BIG BOOK of weather records may not agree.

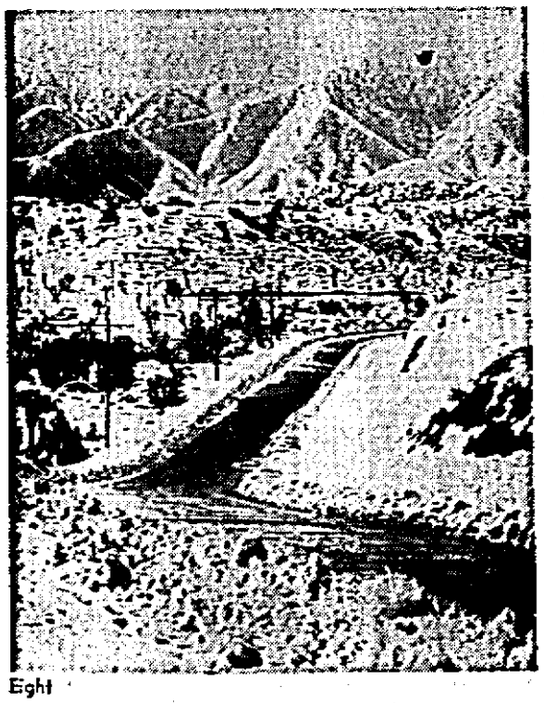

Dry?

Yes, but the parched Southland has had the dubious honor of being the wettest spot on earth several times and has set some world rainfall records.

A monumental deluge struck Opid Camp in the San Gabriel River Canyon above Azusa on April 5, 1926, dumping between .65 of an inch (the official gauge) and 1.1 (unofficial) inches of rainfall in 60 seconds, an international record for a single minute of precipitation.

Southern California's supposedly dry-side climate doesn't always live up to predictions. Sometimes it rains. And rains and rains! For example, this deep, damp scene at First and Locust a few years ago.

And don't say it doesn't snow here. Long Beach has had its turn with such scenes as this in blizzard-hit Antelope Valley cactus country.

The wettest single calendar day anywhere belongs to Jan. 22, 1943 when the heavens over Big Santa Anita Canyon collapsed and the area was drowned under 26.11 inches of rain.

MIDTOWN Los Angeles, generally considered the heart of the desert coastal basin, was pounded with 41 inches of rain in 1884, far more than the annual average of such traditional "wet spots" as Key West, Houston and Vicksburg.

Long Beach was drenched with nearly 39 inches in 1883 and recorded an annual rainfall of 33 inches in 1941.

The same spots dried up and almost blew away in 1953 when the total yearly precipitation was just over four inches.

While these were times that dampened spirits in these parts, New Year's Eve 1933 would have shaken Noah and his sons. That night nearly 13 inches fell in a torrential downpour that brought on widespread floods that cost 40 lives.

"ALMOST ANY generality you make about the weather can be shot down," says one longtime observer.

August and early September is supposed to be the hottest time of year with January the coldest, but it only got up to a chilly 49 degrees on Aug. 30, 1901.

And it was, the fickle weatherman says, a torrid 90 degrees on Jan. 8, 1923.

February is the westtest month of the year, but there have been six Februaries in recent times without a trace of precipitation.

May is lovely, they say, but it has less sunshine than any of the other months. And they all have less than a lot of people believe with about 100 days of fog and limited visibility each year.

"Well, "the tradition goes," out here you get away from those terrible snows and midwestern heat waves."

Four inches of snow fell in downtown Long Beach in a single hour in 1938.

TEMPERATURES shot off the thermometer at 111 here in October 1958 and again in 1961. There were five straight day of brain-cooking 100 degree heat just two years ago.

One commonly held belief that the dry and wet weather comes in cycles, is supported by the records.

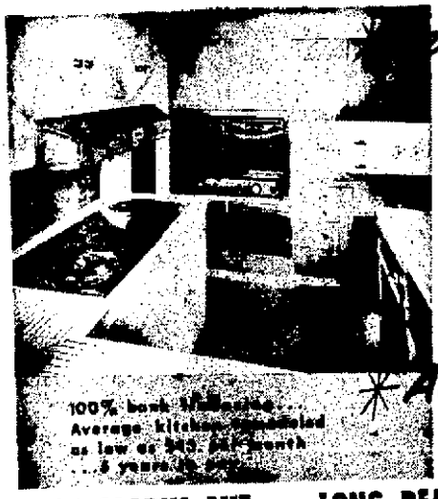

There have been five alternating wet-dry cycles, averaging about 10 years, since the turn of the 20th Century. We are currently "dry" and in the 22nd consecutive year of subnormal rainfall.

There are a lot of reasons, some known and some unknown, why weather hereabouts is so unreliable and difficult to predict.

Many storms drop most of their precipitation in the high north-south mountain ranges such as the Coast Range and the Sierra Nevada to the north of us.

Others are diverted from spilling into the Southland by the east-west lying Tehachapi and San Gabriel Mountains, ranges that wall off this region from the rest of the state.

Desserts for Filing

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

A RECIPE file is a very personal thing. Women keep a recipe because (1) they think they want to try it sometime, (2) they have tried making it and liked it, or (3) they have enjoyed it at someone else's home.

Probably desserts are the most popular of all recipes that are saved. We like to try new desserts on our friends, and a new and elegant one that can be made in advance and kept in the refrigerator until serving time is likely to be one of the most widely used. Such is the recipe for Cold Coffee Souffle.

Cold Coffee Souffle is a dessert that deserves a place in the special recipe file.

Cold Coffee Souffle

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup water
1 tblspn. instant quality coffee
6 egg yolks, slightly beaten
4 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream
½ tspn. vanilla

Dissolve gelatin in water in top of double boiler over simmering water. Then add instant coffee and cinnamon. Blend in egg yolks. Remove from heat.

Beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually beat in sugar; then beat until stiff, shiny peaks will form. Blend into gelatin mixture.

Combine cream and vanilla and whip; fold into souffle mixture. Pour into a 1-½-quart souffle dish or casserole. Chill until set—about 3 hours. Garnish with additional whipped cream and sprinkle with additional instant coffee, if desired. Makes about 6 cups, or 6 to 8 servings.

Regal Chocolate Sauce

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
6 tblspns. water
½ cup sugar
Dash of salt
3 tblspns. butter or bargarine
¼ tspn. vanilla

Combine chocolate and water in saucepan and place over low heat, stirring until blended. add sugar and salt. Cook until sugar is dissolved and mixture very slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Add butter and vanilla. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

Brazilian Pudim Moka

3 cups milk
1 cup light cream
5 tblspns. instant quality coffee
2 tspns. grated orange rind
4 eggs
1 egg yolk
½ cup sugar
1 tspn. vanilla
½ tspn. salt
Ground nutmeg
1 cup chopped Brazil nuts
Regal Chocolate Sauce

Combine milk and cream; scald. Stir in instant coffee and orange rind. Cool 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, beat eggs and egg yolk slightly. Then beat in sugar. Gradually add coffee mixture, vanilla, and salt. Strain through fine sieve to remove orange rind. Pour into custard cups. Sprinkle with nutmeg.

Place cups in baking pan; fill pan with hot water to within ¾ inch of tops of cups. Bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Chill thoroughly.

To serve, unmold into serving dishes and sprinkle with chopped Brazil nuts. Serve with Regal Chocolate Sauce. Makes about 5 cups or 8 servings.

Recipe of the Week

RECIPES WITH oriental flavors add interest to the daily menu, such as this week's recipe which wins $5 for Mrs. Cathy Deforest, 960 Silva St., Long Beach 90805. The recipe:

Mandarin Shrimp

4 tblsp. cooking oil
1 clove garlic, crushed
½ tsp. ginger
Salt and pepper to taste
2 lbs. shrimp, green or canned
¾ cup water
¾ cup catsup
1 tblsp. cornstarch (heaping)
1½ cups cooked rice

Crush garlic clove and cook in oil for 3-4 minutes. Remove clove and add other seasoning. Blend and add cleaned, shelled shrimp to oil, stirring gently for three minutes. Add water and cover tightly and cook for five minutes. Next, add catsup and cook for another five minutes uncovered. Make a paste of the cornstarch and a little water. Add shrimp and serve at once over the hot cooked rice.

THE BIG GULP!

America's Cup of Coffee

Coffee cherries—pits or "beans" are used; pulp thrown away. About 2,000 make one pound.

By FRANK L. REMINGTON

COFFEE-DRINKING Americans gulp down half the world's production—some 400 million cups per day of the savory beverage.

In fact, U. S. coffee consumption if turned into one black flood—without sugar or cream—would tumble over the American side of Niagara Falls for 16 long hours.

Little wonder then, that the brew and the industry that produces it has become an economic factor of world-wide importance.

For most American families coffee is as necessary as bread. Its tantalizing aroma alone is a more effective waker-upper than a half dozen alarm clocks. A morning cup of the invigorating stuff can convert a half-awake husband into an energetic businessman ready and eager for the day's work. If yours is one of the 92 of every 100 homes where coffee is a daily beverage, you probably quaff between 2½ and 3½ cups a day.

In the home and at the office, at social gatherings and at business conferences "Let's have some coffee" is a signal for relaxation and friendship. And it's not unreasonable to assume that world diplomats might go a lot further toward easing international tensions if they discussed their differences over steaming cups of the brew.

MANY UNION labor contracts have a coffee break written in, and it's sometimes authorized by state labor laws. In the last few years, growing thousands of workers have been popping out for an afternoon cup as well. More often than not the harried boss, who once considered the mass exodus from desk and typewriter a costly and unnecessary waste, now joins the thundering herd and enjoys a cup himself while catching an earful of office gossip.

In the long run, the coffee break pays dividends for the time consumed. Surveys indicate a mug of the beverage not only alerts workers but relieves monotony, increases production and makes for less errors. There's nothing quite like coffee to lift the spirits and maintain high morale.

Prof. Samuel C. Prescott of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who made a study of coffee, says: "Coffee, when properly prepared, has a remarkable stimulating effect. It relieves fatigue, through the action of caffeine, which acts on the central nervous system. Caffeine is a mild stimulant of the heart, increases strength for muscular work, and develops the power of concentration for mental activities and, while eliminating the sensation of fatigue, is an efficacious help for prolonged mental work."

MANY COFFEE devotees, however, don't reap the full benefits. Its stimulating effect is much greater on an empty stomach and without accompanying food. Sugar and cream, too, somewhat diminish its energizing qualities. Yet, only 22% of the coffee-sipping fraternity drink it straight. The majority—47%—prefer it with cream and sugar, while 24% like cream only, and 7% sugar only.

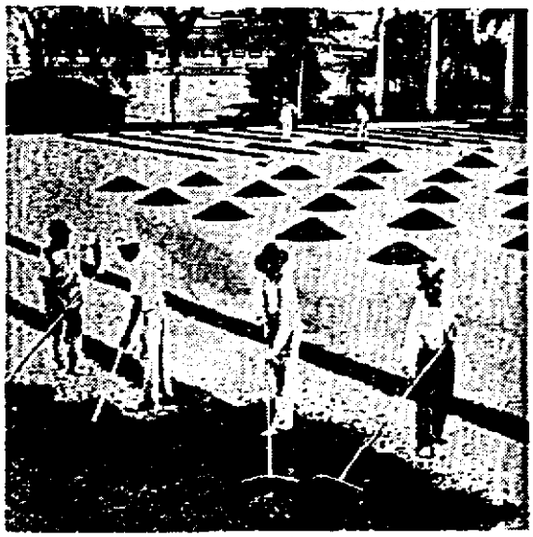

Through the centuries, coffee has been denounced as an intoxicant and poison and praised as a medicament and appetizing beverage. An early Sultan reputedly enjoyed coffee so much that he ordered the execution of two Persian physicians who proclaimed it unhealthful. On the other hand, Charles II of England denounced coffee houses as "Seminaries of sedition."

To those who declared the beverage to be a slow poison the 18th Century French author, Fontennelle, replied: "It must be, for I've been drinking it for 85 years and am not dead yet." Not long ago, Sam Lemler of Los Angeles passed away at the age of 114. He greatly enhanced his enjoyment of a full life, according to his grandchildren, with a daily quota of from 10 to 15 cups of coffee.

COFFEE IS prepared in many ways with many advocates of each process but surveys indicate that very few devotees can brew as delicious a cup as the inherent potential of the coffee warrants. As one connoisseur expressed it: "Experts produce and handle coffee up to the most important process—brewing. Then, ironically, amateurs take over and spoil it."

Of the thousands of ways and hundreds of devices

Coffee is spread to dry on brick terraces, raked by day, covered by night. Above, dried beans are packed to collection centers for shipment. Right, shipment samples are graded at New York exchange to fix standards. U.S. imports annually nearly 3 billion pounds of green coffee.

Status

the street — and the deer would come out of the orange groves and eat out of our hands. Unfortunately, I never bought any of the land."

Land has boomed all over Los Angeles County but no place like Beverly Hills.

In the thirties, songwriter Ira Gershwin bought a nice Spanish mansion on a quiet Beverly Hills street for $27,000. A few years ago, he remodeled the house—just inside. Cost of the remodeling job: $250,000.

BEVERLY HILLS started as a land grant from the Mexican government in the old days of California. Maria Rita Valdez got 4,449.31 acres from Juan Alvarado, then governor of California. The year was 1840. Mrs. Valdez had a red-tiled adobe ranchhouse and a few farm buildings.

Over the years the rancho was sold many times. An eastern subdivider finally bought it for $32,000 and renamed it for his old hometown of Beverly, Mass. It didn't attain its posh status until 1919 when Doug Fairbanks and Mary Pickford built Pickfair, their hilltop estate.

Doug and Mary were Hollywood royalty — and soon the big names started moving out of Los Angeles and Hollywood into Beverly Hills. Will Rogers was honorary mayor from 1925 until his death.

Despite a low crime rate, there are 1,000 lawyers in Beverly Hills—one to each 30 inhabitants. Once again, it's the status address and with the exception of the late Jerry Geisler, most of the lawyers are either divorce or corporate specialists. Few of them practice criminal law.

UNLESS you live in a new house, you never refer to it by its present owners. It's always called the old Greta Garbo place or the old Warner Baxter house. Even James and Pamela Mason, when they were married, couldn't get people to refer to their house except as the old Buster Keaton place.

The famed comic built the house in 1925 for $200,000 and spent $100,000 furnishing it. He was married then to Natalie Talmadge, one of the three famed acting sisters.

Now Buster lives in a modest neighborhood in Woodland Hills, a San Fernando Valley community.

"Who can afford to live in Beverly Hills?" asks Buster.

THE MEASURE OF VALUE

JUST A VOICE ON A SOUND TRACK

'Ghost' Who Got No Oscar

By HOYT McAFEE

ACTRESSES Natalie Wood and Rita Moreno appeared to be singing their number with an intensity of feeling. Movie fans in theatres across the nation watched and listened appreciatively. Later, when Academy Award time rolled around, Rita Moreno won an Oscar on the strength of her acting and the manner in which she rendered "I Have A Love" and "A Boy Like That" in "West Side Story."

It so happened, however, that vivacious Rita supplied only the lip movements, facial expressions, and hand waving for those two hit songs. A remarkably talented "ghost" named Betty Wand did the actual singing!

In the same movie Natalie Wood also needed the services of a "ghost singer." Her voice was recorded on sound track and then played back — so that Natalie, via lip expressions, could "sing along" with her.

An array of evidence shows that "ghost singers" are more numerous in Hollywood than the public suspects. No one among them has been more of a busy bee than the aforementioned Betty Wand.

ONE ATTRIBUTE of hers —versatility—has made it possible for her to latch on to a wide range of singing assignments in Hollywood. These date back to the remaking of "Pagan Love Song," a vehicle for swimming star Esther Williams.

In the course of a frank conversation, Betty Wand revealed that hers was the voice movie-goers heard in that film, not Esther's. She also did the singing on the sound track, not on the screen, for Esther Williams in "Easy To Love."

Leslie Caron intrigued American movie audiences with her performance in "Gigi." Oddly enough, that picture convinced film-goers and critics alike that the effervescent French star had developed a first rate singing voice.

ON THAT count they couldn't have been more mistaken. For all the credit belonged to Betty Wand, the "ghost singer" to whom we often listen with pleasure but never glimpse on the screen.

Variety and versatility have done much to promote Betty Wand's "quiet career." She credits them with landing her the most coveted assignment of all. This was the chance to be the "ghost voice" for Rita Moreno in "West Side Story."

For a while, however, it looked like the producer of that Academy Award-winning movie would take a chance on Rita Moreno's singing. He and the director had her rehearse and record her two numbers, naturally hoping that they would prove satisfactory for their purposes.

AFTERWARD, they eagerly attended a studio screening to witness the "rushes" filmed up to that point. Then and there they discovered that Rita Moreno was a truly convincing actress, but less gifted as a singer.

So the hurry-up call—or the Hollywood SOS—went out for Betty Wand. Despite all of her experience in ghost-singing roles, she found herself faced with an extra challenge in "West Side Story."

Hour after hour she had to bear down on requirement number one—that she sing with a Puerto Rican accent. Two: It was necessary for her to give her voice a new and richer "pitch" to achieve the soprano tones of Leonard Bernstein's music. This required energetic and diligent practice.

As an added handicap, nature chose that moment to saddle Betty with a cold! Thus when she answered the movie studio's "come-on-the-run" call, she had to sip cups of hot tea to keep her voice functioning naturally and clearly.

SHUNTED off to a soundproof booth by the producer of "West Side Story," Betty donned earphones and, on signal, sang into a microphone. This, in turn, was recorded on the sound track — accompanied, of course, by the music of Leonard Bernstein.

NATALIE WOOD
No Thrush, Either

ESTHER WILLIAMS
The Voice Was Betty Wand's

Then the situation really became complicated. For instance, Betty had to listen to the recording done by Natalie Wood's "ghost singer" two or three times. Afterward, in a duet with Natalie's "ghost" she had to supply the voice for Rita Moreno—thus making sure the rendition came off harmoniously.

But, Betty explained, her first effort was "botched by Rita Moreno." In short, while listening to the playback of Betty's singing Rita "made the wrong lip and facial expression—that is, her timing was off."

THERE WAS only one solution to that: Betty became a behind-the-scenes actress herself. She studied Rita Moreno's lip and facial movements closely, then made a recording for the sound track. Result: the "patch" was mended and the defect corrected.

Thanks to all that quiet and painstaking effort by "ghost singers," the Natalie Wood-Rita Moreno duet came off harmoniously on the screen.

Medics' Assistant

By A. C. MacLeod

New type obstetrical table developed by Long Beach man has attracted medical attention.

WHAT DOES a contractor do when he semi-retires?

If he is Lee Brown, 3049 E. Ocean Blvd., a life-long bachelor, he designs an obstetrical table!

His table, which already is attracting the attention of the medical fraternity in Southern California, provides several positions, including a sitting position, which he believes is the natural position for childbirth.

Brown, resident of Long Beach since 1922, for 27 years a general building contractor here, began his career as a commercial artist. His illustrations appeared on the covers and the advertising pages of many national magazines.

IN THE 1940s he did a series of obstetrical and bone and surgery drawings for medical journals.

"Through the years," he says, "I have been appalled at the high death rate of babies born in the United States. Do you realize that in the next 24 hours, 290 of our babies will die, either at birth or before they reach their first birthday?

Brown became convinced that in the rush of medical progress, something basic—something natural—might have been forgotten.

His research revealed that primitive women, the same as other mammals of like structure, knelt or squatted to drop their young. This, he found, still is true of Australian aborigines, Eskimos, South American Indians.

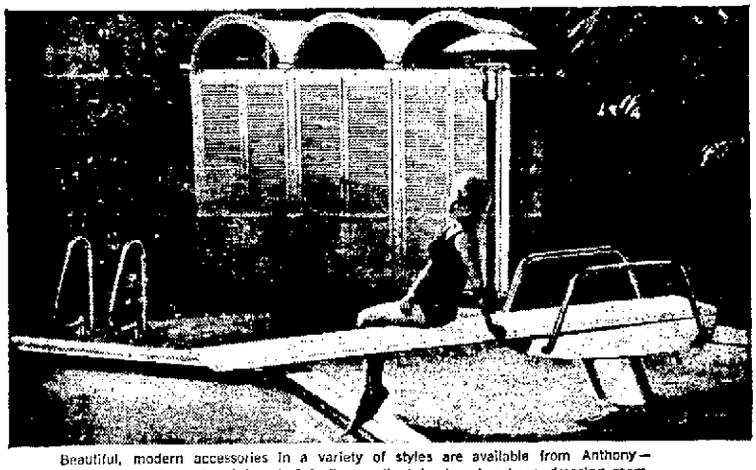

As a matter of fact, that was the position of accouchement, he believes, until about the time anesthesia was discovered.

"I began working on the theory that instinct provided the answer," he says. "I believe that a sitting position aids spontaneous expulsion. It uses the natural laws of gravity and physics. I believe it decreases pain and hazard for the mother, and gives the baby a better chance to be born naturally, with little or no anesthesia, with little or no use of instruments."

BROWN'S TABLE, on a hydraulic pedestal base and elevating column, has a control by which it can be locked in various positions. The patient can extend and retract legs against the resistance of foot rests, simulating squatting and lifting exertion, timed to the labor pains.

It has an adjustable Caesarian headrest, ether screen, transfusion bottle holder, wrist resistant straps, resistant foot rests, leg rest and straps, hand grips, body pad and head rest.

"THE OLDEST REMODELING SPECIALIST IN THE AREA"

Two U.S. artists have devised a new method of light ray "painting," illustrated above.

Space Age Art

By Caroline Coleman

AN UNUSUAL new art form, painting with colored light instead of oils or water colors — that the famed painter, Pablo Picasso, tried to perfect but abandoned — now has been brought to its full development by two American artists who have worked on the project as a team. The new technique is called Actinism; the painting, an Actino.

Picasso was the first to experiment with this revolutionary method of painting with light in 1946 and was successful in creating black and white designs, but the master of abstract art could not develop a means of using color and, after several attempts, gave it up.

Don Gray, of Los Angeles, and Francis Oliver, of Philadelphia, after several years of research and experimentation, found the secret of creative painting with spectrum light rays, resulting in startling and brilliant color designs that have caught the imagination of art lovers from coast to coast.

USING THE spectrum as as their palette, Gray and Oliver paint in a dark room, conceiving daring abstract forms with often shocking brilliance, as if the artists blindfolded their imaginations and let their creativeness run wild.

They accomplish this remarkable art form by separating the white light in the prism to isolate pure colors and then wield these colors with complete control of form and shape, as one would with a paint brush. Instead of conventional brush, however, these men use a flexible cable, a tube which permits the light to be bent. On the end of this tube is their "brush," a sort of spray gun that permits them to use whichever color they choose.

THE COLORS are shot on a sensitized paper and then "fixed" to stay in the design of the artist's choice.

Art critics have already given Actinism their blessing and with the United States in the midst of a multi-billion-dollar mass culture kick, there is good reason to think that Actinism is an art form, not only of our times, but of the future.

Gray likes to think of Actinos as an integral part of the space age. "We use black backgrounds in most of our paintings because space is black," he said. "At the same time the colors available to us are the infinite number of hues in the spectrum and extend far beyond the wave lengths visible to the human eye."

Gray's and Oliver's Actinos hang today in smart homes, in plush business offices, salons, whever modern art is used to accent a room. The largest Actino yet produced by them, a mural six feet by 25 feet in size, is in the lobby of the Continental Inn, Toledo, Ohio.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Smoker Survey

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Writer

THE person most likely to give up cigarette smoking is a well-educated male, a new survey shows.

Dr. Henry A. Davidson, editor of the Journal of the Medical Society of New Jersey, surveyed a group of high school teachers, employes of a mental hospital and persons in fund-raising work.

He found that women are more likely to continue to smoke than are men, the better the educational background, the higher the proportion of those who give up smoking.

The most startling finding was that, among adolescents, more girls than boys smoke.

If the disproportion continues, boys may eventually reject smoking as effeminate, Dr. Davidson says in a report in the New York State Journal of Medicine.

PERSONS of dark complexion appear to benefit more from audio analgesia (sound treatment for pain) than do those with a light complexion, a new study shows.

Audio analgesia is used by some dentists to reduce pain in the dentist's chair. The patient wears a set of headphones through which he listens to music or "white sound" — the crashing noise of a waterfall.

Researchers at the University of Alabama School of Dentistry performed experiments which show that about 10% of patients will experience total relief from severe dental pain when subjected to audio analgesia. About 80% will experience a slight to moderate relief from dental pain.

The editor of Dental Abstracts, a publication of the American Dental Association, says that the use of audio analgesia in dentistry is "debatable." Its place in dentistry is termed "limited."

A NEW STUDY of the experimental pain-killing drug pentazocine supports earlier research: The drug is an effective analgesic in patients with postoperative pain.

Dr. Max Sadove and associates of the University of Illinois College of Medicine say pentazocine reduced pain in 176 of 183 surgical patients. Significant pain relief was observed as early as 20 minutes in a high percentage of cases and persisted up to three hours.

Side effects attributed to the drug are infrequent and do not appear to be hazardous, the doctors say.

The new drug is believed to be nonaddicting.

THE ANTICANCER drug Cytoxan has been found beneficial in the treatment of leprosy.

The drug doesn't affect the leprosy germ. Apparently it inhibits the patient's reaction to the infective organism. This decreased activity may prevent or relieve reactions such as swelling or neuritis, according to a report in Lancet.

Meanwhile, other researchers have found that the antibiotic capreomycin appears to be active against the leprosy germ on the basis on animal experiments.

Investigators hope that capreomycin may find a role in the treatment of leprosy, for the drug's use in the treatment of pumonary tuberculosis has shown it to be fairly non-toxic.

Although certain drugs known as sulfones are effective against leprosy, they must be given for many years to achieve a bacteriologic cure, researchers note. Scientists are hopeful of finding speedier drugs.

The U.S. has about 2,000 leprosy cases at present. But the disease is costing this country several million dollars yearly because of our increasing contacts with tropical nations.

(This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.)

From a somewhat rundown condition a few years ago to a neighborhood showplace, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Eaton has undergone interesting renascence through extensive use of stone but with little change in architecture.

Renascence Achieved in Stone

By Stella George

A YOUNG couple, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Eaton, purchased a rundown rancho home a few years ago with the idea of remodeling it into an attractive residence for themselves and their two small children. The home is located at 3322 Kallin Ave., and its is now one of the showplaces of the neighborhood, the result of their own handiwork.

Extensive use of rock is the keynote of the decorating theme both inside and out. On the exterior, the wall facing the street is solid rock. Across the far end of the driveway, a filigree cement wall is interspersed with rock trim.

The only major structural change in the interior was widening the narrow kitchen about three feet. How-

Decorations for Easter

By Lorena Fleissig

Easter rabbit, made from pressed paper used for market fruit trays is a gay decoration.

BUNNIES have a way of taking over the Easter scene, appearing in cardboard, cotton and plastic to amuse the children. So the bunny committees will be planning their annual Easter Convention. Getting junior bunnies ready for this spring event is part of the fun of vacation time.

One big help in making these bunnies is the large pressed paper fruit trays to be found in the discards from the markets. The long trays have four to five rows of shallow cups. Some of the trays have cups running in straight rows, others have alternating rows with the cups running diagonally. The trays are in Easter colors, too, ordinarily in purple and yellow.

Sketching a bunny figure is easy. By turning the tray so the rounded side is up it is only necessary to select the two cups that are joined closely to be the face and body. The long ears above the head may be cut from the cup beyond or from the cups at each side.

HAVE A NUMBER of trays on hand so that one can be used for practice. A piece of chalk will help to mark out a pattern which may be varied to suit the imagination. The front view of the round face above the round body gives bunny a plumper personality than any cardboard substitute. Other than the curve at the neck it is only necessary to make a series of loops to complete the figure. Make two long loops for ears, two fat and short loops for the hind paws with the smallest loops for the forepaws.

The bunny may be left in the original purple with the features chalked on or, as in the accompanying illustration, painted with two coats of the water paint Gesso. This paint is already mixed and ready to use. The directions say to wet the brush before dipping in the paint the first time. If a different color is desired, add dry water color to a portion of the can of gesso. Gesso is available at paint and art stores.

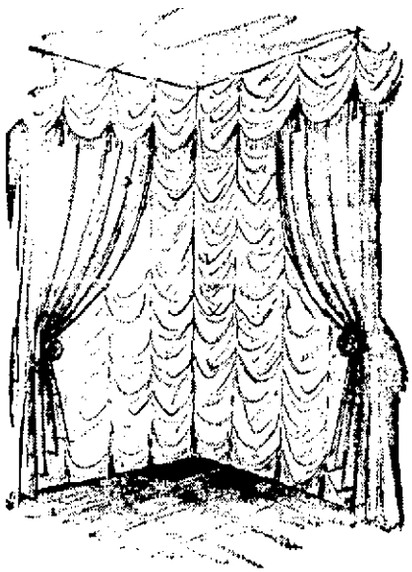

A GAY RIBBON bow glued at his neck makes Bunny's costume complete. To keep him upright place a short paper tube behind him and slip a rubber band around the tube and his neck under the ribbon. Or two of the shallow cups may be glued to the back to round out the body with a chunky cotton tail on a supporting piece of cardboard for balance.

Bunny's basket is a plastic coffee cup that is band-

Looking across the divider from kitchen to living room. One wall is entirely of stone.

ever, this made a tremendous difference to that area. The changes which were made in the living room are remarkable because of their simplicity and their resulting air of elegance. A glass partition or divider was trimmed to a triangle form, and Eaton built a rock planter where the rest of the divider stood. Thus, from the front door, the view is through the living room, over the planter, to a glimpse of the kitchen. Because the ceiling is high and beamed, the whole area has a feeling of spaciousness.

AN ENTIRE wall surrounding the fireplace is rock, complementing the planter across the room. Furnishings are kept to a minimum. It is interesting to note that Eaton made most of the furniture himself, including a handsome stereo unit with large speakers.

A low sofa with a built-in table at one end faces a long, low coffee table. A TV is placed in a corner at one side of the fireplace near a built-in hearth-sofa. A weeping willow on the other side of the fireplace shows its bright green leaves to advantage against the rock background. Near the planter across the room is a comfortable black leather chair and hassock.

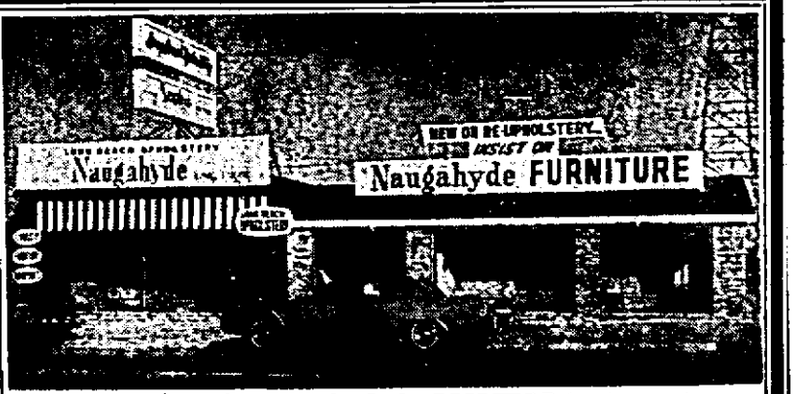

The new kitchen is gay, sunny, and very functional, the latter a must for a busy young mother. There is plenty of room for a round white dining table of continental height at the far end. Windows with frilly curtains line the outside wall. Eaton constructed a buffet to fit under the windows. Built-in appliances are placed in such a way that a maximum of work can be accomplished with a minimum of steps.

A BEDROOM for the Eatons' daughter is done in pink, a son's in blue. The Eatons are currently enlarging and remodeling the master bedroom, adding finer fixtures, and have already installed an attractive planter along one wall.

An inclosed patio behind the filigree cement wall at the front of the home is an excellent, sheltered place for the youngsters to play. In addition, it is attractive with shrubs and plants and a rock waterfall — another creation of the owners.

Eatons increased kitchen size by three feet.

Humphrey, the Man

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

HUBERT HUMPHREY is a liberal and a politician—but to stop with that would be the same as describing Lyndon Johnson only as a Democrat and a Texan or John Kennedy only as a moderate and a wit, says Winthrop Griffith in "HUMPHREY, A CANDIDATE BIOGRAPHY" (Morrow, $5.95).

Griffith, a former San Francisco newspaperman and later assistant to the then Sen. Humphrey, presents the vice president as "practical and idealistic, pragmatic and visionary, ambitious and humble—and almost constantly shifting from one mood or perspective to another."

He weighs the vice president's tendency to tardiness—he rushed into the church in Huron, S.D., for his wedding in 1936, breathlessly shouting "Great Guns, I'm late!" He considers his tendency to consider the persons or the problems before him the most important in the world. (In 1960 Humphrey kept two large groups of influential leaders in Salt Lake City waiting for an extra 20 minutes—he already was an hour late—while he talked in a hotel lobby with the editor of a monthly newsletter with a total circulation of 19 readers!) The vice president, he says, is almost incapable of saying "No" to a friend.

Humphrey, he says, likes to tackle problems—the bigger, the better. He has great kindness and a sincere desire to help people. And he has a conviction that he, too, has a rendezvous with destiny.

In an instant of tragedy or through the process of an election, H.H. could become president of the United States. What kind of a president would he be?

Griffith evaluates that possibility: "Hubert Humphrey would be an unusual president, would probably be a good president, and might—if national and international circumstances sufficiently challenged him—be marked by history as a great president."

THE SHORT STORY formula: "Boy meets girl; boy loses girl; boy gets girl back, plus job in the bank" is passe, at least as far as quality fiction is concerned. Good stories may be "way out," but they don't fit into any formula.

At least that is true, so far as concerns "THE BEST AMERICAN SHORT STORIES, 1964" edited by Martha Foley and David Burnett (Houghton - Mifflin, $5.50; Ballantine paperback, 75 cents).

The 20 stories include the work of established authors such as Robert Penn Warren ("Have You Seen Sukie?") and Reynolds Price ("The Names and Faces of Heroes") and the work of promising new writers such as Richard G. Brown, a Santa Monica writer ("Mr. Iscariot," a hair-raising Mexican border town tale.) In his biographical note, Brown gives warm praise to Alice Frances Wright, Long Beach creative writing teacher, who he says gave him "the incentive to begin a writing career."

IF YOU want to understand what underlies the tragedy that colors every aspect of South African life today you can do no better than to read "SPONOMO" (Scribner's $4.50), the play by Alan Paton and Krishna Shad that moved so many hearts and minds when it was produced in New York. Alan Paton, you will remember, wrote that near-classic novel of his native South Africa, "Cry, the Beloved Country."

"Sponomo" is set in a boys' reformatory. A young African inmate, Sponomo, and the reform school's white principal are the central characters of the play. The principal is a man of high ideals; the boy struggles to live up to those ideals and the principal struggles to understand Sponomo. Alan Paton, in his powerful and gripping play depicts the problem of understanding between Negro and white, and in doing so the problem of mutual understanding between all human beings.

A DISTINCTIVE WESTERN—authenticated, yet humorous and fanciful—has been written by John H. Culp Jr. He titled it "THE BRIGHT FEATHER" (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, $4.95). The jacket art shown in illustration is by G. Kelley Fitch.

Coin Club

"Where Is Numismatics Going Today" will be the topic of Tom Wood, past president of the Numismatics Association of Southern California, at a meeting of the Long Beach Coin Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Recreation Department Building (Elm Way entrance), 350 E. Ocean Blvd.

COIN ROUNDUP

King of Coins

By Maurice M. Gould

THE TITLE, King of American Coins, applies to the 1804 U. S. silver dollar.

Over the years, many articles and stories have appeared about this historical piece. Sensational stories have intrigued both the collector and the public. Some numismatic students do not class this piece as a coin of the regular U. S. series because research has shown that it was struck at a later period than it is dated.

The 15 specimens known are all pedigreed and occasionally a new story appears or a collector claims he has found another 1804 silver dollar. When checked out, they are usually found to be altered dates cleverly done to resemble the original.

In 1875, one of these dollars sold for $325, which was a fabulous price for this period, and in 1876, a price of $500 was realized. From then until the present day, the price has been rising steadily.

At a public auction in 1960, this rarity brought $28,000 and in 1961, at another auction, $29,000 was the price realized. The chances are that if another one comes on the market, new records will be set.

There may be one which you can examine in your part of the country as some of these items are owned by institutions and museums. See the King of American Coins on display at the Chase Manhattan Money Museum in New York City; Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore; the National Collection at the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C.; City of Omaha, in the collection of the Public Library at Omaha, Neb.; and the Massachusetts Historical Society in Boston.

The rest of these coins are in private collections, from New York to Texas, and are seldom exhibited.

Many more articles and books will be written and controversies and arguments about the famous 1804 silver dollar will no doubt continue through the years.

"ALL IS NOT GOLD that glitters." I have had many readers write to me about the small California gold pieces. These were struck from 1852 to 1882 in the denominations of $¼, $½ and $1, until the U. S. government passed a law forbidding private coinage.

One of the reasons these were issued was due to a shortage of small change, the same situation we have today.

In recent years, many souvenir pieces have been issued, mostly by jewelers, and are usually gold-plated or without any gold used at all. A good many of these are copies of the earlier California genuine gold pieces and a beginner can easily mistake them for one of the originals.

One of the best methods of determining a genuine piece is by the words, "dol." or "dollar" with the denomination on the reverse. They usually come with three different heads, Liberty Head, Indian Head, and Washington Head.

The Washington Head is quite scarce and all of the $1 pieces are difficult to obtain, especially the round piece, which is the rarest item and sells as high as $300 in proof condition.

These pieces are thin and minute and can easily be lost, so that over the years many of them have disappeared and been mutilated.

Reproductions of these gold pieces have been made for modern jewelry in other metals and are easily detected as not being genuine.

Choosing a Dobe

By Eleanor A. Price

Good Doberman Pinschers, breed that's pal to the Marines, should be sound, alert, active.

DOBERMAN Pinschers are the one breed that should be yours unless you are for them, meaning that you must be kind but firm with the Dobe so that he will respect you. And you should have time and energy to spare an active animal. He is also very proud, so understand this attractive quality.

Select a Dobe puppy with great care. He should be healthy, bright-eyed, well put together, and should come with a guarantee that he has sound hips.

ASK THE SELLER to let you take the pup on a lead to a part of the yard he is not accustomed to. He should be curious but more interested in you when you make interesting mouth noises. If you lean over him or touch him on his tummy, he should not puddle. If he does, don't buy him. If he is unfriendly, seems like a "loner" and pulls away from you, don't buy him. He doesn't necessarily have to jump all over you in lavish devotion, but he should at least stand and look at you.

Not all breeders want you to handle the puppies, and this is understandable, especially if you have been to another kennel just previously. But it is desirable that you pick up a puppy, or at least get down so your face is on his level. He should not act nervous at this time. A kiss on the face has sold many a puppy of any breed.

Test for deafness by snapping your fingers behind you or making some sort of racket.

ASK THE BREEDER to let you drop a tin pie plate on concrete behind a pup a way off, or, better yet, to let you blow up a paper bag and then pop it a little distance from the pup. If he runs for cover, he is not for you. If he comes to investigate or stands still to see what follows, he probably is sound. Some obedience people like the pup that stands rather than investigates. They feel this pup will train more easily.

Carroll Baker is back in western attire in this photo. She plays a Quaker school teacher in Warner Bros. "Cheyenne Autumn."

'Cheyenne Autumn'

AN EYE-FILLING adventure of the great American West, "Cheyenne Autumn" is the 10-star capstone to the illustrious career of John Ford, master of colorful screen action.

It recounts the tortured flight of 960 Cheyenne Indians from the Oklahoma territory to their Yellowstone homeland 1,500 miles away, and their pursuit by 10,000 U.S. troops. The astonishing incident is based on Mari Sandoz' historical narrative of the same title.

The Warner Bros. production stars James Stewart, Edward G. Robinson, Richard Widmark, Carroll Baker, Karl Malden, Sal Mineo, Dolores Del Rio, Ricardo Montalban, Gilbert Roland and Arthur Kennedy. It was produced by Bernard Smith in Technicolor and SuperPanavision 70.

Exterior scenes of "Cheyenne Autumn" were filmed in the Monument Valley area of the Navajo Reservation, reaching from northern Arizona into southern Utah. One of the scenic wonders of the world, this breathtaking wilderness of spires, buttes and natural monuments is known as John Ford's West. It was he who discovered it for motion pictures in 1938 through the classic film "Stagecoach." Other exteriors were filmed at Moab, Utah, and Gunnison, Utah.

"Cheyenne Autumn" is notable for the appearance of James Stewart as Wyatt Earp in a wild comedy sequence, and for the romantic teaming of Richard Widmark and Carroll Baker, with Dolores Del Rio as a beauteous Indian woman and Edward G. Robinson as the secretary of the interior.

WORKSHOP

Finger-Tip Sewing Unit

Cheryl Miller, co-star in Walt Disney's "The Monkey's Uncle," inspects a sewing unit that offers everything a seamstress needs at finger tips.

By Steve Ellingson

SEWING goes faster if everything you need is at your finger tips. And what a joy it is to have one place for everything after you have finished a project or before you start one.

The sewing center shown with this article contains every conceivable item used by a home seamstress. Notice the three large slide-out trays on the bottom. These hold all kinds of fabrics and hanks of yarn for future garments. If you are one who takes advantage of periodic sales, the chances are you will have these filled most of the time.

In the upper right-hand corner is a file for one or dozens of patterns. All are upright and easily accessible. The upper left-hand corner contains a tote tray which makes it possible to go to any part of the house completely equipped to mend or darn. Spools of thread line the inside of one door where they are visible, making selection instant and easy. On the opposite door scissors, pinking shears and the like are kept. To complete this most handy of sewing cabinets, an assortment of smaller drawers supply much needed space for odds and ends.

THE FULL SIZE pattern with step-by-step photos of construction make this a project that any amateur can undertake with confidence. And ¾-inch plywood, used to construct the cabinet, is available at all lumber dealers. The variety of woods available make it possible for you to build this unit to harmonize with your existing furniture.

To obtain the easy-to-follow sewing cabinet pattern No. 368, send name and address and $1 in currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

America's Jumbo Cup of Coffee

used to prepare coffee, those in the know inevitably prescribe the drip method. The drip method permits water at the right temperature to pass through the grounds just once, thereby dissolving the ideal amount of soluble solids from the ground beans.

Although coffee grows in various tropical countries, Brazil, with 2,697,382,000 coffee trees, contributes nearly two-thirds of the total world's production.

THE COFFEE tree's fruit not only resembles our North American edible cherry, but it's actually called a cherry.

When coffee arrives in various U. S. ports, coffee company representatives are on hand to take samples. They test-check for dampness, correct stowage and general appearance. Then experts roast the green beans in small gas heated roasters, the process taking only a few minutes. It's then ground and cup-tested for aroma and flavor. Cup-testing is accomplished by pouring a measure of ground coffee into a cup and filling with water heated to the proper temperature.

Once the samples have passed these critical inspections, the main shipments are sent to coffee companies' roasting plants scattered geographically across the country to assure each sector the freshest possible supply. Here, of course, the beans are roasted, ground, packaged, and finally delivered to the retail grocer.

There's little chance that high prices will discourage sipping among true coffee lovers. They'll stretch the budget somehow or sacrifice most anything except their favorite beverage.

And speaking of coffee, wouldn't a cup taste good right now?

Desserts for Filing

By Mildred K. Flanary
Southland Magazine Home Economics Editor

A RECIPE file is a very personal thing. Women keep a recipe because (1) they think they want to try it sometime, (2) they have tried making it and liked it, or (3) they have enjoyed it at someone else's home.

Probably desserts are the most popular of all recipes that are saved. We like to try new desserts on our friends, and a new and elegant one that can be made in advance and kept in the refrigerator until serving time is likely to be one of the most widely used. Such is the recipe for Cold Coffee Souffle.

Cold Coffee Souffle

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup water
1 tblspn. instant quality coffee
6 egg yolks, slightly beaten
4 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream
½ tspn. vanilla

Dissolve gelatin in water in top of double boiler over simmering water. Then add instant coffee and cinnamon. Blend in egg yolks. Remove from heat.

Beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually beat in sugar; then beat until stiff, shiny peaks will form. Blend into gelatin mixture.

Combine cream and vanilla and whip; fold into souffle mixture. Pour into a 1-½-quart souffle dish or casserole. Chill until set—about 3 hours. Garnish with additional whipped cream and sprinkle with additional instant coffee, if desired. Makes about 6 cups, or 6 to 8 servings.

Regal Chocolate Sauce

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
6 tblspns. water
½ cup sugar
Dash of salt
3 tblspns. butter or bargarine
¼ tspn. vanilla

Combine chocolate and water in saucepan and place over low heat, stirring until blended. add sugar and salt. Cook until sugar is dissolved and mixture very slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Add butter and vanilla. Makes about 1 cup sauce.

Brazilian Pudim Moka

3 cups milk
1 cup light cream
5 tblspns. instant quality coffee
2 tspns. grated orange rind
4 eggs
1 egg yolk
½ cup sugar
1 tspn. vanilla
½ tspn. salt
Ground nutmeg
1 cup chopped Brazil nuts
Regal Chocolate Sauce

Cold Coffee Souffle is a dessert that deserves a place in the special recipe file.

Combine milk and cream; scald. Stir in instant coffee and orange rind. Cool 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, beat eggs and egg yolk slightly. Then beat in sugar. Gradually add coffee mixture, vanilla, and salt. Strain through fine sieve to remove orange rind. Pour into custard cups. Sprinkle with nutmeg.

Place cups in baking pan; fill pan with hot water to within ¾ inch of tops of cups. Bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes, or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Chill thoroughly.

To serve, unmold into serving dishes and sprinkle with chopped Brazil nuts. Serve with Regal Chocolate Sauce. Makes about 5 cups or 8 servings.

Recipe of the Week

RECIPES WITH oriental flavors add interest to the daily menu, such as this week's recipe which wins $5 for Mrs. Cathy Deforest, 960 Silva St., Long Beach 90805. The recipe:

Mandarin Shrimp

4 tblsp. cooking oil
1 clove garlic, crushed
½ tsp. ginger
Salt and pepper to taste
2 lbs. shrimp, green or canned
¾ cup water
¾ cup catsup
1 tblsp. cornstarch (heaping)
1½ cups cooked rice

Crush garlic clove and cook in oil for 3-4 minutes. Remove clove and add other seasoning. Blend and add cleaned, shelled shrimp to oil, stirring gently for three minutes. Add water and cover tightly and cook for five minutes. Next, add catsup and cook for another five minutes uncovered. Make a paste of the cornstarch and a little water. Add shrimp and serve at once over the hot cooked rice.

What's your favorite recipe? For each recipe published in this space, Southland will pay $5. Men are urged to submit their recipes along with the ladies. Send yours, with name and address to Recipe Contest Editor, Southland Magazine, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90312.

Try a Tree as an Indoor Plant

By Joe Littlefield

PLANTS suitable for indoor culture run a wide and interesting range, but few householders have considered trees for such use. However, a horticulturist friend has demonstrated that it can be done and has kept a Norfolk Island pine, normally a tall-growing tree out of doors, in an indoor container for two years. He keeps it near a window, where it receives indirect light, and pinches back the branch tips, forcing the tree to grow in bushy form. In the two years, the plant has increased only about twice in size.

One reason some homeowners have poor luck growing indoor house plants is because they unintentionally water the plants too often, water-logging the soil. Excess dampness keeps out the natural circulation of air, plant roots suffer, hence poor growth.

Another reason replanting in soil dug from the garden outdoors. Indoor house plants must have a loose coarse, organic soil that allows proper air circulation.

OUTDOORS heavy soil in flower beds may be considerably improved if the gardener doesn't mind hard work for a time, and is willing to invest in some soil conditioners.

Soil must be watered well first. Two days later, a two-inch layer of pre-moistened peat moss or one of the planter mulches that are coarse, must be applied, and a two-inch layer of steer manure spread over the other organic material. Scatter four pounds (8 cupfuls) of bone meal evenly over each 100 square foot area.

If the ground is too hard, rent a power tractor and work the organic materials about 10 inches deep. The tractor may not be able to dig in that deep the first

Troubles We Don't Talk About

What Troubles? Complaints so personal that few people talk about them—burning, irritation and itching in the sensitive perianal (rectal and genital) area.

What Causes Them? Many things, but especially the lack of hygiene. Doctors say that lack of proper cleanliness often prevents the condition from clearing up. This is true because the perianal area is repeatedly contaminated with potentially harmful bacteria and fungi.

What Do Specialists Recommend? Thorough and regular cleansing, particularly after each bowel movement. This halts the vicious "itch-scratch" cycle. In many cases, this alone will solve the problem of burning, itching, and irritation.

Why Not Plain, Ordinary Soap? Because soap washes away natural skin oils. Frequent and repeated use of soap can cause dryness and irritation, resulting in itching.

What Should Be Used? A new, foamy aerosol medication called ANNUL. It is a gentle but thorough cleanser to be used on toilet tissue or cotton. ANNUL is an antibacterial, antifungal cleanser—soothing, emollient and protective. Soothes burning and irritation. Helps to protect against secondary infection of raw, irritated skin.

The Best Way to stop itch-irritation is never let it get started. Begin regular use of ANNUL this week. Or if you suffer now, begin relief in seconds with ANNUL. It relieves itch-irritation without local pain killers that can mask symptoms and postpone sound medical treatment. If your discomfort persists by all means see your doctor. Ask your doctor whether it isn't wise to use ANNUL with other medications.

Effective Deodorant: Women especially, can be troubled with embarrassing odor. ANNUL is an effective deodorant foam because of its superior cleansing and antibacterial actions. Makes you feel fresher. Secure. Completely groomed.

Most people, after they have tried ANNUL, never use toilet tissue without it. And so inexpensive. You'll find ANNUL in your pharmacy.

Status

the street—and the deer would come out of the orange groves and eat out of our hands. Unfortunately, I never bought any of the land."

Land has boomed all over Los Angeles County but no place like Beverly Hills.

In the thirties, songwriter Ira Gershwin bought a nice Spanish mansion on a quiet Beverly Hills street for $27,000. A few years ago, he remodeled the house—just inside. Cost of the remodeling job: $250,000.

BEVERLY HILLS started as a land grant from the Mexican government in the old days of California. Maria Rita Valdez got 4,449.31 acres from Juan Alvarado, then governor of California. The year was 1840. Mrs. Valdez had a red-tiled adobe ranchhouse and a few farm buildings.

Over the years the rancho was sold many times. An eastern subdivider finally bought it for $32,000 and renamed it for his old hometown of Beverly, Mass. It didn't attain its posh status until 1919 when Doug Fairbanks and Mary Pickford built Pickfair, their hilltop estate.

Doug and Mary were Hollywood royalty—and soon the big names started moving out of Los Angeles and Hollywood into Beverly Hills. Will Rogers was honorary mayor from 1925 until his death.

Despite a low crime rate, there are 1,000 lawyers in Beverly Hills—one to each 30 inhabitants. Once again, it's the status address and with the exception of the late Jerry Geisler, most of the lawyers are either divorce or corporate specialists. Few of them practice criminal law.

UNLESS you live in a new house, you never refer to it by its present owners. It's always called the old Greta Garbo place or the old Warner Baxter house. Even James and Pamela Mason, when they were married, couldn't get people to refer to their house except as the old Buster Keaton place.

The famed comic built the house in 1925 for $200,000 and spent $100,000 furnishing it. He was married then to Natalie Talmadge, one of the three famed acting sisters.

Now Buster lives in a modest neighborhood in Woodland Hills, a San Fernando Valley community.

"Who can afford to live in Beverly Hills?" asks Buster.

Garden Bells

HANGING BELLS here and there in the garden to ring when breezes blow is a popular pastime. Living bells may be in the garden, too. Above, on the left, are California Blue Bells, with gentian blue flowers. On the right are the green bells which earn this plant the name Bells of Ireland. The well known, widely grown Canterbury Bells, lower left, come with blue, pink or white flowers; bloom the year after planting. Cathedral Bells, on the right, are sturdy vines with blue or white flowers. All are easily grown from seeds.

time and a second going-over may be necessary.

HELP THE SOIL become more workable by applying one of the liquid soil conditioners that combats alkali and helps to loosen the soil. Gardeners should use double strength of such liquid soil conditioners. This means to apply one quart of it through a hose pressure spray gun to each 200 square feet, instead of the normal amount to 400 to 500 square feet if plants are growing in soil to be treated. Thoroughly soak down after application.

A week or 10 days later, work over the soil a second time, and water in well again. Another week or so later, rake the soil to soften the surface area, then plant.

Once soil has been thus prepared, the battle with hard soil is won. Most important, these organic materials stimulate good bacterial action and attract angle worms to work the ground.

Bunny

ed with velvet ribbon in bright green that matches the green chenille handle which is curved and fastened through holes in the rim. The holes may be punched or done with a heated ice pick. A short length of lacy flowered braid is glued in place and held by a rubber band until the glue dries. If no shredded cellophane is on hand, tuck a bright colored napkin or cellophane into the cup allowing it to extend above the rim.

When the presents or cookies and candies fill up the small basket, the Easter fun with bunny begins.

Medics' Assistant

By A. C. MacLeod

New type obstetrical table developed by Long Beach man has attracted medical attention.

WHAT DOES a contractor do when he semi-retires?

If he is Lee Brown, 3049 E. Ocean Blvd., a life-long bachelor, he designs an obstetrical table!

His table, which already is attracting the attention of the medical fraternity in Southern California, provides several positions, including a sitting position, which he believes is the natural position for childbirth.

Brown, resident of Long Beach since 1922, for 27 years a general building contractor here, began his career as a commercial artist. His illustrations appeared on the covers and the advertising pages of many national magazines.

IN THE 1940s he did a series of obstetrical and bone and surgery drawings for medical journals.

"Through the years," he says, "I have been appalled at the high death rate of babies born in the United States. Do you realize that in the next 24 hours, 290 of our babies will die, either at birth or before they reach their first birthday?

Brown became convinced that in the rush of medical progress, something basic—something natural—might have been forgotten.

His research revealed that primitive women, the same as other mammals of like structure, knelt or squatted to drop their young. This, he found, still is true of Australian aborigines, Eskimos, South American Indians.

As a matter of fact, that was the position of accouchement, he believes, until about the time anesthesia was discovered.

"I began working on the theory that instinct provided the answer," he says. "I believe that a sitting position aids spontaneous expulsion. It uses the natural laws of gravity and physics. I believe it decreases pain and hazard for the mother, and gives the baby a better chance to be born naturally, with little or no anesthesia, with little or no use of instruments."

BROWN'S TABLE, on a hydraulic pedestal base and elevating column, has a control by which it can be locked in various positions. The patient can extend and retract legs against the resistance of foot rests, simulating squatting and lifting exertion, timed to the labor pains.

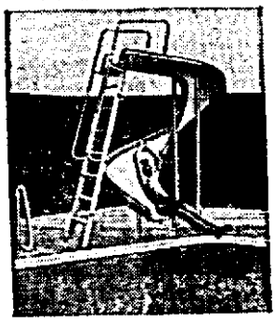

It has an adjustable Caesarian headrest, ether screen, transfusion bottle holder, wrist resistant straps, resistant foot rests, leg rest and straps, hand grips, body pad and head rest.

The Weather

UPPER WINDS are another factor in the broth. When they're blowing northwesterly they'll push a storm away but when they shift to the southeast unexpectedly they may drag a surprise storm into the region.

The job of accurate forcasting is made immeasurably more difficult by the fact that only two permanent weather stations are maintained out in the Pacific and only one due west of Southern California.

This means Southland weathermen get little advance data on meteorological conditions in these climes and little advance warning in storms spawned there.

There are no stations to the southeast and very little ship traffic to keep an eye on things, a stuation which has resulted on many occasions of a northwest moving storm bobbing up from tropical climes and hitting Southern California without warning.

at a time, the year 'round. They all have earned senior merit badges bestowed by a federal bureau that is part of the government's physical fitness program.

These girls, ages 12, 13 and 14, compare most favorably with most any 12th grade boy in routine exercises. "A dozen chin-ups is not unusual for these young ladies," boasts Marquette. But as any boys' gym teacher will testify, it is unusual for most any young man.

"I hesitate to use the word phenomenal," says Marquette, "but by the time these girls are 18 and 19, nobody in the entire country will be able to compete on the same level with them."

MEDICINE AND YOU

Smoker Survey

By Ben Zinser

Scripps Howard Medical-Science Writer

THE person most likely to give up cigarette smoking is a well-educated male, a new survey shows.

Dr. Henry A. Davidson, editor of the Journal of the Medical Society of New Jersey, surveyed a group of high school teachers, employes of a mental hospital and persons in fund-raising work.

He found that women are more likely to continue to smoke than are men, the better the educational background, the higher the proportion of those who give up smoking.

The most startling finding was that, among adolescents, more girls than boys smoke.

If the disproportion continues, boys may eventually reject smoking as effeminate, Dr. Davidson says in a report in the New York State Journal of Medicine.

PERSONS of dark complexion appear to benefit more from audio analgesia (sound treatment for pain) than do those with a light complexion, a new study shows.

Audio analgesia is used by some dentists to reduce pain in the dentist's chair. The patient wears a set of headphones through which he listens to music or "white sound" — the crashing noise of a waterfall.

Researchers at the University of Alabama School of Dentistry performed experiments which show that about 10% of patients will experience total relief from severe dental pain when subjected to audio analgesia. About 80% will experience a slight to moderate relief from dental pain.

The editor of Dental Abstracts, a publication of the American Dental Association, says that the use of audio analgesia in dentistry is "debatable." Its place in dentistry is termed "limited."

A NEW STUDY of the experimental pain-killing drug pentazocine supports earlier research. The drug is an effective analgesic in patients with postoperative pain.

Dr. Max Sadove and associates of the University of Illinois College of Medicine say pentazocine reduced pain in 176 of 183 surgical patients. Significant pain relief was observed as early as 20 minutes in a high percentage of cases and persisted up to three hours.

Side effects attributed to the drug are infrequent and do not appear to be hazardous, the doctors say.

The new drug is believed to be nonaddicting.

THE ANTICANCER drug Cytoxan has been found beneficial in the treatment of leprosy.

The drug doesn't affect the leprosy germ. Apparently it inhibits the patient's reaction to the infective organism. This decreased activity may prevent or relieve reactions such as swelling or neuritis, according to a report in Lancet.

Meanwhile, other researchers have found that the antibiotic capreomycin appears to be active against the leprosy germ on the basis on animal experiments.

Investigators hope that capreomycin may find a role in the treatment of leprosy, for the drug's use in the treatment of pumonary tuberculosis has shown it to be fairly non-toxic.

Although certain drugs known as sulfones are effective against leprosy, they must be given for many years to achieve a bacteriologic cure, researchers note. Scientists are hopeful of finding speedier drugs.

The U.S. has about 2,000 leprosy cases at present. But the disease is costing this country several million dollars yearly because of our increasing contacts with tropical nations.

(This column frequently reports advances in medical research and opinions of medical authorities not yet accepted in general practice.)

YOU'VE HEARD the story of the ugly duckling? Most people have, so we needn't review all his trials and tribulations.

But have you heard the story of the beautiful duckling? This one has an entirely different plot. There was this happy duckling, see, who was the most lovely and glamorous bird in her flock. She lived such a carefree life that she grew tender, plump and sweet. So naturally she was chosen to reign supreme at the glamorous Rossmoor Inn, 12311 Los Alamitos Blvd., where she was served as an epicurean delight with a flaming Bigarde sauce.

Roast Long Island duckling ($4.50) is one of the poultry specialties created at the Rossmoor by owner-hosts Max and Howard Schreiber and their outstanding chef de cuisine, Al Flavio, formerly at Scandia in Los Angeles. They serve it with cherries, wild rice, a magnificent tossed salad, French rolls and beverage.

The Inn is a large, plush establishment designed in an English manor style. Open daily for luncheon, it serves dinners on Sunday from 1 to 10 p.m. Among the other fine entrees are New Zealand lobster with drawn butter and stuffed or baked potato, $5.25; Cornish game hen stuffed with mushrooms, $4.95; veal Oscar with asparagus spears, crab legs and Bernaise sauce, $4.75; rich lobster Newburg, $4.95 and a splendid New York cut steak, charcoal-broiled, $5.50. Other sea food entrees are available from $3.50. Fresh oysters, cherrystone clams and shad roe are featured in season.

SUNDAY TREAT — For years the large sea food emblem on its exterior wall has proclaimed to passersby that Welch's restaurant, 4401 Atlantic Ave., at San Antonio Drive, specializes in delicacies from the oceans and lakes. Restaurateur Rex Welch still emphasizes wonderful sea delights for low prices, such as deviled northern crab en casserole, $1.50; grilled swordfish steak, $1.75, and Boston scallops, $1.75. But in recent months a superb beef item has become equally popular at this beautiful dining establishment. It's roast prime rib au jus with Yorkshire pudding for $1.95, accompanied by outstanding soup or salad, rolls, potato and beverage.

The rose is one of England's favorite flowers. For example, just one group of rose enthusiasts, the National Rose Society, numbers over 100,000 members. The California bred rose, Sutter's Gold, is one of the most popular yellow roses grown in the British Isles, according to Armstrong Nurseries.

Decorations for Easter

By Lorena Fleissig

Easter rabbit, made from pressed paper used for market fruit trays is a gay decoration.

BUNNIES have a way of taking over the Easter scene, appearing in cardboard, cotton and plastic to amuse the children. So the bunny committees will be planning their annual Easter Convention. Getting junior bunnies ready for this spring event is part of the fun of vacation time.

One big help in making these bunnies is the large pressed paper fruit trays to be found in the discards from the markets. The long trays have four to five rows of shallow cups. Some of the trays have cups running in straight rows, others have alternating rows with the cups running diagonally. The trays are in Easter colors, too, ordinarily in purple and yellow.

Sketching a bunny figure is easy. By turning the tray so the rounded side is up it is only necessary to select the two cups that are joined closely to be the face and body. The long ears above the head may be cut from the cup beyond or from the cups at each side.

HAVE A NUMBER of trays on hand so that one can be used for practice. A piece of chalk will help to mark out a pattern which may be varied to suit the imagination. The front view of the round face above the round body gives bunny a plumper personality than any cardboard substitute. Other than the curve at the neck it is only necessary to make a series of loops to complete the figure. Make two long loops for ears, two fat and short loops for the hind paws with the smallest loops for the forepaws.

The bunny may be left in the original purple with the features chalked on or, as in the accompanying illustration, painted with two coats of the water paint Gesso. This paint is already mixed and ready to use. The directions say to wet the brush before dipping in the paint the first time. If a different color is desired, add dry water color to a portion of the can of gesso. Gesso is available at paint and art stores.

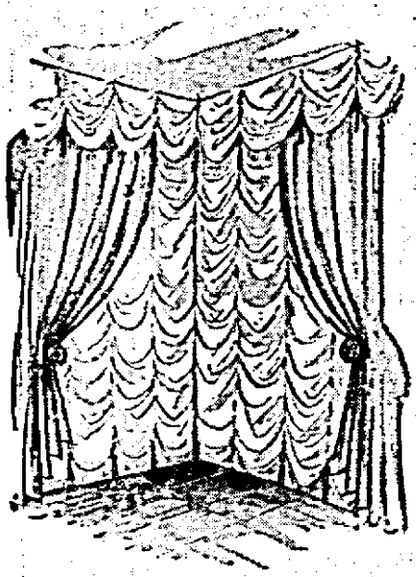

A GAY RIBBON bow glued at his neck makes Bunny's costume complete. To keep him upright place a short paper tube behind him and slip a rubber band around the tube and his neck under the ribbon. Or two of the shallow cups may be glued to the back to round out the body with a chunky cotton tail on a supporting piece of cardboard for balance.

Bunny's basket is a plastic coffee cup that is band-

Humphrey, the Man

By Vera Williams
Southland Magazine Book Editor

HUBERT HUMPHREY is a liberal and a politician—but to stop with that would be the same as describing Lyndon Johnson only as a Democrat and a Texan or John Kennedy only as a moderate and a wit, says Winthrop Griffith in "HUMPHREY, A CANDIDATE BIOGRAPHY" (Morrow, $5.95).

Griffith, a former San Francisco newspaperman and later assistant to the then Sen. Humphrey, presents the vice president as "practical and idealistic, pragmatic and visionary, ambitious and humble—and almost constantly shifting from one mood or perspective to another."

He weighs the vice president's tendency to tardiness—he rushed into the church in Huron, S.D., for his wedding in 1936, breathlessly shouting "Great Guns, I'm late!" He considers his tendency to consider the persons or the problems before him the most important in the world. (In 1960 Humphrey kept two large groups of influential leaders in Salt Lake City waiting for an extra 20 minutes—he already was an hour late—while he talked in a hotel lobby with the editor of a monthly newsletter with a total circulation of 19 readers!) The vice president, he says, is almost incapable of saying "No" to a friend.

Humphrey, he says, likes to tackle problems—the bigger, the better. He has great kindness and a sincere desire to help people. And he has a conviction that he, too, has a rendezvous with destiny.

In an instant of tragedy or through the process of an election, H H. could become president of the United States. What kind of a president would he be?

Griffith evaluates that possibility: "Hubert Humphrey would be an unusual president, would probably be a good president, and might—if national and international circumstances sufficiently challenged him—be marked by history as a great president."

THE SHORT STORY formula: "Boy meets girl; boy loses girl; boy gets girl back, plus job in the bank" is passe, at least as far as quality fiction is concerned. Good stories may be "way out," but they don't fit into any formula.

At least that is true, so far as concerns "THE BEST AMERICAN SHORT STORIES, 1964" edited by Martha Foley and David Burnett (Houghton-Mifflin, $5.50; Ballantine paperback, 75 cents).

The 20 stories include the work of established authors such as Robert Penn Warren ("Have You Seen Sukie?") and Reynolds Price ("The Names and Faces of Heroes") and the work of promising new writers such as Richard G. Brown, a Santa Monica writer ("Mr. Iscariot," a hair-raising Mexican border town tale.) In his biographical note, Brown gives warm praise to Alice Frances Wright, Long Beach creative writing teacher, who he says gave him "the incentive to begin a writing career."

IF YOU want to understand what underlies the tragedy that colors every aspect of South African life today you can do no better than to read "SPONOMO" (Scribner's $4.50), the play by Alan Paton and Krishna Shad that moved so many hearts and minds when it was produced in New York. Alan Paton, you will remember, wrote that near-classic novel of his native South Africa, "Cry, the Beloved Country."

"Sponomo" is set in a boys' reformatory. A young African inmate, Sponomo, and the reform school's white principal are the central characters of the play. The principal is a man of high ideals; the boy struggles to live up to those ideals and the principal struggles to understand Sponomo. Alan Paton, in his powerful and gripping play depicts the problem of understanding between Negro and white, and in doing so the problem of mutual understanding between all human beings.

A DISTINCTIVE WESTERN—authenticated, yet humorous and fanciful—has been written by John H. Culp Jr. He titled it "THE BRIGHT FEATHER" (Holt, Rinehart and Winston, $4.95). The jacket art shown in illustration is by G. Kelley Fitch.

Coin Club

"Where Is Numismatics Going Today" will be the topic of Tom Wood, past president of the Numismatics Association of Southern California, at a meeting of the Long Beach Coin Club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Recreation Department Building (Elm Way entrance), 350 E. Ocean Blvd.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Brig. Gen. Savage Finally Smiles—He's Fired

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

During the first interview, it was noted that Robert Lansing, in his role as Brig. Gen. Frank Savage, seldom smiled or laughed.

The lead star of ABC-TV's Friday night "12 O'Clock High" looked grim as he considered what had been noted. Then he said:

"Now we're in a scene where the leader of the bombing flight has come to the general to report after the mission.

"I ask him, 'How many have we lost?'

"He answers, 'Twelve aircraft.'

"So I reply, 'Twelve. Very good. Chuckle, chuckle. See you later'."

Lansing paused, stuck a pipe-cleaner in his pipe and twisted it.

"We very rarely get Savage in a situation where he's an individual man going out to enjoy anything for himself," he said.

"Most of the time he's responsible for several hundred men — losing a few every day. That's not funny."

* * * *

THE SETTING for the second interview was a muddy lot where a "12 O'Clock High" prisoner-of-war drama was being filmed. Gloomy clouds threatened another rainy outburst.

The reason for the second interview was an announcement from ABC-TV. It had renewed "12 o'Clock High" for a second season but shifted it from 10 p.m. Fridays to 7:30 p.m. Mondays.

It had renewed the series, but dropped Gen. Savage.

I expected Lansing to be gloomier than the threatening rain clouds. I couldn't have been more wrong.

His smile was 1,000-watt as he said:

"I don't know how I could be any happier."

* * * *

THEN HE hurried back to the cameras for another take.

I was taken aback.

His reply was definitely

Choosing a Dobe

By Eleanor A. Price

Good Doberman Pinschers, breed that's pal to the Marines, should be sound, alert, active.

DOBERMAN Pinschers are the one breed that should be yours unless you are for them, meaning that you must be kind but firm with the Dobe so that he will respect you. And you should have time and energy to spare an active animal. He is also very proud, so understand this attractive quality.

Select a Dobe puppy with great care. He should be healthy, bright-eyed, well put together, and should come with a guarantee that he has sound hips.

ASK THE SELLER to let you take the pup on a lead to a part of the yard he is not accustomed to. He should be curious but more interested in you when you make interesting mouth noises. If you lean over him or touch him on his tummy, he should not puddle. If he does, don't buy him. If he is unfriendly, seems like a "loner" and pulls away from you, don't buy him. He doesn't necessarily have to jump all over you in lavish devotion, but he should at least stand and look at you.

Not all breeders want you to handle the puppies, and this is understandable, especially if you have been to another kennel just previously. But it is desirable that you pick up a puppy, or at least get down so your face is on his level. He should not act nervous at this time. A kiss on the face has sold many a puppy of any breed.

Test for deafness by snapping your fingers behind you or making some sort of racket.

ASK THE BREEDER to let you drop a tin pie plate on concrete behind a pup a way off, or, better yet, to let you blow up a paper bag and then pop it a little distance from the pup. If he runs for cover, he is not for you. If he comes to investigate or stands still to see what follows, he probably is sound. Some obedience people like the pup that stands rather than investigates. They feel this pup will train more easily.

EVENTS today include Orange Coast Boxer Club match at Lake Park, Huntington Beach; California Collie Clan match at Lynwood Park; Shetland Sheepdog Club of Southern California match at Imperial Park, Downey; Cabrillo Kennel Club AKC sanctioned match at Oceanside Recreation Park, Hub Poodle Club at South Park, south on Chester Street off Alondra Boulevard, Compton.

Finger-Tip Sewing Unit

Cheryl Miller, co-star in Walt Disney's "The Monkey's Uncle," inspects a sewing unit that offers everything a seamstress needs at finger tips.

By Steve Ellingson

SEWING goes faster if everything you need is at your finger tips. And what a joy it is to have one place for everything after you have finished a project or before you start one.

The sewing center shown with this article contains every conceivable item used by a home seamstress. Notice the three large slide-out trays on the bottom. These hold all kinds of fabrics and hanks of yarn for future garments. If you are one who takes advantage of periodic sales, the chances are you will have these filled most of the time.

In the upper right-hand corner is a file for one or dozens of patterns. All are upright and easily accessible. The upper left-hand corner contains a totetray which makes it possible to go to any part of the house completely equipped to mend or darn. Spools of thread line the inside of one door where they are visible, making selection instant and easy. On the opposite door scissors, pinking shears and the like are kept. To complete this most handy of sewing cabinets, an assortment of smaller drawers supply much needed space for odds and ends.

THE FULL SIZE pattern with step-by-sten photos of construction make this a project that anv amateur can undertake with confidence. And ¾-inch plywood, used to construct the cabinet, is available at all lumber dealers. The variety of woods available make it possible for you to build this unit to harmonize with your existing furniture.

To obtain the easy-to-follow sewing cabinet pattern No. 368, send name and address and $1 in currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Southland Magazine Pattern Dept., 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

America's Jumbo Cup of Coffee

used to prepare coffee, those in the know inevitably prescribe the drip method. The drip method permits water at the right temperature to pass through the grounds just once, thereby dissolving the ideal amount of soluble solids from the ground beans.

Although coffee grows in various tropical countries, Brazil, with 2,697,382,000 coffee trees, contributes nearly two-thirds of the total world's production.

THE COFFEE tree's fruit not only resembles our North American edible cherry, but it's actually called a cherry.

When coffee arrives in various U. S. ports, coffee company representatives are on hand to take samples. They test-check for dampness, correct stowage and general appearance. Then experts roast the green beans in small gas heated roasters, the process taking only a few minutes. It's then ground and cup-tested for aroma and flavor. Cup-testing is accomplished by pouring a measure of ground coffee into a cup and filling with water heated to the proper temperature.

Once the samples have passed these critical inspections, the main shipments are sent to coffee companies' roasting plants scattered geographically across the country to assure each sector the freshest possible supply. Here, of course, the beans are roasted, ground, packaged, and finally delivered to the retail grocer.

There's little chance that high prices will discourage sipping among true coffee lovers. They'll stretch the budget somehow or sacrifice most anything except their favorite beverage.

And speaking of coffee, wouldn't a cup taste good right now?

Let's take a break!

YOUR GARDEN

Try a Tree as an Indoor Plant

By Joe Littlefield

PLANTS suitable for indoor culture run a wide and interesting range, but few householders have considered trees for such use. However, a horticulturist friend has demonstrated that it can be done and has kept a Norfolk Island pine, normally a tall-growing tree out of doors, in an indoor container for two years. He keeps it near a window, where it receives indirect light, and pinches back the branch tips, forcing the tree to grow in bushy form. In the two years, the plant has increased only about twice in size.

One reason some homeowners have poor luck growing indoor house plants is because they unintentionally water the plants too often, water-logging the soil. Excess dampness keeps out the natural circulation of air, plant roots suffer, hence poor growth.

Another reason replanting in soil dug from the garden outdoors. Indoor house plants must have a loose coarse, organic soil that allows proper air circulation.

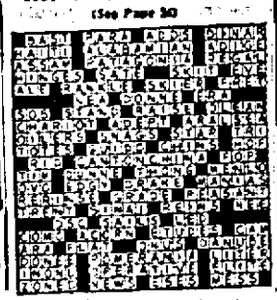

OUTDOORS heavy soil in flower beds may be considerably improved if the gardener doesn't mind hard work for a time, and is willing to invest in some soil conditioners.

Soil must be watered well first. Two days later, a two-inch layer of pre-molstened peat moss or one of the planter mulches that are coarse, must be applied, and a two-inch layer of steer manure spread over the other organic material. Scatter four pounds (8 cupfuls) of bone meal evenly over each 100 square foot area.

If the ground is too hard, rent a power tractor and work the organic materials about 10 inches deep. The tractor may not be able to dig in that deep the first

SOLUTION TO TODAY'S PUZZLE
(See Page 30)

Troubles We Don't Talk About

What Troubles? Complaints so personal that few people talk about them—burning, irritation and itching in the sensitive perianal (rectal and genital) area.

What Causes Them? Many things, but especially the lack of hygiene. Doctors say that lack of proper cleanliness often prevents the condition from clearing up. This is true because the perianal area is repeatedly contaminated with potentially harmful bacteria and fungi.

What Do Specialists Recommend? Thorough and regular cleansing, particularly after each bowel movement. This halts the vicious "itch-scratch" cycle. In many cases, this alone will solve the problem of burning, itching, and irritation.

Why Not Plain, Ordinary Soap? Because soap washes away natural skin oils. Frequent and repeated use of soap can cause dryness and irritation, resulting in itching.

What Should Be Used? A new, foamy aerosol medication called ANNUL. It is a gentle but thorough cleanser to be used on toilet tissue or cotton. ANNUL is an antibacterial, antifungal cleanser—soothing, emollient and protective. Soothes burning and irritation. Helps to protect against secondary infection of raw, irritated skin.

The Best Way to stop itch-irritation is never let it get started. Begin regular use of ANNUL this week. Or if you suffer now, begin relief in seconds with ANNUL. It relieves itch-irritation without local pain killers that can mask symptoms and postpone sound medical treatment. If your discomfort persists by all means see your doctor. Ask your doctor whether it isn't wise to use ANNUL with other medications.

Effective Deodorants Women especially, can be troubled with embarrassing odor. ANNUL is an effective deodorant foam because of its superior cleansing and antibacterial actions. Makes you feel fresher. Secure. Completely groomed.

Most people, after they have tried ANNUL, never use toilet tissue without it. And so inexpensive. You'll find ANNUL in your pharmacy.

Garden Clubs

Japanese flower arranging will be demonstrated at a dessert luncheon and meeting of Los Altos Garden Club at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday at St. Johns Presbyterian Church, 2345 Ximeno Ave.

Films of the Oberammergau Passion Play will be shown by Harry Christensen, Dilday Mortuary public relations director, at a meeting of Belmont Heights Garden Club at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Wesley Hall, 317 Termino Ave. Mrs. Muriel Oyaas will preside. New officers will be elected

"Spring Care of Ferns" Leatherman at a meeting of the Long Beach Fuchsia Society at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Machinist Hall, 728 Elm Ave. She will also supply a plant table. A potluck supper will be served.

Garden Bells

HANGING BELLS here and there in the garden to ring when breezes blow is a popular pastime. Living bells may be in the garden, too. Above, on the left, are California Blue Bells, with gentian blue flowers. On the right are the green bells which earn this plant the name Bells of Ireland. The well known, widely grown Canterbury Bells, lower left, come with blue, pink or white flowers; bloom the year after planting. Cathedral Bells, on the right, are sturdy vines with blue or white flowers. All are easily grown from seeds.

Indoor Plant

time and a second going-over may be necessary.

HELP THE SOIL become more workable by applying one of the liquid soil conditioners that combats alkali and helps to loosen the soil. Gardeners should use double strength of such liquid soil conditioners. This means to apply one quart of it through a hose pressure spray gun to each 200 square feet, instead of the normal amount to 400 to 500 square feet if plants are growing in soil to be treated. Thoroughly soak down after application.

A week or 10 days later, work over the soil a second time, and water in well again. Another week or so later, rake the soil to soften the surface area, then plant.

Once soil has been thus prepared, the battle with hard soil is won. Most important, these organic materials stimulate good bacterial action and attract angle worms to work the ground.

Bunny

ed with velvet ribbon in bright green that matches the green chenille handle which is curved and fastened through holes in the rim. The holes may be punched or done with a heated ice pick. A short length of lacy flowered braid is glued in place and held by a rubber band until the glue dries. If no shredded cellophane is on hand, tuck a bright colored napkin or cellophane into the cup allowing it to extend above the rim.

When the presents or cookies and candies fill up the small basket, the Easter fun with bunny begins.

The Weather

UPPER WINDS are another factor in the broth. When they're blowing northwesterly they'll push a storm away but when they shift to the southeast unexpectedly they may drag a surprise storm into the region.

The job of accurate forecasting is made immeasurably more difficult by the fact that only two permanent weather stations are maintained out in the Pacific and only one due west of Southern California.

This means Southland weathermen get little advance data on meteorological conditions in these climes and little advance warning in storms spawned there.

There are no stations to the southeast and very little ship traffic to keep an eye on things, a stuation which has resulted on many occasions of a northwest moving storm bobbing up from tropical climes and hitting Southern California without warning.

at a time, the year 'round. They all have earned senior merit badges bestowed by a federal bureau that is part of the government's physical fitness program.

These girls, ages 12, 13 and 14, compare most favorably with most any 12th grade boy in routine exercises. "A dozen chin-ups is not unusual for these young ladies," boasts Marquette. But as any boys' gym teacher will testify, it is unusual for most any young man.

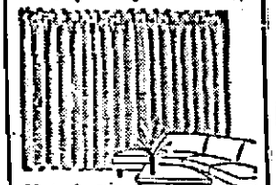

"I hesitate to use the word phenomenal," says Marquette, "but by the time these girls are 18 and 19, nobody in the entire country will be able to compete on the same level with them."

Sports Today

BASEBALL, 1 p.m., in color, ch. 5, has a Palm Springs exhibition game between the L.A. Angels and the S.F. Giants.

GREATER GREENSBORO Open, 1:30 p.m., ch. 9, as Sam Snead tries for his 8th win in the finals of the annual invitational tourney, from the Sedgefield Country Club, N. C.

NBA BASKETBALL, 2 p.m., ch. 7, via tape, is an eastern division playoff contest between the Boston Celtics host the Philadelphia 76ers. (See Wed. and Fri. sports boxes for western division playoff telecasts.)

CBS SPORTS Spectacular, 2:30 p.m., ch. 2, finds Jack Whitaker and Chuck Scharf with the Indianapolis Preview auto race at the Phoenix (Ariz.) international speedway, and Chris Schenkel with tapes of the world's professional trampoline championships (Grossinger)

CBS GOLF CLASSIC, 4 p.m., ch. 2, continues the 2-day, 36-hole playoff finals for $50,000 first prize teaming Tony Lema and Bobby Nichols against Bruce Devlin and Bob Charles at La Quinta, Ji's "Down Under" vs. the U.S.

NBC SPORTS in Action, 4 p.m., ch. 4, brings tapes of base-howl, last week's annual bowling tournament for major league baseball players in Tampa (Fla.), plus Jim Simpson with the Grand National Steeplechase from Aintree, England, won for the first time by an American-bred horse with an American jockey.

AMERICAN SPORTSMAN, 4 p.m., in color, ch. 7, finds Robert Stack hunting down a bull elephant, Lee Wulff angling for Atlantic Salmon in Northern Quebec, and Joe Brooks bringing in marlin in Penas Bay, Panama. (Last of 4-part series.)

THE LATE Gen. Douglas MacArthur is the subject of an hour documentary at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, channel 7.

SPECIAL

MORMON CONFERENCE—The 135th annual General Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, held in the historic Mormon Tabernacle at Salt Lake City, is seen in a 90-min. telecast at 10 a.m., ch. 11. Featured are the church's 91-year-old president, David O. McKay, and the famed Tabernacle choir.

ISSUES & ANSWERS—In a switch from its customary look at politics or finance, series finds about women from the old master himself—Maurice Chevalier. Interviewed at 1:30 p.m., ch. 7, by Howard K. Smith and Marlene Sanders, the entertainer compares French and American women, younger and mature ones, the frug and watusi, theatre audiences, Mistinguette and his philosophy.

MAN WITH A VIOLIN—Walter Cronkite is reporter for the "The 20th Century" as Daniel Schorr interviews master violinist Isaac Stern, restless, gregarious, dedicated to music, his audiences and his family. During the 6:30 p.m. show, ch. 2, cameras follow Stern on a Midwestern concert tour, at a recording session, at the U.N., at Carnegie Hall and with his family at his Connecticut home.

THE GENERAL—A penetrating study of Douglas MacArthur—the man and the myth—is documented in an hour narrated by Van Heflin at 7:30 p.m., ch. 7. Aired on the eve of the first anniversary of his death, show depicts MacArthur as few saw him—with his family in moments of relaxation, at informal gatherings and at strategic moments during his controversial military career. Included will be his quelling of the "bonus march" during the Hoover administration, excerpts of some of his famous speeches, and rare films as he's seen with Gen. Pershing, Gen. Marshall, Gen. Eisenhower and at the court-martial of Billy Mitchell.

YOU'VE HEARD the story of the ugly duckling? Most people have, so we needn't review all his trials and tribulations.

But have you heard the story of the beautiful duckling? This one has an entirely different plot. There was this happy duckling, see, who was the most lovely and glamorous bird in her flock. She lived such a carefree life that she grew tender, plump and sweet. So naturally she was chosen to reign supreme at the glamorous Rossmoor Inn, 12311 Los Alamitos Blvd., where she was served as an epicurean delight with a flaming Bigarde sauce.

Roast Long Island duckling ($4.50) is one of the poultry specialties created at the Rossmoor by owner-hosts Max and Howard Schreiber and their outstanding chef de cuisine, Al Flavio, formerly at Scandia in Los Angeles. They serve it with cherries, wild rice, a magnificent tossed salad, French rolls and beverage.

The Inn is a large, plush establishment designed in an English manor style. Open daily for luncheon, it serves dinners on Sunday from 1 to 10 p.m. Among the other fine entrees are New Zealand lobster with drawn butter and stuffed or baked potato, $5.25; Cornish game hen stuffed with mushrooms, $4.95; veal Oscar with asparagus spears, crab legs and Bernaise sauce, $4.75; rich lobster Newburg, $4.95 and a splendid New York cut steak, charcoal-broiled, $5.50. Other sea food entrees are available from $3.50. Fresh oysters, cherrystone clams and shad roe are featured in season.

—Caricature by Pete Willette
MAX SCHREIBER
Glamorized Duckling

The Inn has music for dancing and special entertainment nightly except Sunday.

SUNDAY TREAT — For years the large sea food emblem on its exterior wall has proclaimed to passersby that Welch's restaurant, 4401 Atlantic Ave., at San Antonio Drive, specializes in delicacies from the oceans and lakes. Restaurateur Rex Welch still emphasizes wonderful sea delights for low prices, such as deviled northern crab en casserole, $1.50; grilled swordfish steak, $1.75, and Boston scallops, $1.75. But in recent months a superb beef item has become equally popular at this beautiful dining establishment. It's roast prime rib au jus with Yorkshire pudding for $1.95, accompanied by outstanding soup or salad, rolls, potato and beverage.

CRITIC'S CORNER

Excerpted Reviews on Recent TV Shows

Program: "Bob Hope in Viet Nam," aired March 26 on channel 4.

In the food conservation campaign of the last world war, stay-at-homes were urged to "leave a clean plate" to reduce waste. In the Bob Hope camp someone must have remembered it and the leavin's of the Hope Christmas show were put to use as another special. That, then would make 150 minutes of film exposed on the two nights. Those many millions who watched the Yule show must have been back last Friday. Despite a more serious anti-climactic note, a postscript to Hope No. 1, it had all the heart-tug and entertainment of the first, the same performers lighting up the faces of the GI's.

After a week in which startling new space developments were seen by televiewers, it seems almost touching to note that CBS-TV's venerable relic, "The Original Amateur Hour," marked its 30th anniversary.

What images such an occasion conjures up! Fledgling accordionists racing through the "Lady of Spain." Fledgling tenors giving their heartfelt all to "Trees" and "Without A Song" as though nobody had ever sung them before. And these images were intensified with humor and good nature as the 30-minute "Amateur Hour" presented highlights of its three-decade history in radio and television, with the first half of a two-part documentary. The second half airs this Sunday (5:30 p.m. today, channel 2.)

On the first show, there were recordings of the appearances of some future notables, including Frank Fontaine, Robert Merrill, Teresa Brewer and one Frank Sinatra, who turned up on the Amateur Hour in 1935 as part of a quartet from Hoboken, a group it is good he did not stick with.

There, too, was Major Bowes, intoning the ritualistic words known in millions of households across the land: "Around, around she goes—and where she stops nobody knows." If you don't know what these words referred to, it would be a waste of time trying to explain it to you.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Many of us had forgotten that Major Bowes presided over a gong that dispatched young hopefuls whose talent failed to match their ambitions.

Over the years, narrator Ron Cochran said, Bowes' staff auditioned almost a million acts all over the country to present about 18,000 on the air. At one time the radio show had a rating of 46.7, meaning that almost half the radio sets in the entire nation were tuned to that program.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

Program: "Premiere at the Pavilion," aired by each of the Southern California stations separate nights last week.

It was only a local show, but why a network didn't take it as a Sunday afternoon special must have confounded those in the trade who witnessed it. With such names as Jack Benny, Lucille Ball and Ralph Edwards to keep the air from becoming too heavy with the classics, it shaped up as a natural for those attracted to top names. There was enough comedy to satisfy any addict of the frivolous.

Could it be that the powers back east didn't care to have the Lincoln Center compared to L.A. Music Center and come off a bad second in the assessment of those who have seen both? Edwards, in his impeccable style as a dignified narrator in keeping with the posh surroundings, took the tviewers on a tour of the Center and it must have left gasps of amazement and pride. There was no attempt at comparison nor did he call the Center the finest in the land but he didn't have to. Their eyes had seen the glory of this great accomplishment.

Both Benny and Miss Ball were in character except in their sartorial accoutrement. Dragging along a cello case (for a violin), he kept getting lost in the circuitous route ot the stage. His fiddling of "Life Of A Boy," with familiar sidebars was the evening's tour de force for the dressy crowd. He twitted Zubin Mehta, the Philharmonic's conductor, who joined in the fun with flamboyant cues. Against the background of some 50 fiddles, the pride of Waukegan played along as if one of the sidemen. He proved, at least, to the televiewers, that he really can play the instrument.

Miss Ball sold a souvenir program to Benny for two bucks and kept hounding him until he committed himself for the extravagance. Meredith Wilson also made a pitch to aid the fund by buying the souvenir album.

Critic Helm of "Variety"

Jack Benny's fiddling of "Life of a Boy" was the life of the Pavilion party.

Critic Bert Resnik of "TeleVues"

Sonderling Purchases Sixth Radio Station

Sonderling Stations, operators of Long Beach radio station KFOX, report the $1,250,000 acquisition of WOL in Washington, D.C.

The purchase brings to six the number of stations owned by the organization. The other four are in Oakland; Memphis, Tenn.; Oak Park, Ill., and New York City.

Egmont Sonderling, president, said the new station will become a Negro-oriented outlet when the official transfer is approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Brig. Gen. Savage Finally Smiles—He's Fired

By BERT RESNIK
TV and Radio Editor

During the first interview, it was noted that Robert Lansing, in his role as Brig. Gen. Frank Savage, seldom smiled or laughed.

The lead star of ABC-TV's Friday night "12 O'Clock High" looked grim as he considered what had been noted. Then he said:

"Now we're in a scene where the leader of the bombing flight has come to the general to report after the mission.

"I ask him, 'How many have we lost?'

"He answers, 'Twelve aircraft.'

"So I reply, 'Twelve. Very good. Chuckle, chuckle. See you later'."

Lansing paused, stuck a pipe-cleaner in his pipe and twisted it.

"We very rarely get Savage in a situation where he's an individual man going out to enjoy anything for himself," he said.

"Most of the time he's responsible for several hundred men—losing a few every day. That's not funny."

* * * * *

THE SETTING for the second interview was a muddy lot where a "12 O'Clock High" prisoner-of-war drama was being filmed. Gloomy clouds threatened another rainy outburst.

The reason for the second interview was an announcement from ABC-TV. It had renewed "12 o'Clock High" for a second season but shifted it from 10 p.m. Fridays to 7:30 p.m. Mondays.

It had renewed the series, but dropped Gen. Savage.

I expected Lansing to be gloomier than the threatening rain clouds. I couldn't have been more wrong.

His smile was 1,000-watt as he said:

"I don't know how I could be any happier."

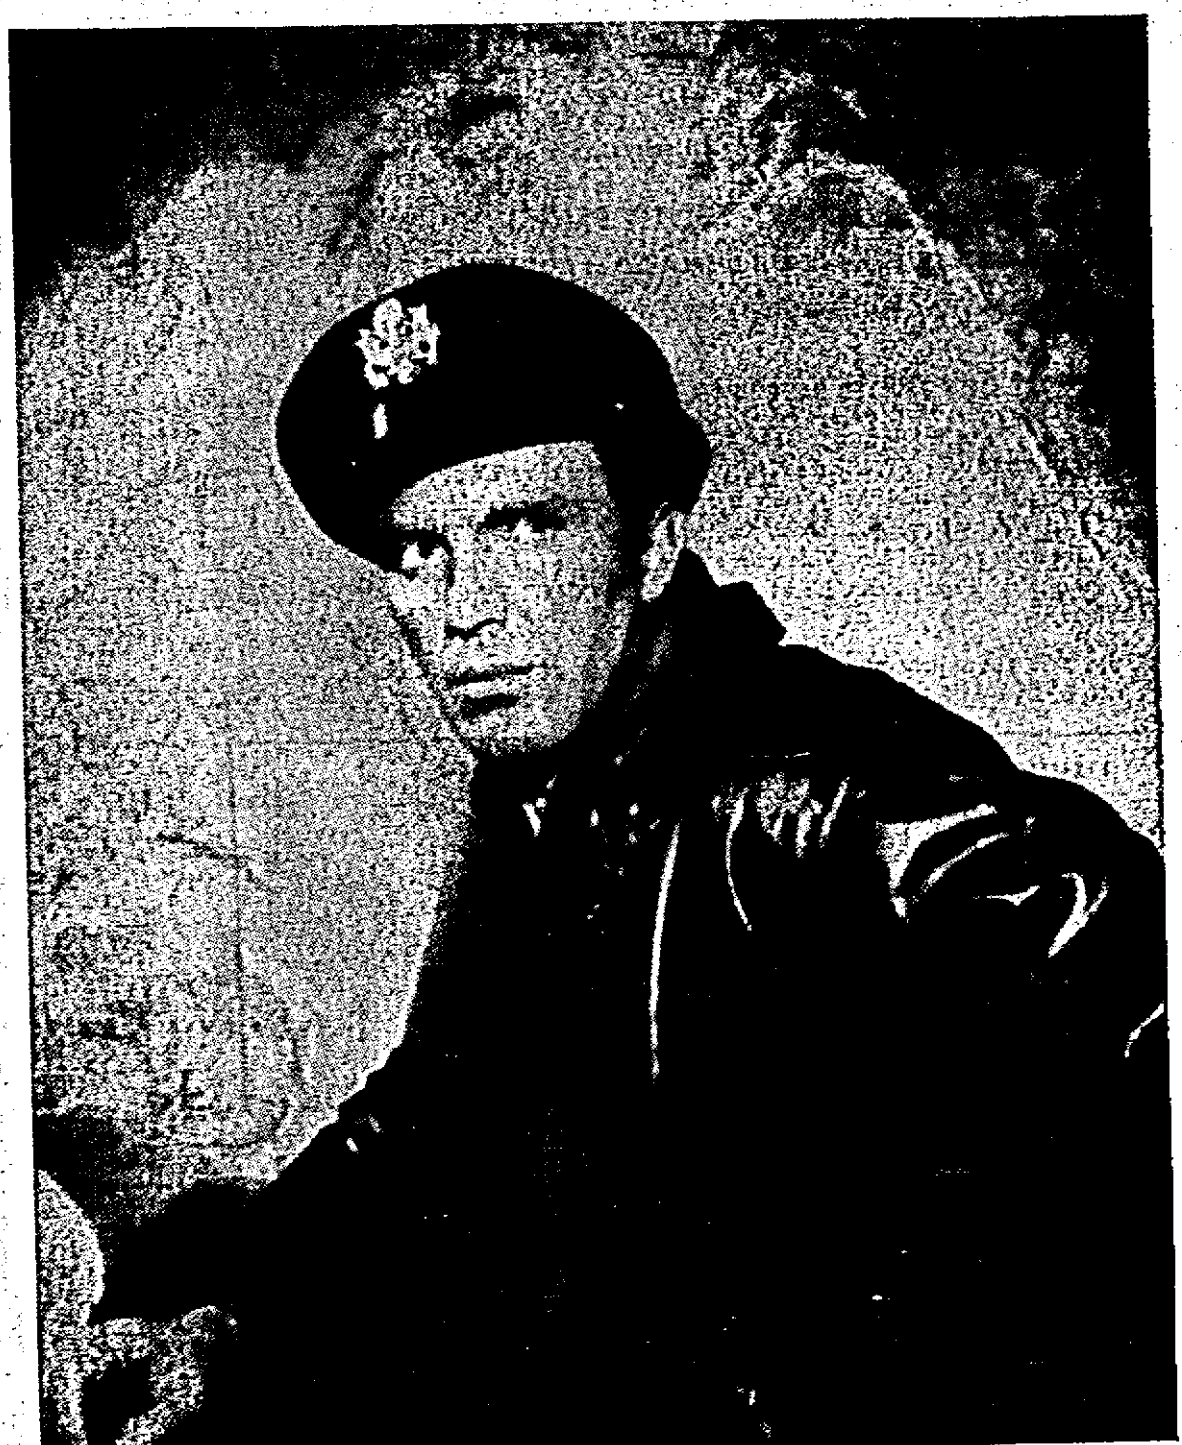

* * * *

THEN HE hurried back to the cameras for another take.

I was taken aback.

His reply was definitely

Color Satellite

An electronics expert predicts that perfect color television could be relayed from outer space to any place in the world within three years.

Dr. Harold A. Rosen of Hughes Aircraft Company's Space Systems division, reports that technology exists for launching a color-transmitting satellite into orbit.

A forerunner of the satellite is under development and test in Hughes laboratories.

SPECIAL

TERROR in the Streets—Winding up its 2-part "White Paper" report on crime in America, begun Feb. 9 with "Oswald and the Law," NBC News tonight examines criminal violence in the U.S., and the public's attitude toward it. Chet Huntley narrates at 10 p.m., ch. 4, as hour includes comments by persons involved in drug addiction and teenage gangs, parole officers and welfare and rehabilitation workers. Writer-producer Al Wasserman has tried to go behind the headlines to get at the realities of seemingly senseless acts of violence, their cause and effect—today's fear in urban areas and how much of it is justified.

ELECTION SPECIAL—The mayoralty battle of two Democrats with an eye toward Sacramento will be detailed in a 45-min. special at 11 p.m., ch. 2. Both Sam Yorty and James Roosevelt will appear for interviews as returns roll in from sprawling L.A. On ch. 11, George Putnam's regular news show at 10 p.m. will be expanded to 90 min. for coverage.

PAUL RICHARDS plays an escaped convict during "The Fugitive," 10 p.m. Tuesday, channel 7.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

The General's Really Not So Savage

not what I had expected.

During the first interview, I was impressed by Lansing's sincerity, candor and professional attitude. A spade was a spade and he called it such. He made no attempt to dodge provocative questions.

That was why his "couldn't be happier" to be fired reply evoked from me a feeling that the response was just too pat.

Perhaps he didn't want to be "sour grapes," but why go to the opposite extreme and be Pollyannish?

In short, at this moment, I didnt put any belief in Lansing's initial reply.

Again, I couldn't have been more wrong.

* * * *

THE SCENE over, Lansing invited me to his dressing room and proceeded to explain his "happier" statement.

"I don't know of another situation," he said, "where an actor has had the opportunity to do a series, has had the kind of personal reaction I have had and has been free next season to parlay it.

"I'm very excited."

He pointed out that "12 o'Clock High" was a success by the ratings' numbers, by the critical reviews and by his own standards.

"With my being able to be free immediately after the success of this series," he said, "I feel in a better position in my career than I have ever been before."

That parlaying position, he noted, would leave him free to work in motion pictures. Because of his previous commitment to the series — he had a five-year contract—he had to earlier reject two inquiries relative to motion picture roles.

* * * *

AT THIS point, Lansing's ease of attitude, his unquestioned sincerity had me convinced he really was "happier."

So I asked if he had anything to do with instigating his release from the series.

It was one provocative question he half-dodged.

"I cannot tell you how the whole thing came about," he replied, "because I promised someone.

"But let me tell you this: I didn't sign to do a show at 7:30 p. m."

Without specifying names, he told of many actors in other series who were trying to buy their way out.

"A series," he said, "is a gamble.

"If it's a big success, you get lost in it. If it's a flop, you get buried in the debris."

* * * *

EXPLAINING further, he pointed out that a series which is successful for several years can reach the point where the public "gets tired of you and the industry, itself, feels you're worn out."

Exemplifying a situation somewhat parallel to his own, he noted that James Garner of the "Maverick" series managed to get off the show and, subsequently, became a movie star.

"Jim Garner got out when he was hot, when he was swinging," said Lansing. "And so is Bob Lansing."

Gen. Lansing may rarely have been in a situation where he was an individual man going out to enjoy anything for himself.

Bob Lansing has found that rare situation, and he's out to make the most of it.

World's Fair

Gordon and Sheila MacRae will headline "The World's Fair Entertainment Spectacular," an hour special on ABC-TV April 29.

The program will mark the beginning of the second year for the New York attraction.

Other entertainers will include trumpeter Al Hirt and the New Christy Minstrels.

DOES YOUR CHILD

WET the BED?*

Many children — even adults do so . . . unnecessarily

The ENURTONE method has proven in over 300,000 cases that it can stop bed-wetting (Enuresis*), when not caused by organic defects or diseases, in just two to four weeks. NOT A DRUG OR DIET . . . Just a simple conditioning technique. Correct bed-wetting in the privacy of your own home, without disturbing your child's bed-time routine. ENURTONE is the original and only method developed by a doctor, approved and prescribed by many doctors. Recommended ages 4 thru 50.

I read months ago where this rock-and-roll station, KRLA, lost their license due to mismanagement and so on and were ordered off the air within a certain period of time.

There was a later article where several stations, including KFOX in Long Beach and KGBS in Los Angeles, had applications in with the FCC for the KRLA wave length when KRLA went off the air.

Yet, I still hear the awful music from KRLA — or "sounds" as they call it.

Did KRLA get a pardon or was the station sold with the new owners keeping the same call letters?

Martin W. Halme, Long Beach

Since last July, KRLA has been operated by new management, Oak Knoll Broadcasting, Inc.

It is a non-profit group with a board of directors which includes Dr. Frank Baxter of the University of Southern California.

Although it is technically non-profit, it is still operated as a commercial station.

A total of 80% of its profits are turned over to KCET (channel 28), Southern California's educational television station. The other 20% is given to charities designated by the Oak Knoll board of directors.

Oak Knoll is currently operating the station under interim approval of the Federal Communications Commission.

Eventually, and no one in authority will hazard a guess as to when, one of 20 applicants for the wave length will be granted a regular license.

In addition to its "sounds," KRLA last year provided a million dollars worth of time for public service programming, according to Larry Webb, current general manager.

Its news and public affairs departments won four major awards.

Webb, citing rating surveys, also claimed that KRLA has the largest adult audience — as well as teen-age audience—in Southern California.

The station's former owner, Don Cooke, had operated the station since the latter part of 1959 when he purchased it.

At that time, he was given a "construction permit," tantamount to a temporary license, by the FCC. The FCC had approved the sale originally. Issuance of the regular license, in this type of approval, generally is mostly a technical procedure.

However, before that regular license was issued, the FCC learned that the station manager then in charge had issued several logs which falsely listed a one-minute religious service. The minute religious services didn't air.

Although Cooke subsequently fired this manager, the FCC made this the principal point in not granting a permanent license.

The FCC then, as noted before, turned over the station to Oak Knoll last July.

* * * *

Is the Lawrence Welk program telecast live?

F. P. McMahon, Leisure World.

Everywhere except on the West Coast. For the West Coast, it is taped at 5:30 p.m. and aired three hours later.

* * * *

Could you please tell me the theme song for channel 2's late show? About ready to flip figuring.

Betty Parrish, Artesia

It's "Hud" from the motion picture of the same name.

NBA BASKETBALL, 2 p.m., ch. 7, via tape, is an eastern division playoff contest between the Boston Celtics host the Philadelphia 76ers. (See Wed. and Fri. sports boxes for western division playoff telecasts.)

CBS SPORTS Spectacular, 2:30 p.m., ch. 2, finds Jack Whitaker and Chuck Scharf with the Indianapolis Preview auto race at the Phoenix (Ariz.) international speedway, and Chris Schenkel with tapes of the world's professional trampoline championships (Grossinger)

CBS GOLF CLASSIC, 4 p.m., ch. 2, continues the 2-day, 36-hole playoff finals for $50,000 first prize teaming Tony Lema and Bobby Nichols against Bruce Devlin and Bob Charles at La Quinta. It's "Down Under" vs. the U.S.

NBC SPORTS in Action, 4 p.m., ch. 4, brings tapes of base-bowl, last week's annual bowling tournament for major league baseball players in Tampa (Fla.), plus Jim Simpson with the Grand National Steeplechase from Aintree, England, won for the first time by an American-bred horse with an American jockey.

AMERICAN SPORTSMAN, 4 p.m., in color, ch. 7, finds Robert Stack hunting down a bull elephant, Lee Wulff angling for Atlantic Salmon in Northern Quebec, and Joe Brooks bringing in marlin in Penas Bay, Panama. (Last of 4-part series.)

SPECIAL

MORMON CONFERENCE—The 135th annual General Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, held in the historic Mormon Tabernacle at Salt Lake City, is seen in a 90-min. telecast at 10 a.m., ch. 11. Featured are the church's 91-year-old president, David O. McKay, and the famed Tabernacle choir.

ISSUES & ANSWERS—In a switch from its customary look at politics or finance, series finds about women from the old master himself—Maurice Chevalier. Interviewed at 1:30 p.m., ch. 7, by Howard K. Smith and Marlene Sanders, the entertainer compares French and American women, younger and mature ones, the frug and watusi, theatre audiences, Mistinguette and his philosophy.

MAN WITH A VIOLIN—Walter Cronkite is reporter for the "The 20th Century" as Daniel Schorr interviews master violinist Isaac Stern, restless, gregarious, dedicated to music, his audiences and his family. During the 6:30 p.m. show, ch. 2, cameras follow Stern on a Midwestern concert tour, at a recording session, at the U.N., at Carnegie Hall and with his family at his Connecticut home.

THE GENERAL—A penetrating study of Douglas MacArthur—the man and the myth—is documented in an hour narrated by Van Heflin at 7:30 p.m., ch. 7. Aired on the eve of the first anniversary of his death, show depicts MacArthur as few saw him—with his family in moments of relaxation, at informal gatherings and at strategic moments during his controversial military career. Included will be his quelling of the "bonus march" during the Hoover administration, excerpts of some of his famous speeches, and rare films as he's seen with Gen. Pershing, Gen. Marshall, Gen. Eisenhower and at the court-martial of Billy Mitchell.

LET MY PEOPLE GO — Richard Basehart is narrator for David L. Wolper's documentary on the struggle of Jewish people for a homeland, to be sponsored by Xerox Corp. at 9 p.m. on channels 5, 11 and 13. Hour includes film footage never before seen publicly, including captured German and Arab films taken inside the Warsaw ghetto and in Nazi concentration camps, and footage of the earliest Palestinian settlers struggling to turn sand dunes into a viable country.

CELEBRITY GAME — Return premiere. Carl Reiner hosts a rotating panel of 9 Hollywood stars, as contestants try to guess how they voted on frivolously controversial questions. Replacing the defunct "Baileys of Balboa" at 9:30 p.m., ch. 2, show tonight asks who worries most about staying single, whether divorced couples can remain friends and whether men should win all arguments with their wives. Panel includes Olivia DeHavilland, Roddy McDowall, John Forsythe, Hedda Hopper, Nick Adams, Pearl Bailey, Jack Palance, Zsa Zsa Gabor and George Jessel.

PERRY COMO — For his sixth special of the season, Como goes to Miami Beach for the resort city's 50th anniversary. Joining in the 10 p.m., ch. 4 hour are jazz trumpeter Al Hirt, actress-singer Connie Stevens, waif-like comedian Woody Allen and the Rosarian Academy choir of West Palm Beach. (Perry's 17-year-old daughter Terri is a senior at Rosarian and member of the choir.)

CRITIC'S CORNER

Excerpted Reviews on Recent TV Shows

Program: "Bob Hope In Viet Nam," aired March 26 on channel 4.

In the food conservation campaign of the last world war, stay-at-homes were urged to "leave a clean plate" to reduce waste. In the Bob Hope camp someone must have remembered it and the leavin's of the Hope Christmas show were put to use as another special. That, then would make 150 minutes of film exposed on the two nights. Those many millions who watched the Yule show must have been back last Friday. Despite a more serious anti-climactic note, a postscript to Hope No. 1, it had all the heart-tug and entertainment of the first, the same performers lighting up the faces of the GI's.

Critic Helm of "Variety"

After a week in which startling new space developments were seen by televiewers, it seems almost touching to note that CBS-TV's venerable relic, "The Original Amateur Hour," marked its 30th anniversary.

What images such an occasion conjures up! Fledgling accordionists racing through the "Lady of Spain." Fledgling tenors giving their heartfelt all to "Trees" and "Without A Song" as though nobody had ever sung them before. And these images were intensified with humor and good nature as the 30-minute "Amateur Hour" presented highlights of its three decade history in radio and television with the first half of a two-part documentary. The second half airs this Sunday (5:30 p.m. today, channel 2.)

On the first show, there were recordings of the appearances of some future notables, including Frank Fontaine, Robert Merrill, Teresa Brewer and one Frank Sinatra, who turned up on the Amateur Hour in 1935 as part of a quartet from Hoboken, a group it is good he did not stick with.

There, too, was Major Bowes, intoning the ritualistic words known in millions of households across the land: "Around, around she goes—and where she stops nobody knows." If you don't know what these words referred to, it would be a waste of time trying to explain it to you.

Critic Rick Du Brow of UPI

Many of us had forgotten that Major Bowes presided over a gong that dispatched young hopefuls whose talent failed to match their ambitions.

Over the years, narrator Ron Cochran said, Bowes' staff auditioned almost a million acts all over the country to present about 18,000 on the air. At one time the radio show had a rating of 46.7, meaning that almost half the radio sets in the entire nation were tuned to that program.

Critic Cynthia Lowry of AP

Program: "Premiere at the Pavilion," aired by each of the Southern California stations separate nights last week.

It was only a local show, but why a network didn't take it as a Sunday afternoon special must have confounded those in the trade who witnessed it. With such names as Jack Benny, Lucille Ball and Ralph Edwards to keep the air from becoming too heavy with the classics, it shaped up as a natural for those attracted to top names. There was enough comedy to satisfy any addict of the frivolous.

Could it be that the powers back east didn't care to have the Lincoln Center compared to L.A. Music Center and come off a bad second in the assessment of those who have seen both? Edwards, in his impeccable style as a dignified narrator in keeping with the posh surroundings, took the tviewers on a tour of the Center and it must have left gasps of amazement and pride. There was no attempt at comparison nor did he call the Center the finest in the land but he didn't have to. Their eyes had seen the glory of this great accomplishment.

Both Benny and Miss Ball were in character except in their sartorial accoutrement. Dragging along a cello case (for a violin), he kept getting lost in the circuitous route ot the stage. His fiddling of "Life Of A Boy," with familiar sidebars was the evening's tour de force for the dressy crowd. He twitted Zubin Mehta, the Philharmonic's conductor, who joined in the fun with flamboyant cues. Against the background of some 50 fiddles, the pride of Waukegan played along as if one of the sidemen. He proved, at least, to the televiewers, that he really can play the instrument.

Miss Ball sold a souvenir program to Benny for two bucks and kept hounding him until he committed himself for the extravagance. Meredith Wilson also made a pitch to aid the fund by buying the souvenir album.

Critic Helm of "Variety"

Jack Benny's fiddling of "Life of a Boy" was the life of the Pavilion party.

Sonderling Purchases Sixth Radio Station

Sonderling Stations, operators of Long Beach radio station KFOX, report the $1,250,000 acquisition of WOL in Washington, D.C.

The purchase brings to six the number of stations owned by the organization. The other four are in Oakland; Memphis, Tenn.; Oak Park, Ill., and New York City.

Egmont Sonderling, president, said the new station will become a Negro-oriented outlet when the official transfer is approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

SINGING COWBOY CREATES INDUSTRIAL EMPIRE

Gene Autry Quick on the Draw in World of Finance

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Gene Autry, the singing cowboy who founded an empire on a guitar and a horse named Champion, now rides tall in the saddle of business and finance.

He controls eight corporations with such diverse interests as radio-TV stations, hotels, a major league baseball club and a motion picture company.

(A documentary on his baseball team, the Los Angeles Angels, will be narrated by Autry at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, channel 5.)

"But my first love is still radio," he says.

Autry, still fit and relaxed in western-style clothes and boots, began his career 35 years ago singing on a Tulsa, Okla., radio station. Now he owns six radio operations in the West, in addition to video stations KOOL in Phoenix, KOLD in Tucson and KTLA in Hollywood.

* * * *

"I DON'T appear on the air or in movies right now," he says. "But I don't miss the glamor of it. I enjoyed the movies and television, but I wasn't an actor. All I could do was be natural; be Gene Autry."

Tycoon Autry is as unpretentious as he was 20 years ago chasing bad guys out of the west. He speaks easily and apparently is at home in any company. He writes off his amazing success story as luck and minimizes the millions he has made.

"As I look back over my life, I say the most important thing is to be at the right place at the right time.

"I happened to come along in an era when movies were changing. That was about 1934. There was a break between the great silent screen cowboys, Buck Jones, Tom Mix and Hoot Gibson, and the new crop that was to come along. I was the first of the singing cowboys. If I'd come into the picture five years earlier or five years later, I might not have succeeded.

* * * *

"YES, IT takes a certain amount of luck with some ability to go along with it.

"If there's any secret to business success, it's the ability to surround yourself with good people who know what they're doing. If you do that, you can't go wrong."

GENE AUTRY

Autry says the best illustration is the management of his baseball team, the Los Angeles Angels.

"In Fred Haney and Bill Rigney, I think we have two of the finest men in baseball," he explains. "And I have the same kind of personnel in my hotel and radio-TV operations."

Autry doesn't fit the prototype of the cold-eyed capitalist. His manner and his sentiments are still that of a small town westerner.

He still owns the famed Melody Ranch near Newhall, Calif., where he houses a collection of 25 ancient cars. The 125 acres is also range land for six horses, two of which portrayed Champion.

The original Champion is long since dead. But the second horse is now 23 years old and still plodding around. A third Champion, used for Autry's television series, is 11 and still frisky.

Autry is a longtime friend of President Johnson, having campaigned for LBJ for congress back in 1939.

"We're still good friends," said Autry. "When I go to Washington, he invites me to stop by and say hello. And when the President is out here, we manage to get together for a chat."

Autry and his wife, Ina, live in the San Fernando Valley in the same house they have occupied for 15 years.

Sign Robinson

Jackie Robinson, a former star with the Brooklyn Dodgers, has been signed as a commentator - analyst for ABC-TV's "Major League Championship Baseball."

During the series, which starts April 17, there will be 27 games telecast.

In signing Robinson, Sports Producer Roone Arledge said:

"In addition to being one of the greatest players in the history of baseball, Jackie Robinson has always been known as an articulate and knowledgeable student of the game."

Baldness Is Not Hereditary, Says
Scalp Specialist
CONDUCTS SPECIAL HAIR AND SCALP CLINIC THIS WEEK TO DEMONSTRATE REMARKABLE NEW METHODS

S. I. Turoff, dynamic young director of TUROFF HAIR AND SCALP EXPERTS, California's leading organization of scalp specialists, illustrates remarkable new methods that stop hair loss, eliminate dandruff scales and help grow stronger, thicker hair. A special free clinic is being conducted this week in his Long Beach offices at 110 Pine Ave., (Suite 824-825)

What Causes Baldness?

"You will find no medical proof for the popular belief that baldness is actually hereditary," says S. Turoff, chief specialist of the Turoff Hair and Scalp Experts when interviewed recently. "If this belief were true, why would a person start to lose hair rapidly, say at age 30? Why did the loss start then, rather than sooner - or later? You started losing hair at that particular time because some scalp disorder or systemic trouble was added to your inherited weakness.

Why Does Baldness Start on Top?

Another question put to me very often is "Why does baldness start on top?" The reason for that is that the crown of your head simply does not enjoy the same vigorous blood circulation as the sides. You get older, scalp tension increases, dandruff and foreign matter pack the shrinking hair follicles — and your hair roots actually "starve" for lack of blood.

Expert Answers Your Hair Questions Free

As a feature of "Hair & Scalp Clinic Week," Turoff Hair Experts offer a free consultation service.

All you have to do is take your questions in person to their offices:

LONG BEACH
AT 110 PINE AVE.
Hours: 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.
Thurs., 4 to 8 p.m.
Saturday, 10 to 2 p.m.

and let the Turoff expert give your scalp a complete examination.

Since your scalp, like your fingerprints is not the same as anybody else's the examination must come first.

These are the questions most people want information about:

1. How often should you wash your hair?
2. What kind of shampoo is best?
3. Is brushing necessary? Desirable?
4. What can be done about oily scalp?
5. What about dry scalp?
6. Are "tonics" and dressings helpful?
7. Does it help to cut hair short?
8. When is dandruff dangerous?
9. Can your hair be thickened?
10. What is a scalp treatment like?

Take this list along with you tomorrow to see Turoff Hair Experts.

Don't Resign Yourself

This internationally famous expert urges that you do not resign yourself to baldness unless you are already bald. Go in and talk with the Turoff expert during "Hair and Scalp Week." Listen to his analysis of your scalp condition. Ask him for questions about hair care . . . . All without the slightest obligation.

The Real Causes

"Actually, the two most common causes of baldness," says hair expert S. I. Turoff, "are neglect and mistreatment of hair. It's sad, but true, that most men don't take care of their hair as well as they know how - and they really don't know how either. For some reason neither parents nor schools teach young people even the elementary do's and don'ts of hair care.

"Consequently, most men don't get very far along in life without hair trouble. They become 'balding' . . . then just plain bald. And, usually do nothing about it except perhaps experiment with some harsh 'tonics' and cure-alls."

Offer Demonstration Treatment for $2.00

During "Hair & Scalp Clinic Week" only, the Turoff Hair Experts offer a complete scalp treatment for $2.00 to any eligible man or woman.

Here's the way to get it: Visit the Turoff Hair Experts offices, Long Beach, 110 Pine Ave., Suite 824-825, this week any time between 11 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. (10 to 2 Saturday) Thursday 4 to 8 p.m. Have the Turoff Expert examine your scalp and give you his findings.

If your condition is "hopeless" he'll tell you so frankly.

About five per cent of those he examines are hopeless.

Get the Facts

Otherwise, he'll tell you what's wrong with your hair and scalp, what can and should be done about it, how little time and money will be required to put your scalp in condition to grow healthy hair again.

Then you take a treatment of the type he judges you should be taking. It costs you just $2.00. No obligation. The offer is good for this week only. No appointment necessary. Just come to the

SPECIAL

OSCAR AWARDS — Bob Hope makes his 11th appearance as emcee of the gala 2-hour Oscar show, held again at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium and telecast live starting at 7 p.m., ch. 7. Presenters include Gregory Peck, Audrey Hepburn, Sidney Poitier, Jimmy Durante, Greer Garson, Rex Harrison, Deborah Kerr, Joan Crawford, Vince Edwards and Richard Chamberlain (Casey and Kildare as in-tandem presenters). Musical numbers include the 5 nominated songs sung by the New Christy Minstrels, Andy Williams, Jack Jones, Nancy Wilson and Patti Page, plus Peter Gennaro's dancing salute to Hollywood musicals and Judy Garland's vocal tribute to the late Cole Porter.

ABORTION & the Law—An hour's examination of abortion, both legal and illegal, and its consequences in the U.S. and seven foreign nations is the "CBS Reports" topic at 10 p.m., ch. 2. Walter Cronkite is reporter, with other CBS newsmen in London, Paris, Sweden, Santiago (Chile), Tokyo and the California-Mexico border. Hour focuses on the legal, psychiatric, moral and medical aspects of abortion in the U.S., compared with attitudes of other countries, and includes interviews with medical doctors, theologians, lawyers, a convicted abortionist who admits to performing 5,210 such operations, and married and unmarried women who are among the participants in this nation's estimated one million criminal abortions yearly.

★ SPECIAL

9 ON THE LINE — The Roberts family of Long Beach, whose story was told in a recent issue of Look magazine, tell of their experiences with the 14-year-old girl they adopted as a baby from a white mother, only to learn later the infant's father was a Negro. Clete Roberts and Wayne Thomas talk with the Roberts family at 2:30 p.m., ch. 9. They since have adopted two other racially-mixed children.

TEEN-AGE FAIR — Sam Riddle hosts the first of six telecasts from the fourth annual search for a Miss Teen USA. Recording stars and film personalities will be seen from the Hollywood Palladium, 6:30 p.m., ch. 9.

CUSTER to the Little Big Horn—Second in this season's "Saga of Western Man" series examines the background of one of the most significant battles in U.S. history, the factors that made it inevitable, and the man immortalized by it—Lt. Col. George Armstrong Custer. Public reaction to Custer's "Last Stand" forced the U.S. to launch a campaign to put down the Indians once and for all. Filmed in Montana, Wyoming and a Tulsa museum, hour is in color at 7:30 p.m., ch. 7.

SEA WORLD — Bill Burrud takes viewers on a special 90-min. tour of the world's newest oceanarium on Mission Bay in San Diego. The underwater stage, lagoon, sea grotto, Japanese village, outdoor penguin show, casting pool and fish and shark exhibits are included at 8 p.m., ch. 13.

Sports Today

NBA BASKETBALL, 5:30 p.m., ch. 11, finds Chick Hearn in Baltimore as the Bullets host the L.A. Lakers in the fourth game of their western division playoff.

Color Satellite

An electronics expert predicts that perfect color television could be relayed from outer space to any place in the world within three years.

Dr. Harold A. Rosen of Hughes Aircraft Company's Space Systems division, reports that technology exists for launching a color-transmitting satellite into orbit.

A forerunner of the satellite is under development and test in Hughes laboratories.

SPECIAL

TERROR in the Streets—Winding up its 2-part "White Paper" report on crime in America, begun Feb. 9 with "Oswald and the Law," NBC News tonight examines criminal violence in the U.S., and the public's attitude toward it. Chet Huntley narrates at 10 p.m., ch. 4, as hour includes comments by persons involved in drug addiction and teenage gangs, parole officers and welfare and rehabilitation workers. Writer-producer Al Wasserman has tried to go behind the headlines to get at the realities of seemingly senseless acts of violence, their cause and effect—today's fear in urban areas and how much of it is justified.

ELECTION SPECIAL—The mayorality battle of two Democrats with an eye toward Sacramento will be detailed in a 45-min. special at 11 p.m., ch. 2. Both Sam Yorty and James Roosevelt will appear for interviews as returns roll in from sprawling L.A. On ch. 11, George Putnam's regular news show at 10 p.m. will be expanded to 90 min. for coverage.

BERT'S EYE VIEW

The General's Really Not So Savage

not what I had expected.

During the first interview, I was impressed by Lansing's sincerity, candor and professional attitude. A spade was a spade and he called it such. He made no attempt to dodge provocative questions.

That was why his "couldn't be happier" to be fired reply evoked from me a feeling that the response was just too pat.

Perhaps he didn't want to be "sour grapes," but why go to the opposite extreme and be Pollyannish?

In short, at this moment, I didnt put any belief in Lansing's initial reply.

Again, I couldn't have been more wrong.

* * * *

THE SCENE over, Lansing invited me to his dressing room and proceeded to explain his "happier" statement.

"I don't know of another situation," he said, "where an actor has had the opportunity to do a series, has had the kind of personal reaction I have had and has been free next season to parlay it.

"I'm very excited."

He pointed out that "12 o'Clock High" was a success by the ratings' numbers, by the critical reviews and by his own standards.

"With my being able to be free immediately after the success of this series," he said, "I feel in a better position in my career than I have ever been before."

That parlaying position, he noted, would leave him free to work in motion pictures. Because of his previous commitment to the series—he had a five-year contract—he had to earlier reject two inquiries relative to motion picture roles.

* * * *

AT THIS point, Lansing's ease of attitude, his unquestioned sincerity had me convinced he really was "happier."

So I asked if he had anything to do with instigating his release from the series.

It was one provocative question he half-dodged.

"I cannot tell you how the whole thing came about," he replied, "because I promised someone.

"But let me tell you this: I didn't sign to do a show at 7:30 p. m."

Without specifying names, he told of many actors in other series who were trying to buy their way out.

"A series," he said, "is a gamble.

"If it's a big success, you get lost in it. If it's a flop, you get buried in the debris."

* * * *

EXPLAINING further, he pointed out that a series which is successful for several years can reach the point where the public "gets tired of you and the industry, itself, feels you're worn out."

Exemplifying a situation somewhat parallel to his own, he noted that James Garner of the "Maverick" series managed to get off the show and, subsequently, became a movie star.

"Jim Garner got out when he was hot, when he was swinging," said Lansing. "And so is Bob Lansing."

Gen. Lansing may rarely have been in a situation where he was an individual man going out to enjoy anything for himself.

Bob Lansing has found that rare situation, and he's out to make the most of it.

World's Fair

Gordon and Sheila MacRae will headline "The World's Fair Entertainment Spectacular," an hour special on ABC-TV April 29.

The program will mark the beginning of the second year for the New York attraction.

Other entertainers will include trumpeter Al Hirt and the New Christy Minstrels.

DOES YOUR CHILD

WET the BED?

Many children — even adults do so . . . unnecessarily

The ENURTONE method has proven in over 300,000 cases that it can stop bed-wetting (Enuresis*), when not caused by organic defects or diseases, in just two to four weeks. NOT A DRUG OR DIET . . . Just a simple conditioning technique. Correct bed-wetting in the privacy of your own home, without disturbing your child's bed-time routine. ENURTONE is the original and only method developed by a doctor, approved and prescribed by many doctors. Recommended ages 4 thru 50.

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY FEEL OLD BEFORE THEIR TIME

Thousands Discover Quick Help For Backache, Nerve Tension & Worry Secondary to Kidney Irritation

As we grow older many women and men suffer from feeling old, tired, worn out and depressed by losing sleep and worrying about getting up nights, due to common irritation of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages. This condition causes frequent, urgent and painful daytime urination and sometimes results in Backache. In such cases, you owe it to yourself to try New Improved Cystex at once.

Common Kidney and Bladder Irritations which cause getting up nights may also cause strong, cloudy urine and sometimes result in secondary Backache, Headache and Nervous Tension.

CAUSE OF IRRITATION

The cause of common Kidney and Bladder Irritation frequently arises from a germ called the colon bacillus, and non-specific germs resulting from colds, bad teeth and other causes. These germs can set up so much irritation in the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages that nature sends a warning through your nerves that help is needed.

HOW CYSTEX HELPS

New Improved Cystex releases a gentle, soothing bacteriostat in acid urine to combat germs which may be causing irritation. This is like a gentle, mildly antiseptic, soothing bath for the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages. Cystex also contains two of the very best known analgesics for soothing, gentle pain relief of the discomforts due to common Kidney and Bladder Irritations. For 32 years Cystex has helped people in 72 countries to combat such irritation, and thus feel cleansed and refreshed, and, because of lessened nerve tension able to sleep better and feel better, and stronger. So get Cystex from your druggist today and see how fast it can help you.

Pan and Fan Mail

I read months ago where this rock-and-roll station, KRLA, lost their license due to mismanagement and so on and were ordered off the air within a certain period of time.

There was a later article where several stations, including KFOX in Long Beach and KGBS in Los Angeles, had applications in with the FCC for the KRLA wave length when KRLA went off the air.

Yet, I still hear the awful music from KRLA — or "sounds" as they call it.

Did KRLA get a pardon or was the station sold with the new owners keeping the same call letters?

Martin W. Halme,
Long Beach

Since last July, KRLA has been operated by new management, Oak Knoll Broadcasting, Inc.

It is a non-profit group with a board of directors which includes Dr. Frank Baxter of the University of Southern California.

Although it is technically non-profit, it is still operated as a commercial station.

A total of 80% of its profits are turned over to KCET (channel 28), Southern California's educational television station. The other 20% is given to charities designated by the Oak Knoll board of directors.

Oak Knoll is currently operating the station under interim approval of the Federal Communications Commission.

Eventually, and no one in authority will hazard a guess as to when, one of 20 applicants for the wave length will be granted a regular license.

In addition to its "sounds," KRLA last year provided a million dollars worth of time for public service programming, according to Larry Webb, current general manager.

Its news and public affairs departments won four major awards.

Webb, citing rating surveys, also claimed that KRLA has the largest adult audience — as well as teen-age audience—in Southern California.

The station's former owner, Don Cooke, had operated the station since the latter part of 1959 when he purchased it.

At that time, he was given a "construction permit," tantamount to a temporary license, by the FCC. The FCC had approved the sale originally. Issuance of the regular license, in this type of approval, generally is mostly a technical procedure.

However, before that regular license was issued, the FCC learned that the station manager then in charge had issued several logs which falsely listed a one-minute religious service. The minute religious services didn't air.

Although Cooke subsequently fired this manager, the FCC made this the principal point in not granting a permanent license.

The FCC then, as noted before, turned over the station to Oak Knoll last July.

Is the Lawrence Welk program telecast live?

F. P. McMahon,
Leisure World.

Everywhere except on the West Coast. For the West Coast, it is taped at 5:30 p.m. and aired three hours later.

• • • •

Could you please tell me the theme song for channel 2's late show? About ready to flip figuring.

Betty Parrish, Artesia

It's "Hud" from the motion picture of the same name.

"IN HARM'S WAY" Premiere—Army Archerd chats with film celebrities attending the gala premiere of Otto Preminger's newest film at 8:30 p.m., ch. 13, from the Paramount Theatre. A taped repeat will screen at 10 p.m.

LET MY PEOPLE GO — Richard Basehart is narrator for David L. Wolper's documentary on the struggle of Jewish people for a homeland, to be sponsored by Xerox Corp. at 9 p.m. on channels 5, 11 and 13. Hour includes film footage never before seen publicly, including captured German and Arab films taken inside the Warsaw ghetto and in Nazi concentration camps, and footage of the earliest Palestinian settlers struggling to turn sand dunes into a viable country.

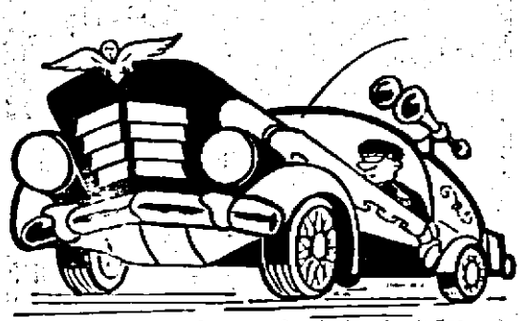

CELEBRITY GAME—Return premiere. Carl Reiner hosts a rotating panel of 9 Hollywood stars, as contestants try to guess how they voted on frivolously controversial questions. Replacing the defunct "Baileys of Balboa" at 9:30 p.m., ch. 2, show tonight asks who worries most about staying single, whether divorced couples can remain friends and whether men should win all arguments with their wives. Panel includes Olivia DeHavilland, Roddy McDowall, John Forsythe, Hedda Hopper, Nick Adams, Pearl Bailey, Jack Palance, Zsa Zsa Gabor and George Jessel.

PERRY COMO — For his sixth special of the season, Como goes to Miami Beach for the resort city's 50th anniversary. Joining in the 10 p.m., ch. 4 hour are jazz trumpeter Al Hirt, actress-singer Connie Stevens, waif-like comedian Woody Allen and the Rosarian Academy choir of West Palm Beach. (Perry's 17-year-old daughter Terri is a senior at Rosarian and member of the choir.)

ZSA ZSA GABOR guests when "Celebrity Game" returns at 9:30 p.m. Thursday, channel 2.

Q. Is it true that actress Sarah Churchill, daughter of the late Winston Churchill, is engaged to an American Negro artist living in Rome?—H. Lewis, New York, N.Y.

A. Sarah Churchill and artist Lobo Nocho are at this point "good friends."

Q. I've read that Hollywood plans to spend $10 million on a film about Gen. George Custer and the day his troops were wiped out by the Indians. My understanding is that Custer was an idiot. Is this true? If so, why should any studio want to memorialize him? —Kenneth Clark, Oakland, Calif.

A. George Armstrong Custer (1839-76) was not an idiot. He was, however, not overly bright. He was graduated at the bottom of his West Point class in 1861, commissioned a second lieutenant. During the Civil War he was brevetted several times for gallant and meritorious services. He was commissioned a brigadier general at 23, two years later became a major general, the youngest in the history of the U.S. Army. After the war, Custer's permanent rank was reduced to lieutenant colonel. He was assigned to the new Seventh Cavalry and ordered into the field against hostile Indians in Kansas and Nebraska. Vain, flamboyant, disobedient, irresponsible, exciting, damned and extolled, known to the Sioux and Cheyennes as "a squaw-killer," Custer was court-martialed in 1867 on a number of charges. He was found guilty and suspended for one year. In 1876, in an effort to regain his lost glory, Custer disobeyed the orders of Gen. Alfred Terry, commanded his troops into the valley of the little Big Horn, where, on its floor, he and his men were massacred by Sitting Bull and his warriors. Although several films of Custer's life have been produced in the past, 20th Century-Fox believes a spectacular approach to the big battle will make money. Filming begins in Montana early this summer.

SINGING COWBOY CREATES INDUSTRIAL EMPIRE

Gene Autry Quick on the Draw in World of Finance

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Gene Autry, the singing cowboy who founded an empire on a guitar and a horse named Champion, now rides tall in the saddle of business and finance.

He controls eight corporations with such diverse interests as radio-TV stations, hotels, a major league baseball club and a motion picture company.

(A documentary on his baseball team, the Los Angeles Angels, will be narrated by Autry at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, channel 5.)

"But my first love is still radio," he says.

Autry, still fit and relaxed in western-style clothes and boots, began his career 35 years ago singing on a Tulsa, Okla., radio station. Now he owns six radio operations in the West, in addition to video stations KOOL in Phoenix, KOLD in Tucson and KTLA in Hollywood.

• • • •

"I DON'T appear on the air or in movies right now," he says. "But I don't miss the glamor of it. I enjoyed the movies and television, but I wasn't an actor. All I could do was be natural; be Gene Autry."

Tycoon Autry is as unpretentious as he was 20 years ago chasing bad guys out of the west. He speaks easily and apparently is at home in any company. He writes off his amazing success story as luck and minimizes the millions he has made.

"As I look back over my life, I say the most important thing is to be at the right place at the right time.

"I happened to come along in an era when movies were changing. That was about 1934. There was a break between the great silent screen cowboys, Buck Jones, Tom Mix and Hoot Gibson, and the new crop that was to come along. I was the first of the singing cowboys. If I'd come into the picture five years earlier or five years later, I might not have succeeded.

• • • •

"YES, IT takes a certain amount of luck with some ability to go along with it.

"If there's any secret to business success, it's the ability to surround yourself with good people who know what they're doing. If you do that, you can't go wrong."

GENE AUTRY

Autry says the best illustration is the management of his baseball team, the Los Angeles Angels.

"In Fred Haney and Bill Rigney, I think we have two of the finest men in baseball," he explains. "And I have the same kind of personnel in my hotel and radio-TV operations."

Autry doesn't fit the prototype of the cold-eyed capitalist. His manner and his sentiments are still that of a small town westerner.

He still owns the famed Melody Ranch near Newhall, Calif., where he houses a collection of 25 ancient cars. The 125 acres is also range land for six horses, two of which portrayed Champion.

The original Champion is long since dead. But the second horse is now 23 years old and still plodding around. A third Champion, used for Autry's television series, is 11 and still frisky.

Autry is a longtime friend of President Johnson, having campaigned for LBJ for congress back in 1939.

"We're still good friends," said Autry. "When I go to Washington, he invites me to stop by and say hello. And when the President is out here, we manage to get together for a chat."

Autry and his wife, Ina, live in the San Fernando Valley in the same house they have occupied for 15 years.

Sign Robinson

Jackie Robinson, a former star with the Brooklyn Dodgers, has been signed as a commentator - analyst for ABC-TV's "Major League Championship Baseball."

During the series, which starts April 17, there will be 27 games telecast.

In signing Robinson, Sports Producer Roone Arledge said:

"In addition to being one of the greatest players in the history of baseball, Jackie Robinson has always been known as an articulate and knowledgeable student of the game."

Baldness Is Not Hereditary, Says Scalp Specialist

CONDUCTS SPECIAL HAIR AND SCALP CLINIC THIS WEEK TO DEMONSTRATE REMARKABLE NEW METHODS

S. I. Turoff, dynamic young director of TUROFF HAIR AND SCALP EXPERTS, California's leading organization of scalp specialists, illustrates remarkable new methods that stop hair loss, eliminate dandruff scales and help grow stronger, thicker hair. A special free clinic is being conducted this week in his Long Beach offices at 110 Pine Ave., (Suite 824-825).

What Causes Baldness?

"You will find no medical proof for the popular belief that baldness is actually hereditary," says S. Turoff, chief specialist of the Turoff Hair and Scalp Experts when interviewed recently. "If this belief were true, why would a person start to lose hair rapidly, say at age 30? Why did the loss start then, rather than sooner — or later? You started losing hair at that particular time because some scalp disorder or systemic trouble was added to your inherited weakness.

Why Does Baldness Start on Top?

Another question put to me very often is "Why does baldness start on top?" The reason for that is that the crown of your head simply does not enjoy the same vigorous blood circulation as the sides. You get older, scalp tension increases, dandruff and foreign matter pack the shrinking hair follicles — and your hair roots actually "starve" for lack of blood.

Expert Answers Your Hair Questions Free

As a feature of "Hair & Scalp Clinic Week," Turoff Hair Experts offer a free consultation service.

All you have to do is take your questions in person to their offices:

LONG BEACH
AT 110 PINE AVE.
Hours: 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.
Thurs., 4 to 8 p.m.
Saturday, 10 to 2 p.m.

and let the Turoff expert give your scalp a complete examination.

Since your scalp, like your fingerprints is not the same as anybody else's the examination must come first.

These are the questions most people want information about:

1. How often should you wash your hair?
2. What kind of shampoo is best?
3. Is brushing necessary? Desirable?
4. What can be done about oily scalp?
5. What about dry scalp?
6. Are "tonics" and dressings helpful?
7. Does it help to cut hair short?
8. When is dandruff dangerous?
9. Can your hair be thickened?
10. What is a scalp treatment like?

Take this list along with you tomorrow to see Turoff Hair Experts.

Don't Resign Yourself

This internationally famous expert urges that you do not resign yourself to baldness unless you are already bald. Go in and talk with the Turoff expert during "Hair and Scalp Week." Listen to his analysis of your scalp condition. Ask him for questions about hair care . . . All without the slightest obligation.

The Real Causes

"Actually, the two most common causes of baldness," says hair expert S. I. Turoff, "are neglect and mistreatment of hair. It's said, but true, that most men don't take care of their hair as well as they know how — and they really don't know how either. For some reason neither parents nor schools teach young people even the elementary do's and don'ts of hair care.

"Consequently, most men don't get very far along in life without hair trouble. They become 'balding' . . . then just plain bald. And, usually do nothing about it except perhaps experiment with some harsh tonics and cure alls."

Offer Demonstration Treatment for $2.00

During "Hair & Scalp Clinic Week" only, the Turoff Hair Experts offer a complete scalp treatment for $2.00 to any eligible man or woman.

Here's the way to get it: Visit the Turoff Hair Experts offices, Long Beach, 110 Pine Ave., Suite 824-825, this week any time between 11 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. (10 to 2 Saturday) Thursday 4 to 8 p.m. Have the Turoff Expert examine your scalp and give you his findings.

If your condition is "hopeless" he'll tell you so frankly.

About five per cent of those he examines are hopeless.

Get the Facts

Otherwise, he'll tell you what's wrong with your hair and scalp, what can and should be done about it, how little time and money will be required to put your scalp in condition to grow healthy hair again.

Then you take a treatment of the type he judges you should be taking. It costs you just $2.00. No obligation. The offer is good for this week only. No appointment necessary. Just come to the Psoriasis may first appear as a crusty patch on your skin or scalp. It's heartbreaking if psoriasis spreads and leaves your skin rough and scaly and if medications you've tried fail to bring the relief you want.

New Tegrin's medicated formula guarantees you three-way relief:

1. Speeds soothing relief from itching.
2. Works fast to remove scales.
3. Continued use on affected areas helps keep scales from coming back.

Tegrin leaves your skin clearer, helps restore natural smoothness. And Tegrin's so pleasant to use. It's not greasy . . . no medical smell.

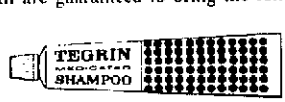

Get new Tegrin. Guarantees three-way relief from the miseries of psoriasis or your money back!

TEGRIN®

MILDRED'S HAPPIER HOME

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

The shadow has lifted from Mildred's Happy Home. The scramble for funds and conflicts with local ordinances here that harassed Mildred Maxon and her husband have come to an end, and they are continuing their work unimpeded.

In 1962, PARADE told the inspiring story of how Mildred helped unwanted and wayward teenage girls in need of love and understanding ("Nobody Can Outgive God," Dec. 23, 1962). With little money and supported largely by faith, she gave them a home and, most important, large doses of motherly warmth. At that time, her husband Daniel was too ill to continue his work as schoolteacher, and zoning regulations threatened to force the Maxons to close the home altogether.

After the PARADE article, Mildred received more than 1,500 letters, many containing contributions that helped ease the financial burden. But soon her worst fear was realized: City officials decreed that a home for girls violated the zoning laws in her neighborhood.

"We were allowed to keep horses, but not girls," Mildred notes ironically.

But, buoyed by her convictions and the encouragement she had received from others, Mildred traded the old eight-bedroom house for a new one in another part of Phoenix, where she could continue her work. She and her husband, sufficiently recovered to take an active part in the program, added 7 bedrooms to the new house so that it could accommodate 18 girls, in addition to the Maxon's own teenage daughters, Marcia and Margaret. A Chicago restaurateur donated a swimming pool, and, as "Camelback Girls' Residence," the establishment was given full official approval by the state.

One of the 60 teenage girls who have benefited from Mildred Maxon's warmth and understanding wrote to her recently, saying, "For 17 years I never knew what it was like to be able to talk to a mother who would listen and help me. You filled a need I had had for so long, and you gave me the standards and values I now have. I pray I'll be half the mother you are."

Even so, Mildred and Dan Maxon had to struggle to make ends meet. Their biggest burden was the mortgage on their new house.

free and clear

Then, one day recently, Mildred Maxon opened her morning mail and found a check for $30,000—enough to pay off the mortgage free and clear. A Detroit industrialist and philanthropist had put an end to four years of struggle, disappointments and hardship. "Little did we realize," Mildred told us, "that anything like this would come from the PARADE article. Now we can go ahead unhampered with the work that means so much to us and to our girls."

SPECIAL

TEEN-AGE FAIR — It's "celebrity night" at the fair, as at 8:30 p.m., ch. 9, Sam Riddle hosts a half-hour of the activities from the Hollywood Palladium.

BATTLE OF BRITAIN — Richard Basehart is narrator for David L. Wolper's documentary probe of the circumstances surrounding the 57 consecutive nights of Luftwaffe bombing on the London area. Using films from the British Imperial War Museum, RAF files and captured German newsreels, 9 p.m., ch. 11 hour shows how Hitler's action worked against him by bringing about "lend lease" and an Anglo-American alliance.

MISSION TO MALAYA— A factual study of two plucky Peace Corps nurses on assignments on the jungle island of Langkawi, just off the shore of Malaya, is seen at 9:30 p.m., ch. 7, as the second in "The Daring Americans" series. Filmed with the "living camera" technique, hour follows Rita Frazone on her last days of duty, and her replacement Marjorie Benning's introduction to the island. Rita, incidentally, has since married her Peace Corps supervisor John Hurley, seen in the film, and the two are now back in another part of Malaya.

JEFF HUNTER goes skiing during "Guest Shot" at 5:30 p.m. Saturday, channel 5.

Sports Today

JULIE ANDREWS

Julie Andrews and husband Tony Walton both have been nominated for Oscars.

WILL SHE WIN THE OSCAR TOMORROW NIGHT?

by LLOYD SHEARER

HOLLYWOOD.

Three years ago Warner Brothers plunked down $5½ million for the film rights to My Fair Lady, the most successful musical comedy of all time.

Subsequently the studio drum-beaters announced, amid much jazz and hullabaloo, that Warners had hired for its film version most of the principals who had contributed to the excellence of My Fair Lady.

The major exception was Julie Andrews, the delightful, pretty, multitalented English girl who had played the leading role of Eliza Doolittle for three years.

It was like announcing a great new recipe for cream puffs without the whipped cream.

Later, when I asked a Warner executive why Julie Andrews, popularly and critically acclaimed the brightest musical comedy star to hit Broadway in decades, had not been signed for the film, he quickly explained: "Nobody in this country has ever heard of Julie Andrews. Besides," he added furtively, "we've got someone much better." He glanced about the room to make sure there were no spies from the competition, then whispered the state secret: "We are about to make a deal with Audrey Hepburn. We can get her for a million bucks."

At that time I was a stockholder in Warner Brothers, and I tried to dissuade the man. I agreed that Audrey Hepburn was a superb actress, but I pointed out that professionally she couldn't sing a note. Someone would have to sing for her (it turned out to be Marni Nixon), and I was sure Julie Andrews would not allow her voice to be dubbed onto the sound track.

"Julie Andrews," I stated flatly, "has the finest singing voice of any woman in musical comedy or operetta. She's as cute as a bug. She's photogenic. She's got a winning personality. Audiences identify with her.

"More important, she originated the role. She's inseparable from it. She's had the benefit of being directed by Moss Hart. She knows what it is to play opposite Rex Harrison. They both get along well.

"The most vital ingredient in My Fair Lady," I continued, "is the music. Whoever plays Eliza will become a big, big star. Warners can get this girl for as little as $75,000. If the studio puts her under contract now, it can make a small fortune by loaning her out to other producers after the film's released.

"I strongly suggest," I advised, "that you forget about Audrey Hepburn for a while. For a million bucks, don't worry, you'll always be able to get her. Why don't you sign Julie Andrews? Or at least give her a screen test? I'm telling you, I saw this girl on Broadway in Camelot, and she's the greatest musical talent show business has produced in 25 years."

The Warner executive looked at me pitifully. "You," he said charitably, "they should put away."

Noting my irritation, he reasoned with me, as if I were an imbecile son: "Why gamble when you don't have to? Audrey Hepburn is a sure thing at the box office. Julie Andrews is a nobody, a gamble."

I explained that talent gambles constituted Hollywood's life's blood. Without them the motion picture industry would die. I offered the case of Audrey Hepburn, who 10 years before had been an unknown chorus girl. Paramount had gambled by signing her to play opposite Gregory Peck in Roman Holiday.

"One picture," I declared, "and she was a star overnight. Paramount went on to make a fortune with her. Warners can do the same thing with Julie Andrews. For Pete's sake, at least test her for the part."

The man from Warners brushed me off. Next morning, convinced that a group of near-idiots had taken over the studio's production schedule, I sold my stock.

Tomorrow night one of the five actresses pictured on these pages will drive home with the Academy Award for the best performance by an actress in 1964.

Please observe that Audrey Hepburn, star of the film, My Fair Lady, is not listed among them.

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY FEEL OLD BEFORE THEIR TIME

Thousands Discover Quick Help For Backache, Nerve Tension & Worry Secondary to Kidney Irritation

As we grow older many women and men suffer from feeling old, tired, worn out and depressed by losing sleep and worrying about getting up nights, due to common irritation of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages. This condition causes frequent, urgent and painful daytime urination and sometimes results in Backache. In such cases, you owe it to yourself to try New Improved Cystex at once.

Common Kidney and Bladder Irritations which cause getting up nights may also cause strong, cloudy urine and sometimes result in secondary Backache, Headache and Nervous Tension.

CAUSE OF IRRITATION

The cause of common Kidney and Bladder Irritation frequently arises from a germ called the colon bacillus, and non specific germs resulting from colds, bad teeth and other causes. These germs can set up so much irritation in the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages that nature sends a warning through your nerves that help is needed.

HOW CYSTEX HELPS

New Improved Cystex releases a gentle, soothing buffer-substitute acid urine to combat germs which may be causing irritation. This is like a gentle, mildly antiseptic, soothing bath for the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages. Cystex also contains two of the very best known analgesics for soothing, gentle pain relief of the discomforts due to common Kidney and Bladder Irritations. For 37 years Cystex has helped people in 72 countries to combat such irritation, and thus feel cleansed and refreshed, and, because of lessened nerve tension able to sleep better and feel better, and stronger. So get Cystex from your druggist today and see how fast it can help you.

Julie Andrews is—on the basis of her virtuoso performance in Mary Poppins, a charming musical film produced by Walt Disney, which will gross $26 million in the U.S. alone.

If Julie does not win the Oscar for her work in Mary Poppins, for which Disney paid her $125,000 and for which she is an odds-on favorite, she will probably win it for her incomparable performance in the recently released Sound of Music.

As a matter of probability, she stands an excellent chance of winning two consecutive Academy Awards.

As an entertainer, this gifted young woman of 29 with blue-gray eyes, short brown hair, trim, well-turned figure (5-feet-7, 128 pounds) is incontrovertibly great. No other word does her talent justice.

Her soprano voice boasts a five-octave range, a bell-clear tone, a memorable resonance. When she sings a song, not a word is lost, a note slurred. She gives lyrics true meaning. Her personality is friendly, humorous, graciously feminine, touched with just the right amount of dignity and character. She personifies that Hollywood rarity—wholesomeness.

A Busy Future

A professional since she was 12, Julie Andrews feels equally at home with comedy, drama and musicals.

In addition to starring in Mary Poppins, The Americanization of Emily and The Sound of Music, she has been signed at $700,000 to act the female lead in Hawaii from the novel by James Michener. After that she goes to work in Private Eye, a film derived from a one-act London stage hit. Then she does The Gertrude Lawrence Story, at which time her agent expects to ask either $1 million per picture for her services or 10 per cent of the gross from the first dollar.

Whether or not she wins the Oscar tomorrow night, Julie Andrews is currently the most sought-after actress in Hollywood.

"In all honesty," she says, "It's happened so fast, it's all been so hectic, I just don't have the time to absorb the meaning of success. I know that at this moment I've got the best of all possible worlds.

"I've got a beautiful daughter [Emma Kate, 2½], a marvelous and talented husband. I'm so proud of Tony [Walton]. He was also nominated for an Academy Award. He did the production design on Mary Poppins. And I've got a burgeoning career. For an actress, to be busy, to be in demand, to enjoy what she's doing—that's the nicest thing of all.

"I've just finished a TV special for NBC. I'm about to start rehearsals on Hawaii. I couldn't be busier, and certainly, I couldn't be happier."

A well-bred young Englishwoman (birthplace—Walton-on-Thames; birth date—October 1, 1935) who's learned to control her emotions, Julie is widely loved in Hollywood because she works hard, treats her co-workers with dignity and courtesy. She never gripes, pulls rank, indulges in outbursts of temperament. By nature an optimist, she is sure her current project will turn out well. She is not, however, a Pollyanna.

Bob Stevenson, who directed her in Mary Poppins, says, "What you have in Julie is a pro. She does her work, minds her own business, appears to be completely without malice or hostility, which is rather rare in film circles. When she comes on stage she always brings the sun with her. Nevertheless she is forthright and capable of speaking her mind. The one thing she does not want to do in life is hurt anyone."

When Warner Brothers three years ago refused even to test her for My Fair Lady, Julie said, "Of course, I'm disappointed. I'd even be blazing mad if anyone but Audrey Hepburn got the part. But who can be angry at that sort of casting? It's absolutely perfect."

It was a typical British example of good sportsmanship, but underneath the stiff upper lip, Julie was hurt. A few weeks ago, when the foreign press gave her its award for her performance in Mary Poppins, she simply couldn't resist the temptation to chide Jack Warner, also at the dinner.

"I'd like to thank the man," she said, "who made it all possible—Jack Warner."

The resulting applause was deafening. Mr. Warner is not a man who is deeply loved or admired in Hollywood. In many quarters it was suggested that Julie Andrews' nomination for an Oscar was more a negative vote against him than it was a positive vote for the actress' work in Poppins.

When I suggested that possibility to Julie, she said quickly, "Oh, I hope not. I truly hope not. I like to think that I was nominated because of the good work I did, good work recognized by my colleagues rather than because they were angry at someone else and felt I had been treated unfairly."

Tomorrow night the newspaper photographers at the Academy Awards should have a field day if the Oscar predictions come true. Audrey Hepburn has agreed to fly in from Switzerland to present an Oscar to the winning actor, who will probably be Rex Harrison, for his work in My Fair Lady. Jack Warner will undoubtedly accept the Oscar for the best production, again My Fair Lady. And Julie Andrews should win the best actress award, for Mary Poppins.

Thus, when the shindig is all over, the lens boys will have available for backstage-posing Rex Harrison with his leading lady of the stageplay, Julie; his leading lady of the screenplay, Audrey; plus Jack Warner.

Were American players involved, it could be an embarrassing melange. But not with the British. They major in savoir-faire, and everyone will prove most charming, even Jack Warner.

Each year the Academy Awards diminish in importance. The major reason is that the motion picture is no longer the number one mass entertainment medium. Television has usurped its supremacy. People are more interested in Lorne Greene of Bonanza than they are in Rex Harrison of My Fair Lady. Week after week they see Greene for nothing.

The players, however, still continue to have a high regard for Oscar, because it is voted to them by the 2,800 members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences, who supposedly know a great performance when they see one.

"To win an Oscar," says Julie, "for my very first screen role—I don't even like to think about it, because if I don't get it, then I'm inviting disappointment. I'm so thrilled even to have been nominated; and you know, in a way, I'm so glad I was nominated for Mary Poppins. If I'd been given the chance to play Eliza on the screen, who knows, many of the members might have said to themselves, 'Why of course, she's good. Why shouldn't she be? She's been playing the part for years. It's second nature to her.' So, you see, it's best to let well enough alone.

"It's like my nose. For years I was very conscious about my nose because it's kind of large. One day I said to my husband, 'Oh, I think I'll have something done to it.' And he said, 'You do, and I'll divorce you. It's the best nose you can possibly have. It's the kind of nose that doesn't disappear on the stage. It stands out from the scenery. Most noses just get lost. Let well enough alone.' That put it all right with me, and I've been following that policy ever since."

Julie Andrews has been working ever since she was a child. Now that she's approaching 30, her industry, both in England and America, is paying off.

She was born in a suburb of London and seems to have inherited her musicality from her mother, a pianist. Her parents were divorced when she was an infant, and her mother, Barbara, married an entertainer, Ted Andrews, whose name Julie adopted.

She spent her youth traveling the British provincial vaudeville circuit with her parents, living the backstage life, learning show business firsthand.

When World War II broke out, air raids forced the English schools to close, and many of the children were evacuated. Julie's parents were determined to keep their family intact—there were several brothers by this time—and to keep the children amused, Julie's stepfather gave them daily singing lessons.

He discovered quickly that Julie had a "freak voice" and turned her over to Madame Harris, who had been his own vocal coach. Not long after, Julie entered vaudeville herself. As she tells it, "I had this freak voice when I was tiny, a kind of Yma Sumac voice, five octaves and incredibly strong for my age. It was a kind of gimmick, and as such I was a sort of child prodigy. I traveled all over England, singing the high opera stuff, doing an act in vaudeville. It was quite awful when I think about it, but I enjoyed it at the time."

Pen Pal

When Julie was 12 she met her future husband. "There were three boys on a train who had seen me perform at a Christmas pantomime. One of the boys was Tony Walton. He had courage. He came around to my house and asked for a photograph. After that he kept in touch with me. We struck up a correspondence, and when I went to America for The Boyfriend and then My Fair Lady, he still wrote, and eventually it blossomed into a romance."

Julie and Tony were married in Walton-on-Thames, their hometown, on May 10, 1959. They have one daughter, Emma Kate, born in London, in 1962. Neither parent believes in one-child families, and Julie claims, "I would like two or three more if ever Tony and I can find the privacy (she pronounces the word with a short "i"), but these days, that's rather difficult. It's the only drawback I find to success."

The Waltons own a house in Wimbledon, but for the past 18 months have spent more of their time on this side of the Atlantic, he designing Broadway shows, she filming in Hollywood. In the movie colony, they rent various houses, currently occupy a rambling Spanish-type mansion in the Hills of Beverly.

Symbolically enough, the house is oriented to its site in much the same way that the lovely singer is oriented to her career. It sits on the side of a hill, a few yards below the peak, overlooking the world below.

Tomorrow night it is most likely that career-wise Julie Andrews will ascend to the very top. No one could be more popular, no one more deserving.

Julie Andrews' competition for Oscar for best performance by an actress in 1964: Anne Bancroft, nominated for The Pumpkin Eater; Sophia Loren, for Marriage, Italian Style; Debbie Reynolds, for The Unsinkable Molly Brown; and Kim Stanley, for Seance on a Wet Afternoon. Miss Andrews is the odds-on favorite to win the award.

Fine teachers, fingers. They help your baby learn to grab, grasp, hold, poke —do a score of happy things. When do baby fingers begin to function? No set timetable for all babies but here are some "about" times:

3 to 4 months. Fists unclench. Charming finger-play gets under way.

5 to 6 months. Grasps in earnest. Holds on to toys for dear life.

6 to 7 months. Probably will hold bottle easily. Finger-explores everything.

8 to 9 months. May exchange toys from hand to hand with relative ease.

1 year. Pinch-holding with thumb and forefinger usually shows up now.

Food fanfare

When you want to give your baby a truly hearty "casserole" dish with built-in meal-appeal, consider Gerber Strained or Junior High Meat Dinners. Savory? Very! Because they have 3 times as much meat (and therefore much more protein) as regular vegetable-meat combinations. Flavorful? Indeed. This extra meat is subtly blended with garden-good vegetables and suitably seasoned for unusual flavor interest. Veal, Beef, Chicken, Ham, Turkey.

Memo from Dan Gerber

"When it comes to the development of new products, it takes a long time to satisfy our specialists. In the case of Gerber High Meat Dinners, it took two years and 72 different formulas before they had what they wanted to offer your baby.

"All recipes were carefully evaluated for nutritional quality and flavor. Two were finally selected for taste preference by a panel of 4,500 babies. The result? A product approved by babies, mothers and nutritional experts."

Finger exercises

To help speed your baby's manual dexterity, you might try these "encouragers": (1) Put bright, safe objects within grasping reach. (2) Provide toys of various sizes. (3) Offer finger foods like Gerber Chicken or Meat Sticks.

For your baby's well-being:
Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods—infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods—to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

REAL PAINS IN THE NECK. One of the most controversial medical—and legal—problems is "whiplash" pain, so called because it stems from a sudden sharp flip or snap of the neck. It's especially common these days as one consequence of being hit from behind in an auto collision.

There has been some tendency to regard whiplash victims with suspicion—as either emotionally disturbed or lawsuit-minded, or both. After a study of 32 patients, Dr. Joseph M. Janes, Mayo Clinic orthopedic surgeon, came to a different conclusion. "Not all patients with pain in the neck are neurotics . . . not all pains in the neck are relieved by settlement of the litigation," he says.

In each of his 32 cases, neck pain had persisted for at least a year after the accident. In each case, it was relieved when the neck was immobilized in a cast or brace but returned when the cast was removed.

"Whiplash," reports Dr. Janes, is not a good term to describe the injury, because "a whip does not have a seven-pound weight at its tip, as does the neck." A better term, he thinks, would be "cervical sprain." After surgical repair, he says, 31 of his 32 patients now are unsprained and pain-free.

"THE PILL" FOR ACNE. Far from being limited to teenagers, acne is a plague for many women in their 20's and 30's who—every month for a week or more—break out with embarrassing crops of pimples. If you're one of them, your doctor now might want to try Enovid, the pill originally developed as a family planning aid. It appears to be as effective for the new as for the old purpose. After using it to treat acne in 40 women, Dr. B. A. Wansker of Charlotte, N.C., reports that it helped every one.

THE MAGIC TOUCH OF GOLD. Something remarkable happens when an ordinary bit of gold leaf is charged with static electricity: The thin layer of metal immediately adheres to body tissue, shaping itself even to minute variations in tissue surface. It does something more: It stimulates healthy new tissue growth without scar formation. Recently, with gold leaf, surgeons have succeeded in patching leaking blood vessels within the body. Now a Washington, D.C., dermatologist, Dr. Naomi M. Kanof, has used gold leaf dressings on skin ulcers that had failed to respond to other treatment.

Under the metal, the raw sores—some of them pus-forming—began to heal within 48 hours. In more than half, healing was complete within 96 hours. So rapidly did healing proceed, that it was difficult to make studies to try to find out what the mechanism is. Animal investigations now are under way. Meanwhile, however, as Dr. Kanof has reported, the technique works. Gold has a healing touch.

Q. I've read that Hollywood plans to spend $10 million on a film about Gen. George Custer and the day his troops were wiped out by the Indians. My understanding is that Custer was an idiot. Is this true? If so, why should any studio want to memorialize him? —Kenneth Clark, Oakland, Calif.

A. George Armstrong Custer (1839-76) was not an idiot. He was, however, not overly bright. He was graduated at the bottom of his West Point class in 1861, commissioned a second lieutenant. During the Civil War he was brevetted several times for gallant and meritorious services. He was commissioned a brigadier general at 23, two years later became a major general, the youngest in the history of the U.S. Army. After the war, Custer's permanent rank was reduced to lieutenant colonel. He was assigned to the new Seventh Cavalry and ordered into the field against hostile Indians in Kansas and Nebraska. Vain, flamboyant, disobedient, irresponsible, exciting, damned and extolled, known to the Sioux and Cheyennes as "a squaw-killer," Custer was court-martialed in 1867 on a number of charges. He was found guilty and suspended for one year. In 1876, in an effort to regain his lost glory, Custer disobeyed the orders of Gen. Alfred Terry, commanded his troops into the valley of the little Big Horn, where, on its floor, he and his men were massacred by Sitting Bull and his warriors. Although several films of Custer's life have been produced in the past, 20th Century-Fox believes a spectacular approach to the big battle will make money. Filming begins in Montana early this summer.

THE DOCTOR IS A BENCHWARMER

by KATE HOLLIDAY

LOS ANGELES.

He's not with the team now—he hasn't time for spring training. But when the Los Angeles Dodgers begin their pursuit of the 1965 National League pennant next week, Bob Kerlan will be as valuable to the effort as almost any member of the squad. For Dr. Robert Kerlan, orthopedist, keeps the precious arms and legs of Sandy Koufax, Tommy Davis and all the other Dodgers in working order.

Nobody knows now which of the players this season will limp to the dugout—or be carried on a stretcher—wincing from torn ligaments, sprains, bone breaks, spike wounds and concussions.

Whoever and whatever, it will be Dr. Kerlan's responsibility to apply appropriate bandages, tape, splints, casts, slings and compresses and to advise the stricken gladiators. The object: to get these costly diamond properties back striking out opposing batsmen and hitting home runs as soon as possible.

Kerlan is ideal for his job for at least two reasons. He's been an athlete himself. As a sufferer from arthritis of the spine, he knows pain in all its phases.

Being family doctor to a baseball team requires sure judgment and fast action. "You must diagnose when a man should stop playing," he explains. "You try to prescribe the treatment which will produce the fastest results. Then you must decide accurately when the man can play again without risk of reinjury or permanent damage."

Kerlan, who is 42, tall and slightly bent, is so highly regarded in his field that he also serves as team physician for the Los Angeles Angels, of baseball's American League, and for the Los Angeles Lakers professional basketball team.

But he is not merely a specialist in athletes' afflictions. Dr. Kerlan is associate professor of orthopedics at UCLA, his alma mater, and associated with five hospitals in this area.

no sissies here

His schedule is arranged to leave him free to be at Chavez Ravine stadium for most of the afternoon or evening ball games. He examines any team patients he may have in the dressing room before game-time, then takes a seat in the stands. He loves sports, so it's not a matter of waiting for somebody to get hurt. He can't agree with some fans who think of today's major leaguers as high-salaried, pampered sissies.

"All the players subject themselves to unnatural stress," he says. "The public doesn't realize what they will do for the game. It doesn't know, for instance, that in our unsuccessful drive for the pennant in 1962, our star pitcher, Don Drysdale, pitched four weeks with a broken rib. He wouldn't let me tape it because he insisted it be kept secret."

Some of Dr. Kerlan's most challenging and crucial work has been done with an even more famous pitcher, left-handed strikeout king Sandy Koufax. Two weeks before Koufax hurled the third no-hit game of his career against Philadelphia last June 4, the hard-throwing pitcher had torn the flexor muscle inside his left elbow, leaving his arm painfully sore. There were fears he might be out of action for weeks.

Kerlan injected hydrocortisone in several places around the elbow, ordered an intensive program of ultra-sound, ice and heat treatments and prescribed enzymes by mouth. Within a fortnight, Koufax turned in his hitless performance.

Two years before, Dr. Kerlan had to combat a strange injury that almost cut short Koufax's brilliant career. While batting, he damaged an artery in the palm of his pitching hand. A blood clot formed. Koufax's forefinger became cold and dark, and an infection formed under the nail. Scarcely any blood was getting through to the finger, and amputation loomed. After 48 touch-and-go hours, during which injections to dissolve the clot as well as antibiotics were administered, the circulation in the pitcher's hand began to return to normal.

In 1963, Kerlan had to nurse infielder Maury Wills toward a new base-stealing record. "He was always getting spike wounds," the doctor recalls, "and his thigh and hip were swollen, bruised and bleeding from constant sliding into bases."

Angels' outfielder Jim Piersall thought his career was over because of water on the knee, but Dr. Kerlan's injections and therapy got him on the field again. Deep X-ray treatments and exercise in weighted boots reduced calcium deposits on the leg tendons of high-scoring Lakers' forward Elgin Baylor.

Bob Kerlan went to Los Angeles to attend UCLA from his hometown of Aitkin, Minn., where he'd been a 4-letter athlete in high school. But he decided to forego sports in order to give all his time to his studies.

His dedication of those days has helped him to build a meaningful, if unusual, professional life. He lives in suburban Brentwood with his wife, Rachel, a trained nurse, and their three children. For diversion, the doctor breeds and races horses.

It's men, however, principally baseball players, who command his primary interest. "They put themselves out to the limit of their endurance," he says. "I must be able to help when they've pushed too far."

Injury to a player sends team doctors like Kerlan hurrying to the dressing room.

PAIN is the test that BAYER® meets best

What's more, here's how Bayer Aspirin meets the test of competition.

Reporting on a government-financed study of five leading pain relievers, an article in The Journal of The American Medical Association shows:

For speed and strength of relief, Bayer Aspirin is unsurpassed by any product tested, including the so called "extra-strength" one that claims to be 50% stronger.

Of special concern, the product that claims to be 50% stronger than aspirin does upset the stomach with significantly greater frequency than Bayer Aspirin.

In fact, Bayer Aspirin is as gentle to the stomach as any product tested, including the higher-priced buffered product.

The courageous Maxons, Mildred and Dan (c.), pose with 18 "daughters" in front of their new home.

PARADE SEQUEL

MILDRED'S HAPPIER HOME

PHOENIX, ARIZ.

The shadow has lifted from Mildred's Happy Home. The scramble for funds and conflicts with local ordinances here that harassed Mildred Maxon and her husband have come to an end, and they are continuing their work unimpeded.

In 1962, PARADE told the inspiring story of how Mildred helped unwanted and wayward teenage girls in need of love and understanding ("Nobody Can Outgive God," Dec. 23, 1962). With little money and supported largely by faith, she gave them a home and, most important, large doses of motherly warmth. At that time, her husband Daniel was too ill to continue his work as schoolteacher, and zoning regulations threatened to force the Maxons to close the home altogether.

After the PARADE article, Mildred received more than 1,500 letters, many containing contributions that helped ease the financial burden. But soon her worst fear was realized: City officials decreed that a home for girls violated the zoning laws in her neighborhood.

"We were allowed to keep horses, but not girls," Mildred notes ironically.

But, buoyed by her convictions and the encouragement she had received from others, Mildred traded the old eight-bedroom house for a new one in another part of Phoenix, where she could continue her work. She and her husband, sufficiently recovered to take an active part in the program, added 7 bedrooms to the new house so that it could accommodate 18 girls, in addition to the Maxon's own teenage daughters, Marcia and Margaret. A Chicago restaurateur donated a swimming pool, and, as "Camelback Girls' Residence," the establishment was given full official approval by the state.

One of the 60 teenage girls who have benefited from Mildred Maxon's warmth and understanding wrote to her recently, saying, "For 17 years I never knew what it was like to be able to talk to a mother who would listen and help me. You filled a need I had had for so long, and you gave me the standards and values I now have. I pray I'll be half the mother you are."

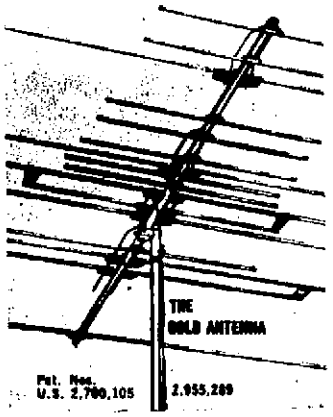

Even so, Mildred and Dan Maxon had to struggle to make ends meet. Their biggest burden was the mortgage on their new house.

free and clear

Then, one day recently, Mildred Maxon opened her morning mail and found a check for $30,000—enough to pay off the mortgage free and clear. A Detroit industrialist and philanthropist had put an end to four years of struggle, disappointments and hardship. "Little did we realize," Mildred told us, "that anything like this would come from the PARADE article. Now we can go ahead unhampered with the work that means so much to us and to our girls."

Significant Winegard Antenna Development for Better Color TV

Improves black and white, too

Although the Winegard Colortron antenna was designed to meet the critical standards for color TV, it is also the most sensitive antenna you can own for your black and white set. Color pictures become brighter, clearer, more lifelike. Black & white reception becomes sharper with greater clarity and contrast, even in difficult reception areas.

Can a TV antenna make this much difference? Yes!

But aren't all TV antennas pretty much alike? No!

There are two reasons Winegard Colortrons outperform ordinary antennas. (1) A patented Electro-Lens design intercepts more TV signals . . . but rejects interfering signals. (2) The TV signal is then amplified by an electronic power pack.

The effect on your reception is this: often you can pull in stations you couldn't reach before. Pictures, on all channels, become brighter, sharper. There's signal power to spare . . . if you like, you can operate up to 6 sets from one Colortron antenna.

Colortrons are rugged, too. Wind tested to 100 mph. Permanent GOLD ANODIZED finish won't weather-wear—stays like new for years.

For the best reception, a Winegard Colortron is a wise investment. 4 models from $24.95, electronic power pack extra . . . satisfaction guaranteed. *Ask your TV service dealer or write for full story.

*Guarantee in force for 90 days after installation.

A NEW LOOK IN VACATION RESERVATIONS

by TOM FOUST

WHITERIVER, ARIZ.

As more and more palefaces are discovering every year, you can now visit this tiny mountain community in the heart of the Apache Indian reservation without fearing for your scalp. The war cries that once froze the blood of even the bravest have given way to a new watchword—"Hon Dah," Apache for "Be my guest." In short, the remote beauties of this incomparable region are yours for the touring.

Visitors come to hike and camp in the pine forest, to hunt the abundant wildlife and to fish the trout-stocked streams and mountain lakes. The modern Indian has learned that these resources, like the cattle he raises and the timber he cuts for lumber, are money in the bank. And although it has been less than 10 years since the Apaches hung the Hon Dah sign over the entrance to the reservation, recreation has become a major industry. For the last 2 years the gross income from tourism has been over $1 million.

Located in east-central Arizona, the reservation draws visitors from all over the U.S. Elevations ranging from 2,700 feet deep in Salt River Canyon to over 11,000 high on snow-capped Mt. Baldy offer you winter and summer activities.

Hunting and fishing are the reservation's major attractions. With more than 300 miles of streams and 5 mountain lakes, the area contains half the state's trout fishing waters. Non-Indian hunters, on their own or with the help of Apache guides, are allowed to take elk, bear, javelina (the little cactus pig), waterfowl, quail. Deer and wild turkey are also abundant, but so far have been reserved for members of the tribe.

If you don't go for hunting or fishing, there are virtually endless opportunities for hiking and exploring. Although modern buildings crop up here and there, you'll find that most of the reservation has remained the same as it was when war parties roamed the hills.

Apache game warden (/.) answers tourist queries, directs them to points of interest.

Ancient Indian ruins, too, are scattered throughout the area, some accessible only on foot or horseback. The major ruin is Kinishba' (Brown House), a village that thrived in the late 1200's but was abandoned shortly after 1350. Many of the original buildings of historic Fort Apache are also standing. The fort is now a school for Apache children.

tribal council

Headquarters for the entire operation is Whiteriver, which is inhabited by 4,800 Apaches. No longer does a single chief rule the roost; governmental matters are handled by the tribal council, its members elected by the people.

Tourism is managed by a paleface, Jim Sparks, who is hired by the council. The industry keeps a staff of 60 Indians busy full time, with the number doubling during the summer months. And the future looks even busier.

For example, on the shores of Hawley Lake, Apache-constructed and opened to the public in 1958, are an Indian-operated boat dock and grocery store, camp- and picnic-sites—all accessible by a surfaced all-weather road. On the drawing boards are rental cabins in addition to those already available, plus ski run, golf course and riding stables.

If Chief Alchesay were alive today he might find it hard to understand what his children are doing with the land he and other warriors fought so long to preserve for them. But times have changed, and like everyone else, the Indian has his eye on the future.

Vacationer displays a string of trout caught through 14 inches of ice at Hawley Lake.

The Apache reservation, which has more than 600 campsites, is a paradise for campers.

Much to the delight of visiting children, friendly Apache dons ancient ceremonial costume used in "Devil Dance," which was supposed to frighten away all evil spirits.

HOW A RATH HAM GOT SO GOOD

It grew up on Iowa corn

Those great golden ears that give ham a lean-ness and tenderness it can't get any other way.

It took its own sweet time in the curing

Every Rath Ham is cured in sugar. Then cured again in more sugar. 'Til it's tender enough to cut with a fork.

It lingered in the smokehouse

soaking up the hickory. We keep our hickory chips moist and woodsy so they burn slowly, giving off a fragrant, smoky, wonderful flavor.

It took a trimming

the likes of which you seldom see. We remove excess fat as well as all bone. You get only solid, pink meat.

It got the eagle eye

in a dozen or more inspections. Only hams from tender, young porkers, lean and sweet, marbled just right, make the grade at Rath.

JULIE ANDREWS

Julie Andrews and husband Tony Walton both have been nominated for Oscars.

WILL SHE WIN THE OSCAR TOMORROW NIGHT?

by LLOYD SHEARER

HOLLYWOOD.

Three years ago Warner Brothers plunked down $5½ million for the film rights to My Fair Lady, the most successful musical comedy of all time.

Subsequently the studio drum-beaters announced, amid much jazz and hullabaloo, that Warners had hired for its film version most of the principals who had contributed to the excellence of My Fair Lady.

The major exception was Julie Andrews, the delightful, pretty, multitalented English girl who had played the leading role of Eliza Doolittle for three years.

It was like announcing a great new recipe for cream puffs without the whipped cream.

Later, when I asked a Warner executive why Julie Andrews, popularly and critically acclaimed the brightest musical comedy star to hit Broadway in decades, had not been signed for the film, he quickly explained: "Nobody in this country has ever heard of Julie Andrews. Besides," he added furtively, "we've got someone much better." He glanced about the room to make sure there were no spies from the competition, then whispered the state secret: "We are about to make a deal with Audrey Hepburn. We can get her for a million bucks."

At that time I was a stockholder in Warner Brothers, and I tried to dissuade the man. I agreed that Audrey Hepburn was a superb actress, but I pointed out that professionally she couldn't sing a note. Someone would have to sing for her (it turned out to be Marni Nixon), and I was sure Julie Andrews would not allow her voice to be dubbed onto the sound track.

"Julie Andrews," I stated flatly, "has the finest singing voice of any woman in musical comedy or operetta. She's as cute as a bug. She's photogenic. She's got a winning personality. Audiences identify with her.

"More important, she originated the role. She's inseparable from it. She's had the benefit of being directed by Moss Hart. She knows what it is to play opposite Rex Harrison. They both get along well.

"The most vital ingredient in My Fair Lady," I continued, "is the music. Whoever plays Eliza will become a big, big star. Warners can get this girl for as little as $75,000. If the studio puts her under contract now, it can make a small fortune by loaning her out to other producers after the film's released.

"I strongly suggest," I advised, "that you forget about Audrey Hepburn for a while. For a million bucks, don't worry, you'll always be able to get her. Why don't you sign Julie Andrews? Or at least give her a screen test? I'm telling you, I saw this girl on Broadway in Camelot, and she's the greatest musical talent show business has produced in 25 years."

The Warner executive looked at me pitifully. "You," he said charitably, "they should put away."

Noting my irritation, he reasoned with me, as if I were an imbecile son: "Why gamble when you don't have to? Audrey Hepburn is a sure thing at the box office. Julie Andrews is a nobody, a gamble."

I explained that talent gambles constituted Hollywood's life's blood. Without them the motion picture industry would die. I offered the case of Audrey Hepburn, who 10 years before had been an unknown chorus girl. Paramount had gambled by signing her to play opposite Gregory Peck in Roman Holiday.

"One picture," I declared, "and she was a star overnight. Paramount went on to make a fortune with her. Warners can do the same thing with Julie Andrews. For Pete's sake, at least test her for the part."

The man from Warners brushed me off. Next morning, convinced that a group of near-idiots had taken over the studio's production schedule, I sold my stock.

Tomorrow night one of the five actresses pictured on these pages will drive home with the Academy Award for the best performance by an actress in 1964.

Please observe that Audrey Hepburn, star of the film, My Fair Lady, is not listed among them.

A great cake for Easter

For Easter dinner, bake a really triumphant dessert! This chocolate nut cake is made with sour cream, baked in a melon mold and decorated to make it look like an Easter egg. by Beth Merriman
Parade Food Editor

EASTER EGG CAKE

½ cup butter or margarine
1¼ cups sugar
2 eggs
2 envelopes (1 oz. each) no-melt unsweetened chocolate flavored ingredient
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup boiling water
1 cup broken walnut meats

Cream butter to consistency of mayonnaise; add sugar gradually, while continuing to cream until light and fluffy. Add eggs 1 at a time, beating well after each. Blend in chocolate and vanilla. Mix and sift flour, baking soda and salt; add to creamed mixture alternately with sour cream, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Blend in boiling water. Stir in walnuts. Spoon into well-greased 2½-quart melon mold. Bake at 350° for 1½ hours or until cake tests done. Cool in mold 10 minutes, then remove to rack to finish cooling. Frost with chocolate frosting* smoothing the surface as much as possible. When frosting is firm, decorate with pink hyacinths and green leaves, made with a cake decorator.

Note: This cake may be baked at the same temperature in an oblong pan 13 x 9 x 2 inches for 40 to 45 minutes, or in 2 deep 9-inch layer cake pans for about 40 minutes.

From Parade's Test Kitchen

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar (about)
¼ cup soft butter or margarine
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 egg
3 envelopes (1 oz. each) no-melt unsweetened chocolate flavored ingredient

Combine confectioners' sugar, butter, milk, vanilla and salt; beat until blended. Beat in egg. Blend in no-melt unsweetened chocolate flavored ingredient. If frosting is too soft, add more confectioners' sugar.

Julie Andrews is—on the basis of her virtuoso performance in Mary Poppins, a charming musical film produced by Walt Disney, which will gross $26 million in the U.S. alone.

If Julie does not win the Oscar for her work in Mary Poppins, for which Disney paid her $125,000 and for which she is an odds-on favorite, she will probably win it for her incomparable performance in the recently released Sound of Music.

As a matter of probability, she stands an excellent chance of winning two consecutive Academy Awards.

As an entertainer, this gifted young woman of 29 with blue-gray eyes, short brown hair, trim, well-turned figure (5-feet-7, 128 pounds) is incontrovertibly great. No other word does her talent justice.

Her soprano voice boasts a five-octave range, a bell-clear tone, a memorable resonance. When she sings a song, not a word is lost, a note slurred. She gives lyrics true meaning. Her personality is friendly, humorous, graciously feminine, touched with just the right amount of dignity and character. She personifies that Hollywood rarity—wholesomeness.

A Busy Future

A professional since she was 12, Julie Andrews feels equally at home with comedy, drama and musicals.

In addition to starring in Mary Poppins, The Americanization of Emily and The Sound of Music, she has been signed at $700,000 to act the female lead in Hawaii from the novel by James Michener. After that she goes to work in Private Eye, a film derived from a one-act London stage hit. Then she does The Gertrude Lawrence Story, at which time her agent expects to ask either $1 million per picture for her services or 10 per cent of the gross from the first dollar.

Whether or not she wins the Oscar tomorrow night, Julie Andrews is currently the most sought-after actress in Hollywood.

"In all honesty," she says, "it's happened so fast, it's all been so hectic, I just don't have the time to absorb the meaning of success. I know that at this moment I've got the best of all possible worlds.

"I've got a beautiful daughter [Emma Kate, 2½], a marvelous and talented husband. I'm so proud of Tony [Walton]. He was also nominated for an Academy Award. He did the production design on Mary Poppins. And I've got a burgeoning career. For an actress, to be busy, to be in demand, to enjoy what she's doing—that's the nicest thing of all.

"I've just finished a TV special for NBC. I'm about to start rehearsals on Hawaii. I couldn't be busier, and certainly, I couldn't be happier."

A well-bred young Englishwoman (birthplace—Walton-on-Thames; birth date—October 1, 1935) who's learned to control her emotions, Julie is widely loved in Hollywood because she works hard, treats her co-workers with dignity and courtesy. She never gripes, pulls rank, indulges in outbursts of temperament. By nature an optimist, she is sure her current project will turn out well. She is not, however, a Pollyanna.

Bob Stevenson, who directed her in Mary Poppins, says, "What you have in Julie is a pro. She does her work, minds her own business, appears to be completely without malice or hostility, which is rather rare in film circles. When she comes on stage she always brings the sun with her. Nevertheless she is forthright and capable of speaking her mind. The one thing she does not want to do in life is hurt anyone."

When Warner Brothers three years ago refused even to test her for My Fair Lady, Julie said, "Of course, I'm disappointed. I'd even be blazing mad if anyone but Audrey Hepburn got the part. But who can be angry at that sort of casting? It's absolutely perfect."

It was a typical British example of good sportsmanship, but underneath the stiff upper lip, Julie was hurt. A few weeks ago, when the foreign press gave her its award for her performance in Mary Poppins, she simply couldn't resist the temptation to chide Jack Warner, also at the dinner.

"I'd like to thank the man," she said, "who made it all possible—Jack Warner."

The resulting applause was deafening. Mr. Warner is not a man who is deeply loved or admired in Hollywood. In many quarters it was suggested that Julie Andrews' nomination for an Oscar was more a negative vote against him than it was a positive vote for the actress' work in Poppins.

When I suggested that possibility to Julie, she said quickly, "Oh, I hope not. I truly hope not. I like to think that I was nominated because of the good work I did, good work recognized by my colleagues rather than because they were angry at someone else and felt I had been treated unfairly."

Tomorrow night the newspaper photographers at the Academy Awards should have a field day if the Oscar predictions come true. Audrey Hepburn has agreed to fly in from Switzerland to present an Oscar to the winning actor, who will probably be Rex Harrison, for his work in My Fair Lady. Jack Warner will undoubtedly accept the Oscar for the best production, again My Fair Lady. And Julie Andrews should win the best actress award, for Mary Poppins.

Thus, when the shindig is all over, the lens boys will have available for backstage-posing Rex Harrison with his leading lady of the stageplay, Julie; his leading lady of the screenplay, Audrey; plus Jack Warner.

Were American players involved, it could be an embarrassing melange. But not with the British. They major in savoir-faire, and everyone will prove most charming, even Jack Warner.

Each year the Academy Awards diminish in importance. The major reason is that the motion picture is no longer the number one mass entertainment medium. Television has usurped its supremacy. People are more interested in Lorne Greene of Bonanza than they are in Rex Harrison of My Fair Lady. Week after week they see Greene for nothing.

The players, however, still continue to have a high regard for Oscar, because it is voted to them by the 2,800 members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences, who supposedly know a great performance when they see one.

"To win an Oscar," says Julie, "for my very first screen role—I don't even like to think about it, because if I don't get it, then I'm inviting disappointment. I'm so thrilled even to have been nominated; and you know, in a way, I'm so glad I was nominated for Mary Poppins. If I'd been given the chance to play Eliza on the screen, who knows, many of the members might have said to themselves, 'Why of course, she's good. Why shouldn't she be? She's been playing the part for years. It's second nature to her.' So, you see, it's best to let well enough alone.

"It's like my nose. For years I was very conscious about my nose because it's kind of large. One day I said to my husband, 'Oh, I think I'll have something done to it.' And he said, 'You do, and I'll divorce you. It's the best nose you can possibly have. It's the kind of nose that doesn't disappear on the stage. It stands out from the scenery. Most noses just get lost. Let well enough alone.' That put it all right with me, and I've been following that policy ever since."

Julie Andrews has been working ever since she was a child. Now that she's approaching 30, her industry, both in England and America, is paying off.

She was born in a suburb of London and seems to have inherited her musicality from her mother, a pianist. Her parents were divorced when she was an infant, and her mother, Barbara, married an entertainer, Ted Andrews, whose name Julie adopted.

She spent her youth traveling the British provincial vaudeville circuit with her parents, living the backstage life, learning show business firsthand.

When World War II broke out, air raids forced the English schools to close, and many of the children were evacuated. Julie's parents were determined to keep their family intact—there were several brothers by this time—and to keep the children amused, Julie's stepfather gave them daily singing lessons.

He discovered quickly that Julie had a "freak voice" and turned her over to Madame Harris, who had been his own vocal coach. Not long after, Julie entered vaudeville herself. As she tells it, "I had this freak voice when I was tiny, a kind of Yma Sumac voice, five octaves and incredibly strong for my age. It was a kind of gimmick, and as such I was a sort of child prodigy. I traveled all over England, singing the high opera stuff, doing an act in vaudeville. It was quite awful when I think about it, but I enjoyed it at the time."

Pen Pal

When Julie was 12 she met her future husband. "There were three boys on a train who had seen me perform at a Christmas pantomime. One of the boys was Tony Walton. He had courage. He came around to my house and asked for a photograph. After that he kept in touch with me. We struck up a correspondence, and when I went to America for The Boyfriend and then My Fair Lady, he still wrote, and eventually it blossomed into a romance."

Julie and Tony were married in Walton-on-Thames, their hometown, on May 10, 1959. They have one daughter, Emma Kate, born in London, in 1962. Neither parent believes in one-child families, and Julie claims, "I would like two or three more if ever Tony and I can find the privacy (she pronounces the word with a short "i"), but these days, that's rather difficult. It's the only drawback I find to success."

The Waltons own a house in Wimbledon, but for the past 18 months have spent more of their time on this side of the Atlantic, he designing Broadway shows, she filming in Hollywood. In the movie colony, they rent various houses, currently occupy a rambling Spanish-type mansion in the Hills of Beverly.

Symbolically enough, the house is oriented to its site in much the same way that the lovely singer is oriented to her career. It sits on the side of a hill, a few yards below the peak, overlooking the world below.

Tomorrow night it is most likely that career-wise Julie Andrews will ascend to the very top. No one could be more popular, no one more deserving.

Julie Andrews' competition for Oscar for best performance by an actress in 1964: Anne Bancroft, nominated for The Pumpkin Eater; Sophia Loren, for Marriage, Italian Style; Debbie Reynolds, for The Unsinkable Molly Brown; and Kim Stanley, for Seance on a Wet Afternoon. Miss Andrews is the odds-on favorite to win the award.

the busy fingers of babyhood

Fine teachers, fingers. They help your baby learn to grab, grasp, hold, poke —do a score of happy things. When do baby fingers begin to function? No set timetable for all babies but here are some "about" times:

3 to 4 months. Fists unclench. Charming finger-play gets under way.

5 to 6 months. Grasps in earnest. Holds on to toys for dear life.

6 to 7 months. Probably will hold bottle easily. Finger-explores everything.

8 to 9 months. May exchange toys from hand to hand with relative ease.

1 year. Pinch-holding with thumb and forefinger usually shows up now.

Food fanfare

When you want to give your baby a truly hearty "casserole" dish with built-in meat-appeal, consider Gerber Strained or Junior High Meat Dinners. Savory? Very! Because they have 3 times as much meat (and therefore much more protein) as regular vegetable-meat combinations. Flavorful? Indeed. This extra meat is subtly blended with garden-good vegetables and suitably seasoned for unusual flavor interest. Veal, Beef, Chicken, Ham, Turkey.

Memo from Dan Gerber

"When it comes to the development of new products, it takes a long time to satisfy our specialists. In the case of Gerber High Meat Dinners, it took two years and 72 different formulas before they had what they wanted to offer your baby.

"All recipes were carefully evaluated for nutritional quality and flavor. Two were finally selected for taste preference by a panel of 4,500 babies. The result? A product approved by babies, mothers and nutritional experts."

Finger exercises

To help speed your baby's manual dexterity, you might try these "encouragers": (1) Put bright, safe objects within grasping reach. (2) Provide toys of various sizes. (3) Offer finger foods like Gerber Chicken or Meat Sticks.

For your baby's well-being: Gerber prepares over 100 baby foods – infant formulas, cereals, strained and junior foods – to meet your baby's nutritional needs. We're proud to say:

PARADE OF HEALTH

by LAWRENCE GALTON

REAL PAINS IN THE NECK. One of the most controversial medical—and legal—problems is "whiplash" pain, so called because it stems from a sudden sharp flip or snap of the neck. It's especially common these days as one consequence of being hit from behind in an auto collision.

There has been some tendency to regard whiplash victims with suspicion—as either emotionally disturbed or lawsuit-minded, or both. After a study of 32 patients, Dr. Joseph M. Janes, Mayo Clinic orthopedic surgeon, came to a different conclusion. "Not all patients with pain in the neck are neurotics ... not all pains in the neck are relieved by settlement of the litigation," he says.

In each of his 32 cases, neck pain had persisted for at least a year after the accident. In each case, it was relieved when the neck was immobilized in a cast or brace but returned when the cast was removed.

"Whiplash," reports Dr. Janes, is not a good term to describe the injury, because "a whip does not have a seven-pound weight at its tip, as does the neck." A better term, he thinks, would be "cervical sprain." After surgical repair, he says, 31 of his 32 patients now are unsprained and pain-free.

"THE PILL" FOR ACNE. Far from being limited to teenagers, acne is a plague for many women in their 20's and 30's who—every month for a week or more—break out with embarrassing crops of pimples. If you're one of them, your doctor now might want to try Enovid, the pill originally developed as a family planning aid. It appears to be as effective for the new as for the old purpose. After using it to treat acne in 40 women, Dr. B. A. Wansker of Charlotte, N.C., reports that it helped every one.

THE MAGIC TOUCH OF GOLD. Something remarkable happens when an ordinary bit of gold leaf is charged with static electricity: The thin layer of metal immediately adheres to body tissue, shaping itself even to minute variations in tissue surface. It does something more: It stimulates healthy new tissue growth without scar formation. Recently, with gold leaf, surgeons have succeeded in patching leaking blood vessels within the body. Now a Washington, D.C., dermatologist, Dr. Naomi M. Kanof, has used gold leaf dressings on skin ulcers that had failed to respond to other treatment.

Under the metal, the raw sores—some of them pus-forming—began to heal within 48 hours. In more than half, healing was complete within 96 hours. So rapidly did healing proceed, that it was difficult to make studies to try to find out what the mechanism is. Animal investigations now are under way. Meanwhile, however, as Dr. Kanof has reported, the technique works. Gold has a healing touch.

VISTA

AMERICA'S PEACE CORPS ON THE HOME FRONT

by ROSALIND MASSOW

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.

Just 18 miles from here, near the Tampa airport, stands a huge billboard with the poster, "Help Somebody Be Somebody. Volunteer for VISTA, the Domestic Peace Corps."

Sixty-eight Americans who heeded that sign are already hard at work in slum areas around the U.S. helping ill-clothed, ill-fed and ill-housed nobodies become somebodies. Hundreds more are training for Domestic Peace Corps chores in classroom and field sessions at university and community centers.

By the end of the year, the newly established Office of Economic Opportunity, VISTA's antipoverty parent organization, expects its Volunteers In Service To America to be 3,500 strong.

Who are these VISTA volunteers who have set aside one year of their lives to help others make the grade?

Who are these people who are trading the comforts of home, hearth and good plumbing for the squalor of depressed areas?

To find out, PARADE attended training sessions here at The Florida Institute for Continuing University Studies, where sociologists, social workers and experts on youth were giving 22 volunteers a 6-week cram course on how to deal with deprived children, delinquent youth and apathetic adults.

Volunteers range from a high school dropout to several with Master's degrees; in age, from 19 to 71; financially, from the son of a grocery clerk to several wealthy enough to travel around the world.

the motives

Some are just out of college, others are retired and still others are middle-aged dropouts from good jobs who want to aid the less fortunate. Some look to their VISTA experience as an adventure; some are Peace Corps rejects; but most are simply interested in helping others.

One volunteer, soft-spoken William Arnold, is a 30-year-old Baptist minister from Melissa, Tex. Mr. Arnold has worked with young people in four different churches and is looking forward to teaching basic reading and writing to boys in the Job Corps—the new anti-poverty work-study program for unemployable youth from 16 to 21.

"I am a preacher, but I am not going to preach to these Job Corps youths," Mr. Arnold says. "Many of these kids will be juvenile delinquents; many will be lonely with no close friends. If I can help inspire adult responsibility in even one individual, I feel this will not be a year spent in vain."

Martin Rust, 45, an electronics specialist from Jersey City, N.J., who dropped out of high school in the 10th grade, is in the VISTA program to pay a debt to society. When he was in the Army, a friend encouraged him to go back to school and learn a trade.

teaching a trade

"If it weren't for my friend, I might be a bum today," Rust says. "There's a lot of money to be earned in electronics, but I'm going to get more enjoyment from teaching boys in the Jobs Corps a trade than from bringing home a big paycheck." Rust has been assigned to a camp in Ouachita, Ark., in the heart of the Ozarks.

Fighting wars is old business to Col. Marc Logie, 71, who fought with the U.S. Marines, the British Army, the Lithuanian Republic Army and the U.S. Army. Retired from military service 11 years ago, Col. Logie, a widower from Washington, D.C., has been traveling the world in search of constructive activity.

Last year, while in retreat in a monastery near Barcelona, Spain, he found out about President Johnson's war on poverty and signed up.

"I feel I'm right back in the groove now. I have plenty of experience working with young people, and I will be working with them in the Job Corps camp in the Navajo Indian Reservation in Winslow, Ariz. I've been serving God and country my whole life, and this program is just what I love to do," the ruddy-cheeked colonel said.

The VISTA program, officially launched when Congress released funds to the Office of Economic Opportunity recently, is one segment of President Johnson's major assault on poverty in the U.S.

It is open to volunteers over 18, who will get room, board, medical and dental care and pocket money. At the end of their year hitch they will be paid $600—$50 for each month of service.

Like Peace Corps volunteers, they will live with the people they are aiding. They will rebuild community centers and schools, serve as teachers, guidance counselors and recreational leaders and will help communities improve public health and sanitation facilities. The community organizations which have requested their help may call upon volunteers for a variety of other services as well.

"Cantrece" is Du Pont's registered trademark. Look for it in leading hosiery brands, at fine stores everywhere.

DU PONT

BETTER THINGS FOR BETTER LIVING... THROUGH CHEMISTRY

Du Pont makes fibers, not the fabrics, stockings or fashions shown.

At the training centers in St. Petersburg, New York, Boston and elsewhere, VISTA volunteers live well—a lot better than they will live on work sites. In St. Petersburg, they are quartered in air-conditioned modern rooms overlooking Tampa Bay. They eat in the Institute's cafeteria, which provides well-prepared and wholesome food.

Local organizations help orient volunteers on problems of poverty. Ten welfare groups in this area, including the American Red Cross, the Florida Employment Service, the Florida Christian Migrant Ministry and others, worked with VISTA volunteers on employment problems of migrants, first-aid instruction, public health and community action.

Volunteers with Job Corps assignments get their training right on the premises of The Florida Institute, teaching and guiding boys in the federal Manpower Development Training Act program here. The boys and girls in this state-wide Florida program have little education, few skills and the same basic limitations as those of the boys joining the Job Corps camps.

"When we first met these boys, I was struck by the amount of hostility they had for us 'do-gooders,'" a VISTA volunteer said. "I know we may encounter this same defiance with the Job Corps boys, but now, thanks to our experience, we'll know better how to deal with it."

Maryjean Honrath, 19-year-old student, is concerned about how mountain people will feel about accepting her help. She will work largely with Kentucky children.

One of the projects of VISTA programing aims at migrant workers. A group of trainees assigned to California migrant camps spent a week studying migrants in the Belle Glade section here. The Florida Christian Migrant Ministry supervised their work.

"I never realized how hard they work for such a small living," one woman volunteer said, "but what really upset me was the number of children all living in one small room. The filth was appalling. We can teach these people a lot about cleanliness. I hope I can also instill in them a desire for education."

Baptist minister William Arnold says that VISTA's Job Corps offers him the kind of work he's been looking for all his life: "It's the most challenging of my career."

Many of the volunteers, while aware of poverty, have never dealt with it before. Outdoor privies, crowded old railroad shacks and the abject deprivation of children were shocking to many VISTA trainees.

Maryjean Honrath, a 19-year-old college student from El Cerrito, Calif., currently on leave of absence from school, had her first brush with underprivileged youngsters during an outing for 150 children from a slum area here.

"We took these children to the beach. None was over 10, but they had never been to the beach before. Just seeing their faces and their delight was something I will never forget."

recreation for Kentucky

Maryjean, a recreation major, is assigned to an isolated town in the Southern Mountains of Kentucky. She will be responsible for organizing recreational programs for children and adults in her area.

Field sessions at employment offices, welfare agencies and schools are a big part of preparing volunteers for their jobs, but lectures and classroom work on the role of volunteers in society, child psychology, narcotics addiction and the law and the poor are also a major part of their training.

Volunteers applying for the VISTA program are selected on the basis of skill, leadership qualities, adaptability and personality. Although a college education is helpful, it is not a prerequisite to admission, according to Glenn W. Ferguson, VISTA director.

Further information on the program may be secured from VISTA, Office of Economic Opportunity, Washington, D.C., 20506. By 1966, federal officials hope that VISTA volunteers will have helped a lot of nobodies start becoming somebodies.

THE DOCTOR IS A BENCHWARMER

by KATE HOLLIDAY

LOS ANGELES.

He's not with the team now—he hasn't time for spring training. But when the Los Angeles Dodgers begin their pursuit of the 1965 National League pennant next week, Bob Kerlan will be as valuable to the effort as almost any member of the squad. For Dr. Robert Kerlan, orthopedist, keeps the precious arms and legs of Sandy Koufax, Tommy Davis and all the other Dodgers in working order.

Nobody knows now which of the players this season will limp to the dugout—or be carried on a stretcher—wincing from torn ligaments, sprains, bone breaks, spike wounds and concussions.

Whoever and whatever, it will be Dr. Kerlan's responsibility to apply appropriate bandages, tape, splints, casts, slings and compresses and to advise the stricken gladiators. The object: to get these costly diamond properties back striking out opposing batsmen and hitting home runs as soon as possible.

Kerlan is ideal for his job for at least two reasons. He's been an athlete himself. As a sufferer from arthritis of the spine, he knows pain in all its phases.

Being family doctor to a baseball team requires sure judgment and fast action. "You must diagnose when a man should stop playing," he explains. "You try to prescribe the treatment which will produce the fastest results. Then you must decide accurately when the man can play again without risk of reinjury or permanent damage."

Kerlan, who is 42, tall and slightly bent, is so highly regarded in his field that he also serves as team physician for the Los Angeles Angels, of baseball's American League, and for the Los Angeles Lakers professional basketball team.

But he is not merely a specialist in athletes' afflictions. Dr. Kerlan is associate professor of orthopedics at UCLA, his alma mater, and associated with five hospitals in this area.

no sissies here

His schedule is arranged to leave him free to be at Chavez Ravine stadium for most of the afternoon or evening ball games. He examines any team patients he may have in the dressing room before game-time, then takes a seat in the stands. He loves sports, so it's not a matter of waiting for somebody to get hurt. He can't agree with some fans who think of today's major leaguers as high-salaried, pampered sissies.

"All the players subject themselves to unnatural stress," he says. "The public doesn't realize what they will do for the game. It doesn't know, for instance, that in our unsuccessful drive for the pennant in 1962, our star pitcher, Don Drysdale, pitched four weeks with a broken rib. He wouldn't let me tape it because he insisted it be kept secret."

Some of Dr. Kerlan's most challenging and crucial work has been done with an even more famous pitcher, left-handed strikeout king Sandy Koufax. Two weeks before Koufax hurled the third no-hit game of his career against Philadelphia last June 4, the hard-throwing pitcher had torn the flexor muscle inside his left elbow, leaving his arm painfully sore. There were fears he might be out of action for weeks.

Kerlan injected hydrocortisone in several places around the elbow, ordered an intensive program of ultra sound, ice and heat treatments and prescribed enzymes by mouth. Within a

MY FAVORITE JOKES

BY TERRI HAVEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: Terri Haven, Brooklyn-born comedienne, started in show business at age 4½ when she won a scholarship to a Hollywood dancing school. After that she was lost. She went to work in Hal Roach comedies, appeared on radio shows, then at 14 decided to become a show-business drop-out. She returned to New York, attended high school and later NYU, then decided to resume her career as a comedienne-impersonator. She played the Blue Angel in New York, Murray Franklin's in Miami Beach, the Dunes in Las Vegas, other niteries throughout the country. Terri is married to music arranger Ernie Held, lives in New York on Central Park West, regularly plays the hotel and club circuit, where she tells such jokes as these:

The other night I saw a medical show on TV. It became so melodramatic that halfway through the show the surgeon got so flustered he cut out a commercial.

---

The trouble with beautiful, shapely, voluptuous girls is that they often have something to knock a man's eye out—a jealous husband.

---

But generally speaking, most wives deal fairly with their husbands. If a wife borrows some money from her husband, she's willing to pay him back . . . the minute he comes home with his pay.

---

I saw a testimonial from a sword-swallower who uses those new stainless steel blades. He claims he got 24 meals out of just one.

---

About the only time teenagers get homesick these days is when they're at home.

---

In Alaska there's an Eskimo Casanova named Moe. He keeps taking girls out for dog-sled rides and always seems to run out of dog food.

---

A woman was discussing her husband's symptoms with her physician. "To tell you the truth," she confided to the doctor, "I think my husband is suffering from a mental affliction. Some days I talk to him for hours, and he doesn't hear a word I say."

"That's not what you call an affliction," explained the doctor. "That's what is known as a gift."

---

"Listen," said the judge. "Haven't I seen you before?"

"Could be," answered the tailor. "So many men owe me money I can't remember their faces.

This man's wife drove him crazy to buy a small foreign car. "We'll save a fortune on gas alone," she explained. Her husband was dead-set against it, but the wife persevered and naturally won. The husband bought a car. When he got home, his wife said, "It's such a cute little bug, Herman, please take me for a ride in it."

They sped through the streets and were heading for the suburbs when the wife leaned over and said, "Have you noticed, honey? For the past 20 minutes we've been driving alongside a concrete prison wall."

"Sweetie," answered the husband, "that's no prison wall. That's the curb."

---

When the attractive nurse walked into the hospital room, the patient grabbed her. "I must confess to you," he said, "that I've fallen in love with you. I don't want to leave this place. I don't want to get well."

"Don't worry," explained the nurse. "You won't. The doctor who saw you kiss me yesterday—he's my husband."

---

anecdote of the week

■ An excited mother raced up to the lifeguard station on a Santa Monica beach. "I've lost my little girl. I've lost my little girl."

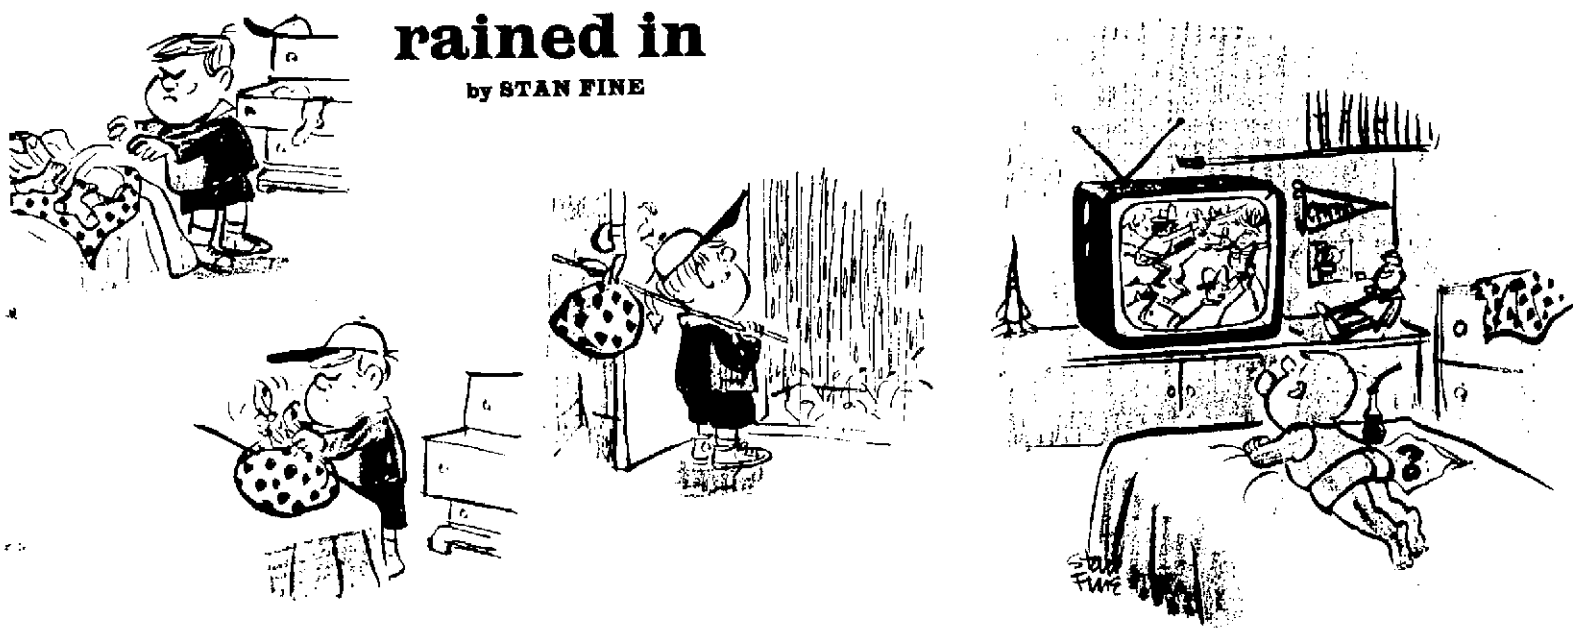

"Can you give us a description?" asked the lifeguard.

"Of course," said the mother. "She has her father's eyes, but she's the spitting image of me when I was a child." ■

Dr. Robert Kerlan: Medical caretaker of the precious arms and legs of Los Angeles Dodgers ballplayers.

fortnight, Koufax turned in his hitless performance.

Two years before, Dr. Kerlan had to combat a strange injury that almost cut short Koufax's brilliant career. While batting, he damaged an artery in the palm of his pitching hand. A blood clot formed. Koufax's forefinger became cold and dark, and an infection formed under the nail. Scarcely any blood was getting through to the finger, and amputation loomed. After 48 touch-and-go hours, during which injections to dissolve the clot as well as antibiotics were administered, the circulation in the pitcher's hand began to return to normal.

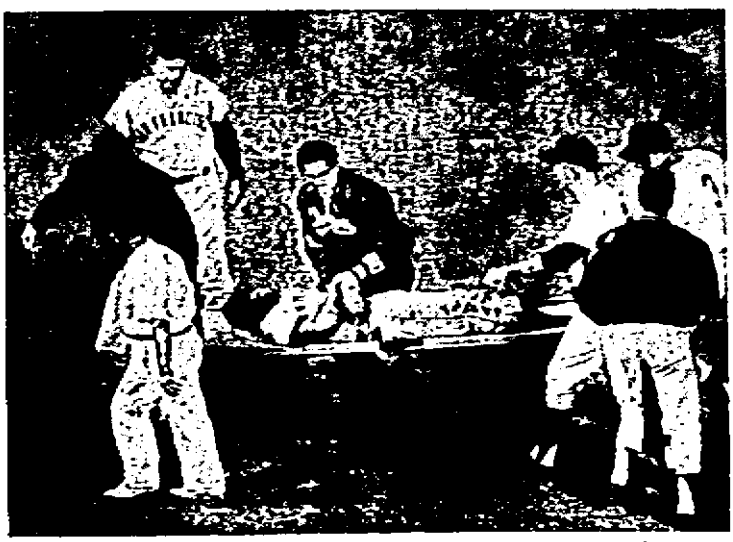

In 1963, Kerlan had to nurse infielder Maury Wills toward a new base-stealing record. "He was always getting spike wounds," the doctor recalls, "and his thigh and hip were swollen, bruised and bleeding from constant sliding into bases."

Angels' outfielder Jim Piersall thought his career was over because of water on the knee, but Dr. Kerlan's injections and therapy got him on the field again. Deep X-ray treatments and exercise in weighted boots reduced calcium deposits on the leg tendons of high-scoring Lakers' forward Elgin Baylor.

Bob Kerlan went to Los Angeles to attend UCLA from his hometown of Aitkin, Minn., where he'd been a 4-letter athlete in high school. But he decided to forego sports in order to give all his time to his studies.

His dedication of those days has helped him to build a meaningful, if unusual, professional life. He lives in suburban Brentwood with his wife, Rachel, a trained nurse, and their three children. For diversion, the doctor breeds and races horses.

It's men, however, principally baseball players, who command his primary interest. "They put themselves out to the limit of their endurance," he says. "I must be able to help when they've pushed too far."

Injury to a player sends team doctors like Kerlan hurrying to the dressing room.

PAIN is the test that BAYER® meets best

What's more, here's how Bayer Aspirin meets the test of competition. Reporting on a government-financed study of five leading pain relievers, an article in The Journal of The American Medical Association shows:

For speed and strength of relief, Bayer Aspirin is unsurpassed by any product tested, including the so called "extra-strength" one that claims to be 50% stronger.

Of special concern, the product that claims to be 50% stronger than aspirin does upset the stomach with significantly greater frequency than Bayer Aspirin.

In fact, Bayer Aspirin is as gentle to the stomach as any product tested, including the higher-priced buffered product.

Significant Winegard Antenna Development for Better Color TV

Improves black and white, too

Although the Winegard Colortron antenna was designed to meet the critical standards for color TV, it is also the most sensitive antenna you can own for your black and white set. Color pictures become brighter, clearer, more lifelike. Black & white reception becomes sharper with greater clarity and contrast, even in difficult reception areas.

Can a TV antenna make this much difference? Yes!

But aren't all TV antennas pretty much alike? No!

There are two reasons Winegard Colortrons outperform ordinary antennas. (1) A patented Electro-Lens design intercepts more TV signals ... but rejects interfering signals. (2) The TV signal is then amplified by an electronic power pack.

The effect on your reception is this: often you can pull in stations you couldn't reach before. Pictures, on all channels, become brighter, sharper. There's signal power to spare ... if you like, you can operate up to 6 sets from one Colortron antenna.

Colortrons are rugged, too. Wind tested to 100 mph. Permanent GOLD ANODIZED finish won't weather-wear—stays like new for years.

For the best reception, a Winegard Colortron is a wise investment. 4 models from $24.95, electronic power pack extra ... satisfaction guaranteed. *Ask your TV service dealer or write for full story.

*Guarantee in force for 90 days after installation.

A NEW LOOK IN VACATION RESERVATIONS

by TOM FOUST

WHITERIVER, ARIZ.

As more and more palefaces are discovering every year, you can now visit this tiny mountain community in the heart of the Apache Indian reservation without fearing for your scalp. The war cries that once froze the blood of even the bravest have given way to a new watchword—"Hon Dah," Apache for "Be my guest." In short, the remote beauties of this incomparable region are yours for the touring.

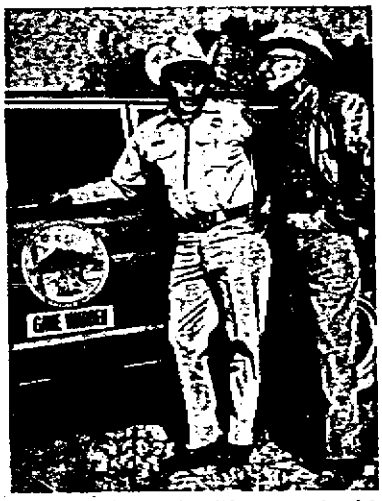

Visitors come to hike and camp in the pine forest, to hunt the abundant wildlife and to fish the trout-stocked streams and mountain lakes. The modern Indian has learned that these resources, like the cattle he raises and the timber he cuts for lumber, are money in the bank. And although it has been less than 10 years since the Apaches hung the Hon Dah sign over the entrance to the reservation, recreation has become a major industry. For the last 2 years the gross income from tourism has been over $1 million.

Located in east-central Arizona, the reservation draws visitors from all over the U.S. Elevations ranging from 2,700 feet deep in Salt River Canyon to over 11,000 high on snow-capped Mt. Baldy offer you winter and summer activities.

Hunting and fishing are the reservation's major attractions. With more than 300 miles of streams and 5 mountain lakes, the area contains half the state's trout fishing waters. Non-Indian hunters, on their own or with the help of Apache guides, are allowed to take elk, bear, javelina (the little cactus pig), waterfowl, quail. Deer and wild turkey are also abundant, but so far have been reserved for members of the tribe.

If you don't go for hunting or fishing, there are virtually endless opportunities for hiking and exploring. Although modern buildings crop up here and there, you'll find that most of the reservation has remained the same as it was when war parties roamed the hills.

Ancient Indian ruins, too, are scattered throughout the area, some accessible only on foot or horseback. The major ruin is Kinishba (Brown House), a village that thrived in the late 1200's but was abandoned shortly after 1350. Many of the original buildings of historic Fort Apache are also standing. The fort is now a school for Apache children.

Apache game warden (/.) answers tourist queries, directs them to points of interest.

tribal council

Headquarters for the entire operation is Whiteriver, which is inhabited by 4,800 Apaches. No longer does a single chief rule the roost; governmental matters are handled by the tribal council, its members elected by the people.

Tourism is managed by a paleface, Jim Sparks, who is hired by the council. The industry keeps a staff of 60 Indians busy full time, with the number doubling during the summer months. And the future looks even busier.

For example, on the shores of Hawley Lake, Apache-constructed and opened to the public in 1958, are an Indian-operated boat dock and grocery store, camp- and picnic-sites—all accessible by a surfaced all-weather road. On the drawing boards are rental cabins in addition to those already available, plus ski run, golf course and riding stables.

If Chief Alchesay were alive today he might find it hard to understand what his children are doing with the land he and other warriors fought so long to preserve for them. But times have changed, and like everyone else, the Indian has his eye on the future.

Vacationer displays a string of trout caught through 14 inches of ice at Hawley Lake.

The Apache reservation, which has more than 600 campsites, is a paradise for campers.

Much to the delight of visiting children, friendly Apache dons ancient ceremonial costume used in "Devil Dance," which was supposed to frighten away all evil spirits.

PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

PIGSKIN FATALITIES. Football is one of the most dangerous sports played in America. In the past 33 years, 682 players have died because of it. Last year 27 athletes died of injuries due to the game: 21 in high school, 3 in college, 2 in sandlot, 1 in professional. Largest percentage of deaths is caused by head injuries, next-largest by abdominal and spinal injuries.

OVERSEAS BASES. The United States maintains 428 major bases and 2,900 minor installations such as radar points, supply stations, hospitals, etc., overseas. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara plans to close as many of these as possible to stem the outflow of gold which results from servicemen receiving and spending American dollars abroad. As we develop larger air transports, our airfields abroad will be relegated to caretaker status, ready to receive units flown in from America on a when-needed basis. This month the Strategic Air Command is ending its 14-year stay in Great Britain. Eventually we will pull out from most of Europe where about 325,000 of our servicemen are stationed. At this writing, the Air Force has 850 intercontinental ballistic missiles in the U.S. zeroed in on Iron Curtain targets. The Navy has about 350 Polaris missiles in submarines patrolling Russian and Chinese waters. In the past few years we have reduced our air bases in France, Morocco, Great Britain, Saudi Arabia. Only European country which wants us in force is West Germany, still afraid of Soviet aggression.

NEW IMAGE. Announcing a 25% increase in the sale of cigars last year, the Cigar Institute of America claims the cigar has lost its "tough guy image" in America, is today "a symbol of gracious and enjoyable living."

FLU TRUTH. For the first time since Russia went Communist, Soviet leaders have permitted the disclosure in their nation of a flu epidemic. In the past all such epidemics have been hushed up. Nowadays, however, Soviet newspapers are advising readers on how to avoid contagion, what remedies to try. Traditional Russian remedy for flu is munching raw garlic. Russians are buying tons of it.

SHE WASHED THE DYE RIGHT OUT OF HIS HAIR.

ROYAL FUSS. The Belgian royal family is having a tizzy over Prince Alexandre, 23, son of ex-king Leopold, a student at Harvard. Alexandre flies into Brussels over weekends, dates a few cuties, then wings back to the U.S. On one of his trips, to avoid recognition by the police, Alexandre dyed his hair. He was spotted, however, and the royal family was notified. Next morning after getting the dye washed out of his hair, Princess Liliane personally escorted Alex to the airport.

NEW POLICY. The French Tourist Office, alarmed at Paris' mounting reputation as the world's number-one gyp city, is making a long-needed effort to curry favor with American tourists. A campaign for aimabilité begins this month in the French capital. Police, cab drivers, customs men, hotel managers, desk clerks have been asked to smile, to be helpful, honest and courteous. Tourists of late have been avoiding Paris like the plague because of outrageous prices. These are particularly astronomical in Paris night spots, where one drink frequently costs $3.65 and up.

IMMIGRANTS. British immigration officers report that in the past 10 years no fewer than 10,000 immigrants, most of them Pakistanis, have entered Great Britain illegally. Many of the entries have been made via forged passports and travel documents.

FACT OF LIFE. Almost all Americans have seen a physician sometime during their lives -- approximately 98% have -- but 1 of every 6 has never been examined or treated by a dentist.

IT ALL STARTED WITH A KISS

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF.

What's a fellow supposed to do when a pretty girl walks up to him and kisses him in a department store window right on Main Street?

Kiss her back. Marry her. And live happily ever after.

At least that's what Arthur Gradwohl did. Fifty years ago he was a window dresser in a Los Angeles men's department store. One day as he was putting a sports jacket on a male manikin, a pretty girl suddenly stepped into the window beside him and started showering him with kisses.

Actually Sarah Herscovitch, then 16, had met Arthur a few nights before. Both had attended a dance for the "City of Hope" at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles. Arthur had asked Sarah for dance after dance.

Arthur was offhand about the whole evening. "To me, it was just a casual acquaintance," he says. "After the dance was over, I said good-bye and went home with the fellow I had come with."

But Sarah was overwhelmed. She left the dance that night and started thinking about Arthur. She thought about him all weekend. She even started plotting how she could meet him again. It troubled her that he hadn't taken her address and that he probably didn't even remember her name.

On Monday after the dance, she had to deliver a suit for the tailoring shop she worked for. She was walking down Main Street, dreaming of Arthur, when suddenly, there he was—in the show window working with the manikin.

"I had a sudden impulse," she says mischievously. "I just walked into that store, climbed into the window and kissed him on the lips, the nose, just all over the face. I was crazy about him. The suit I was carrying—well, it just dropped in the excitement."

As for Arthur, he was abashed. "I blushed, I felt red, my heart started pounding and there was a crowd smiling and giggling."

A month after the kiss in the window they were wed. Today, they have four children and six grandchildren, all living in the Bay area here. Recently they celebrated their 50th anniversary in San Francisco. They didn't go back to the shop window in Los Angeles to mark the event; they just hugged and kissed at home.

If Sarah met him today, she would do the same thing. "I fell in love with him the first time I saw him, and I've been in love with him ever since."

The Gradwohls claim they are still on a honeymoon, and people who know them say that they are about the most affectionate couple around. No one suspects their age, because they are so romantic with each other. Gradwohl continued in the window dressing business until his retirement seven years ago. The business had been good to him. After all, it isn't every day a man finds romance in a department store window.

The kissing Gradwohls show how it all started 50 years ago. Their love is still going strong.

A great cake for Easter

For Easter dinner, bake a really triumphant dessert! This chocolate nut cake is made with sour cream, baked in a melon mold and decorated to make it look like an Easter egg. by Beth Merriman
Parade Food Editor

EASTER EGG CAKE

½ cup butter or margarine
1¼ cups sugar
2 eggs
2 envelopes (1 oz. each) no-melt unsweetened chocolate flavored ingredient
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup boiling water
1 cup broken walnut meats

Cream butter to consistency of mayonnaise; add sugar gradually, while continuing to cream until light and fluffy. Add eggs 1 at a time, beating well after each. Blend in chocolate and vanilla. Mix and sift flour, baking soda and salt; add to creamed mixture alternately with sour cream, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Blend in boiling water. Stir in walnuts. Spoon into well-greased 2½-quart melon mold. Bake at 350° for 1½ hours or until cake tests done. Cool in mold 10 minutes, then remove to rack to finish cooling. Frost with chocolate frosting* smoothing the surface as much as possible. When frosting is firm, decorate with pink hyacinths and green leaves, made with a cake decorator.

Note: This cake may be baked at the same temperature in an oblong pan 13 x 9 x 2 inches for 40 to 45 minutes, or in 2 deep 9-inch layer cake pans for about 40 minutes.

From Parade's Test Kitchen

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

2½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar (about)
¼ cup soft butter or margarine
3 envelopes (1 oz. each) no-melt unsweetened chocolate flavored ingredient
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 egg

Combine confectioners' sugar, butter, milk, vanilla and salt; beat until blended. Beat in egg. Blend in no melt unsweetened chocolate flavored ingredient. If frosting is too soft, add more confectioners' sugar.

HERE ARE NEW IDEAS FOR HOME AND FAMILY ■ BY PETER DRYDEN

Roll-out carrier: A new car-top carrier rolls out over side of car so you can load and unload a boat or other heavy object more easily. Fits standard cars with rain drains. $30.99. Dow, Dept. PP, 2705 Calumet, Manitowoc, Wis.

Lawn care aid: Screw a new timer to faucet or sprinkler, set it (for light, heavy or average sprinkling) and it shuts water off automatically at right moment. $4.95. Roycraft, Dept. PP, 226 W. 39, Kansas City Mo. 64111.

Guard against spatters: This plastic shield (right) for your roller stops spatters on furniture, floor and yourself when you paint walls, ceilings. 7" or 9" size: $1. Martyan, Dept. PP, 24647 Dartmouth, Dearborn, Mich. 48125.

Adjustable stool: Here's the first pedestal stool (far right) you can adjust in height—from 24" to 30" — making it useful for many snack bar and family room purposes. Footrest adjusts, too; seat revolves on bearing that never needs oiling. White or black frame, upholstery in colors. $19.98 ($20.98 Far West). Hamilton Cosco, Dept. PP, Columbus, Ind.

Please don't call this new dessert by any other name.

Its name is Jell-O Whip 'n Chill.

It's unlike anything else in a package. Creamy and smooth. Light, yet satisfying. Deliciously memorable in every flavor: Chocolate, Vanilla, Strawberry and Lemon. To make it, just do as the name says. Whip it. Chill it. Always turns out superb. Now, what's that name again?

SEND TWO POUNDS OF YAK BUTTER, QUICK!

PHOTOS AND TEXT BY ARTHUR SHAY

CHICAGO, ILL.

The caller was frantic. "I need two pounds of yak butter," he said, "by next Thursday at 7 P.M. It's for the annual dinner of our epicurean society." Barry Stone, the bright-eyed 24-year-old president and chief locater of The Finders here, paused in his search for movie footage of German dirigibles bombing London and asked the question crucial to all Finder operations: "How much can you spend?" He got the usual answer: "Anything within reason, but keep it low."

"Reason," Barry reasoned recently when I visited The Finders quarters, "often does not come reasonably. The yak butter hunt, for example, involved eight long-distance calls to owners of exotic animals. We finally located a two-yak owner in, of all places, Peoria! 'Sure,' the owner said, 'one of 'em gives milk, but I've never made butter from it.'" Stone persuaded him to air-ship some yak milk from Peoria and raced it to a Chicago dairy. Ecstatic epicureans received 2 pounds of prime yak butter—for $22.

Established a year ago, The Finders—who will locate anything, anywhere, if it's humanly possible—include Stone and three partners. Service charge is low—10 per cent over cost—and the foursome have filled just under 500 requests so far. "We have about 200 on our books," Stone explains, "half of which may be impossible to satisfy."

bizarre requests

While Stone attended his constantly ringing phone, I examined The Finders' back wall, on which requests are neatly posted. Among them were a Chinese or Turkish bell tree, tunable German auto horns, photo of 1924 U. of Chicago football team, history of erotic art (in German), 100 Moscow subway tokens, repairman for Swiss 6-section musical cigarette lighter, 1906 railway observation car, bodkin case, herringbone knickers and chastity belt.

Currently, The Finders are having trouble finding a Viking ship for Carson Pirie Scott department store. "We had one ready to come in from New York," Stone told me, "but it was involved in a collision and sank."

Among Finders triumphs are locating a 1929 John McCormack recording of "Your Eyes Have Told Me So" for a matron who believed she had inspired the song, a belly dancer willing to teach her art to a suburban housewife for $25 an hour, a dog-sitter for a neurotic collie and a bird cage shaped like the Taj Mahal, with a built-in elevator for an ailing budgie (an Australian parakeet).

One of Stone's favorite finds occurred recently, he told me. It was a 17th-century Spanish helmet for the De Soto Chemical Corporation—for $100. "I was so thrilled," Stone confesses, "that I wore it for an hour."

As I got up to leave Stone's office, the phone rang. "A toupee for what kind of dog?" Stone was asking patiently as I found my way out.

Andrew Carnegie or bust: One tough Finders' assignment was a bust (l.) of the late philanthropist. Another was a 17th-century Spanish helmet, worn in triumph by president Barry Stone.

FOR WOMEN ONLY ...LAXATIVE NEWS!

"When I think of the suffering I could have avoided if I'd known about Correctol sooner! Our druggist recommended it and we've found it fine for every age group from Grandma to ten-year-old daughter."

Mrs. Einar Haaland, Woodbury, Conn.

Correctol® has been specially developed for a woman's delicate system. It is completely different from harsh, all-purpose laxatives.

Its secret is a non-laxative miracle regulator that simply softens waste. And, Correctol contains just enough mild laxative to give regularity a start.

Working together, these two gentle ingredients in Correctol give a woman relief more naturally than any ordinary laxative can. Even in pregnancy and following childbirth.

Why don't you try hospital-proved Correctol . . . today.

VISTA

AMERICA'S PEACE CORPS ON THE HOME FRONT

by ROSALIND MASSOW

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.

Just 18 miles from here, near the Tampa airport, stands a huge billboard with the poster, "Help Somebody Be Somebody, Volunteer for VISTA, the Domestic Peace Corps."

Sixty-eight Americans who heeded that sign are already hard at work in slum areas around the U.S. helping ill-clothed, ill-fed and ill-housed nobodies become somebodies. Hundreds more are training for Domestic Peace Corps chores in classroom and field sessions at university and community centers.

By the end of the year, the newly established Office of Economic Opportunity, VISTA's antipoverty parent organization, expects its Volunteers In Service To America to be 3,500 strong.

Who are these VISTA volunteers who have set aside one year of their lives to help others make the grade?

Who are these people who are trading the comforts of home, hearth and good plumbing for the squalor of depressed areas?

To find out, PARADE attended training sessions here at The Florida Institute for Continuing University Studies, where sociologists, social workers and experts on youth were giving 22 volunteers a 6-week cram course on how to deal with deprived children, delinquent youth and apathetic adults.

Volunteers range from a high school dropout to several with Master's degrees; in age, from 19 to 71; financially, from the son of a grocery clerk to several wealthy enough to travel around the world.

the motives

Some are just out of college, others are retired and still others are middle-aged dropouts from good jobs who want to aid the less fortunate. Some look to their VISTA experience as an adventure; some are Peace Corps rejects; but most are simply interested in helping others.

One volunteer, soft-spoken William Arnold, is a 30-year-old Baptist minister from Melissa, Tex. Mr. Arnold has worked with young people in four different churches and is looking forward to teaching basic reading and writing to boys in the Job Corps—the new anti-poverty work-study program for unemployable youth from 16 to 21.

"I am a preacher, but I am not going to preach to these Job Corps youths," Mr. Arnold says. "Many of these kids will be juvenile delinquents; many will be lonely with no close friends. If I can help inspire adult responsibility in even one individual, I feel this will not be a year spent in vain."

Martin Rust, 45, an electronics specialist from Jersey City, N.J., who dropped out of high school in the 10th grade, is in the VISTA program to pay a debt to society. When he was in the Army, a friend encouraged him to go back to school and learn a trade.

teaching a trade

"If it weren't for my friend, I might be a bum today," Rust says. "There's a lot of money to be earned in electronics, but I'm going to get more enjoyment from teaching boys in the Jobs Corps a trade than from bringing home a big paycheck." Rust has been assigned to a camp in Ouachita, Ark., in the heart of the Ozarks.

Fighting wars is old business to Col. Marc Logie, 71, who fought with the U.S. Marines, the British Army, the Lithuanian Republic Army and the U.S. Army. Retired from military service 11 years ago, Col. Logie, a widower from Washington, D.C., has been traveling the world in search of constructive activity.

Last year, while in retreat in a monastery near Barcelona, Spain, he found out about President Johnson's war on poverty and signed up.

"I feel I'm right back in the groove now. I have plenty of experience working with young people, and I will be working with them in the Job Corps camp in the Navajo Indian Reservation in Winslow, Ariz. I've been serving God and country my whole life, and this program is just what I love to do," the ruddy-cheeked colonel said.

The VISTA program, officially launched when Congress released funds to the Office of Economic Opportunity recently, is one segment of President Johnson's major assault on poverty in the U.S.

It is open to volunteers over 18, who will get room, board, medical and dental care and pocket money. At the end of their year hitch they will be paid $600—$50 for each month of service.

Like Peace Corps volunteers, they will live with the people they are aiding. They will rebuild community centers and schools, serve as teachers, guidance counselors and recreational leaders and will help communities improve public health and sanitation facilities. The community organizations which have requested their help may call upon volunteers for a variety of other services as well.

MICHIGAN BULB CO., Dept. CV-1835 Grand Rapids, Michigan 49502

At the training centers in St. Petersburg, New York, Boston and elsewhere, VISTA volunteers live well—a lot better than they will live on work sites. In St. Petersburg, they are quartered in air-conditioned modern rooms overlooking Tampa Bay. They eat in the Institute's cafeteria, which provides well-prepared and wholesome food.

Local organizations help orient volunteers on problems of poverty. Ten welfare groups in this area, including the American Red Cross, the Florida Employment Service, the Florida Christian Migrant Ministry and others, worked with VISTA volunteers on employment problems of migrants, first-aid instruction, public health and community action.

Volunteers with Job Corps assignments get their training right on the premises of The Florida Institute, teaching and guiding boys in the federal Manpower Development Training Act program here. The boys and girls in this state-wide Florida program have little education, few skills and the same basic limitations as those of the boys joining the Job Corps camps.

"When we first met these boys, I was struck by the amount of hostility they had for us 'do-gooders,'" a VISTA volunteer said. "I know we may encounter this same defiance with the Job Corps boys, but now, thanks to our experience, we'll know better how to deal with it."

Maryjean Honrath, 19-year-old student, is concerned about how mountain people will feel about accepting her help. She will work largely with Kentucky children.

One of the projects of VISTA programing aims at migrant workers. A group of trainees assigned to California migrant camps spent a week studying migrants in the Belle Glade section here. The Florida Christian Migrant Ministry supervised their work.

"I never realized how hard they work for such a small living," one woman volunteer said, "but what really upset me was the number of children all living in one small room. The filth was appalling. We can teach these people a lot about cleanliness. I hope I can also instill in them a desire for education."

Baptist minister William Arnold says that VISTA's Job Corps offers him the kind of work he's been looking for all his life: "It's the most challenging of my career."

Many of the volunteers, while aware of poverty, have never dealt with it before. Outdoor privies, crowded old railroad shacks and the abject deprivation of children were shocking to many VISTA trainees.

Maryjean Honrath, a 19-year-old college student from El Cerrito, Calif., currently on leave of absence from school, had her first brush with underprivileged youngsters during an outing for 150 children from a slum area here.

"We took these children to the beach. None was over 10, but they had never been to the beach before. Just seeing their faces and their delight was something I will never forget."

recreation for Kentucky

Maryjean, a recreation major, is assigned to an isolated town in the Southern Mountains of Kentucky. She will be responsible for organizing recreational programs for children and adults in her area.

Field sessions at employment offices, welfare agencies and schools are a big part of preparing volunteers for their jobs, but lectures and classroom work on the role of volunteers in society, child psychology, narcotics addiction and the law and the poor are also a major part of their training.

Volunteers applying for the VISTA program are selected on the basis of skill, leadership qualities, adaptability and personality. Although a college education is helpful, it is not a prerequisite to admission, according to Glenn W. Ferguson, VISTA director.

Further information on the program may be secured from VISTA, Office of Economic Opportunity, Washington, D.C., 20506. By 1966, federal officials hope that VISTA volunteers will have helped a lot of nobodies start becoming somebodies.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

BY TERRI HAVEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: Terri Haven, Brooklyn-born comedienne, started in show business at age 4½ when she won a scholarship to a Hollywood dancing school. After that she was lost. She went to work in Hal Roach comedies, appeared on radio shows, then at 14 decided to become a show-business drop-out. She returned to New York, attended high school and later NYU, then decided to resume her career as a comedienne-impersonator. She played the Blue Angel in New York, Murray Franklin's in Miami Beach, the Dunes in Las Vegas, other niteries throughout the country. Terri is married to music arranger Ernie Held, lives in New York on Central Park West, regularly plays the hotel and club circuit, where she tells such jokes as these:

The other night I saw a medical show on TV. It became so melodramatic that halfway through the show the surgeon got so flustered he cut out a commercial.

---

The trouble with beautiful, shapely, voluptuous girls is that they often have something to knock a man's eye out—a jealous husband.

---

But generally speaking, most wives deal fairly with their husbands. If a wife borrows some money from her husband, she's willing to pay him back . . . the minute he comes home with his pay.

---

I saw a testimonial from a sword-swallower who uses those new stainless steel blades. He claims he got 24 meals out of just one.

---

About the only time teenagers get homesick these days is when they're at home.

---

In Alaska there's an Eskimo Casanova named Moe. He keeps taking girls out for dog-sled rides and always seems to run out of dog food.

---

A woman was discussing her husband's symptoms with her physician. "To tell you the truth," she confided to the doctor, "I think my husband is suffering from a mental affliction. Some days I talk to him for hours, and he doesn't hear a word I say."

"That's not what you call an affliction," explained the doctor. "That's what is known as a gift."

---

"Listen," said the judge. "Haven't I seen you before?"

"Could be," answered the tailor. "So many men owe me money I can't remember their faces.

This man's wife drove him crazy to buy a small foreign car. "We'll save a fortune on gas alone," she explained. Her husband was dead-set against it, but the wife persevered and naturally won. The husband bought a car. When he got home, his wife said, "It's such a cute little bug, Herman, please take me for a ride in it."

They sped through the streets and were heading for the suburbs when the wife leaned over and said, "Have you noticed, honey? For the past 20 minutes we've been driving alongside a concrete prison wall."

"Sweetie," answered the husband, "that's no prison wall. That's the curb."

When the attractive nurse walked into the hospital room, the patient grabbed her. "I must confess to you," he said, "that I've fallen in love with you. I don't want to leave this place. I don't want to get well."

"Don't worry," explained the nurse. "You won't. The doctor who saw you kiss me yesterday—he's my husband."

anecdote of the week

■ An excited mother raced up to the lifeguard station on a Santa Monica beach. "I've lost my little girl. I've lost my little girl."

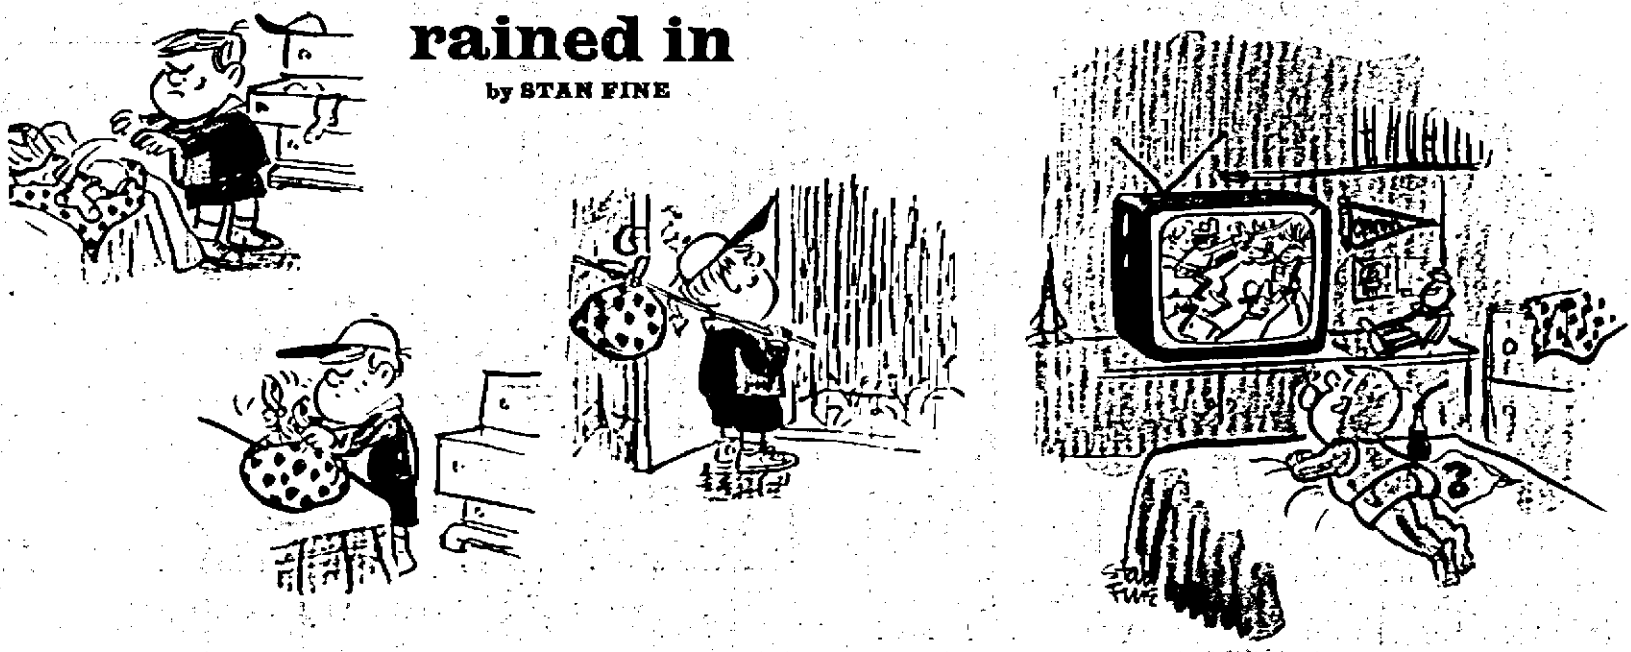

"Can you give us a description?" asked the lifeguard.

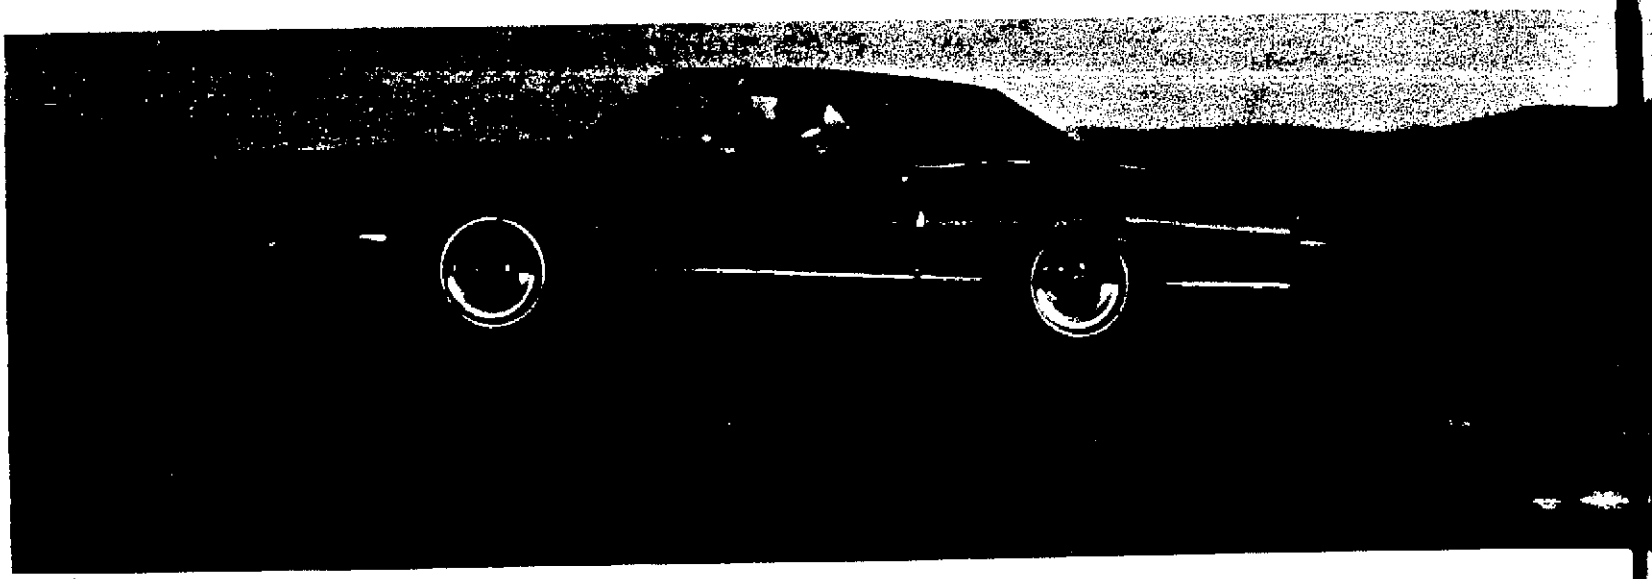

"Of course," said the mother. "She has her father's eyes, but she's the spitting image of me when I was a child." ■

PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

PIGSKIN FATALITIES. Football is one of the most dangerous sports played in America. In the past 33 years, 682 players have died because of it. Last year 27 athletes died of injuries due to the game: 21 in high school, 3 in college, 2 in sandlot, 1 in professional. Largest percentage of deaths is caused by head injuries, next-largest by abdominal and spinal injuries.

OVERSEAS BASES. The United States maintains 428 major bases and 2,900 minor installations such as radar points, supply stations, hospitals, etc., overseas. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara plans to close as many of these as possible to stem the outflow of gold which results from servicemen receiving and spending American dollars abroad. As we develop larger air transports, our airfields abroad will be relegated to caretaker status, ready to receive units flown in from America on a when-needed basis. This month the Strategic Air Command is ending its 14-year stay in Great Britain. Eventually we will pull out from most of Europe where about 325,000 of our servicemen are stationed. At this writing, the Air Force has 850 intercontinental ballistic missiles in the U.S. zeroed in on Iron Curtain targets. The Navy has about 350 Polaris missiles in submarines patrolling Russian and Chinese waters. In the past few years we have reduced our air bases in France, Morocco, Great Britain, Saudi Arabia. Only European country which wants us in force is West Germany, still afraid of Soviet aggression.

NEW IMAGE. Announcing a 25% increase in the sale of cigars last year, the Cigar Institute of America claims the cigar has lost its "tough guy image" in America, is today "a symbol of gracious and enjoyable living."

FLU TRUTH. For the first time since Russia went Communist, Soviet leaders have permitted the disclosure in their nation of a flu epidemic. In the past all such epidemics have been hushed up. Nowadays, however, Soviet newspapers are advising readers on how to avoid contagion, what remedies to try. Traditional Russian remedy for flu is munching raw garlic. Russians are buying tons of it.

SHE WASHED THE DYE RIGHT OUT OF HIS HAIR.

ROYAL FUSS. The Belgian royal family is having a tizzy over Prince Alexandre, 23, son of ex-king Leopold, a student at Harvard. Alexandre flies into Brussels over weekends, dates a few cuties, then wings back to the U.S. On one of his trips, to avoid recognition by the police, Alexandre dyed his hair. He was spotted, however, and the royal family was notified. Next morning after getting the dye washed out of his hair, Princess Liliane personally escorted Alex to the airport.

NEW POLICY. The French Tourist Office, alarmed at Paris' mounting reputation as the world's number-one gyp city, is making a long-needed effort to curry favor with American tourists. A campaign for aimabilité begins this month in the French capital. Police, cab drivers, customs men, hotel managers, desk clerks have been asked to smile, to be helpful, honest and courteous. Tourists of late have been avoiding Paris like the plague because of outrageous prices. These are particularly astronomical in Paris night spots, where one drink frequently costs $3.65 and up.

IMMIGRANTS. British immigration officers report that in the past 10 years no fewer than 10,000 immigrants, most of them Pakistanis, have entered Great Britain illegally. Many of the entries have been made via forged passports and travel documents.

FACT OF LIFE. Almost all Americans have seen a physician sometime during their lives — approximately 98% have — but 1 of every 6 has never been examined or treated by a dentist.

The Gradwohls gather with their family to mark half century of wedded bliss.

IT ALL STARTED WITH A KISS

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF.

What's a fellow supposed to do when a pretty girl walks up to him and kisses him in a department store window right on Main Street?

Kiss her back. Marry her. And live happily ever after.

At least that's what Arthur Gradwohl did. Fifty years ago he was a window dresser in a Los Angeles men's department store. One day as he was putting a sports jacket on a male manikin, a pretty girl suddenly stepped into the window beside him and started showering him with kisses.

Actually Sarah Herscovitch, then 16, had met Arthur a few nights before. Both had attended a dance for the "City of Hope" at the Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles. Arthur had asked Sarah for dance after dance.

Arthur was offhand about the whole evening. "To me, it was just a casual acquaintance," he says. "After the dance was over, I said good-bye and went home with the fellow I had come with."

But Sarah was overwhelmed. She left the dance that night and started thinking about Arthur. She thought about him all weekend. She even started plotting how she could meet him again. It troubled her that he hadn't taken her address and that he probably didn't even remember her name.

On Monday after the dance, she had to deliver a suit for the tailoring shop she worked for. She was walking down Main Street, dreaming of Arthur, when suddenly, there he was—in the show window working with the manikin.

"I had a sudden impulse," she says mischievously. "I just walked into that store, climbed into the window and kissed him on the lips, the nose, just all over the face. I was crazy about him. The suit I was carrying—well, it just dropped in the excitement."

As for Arthur, he was abashed. "I blushed, I felt red, my heart started pounding and there was a crowd smiling and giggling."

A month after the kiss in the window they were wed. Today, they have four children and six grandchildren, all living in the Bay area here. Recently they celebrated their 50th anniversary in San Francisco. They didn't go back to the shop window in Los Angeles to mark the event; they just hugged and kissed at home.

If Sarah met him today, she would do the same thing. "I fell in love with him the first time I saw him, and I've been in love with him ever since."

The Gradwohls claim they are still on a honeymoon, and people who know them say that they are about the most affectionate couple around. No one suspects their age, because they are so romantic with each other. Gradwohl continued in the window dressing business until his retirement seven years ago. The business had been good to him. After all, it isn't every day a man finds romance in a department store window.

The kissing Gradwohls show how it all started 50 years ago. Their love is still going strong.

SEND TWO POUNDS OF YAK BUTTER, QUICK!

PHOTOS AND TEXT BY ARTHUR SHAY

CHICAGO, ILL.

The caller was frantic. "I need two pounds of yak butter," he said, "by next Thursday at 7 P.M. It's for the annual dinner of our epicurean society." Barry Stone, the bright-eyed 24-year-old president and chief locater of The Finders here, paused in his search for movie footage of German dirigibles bombing London and asked the question crucial to all Finder operations: "How much can you spend?" He got the usual answer: "Anything within reason, but keep it low."

"Reason," Barry reasoned recently when I visited The Finders quarters, "often does not come reasonably. The yak butter hunt, for example, involved eight long-distance calls to owners of exotic animals. We finally located a two-yak owner in, of all places, Peoria! 'Sure,' the owner said, 'one of 'em gives milk, but I've never made butter from it.'" Stone persuaded him to air-ship some yak milk from Peoria and raced it to a Chicago dairy. Ecstatic epicureans received 2 pounds of prime yak butter—for $22.

Established a year ago, The Finders—who will locate anything, anywhere, if it's humanly possible—include Stone and three partners. Service charge is low—10 per cent over cost—and the foursome have filled just under 500 requests so far. "We have about 200 on our books," Stone explains, "half of which may be impossible to satisfy."

bizarre requests

While Stone attended his constantly ringing phone, I examined The Finders' back wall, on which requests are neatly posted. Among them were a Chinese or Turkish bell tree, tunable German auto horns, photo of 1924 U. of Chicago football team, history of erotic art (in German), 100 Moscow subway tokens, repairman for Swiss 6-section musical cigarette lighter, 1906 railway observation car, bodkin case, herringbone knickers and chastity belt.

Currently, The Finders are having trouble finding a Viking ship for Carson Pirie Scott department store. "We had one ready to come in from New York," Stone told me, "but it was involved in a collision and sank."

Among Finders triumphs are locating a 1929 John McCormack recording of "Your Eyes Have Told Me So" for a matron who believed she had inspired the song, a belly dancer willing to teach her art to a suburban housewife for $25 an hour, a dog-sitter for a neurotic collie and a bird cage shaped like the Taj Mahal, with a built-in elevator for an ailing budgie (an Australian parakeet).

One of Stone's favorite finds occurred recently, he told me. It was a 17th-century Spanish helmet for the De Soto Chemical Corporation—for $100. "I was so thrilled," Stone confesses, "that I wore it for an hour."

As I got up to leave Stone's office, the phone rang. "A toupee for what kind of dog?" Stone was asking patiently as I found my way out.

Andrew Carnegie or bust: One tough Finders' assignment was a bust (l.) of the late philanthropist. Another was a 17th-century Spanish helmet, worn in triumph by president Barry Stone.
